Moncho: Te debo carta.

Saludos repartidos.

Carmen: me quedé corta, sí; pero es que la ponderación y la benevolencia es mi mayor defecto.

Pau, querido Pau de mis entretelas:

Vamos a ver: anoche te marcaste en tu blog "La Crisálida del tiempo" un artículo, titulado Aaron Swartz, con esta entradilla:

"Hoy quería escribir sobre Aaron Swartz, pero al dar una vuelta por mis enlaces he descubierto que GATOPARDO se ha adelantado con la brillantez y mordacidad que suele regalarnos. Y como homenaje y respeto a las ideas de Aaron copio íntegramente su artículo."

Un par de horas después lo eliminaste, y ahora me vienes con esas:

¿Te estás hormonando y pronto te tendré entre mis congéneres, destellando incongruencias, y contradiciéndote con menos fuste que un diseñador de modas?

¿O es que no habías leído mi artículo cuando lo presentaste?

¿O las dos cosas?

Tienes razón. Pero acababa de ojear un optimista, absurdo y apestoso artículo de hoy titulado "Las cosas que la universidad debe cambiar", en el que una catedrática de economía, uno de los saberes más inútiles de un gremio temible, desgrana perlas. En esos casos, tan frecuentes, no hay otra solución que la guillotina. Que corra la sangre, a ver si se limpian las aceras.

Bien, apruebo la moción, aunque yo estaría más por cortarles las manos a la altura del hombro a los que perpetren frases como "Hay que buscar un verdadero mecanismo de incentivos basado en las personas", que dice la María Amparo Camarero.

Pero, siendo consecuentes, a quienes se los leen en un ay de indignación y cabreo, sabiendo que no dan más de sí, hay que poneros a vender cupones de la ONCE de ocho a cinco, pateando calles, sin moscosos ni escalafón. Por berzas.

Güeli, ajústate bien los lentes. He dicho "ojear" ¿Pero tú me ves a mi leyendo esas sandeces? Me basta un vistazo, digamos "transversal" que está de moda, para hacerme una idea de la estupidez de turno. Mi ojo certero no falla las frases cumbre. Encantada vendería yo el cupón, pero ciega no, que si no ¿quién hablaría de la Camarero y tantos otros? ¿Cómo podrías tu citar esa frase que tampoco es la mejor, pero buena es?

JAVIER SOLÍS (GABRIEL SIRIA LEVARIO): EL REY DEL BOLERO RANCHERO

Gabriel Siria Levario —conocido como Javier Solís— (1931 - 1966) fue un cantante y actor mexicano, conocido también como El Rey del Bolero Ranchero.

La mentira

Se te olvida
que me quieres a pesar de lo que dices pues llevamos en el alma cicatrices imposibles de borrar.

Se te olvida
que hasta puedo hacerte mal si me decido pues tu amor lo tengo muy comprometido pero a fuerza no será.

Y hoy resulta
que no soy de la estatura de tu vida, y al soñar otros amores se te olvida que hay un pacto entre los dos.

Por mi parte
te devuelvo tu promesa de adorarme ni siquiera sientas pena por dejarme que ese pacto no es con Dios.

Autor letra y música: Álvaro Carrillo (1921 - 1969)

Y...

Y qué hiciste del amor que me juraste,
y qué has hecho de los besos que te di;
y qué excusa puedes darme si faltaste,

y mataste la esperanza que hubo en mí.

Y qué ingrato es el destino que me hiere,
y qué absurda es la razón de mi pasión;
y que necio es este amor que no se muere,
y prefiere perdonarte tu traición.

Y pensar que en mi vida fuiste flama,
y el caudal de mi gloria fuiste tú;
y llegué a quererte con el alma,
y hoy me mata de tristeza tu actitud.

Y a qué debo dime entonces tu abandono,
y en qué ruta tu promesa se perdió
y si dices la verdad yo te perdono, y te llevo en mi recuerdo junto a Dios.

Sombras (Tango)
acompañado por Los Panchos

Quisiera abrir lentamente mis venas...

Mi sangre toda verterla a tus pies...
para poderte demostrar que más no puedo amar
y entonces... morir después.
Y sin embargo tus ojos azules, ¡azul que tienen el cielo y el mar!
viven cerrados para mí
sin ver que estoy aquí...
¡Perdido en mi soledad!

¡Sombras, nada más,
acariciando mis manos!
¡Sombras, nada más,
en el temblor de mi voz!

Pude ser feliz
y estoy en vida muriendo
y entre lágrimas viviendo
el pasaje más horrendos
de este drama sin final...
¡Sombras, nada más,
entre tu vida y mi vida...
Sombras, nada más,
entre tu amor y mi amor!

Qué breve fue tu presencia en mi hastío,
qué tibias fueron tu mano y tu voz.
Como luciérnaga llegó

tu luz y disipó
las sombras de mi rincón...

Y yo quedé como un duende temblando sin el azul de tus ojos de mar que se han cerrado para mí sin ver que estoy aquí
perdido en mi soledad.

Sombras nada más
acariciando mis manos,
sombras nada más
en el temblor de mi voz.

Pude ser feliz
y estoy en vida muriendo
y entre lágrimas viviendo
el pasaje más horrendo
de este drama sin final.

Sombras nada más
entre tu vida y mi vida,
sombras nada más
entre tu amor y mi amor.

Carmen: o tienes oido de artillero o te has pasado por la RAE para escoger adjetivos: describir la interpretación del monstruo Javier Solís como voz "bonita", "agradable" es de juzgado de guardia en el Tribunal de Faltas.

Un jubilado:

Por eso mismo me pasé a Ivoox.com, que permite subir un video y lo transforma en mp3.

He añadido la interpretación que hace Javier Solís del tango "Sombras".
Eso se escucha de pie y descubierto.

Confieso que me encontré con Conchita antes de escribiros. De todas formas, hay días tontos. Solís tiene una voz poderosa, sensual (ya sé, me hundo, mejor paro). Se aprecia todavía mejor en la tercera canción. Ahora bien, lo que interpreta en "Sombras", y muy bien, no me parece a mi un tango. El tango es otra cosa.
Estoy de acuerdo con el segundo lector que os he conseguido (y don Alimaña, mudo).
Tener que aguantar una canción con una foto fija o una creación pseudoartística de alguien que se ha pasado por la Academia de Bellas Artes, es insoportable. Por cierto, hay varios errores en la transcripción de "Sombras" o en la interpretación de Solís. De todas formas, yo os lo perdono todo porque me habéis rescatado de ciertas sombras descubriéndome a Arjona,a Moncho y a otros bien conocidos por todos salvo por mi.
No es por molestar, pero probablemente se ganaría un tercer lector con algo de Goyeneche, viejo, claro.

SU NOMBRE ERA GIORGIO LABÒ (Y NO LA BO), MIEMBRO DEL SPECIAL OPERATIONS EXECUTIVE, SOE, FUSILADO POR LOS NAZIS

Aviso a los investigadores: no se fien, sobre todo si los hechos están documentados y la fuente es solvente...

Una lista de nombres y apellidos en orden alfabético, si proviene de los archivos estatales ingleses, suele contener errores de transcripción que permitan sepultar bajo siete estados la memoria de los que lucharon, fueron detenidos, torturados y ejecutados por los nazis, sobre todo si eran comunistas, anarquistas, judios, gitanos: gente que no puede formar parte de la Historia de Gran Bretaña, donde sólo caben los apellidos ilustres de Oxbridge,...

Si buscan a Giorgio La Bo, (con fecha de nacimiento desconocida, según los archivos oficiales de Su Graciosa Majestad) no lo encontrarán, salvo en los blogs que repican las listas secretas de miembros del SOE que estamos publicando aquí, porque su nombre era Giorgio di Mario Labò, nacido en Modena el 29 de mayo de 1919; era estudiante de Arquitectura, y tenía 24 años cuando lo detuvieron los nazis en setiembre de 1943, en Roma, fue interrogado y torturado en Via Tasso, y fusilado junto a Antonio Bussi, Concetto Fioravanti, Vincenzo Gentile, Paul Lauffer, Francesco Lipartiti, Antonio Nardi, Mario Negelli, Augusto Pasini y Guido Rattoppattore, sin juicio ni remedo de legalidad, en Forte Bravetta, el 7 de marzo de 1944.

La última carta del condenado a muerte Giorgio Labò, no pudo escribirla él mismo a consecuencia de las torturas, y fue dictada al capellán, pocos momentos antes de su ejecución: rogaba que informaran a su familia que afrontaba su suerte con la máxima serenidad.

Ricordo di Giorgio Labò

Le bombe della Resistenza

Il giovane comunista, studente di architettura, venne preso dai nazisti a Roma e fucilato il sette marzo di venticinque anni fa

Nei tre o quattro mesi dal settembre del '43 a quando i nazisti lo presero e — il 7 marzo del '44 — lo fucilarono, lo studente di architettura Giorgio Labò era diventato un infaticabile e esperto fabbricatore di bombe per la Resistenza romana. Sfruttando qualche nozione orecchiata da allievo ufficiale, ingegnandosi sui mezzi di fortuna di cui disponeva nella piccola santabarbara clandestina di via Giulia, dai primi rudimetalli spezzoni con la miccia a fiammifero Giorgio era arrivato, abbastanza presto, a mettere insieme ordigni a reazione chimica di impiego agevole e di funzionamento pressochè sicuro. E — si capisce — quel perfezionarsi del nostro arsenale aveva contribuito a sviluppare le possibilità offensive dei gruppi partigiani «gappisti». Li aveva resi più disinvolti nei loro movimenti, più capaci di cogliere il nemico di sorpresa, più efficienti, insomma, nel rispondere con gli attentati e i sabotaggi alla oppressione tedesca e fascista di Roma. Anche per l'armamentario esplosivo di azioni «gappiste» compiute dopo l'arresto e la morte di Labò, fino a quella di via Rasella, chi gli succedette come nostro artificiere si servì parecchio di accorgimenti che erano stati sperimentati da lui.

Credo che, nel tributare a Labò tutti i meriti che gli spettano, più rilievo debba essere dato a questo suo contributo organico all'armamento, alla capacità di attacco, alla incisività di lotta di reparti determinanti della guerriglia romana. Giustamente sono stati additati e esaltati la tenacia con cui egli sopportò per un mese le torture di via Tasso, il sereno coraggio con cui scelse e affrontò a poco più di vent'anni quella morte. Nè la biografia di Giorgio deve certo dimenticare la vocazione, la serietà, la promessa dei suoi studi di architetto, sul cui sfondo, dopo l'8 settembre, tanto più esemplare fu il suo prendere coscienza che la vocazione prima per un giovane intellettuale antifascista diveniva ormai l'impegno dell'azione. Ma anche il modo, anche la funzione e i risultati in cui il suo impegno d'azione venne a concretarsi, restano nella breve esistenza di Labò qualcosa di principale, se non forse l'aspetto culminante. In quelle armi che egli fabbricò, nei colpi che impiegando quelle armi i «gappisti» inflissero al nemico, nella portata e nell'onore che particolarmente da quei colpi trasse la riscossa di Roma, stette forse l'impronta più reale e durevole che da lui venisse contrassegnata, la conquista più consistente e feconda di cui fossero partecipi la sua vita, la sua maturazione e il suo sacrificio.

Se qualche volta (ritrovandomi spesso con lui nel rifugio notturno fornitoci dal partito) vedevo in Giorgio una consapevolezza, ed un certo orgoglio, di quel suo operare in prima linea e contribuire a lasciare un segno immediato nelle file del nemico, non si trattava però mai di infatuazione, di abbaglio avventuristico, di perdita del rapporto fra il suo proprio compito di avanguardia e la battaglia generale. Al contrario, si avvertiva in lui molto responsabile e esatto — quasi ve lo avessero predisposto i suoi studi di costruttore — il senso della complessità e vastità della lotta in cui aveva scelto di militare, il senso dei collegamenti di massa e unitarii sui quali la lotta si fondava, e sulla base dei quali la santabarbara dove egli lavorava era non un nido isolato di dinamitardi ma un avamposto in una guerra di popolo. Anche lui, come me, era appena giunto nel partito. Ma già intuiva il valore del partito come, appunto, impulso dirigente in un ampio e ininterrotto processo di lotta dove ciascun militante, assolvendo il proprio compito, poteva in qualche misura partecipare a spezzare le vecchie catene per aprire cammini nuovi, e così meritare alla propria azione un esito di risultati reali ed una durata.

Sono oggi, dalla morte di Labò, 25 anni. Tanti, a contarli: un quarto di secolo, un volgere di generazione. Eppure, ricordando da comunisti il comunista Labò come qui si è cercato di fare (ricordando con Labò anche Gianfranco Mattei, che lo aiutò nella officina di via Giulia, anche lui venne preso dai tedeschi: e, anche lui giovanissimo, si sottrasse ai tedeschi togliendosi la vita), non ci si sente davvero di una generazione passata, chini a commemorare i propri eroi nella lontananza del tempo. Perchè quello che le bombe della Resistenza spezzarono non ha potuto mai più rialzare la testa, e il cammino che esse aprirono non ha potuto essere richiuso. L'azione di quei nostri compagni caduti, l'azione della Resistenza, è all'opera ancora oggi nella continuità di una lotta, di una lunga avanzata, che vede susseguirsi e unirsi le generazioni antifasciste e rivoluzionarie.

Franco Calamandrei

Artículo de Franco Calamandrei, publicado en l'Unitá el 7 de marzo de 1969, en el vigésimo quinto aniversario de la muerte de Giorgio Labò, que no Giorgio La Bo.

Debenedetti Antonio, el 22 de abril de 2007, escribio en Corriere della Sera sobre este héroe trágico de la Resistencia italiana:

«Un sabotatore: Giorgio Labò» Omaggio a un eroe dimenticato

Partigiano, torturato a via Tasso, fucilato dai nazifascisti a Forte Bravetta Per lui scrissero Venturi, Argan, Calamandrei, Lattuada e Trombadori

Rilegatura andante, pagine ingiallite, niente nome dell' editore. Più che un libro, è una reliquia della storia. Racconta un piccolo grande episodio della Resistenza romana. A leggerlo mette ancora paura nella sua realistica essenzialità. È sabato 11 marzo 1944. Un padre, l' architetto Mario Labò, si presenta a via Tasso, il famigerato mattatoio delle SS. È stravolto, ha saputo solo poche ore prima, leggendo il giornale, dell' avvenuta fucilazione del figlio Giorgio, studente universitario e patriota. Prima di venir giustiziato a Forte Bravetta, quel giovane coraggioso è stato lungamente torturato nella prigione nazista. Antonello Trombadori, anche lui detenuto, racconterà di averlo intravisto: «Era legato mani e piedi, recava sul volto i segni di violente percosse... Attorno ai polsi un solco putrido, prodotto dalla corda...». Giorgio, che si era allenato al coraggio «trasportando per Roma bombe esplosivi, miccia e detonatori», muore tuttavia senza aver parlato. Il padre vuole, se possibile, riaverne gli effetti personali: una penna stilografica, la cravatta, una fotografia formato tessera... Così, in pagine d' una forza e d' una dignità esemplari, racconta l' incontro coi seviziatori del suo ragazzo. Il breve colloquio è un capolavoro di letteratura-verità. Basti, a titolo di esempio, che alla domanda sul perché sia stato messo al muro, l' ufficiale nazista risponde: «Era un sab-bot-ta-tore. Fabbricava ordigni micidiali... Capirete anche voi che non potevamo sopportare vivo un individuo simile». Pochi mesi dopo, quando Roma ritrova con la libertà anche il bisogno di guardare alle proprie ferite, Lionello Venturi, Giulio Carlo Argan, Franco Calamandrei, Alberto Lattuada e Antonello Trombadori decidono, mossi dal bisogno di documentare prima ancora che dalla pietà, di riferire le vicende che portarono al martirio del giovane Labò, evocando la sua figura nel clima della Resistenza romana. Nasce cosi, dall' imprestarsi di quegli uomini illustri a una spoglia prosa testimoniale, un capitolo esemplare della pubblicistica post-clandestina. Il piccolo libro, intitolato «Un sabotatore: Giorgio Labò», è apparso però in un' Italia ancora in maceria e non ha potuto trovare un pubblico. Peccato. Oggi queste cinquanta pagine, praticamente inedite, andrebbero recuperate. Potrebbero infatti risvegliare il giusto ricordo, assopito da troppi superflui discorsi accademici, d' una Roma che rabbrividiva terrorizzata a solo sentire il passo delle ronde germaniche. Perché non resti altro che una rilegatura andante, pagine ingiallite, niente nome dell' editore. Più che un libro, una reliquia della storia."

Para quienes quieran saber más sobre este personaje irrepetible, recomiendo el libro de Pietro Boragina, "Vita di Giorgio Labò": Premio Viareggio, Premio Giacomo Matteotti 2012, publicado por Nino Aragno Editore, en Italia.

Sobre todo cuando el provincianismo exacerbado ha desmesurado nuestra inanidad como pueblo, por ignorancia de la Historia más cercana, cuando no se consideraba que cogérsela con papel de fumar y tener una sensibilidad exquisita que induce a la indignación aguda y a la neurosis es lo único que se debe y se puede hacer frente la injusticia.

De nada, ya saben que me gusta ser útil.

Esto se pone interesante. O sea que don Eliah, de sabio, nada, pues copia supuestas fuentes. Lo cual quiere decir que nos espera una interesante revisión de las listas ya publicadas, porque está claro que no nos podemos fiar de sus datos. Gatopardo critica a los escasos lectores que aún quedamos, ya que si no fuera por nuestro "provincianismo exacerbado" y nuestra neurosis, a buenas horas estaríamos leyendo este blog. Don Alimaña cede y se atemoriza ante su tropa de colaboradores, temeroso de perder una jefatura alcanzada Dios sabe cómo... Ya lo dije, no llegamos vivos pero ni a la C de Concordia.

Excelsa única lectora que nos queda:

Cada nombre de la lista lleva un enlace (con sus negritas y su subrayado, en azul) que remite al expediente que los archivos nacionales ingleses han clausurado por motivos de seguridad nacional, algunas veces por setenta y otras por cien años. Como era de esperar, además, deformaron nombres y apellidos, de forma que, por ejemplo, el Dr. Martínez Alonso (español) miembro del SOE, se convirtió en el Dr. Alonso, y Carron de la Carriere, emérito militar francés, se convirtió en Carriere, etc.

Estas listas son las "genuinas" del SOE, y, efectivamente, provienen de los Archivos Nacionales Ingleses, y la fuente "oficial y genuina", como es de rigor en toda investigación histórica es una pura patraña.

El provincianismo afecta a los italianos, franceses, daneses, etc., pero sobre todo a los ingleses y los españoles, en lo que atañe a la Historia de la I y II Guerra Mundial; las Guerra Coloniales, etc.

Forma parte del encanto retrechero de los venidos a menos, con aires de grandeza y vocación de imperio...

Viviremos, no te quepa duda... porque como decía Chaplin, la vida es más irremediable que la muerte.

El que no se consuela es porque no quiere y por eso pienso que cuando la infinita sabiduría de don Eliah llegue a la Z, quizás nadie recuerde lo que se llamaba "crisis". Como no vuelva doña Cabra o se asomen don Alimaña o la Abuela obrará la naturaleza: moriremos de tristeza los ignorantes.

Querida Carmen: No sé si con la "Z" habrá llegado el fin de la crisis; pero mi labor como editora habrá iluminado el oscuro secreto que impedía conocer quienes eran los hombres y mujeres que la pérfida Albión entrenó y envió sin respaldo de la Convención de Ginebra, sin las mínimas garantías, en muchas ocasiones, como cebo vivo con información falsa para engañar al enemigo. Hubo miles, la mayoría extranjeros que quisieron luchar contra el nazismo,y fueron utilizados como carne de cañón, y sus mandos, ni se molestaron en trascribir bien sus nombres y apellidos.

Así es que, a falta de la lista de los más de 150.000 asesinados y más de 70.000 desaparecidos en el último lustro en México, bien va que se publique la lista de los miembros del SOE.

Doña Carmen:Es usted la voz de la razón.
La agüela está ya en esa edad donde les ponen el periódico enfrente y pasan directamente a las necrológicas.
El Mosén es viejo desde que nació.Y no le retorció el pescuezo su madre porque sabía que el nene era insistente y le iba a llamar antisemita.
Desde la ristra de Caídos de la División Azul no se ha hecho una cosa tan sentida, con tanto personaje y tan poca acción.
Cómo piensan estas antiguallas que nos conmovamos con un tío que se llama "Giorgio La Bo"?

Tiene nombre de calzoncillos de marca o de travesti.
VIVA LA PÉRFIDA ALBIÓN!!!
VIVAN LOS PARACAIDAS CON TRUCO!!!

No quiero sembrar discordia en la redacción, mejor dicho, no puedo porque me mimetizo como los camaleones. La Abuela cumple con lo que considera su deber. Don Alimaña, con el suyo porque, qué duda cabe, está perdiendo lectores. Nos consolamos con la sección "Actualizados" y, al igual que la pareja del Mundo Today, discutimos pero sin esperanza de que acabe bien. Ni las esquelas indican ya la edad del finado (que era lo interesante), por un extraño pudor post mortem. Y las del ABC, las mejores, ya no son lo que eran. Don Alimaña me ha dado una idea: crear un perfil en Facebook con el nombre Giorgio La Bo. A ver qué pandilla formamos. Como no viajo, ni cinturón ni cabina tengo. Qué vida tan ingrata. A la Abuela le tocará hacer otra lista de muertos anónimos por suma seriedad, traicionados por las esperanzas puestas en Gatopardo¡Ay!

La lista va poniéndose interesante a partir de la M.
En la M ya hay asesinados...
En la P él se da cuenta que ella también lo ama.
En la T reaparece alguien a quien todos daban por muerto...
En la V se descubre que Alimaña no se ha suicidado, sino que el cinturón lo ha ahogado de puro gordo...
En la Z doña Carmen confiesa que es adicta al Benedictine y al Padre Coloma.
Paciencia.

Don Eliah, que Dios o Yavé le oigan pero, por favor, que así sea. Yo pediré ayuda a Rouco Varela cuyo nombre hace competencia a Giorgio La Bo. Incluso diría que para una marca de tangas es mejor que G. La Bo ¿No le parece don Alimaña? Y no se preocupe que a la V no llegamos con vida. Así nadie sabrá si es gordura o desesperación por esos colaboradores que le han caído en suerte.

FRANCISCO LÓPEZ DE VILLALOBOS AL DOCTOR XUAREZ, SOBRE LA VENIDA DE UN HIJO SUYO SOLDADO

Señor: la Reyna de Portugal me mandó que la escribiese todo lo que acá passaba despues de llegado el Emperador, nuestro señor, á Barzelona. Yo scribí á su Alteza lo que verá por el treslado que aquí vá, por esto no diré más de contar una cosa que aconteció en mi posada la noche passada.

Vínose para mí un negro de los ladinos con una mano cortada, soldado muy plático, y con él otro soldado hecho mil pedaços, que aunque no era etiope, estaba tan negro y tan mal parado que el otro negro parecía un alemán. Hedian mucho entrambos; cierto, á mí se me encresparon todos los pelos del cerro con el horror y escándalo que me hizieron los inusitados huéspedes. Algunas vezes sospeché que me querian matar, otras que me querian robar, porque me tomaron solo, que estaban cenando mis moços.

El negro propuso desta manera: Yo y este pobre compañero, ha nueve años que andamos juntos sin apartar cama ni mesa, aunque por la graçia de Dios pocas camas y pocas mesas hauemos ensuziado en todo este tiempo, specialmente los quatro años que estuuimos en un algibe en poder de Barbarroja, hasta que Dios envió al Sr. Andrea Doria, que nos libró con otros muchos que escaparon en aquella jornada. Yo vengo á v. m. para que por interçesión deste señor compañero, me socorrais para cubrir estas negras carnes que andan padeciendo tantos años con esperança de algún buen saco, porque hemos sido él y yo tan dichosos, que aunque fuimos en el saco de Roma y en la entrada del castillo de Sant Angel, nunca pudimos alcançar pressa que valiese diez ducados; y assí andamos, como v. m. vee, las barrigas de fuera, que áun siquiera la muerte no ha querido dárnosla Dios, porque sabe que la deseamos; y si él assí nos trata, juro á Dios que hauemos de matar á alguno porque nos maten á nosotros.

Diziendo esto començaron los ladrones á llorar, y siempre con las manos apretando las empuñaduras de las espadas. Yo, la verdad que os diga, con grandísimo miedo respondí: Con mi pobreza yo holgaré de socorreros en vuestra necesidad; hacedme llamar essos moços que están cenando y luego se hará lo que dezís, mas mejor será que los llame yo. Y luego comencé á gritar: ¡Moços, moços, mis moços! Vinieron luégo y cierto me volvieron el alma al cuerpo.

Entónces dixe al negro: Ahora quiero que me digays qué méritos tiene este soldado más que vos, que dezís que por su interçesión tengo de socorreros. Dize: Este señor es Lorenzo de Villalobos, vuestro hijo, que en doce años que ha hecho de ausencia, los cinco ha sido soldado y los quatro captivo, y en todos estos nueve años hemos sido amigos y compañeros en el algibe, Génoua, Florencia y Roma, por la mar de venecianos y contra turcos, hasta cerca de Alexandria.

Yo, como vi que mi hijo era ya africano y legástico capitolino, adriático y poloponehiçino y assiático, dí gracias á Dios, mas no podia creher que era él, porque solía tener la dispussiçion passadera. Dél no pude tomar seña ninguna, porque nunca leuantaba los ojos del suelo; mas tentando mucho con preguntas al negro, entendí dél que hauian venido en tanta pobreça por culpa de Lorenzo en lo demas, y yo no le pude conoçer, porque con la mala vida viene muy corcouado, que no lo solia ser, y tan negro como un etiope, y en esto parece moro, y trahe la spada arrecha. Digo: Caya leon, y en esto parece christianillo; y trae las calças todas rotas por el culo, y en esto parece puto; y trae la barba muy negra y muy suzia, y en esto parece cabrón; y con la hambre que trae pareçe perro; y tiene un dedo de la mano quemado y viene muy necio; assí, que sobre todos los otros títulos es también Scéuola y es Bruto.

Assí que, señor Doctor, de aquí adelante no os igualeys conmigo, que no teneys vos tal hijo, ni áun el puto de vuestro linaje. Perdone V. S. que hable el hombre con passion de unos cient ducados que me costará la bienauenturada venida deste hijo, que aún tambien si miramos la cadena que tuuo quatro años al pesçuezo y la negrura del gesto, le podemos dar título de Torcato y de Albino, y pápate esse hongo. De Barzelona, á veintisiete de Abril de mil quinientos treinta y un años.

ROMANCE DEL NACIMIENTO DE BERNARDO

NACIMIENTO DE BERNARDO

Mañanita era, mañana,
   al tiempo que alboreaba;
gran fiesta hacen los moros por la Vega de Granada, arrevuelven sus caballos,
   jugando iban a la lanza.
aquel que amiga tenía
   allí bien se señalaba
y el que no la tenía
   procuraba de alcanzarla.
Hermana tiene el buen rey, que Jimena se llamaba, namorado se había de ella
   ese Conde de Saldaña, aquel del caballo blanco,
   el de la barba dorada.
Muchas veces fueron juntos,
   que nadie lo sospechaba;
de las veces que se vieron la infanta encinta quedara.
El buen rey, como lo supo,
   un mal castigo les daba:
al conde mandó prender
   y púsole muy gran guarda;
a ella la envió a un convento
   donde luego monja entrara.
Van días y vienen días,
   Jimena parida estaba:
De ella nació un infantito
   como la leche y la grana.

Un día empañando al niño,
su madre bien le miraba:
—¡En qué hora nacistes, hijo,
de madre tan desdichada:
tu padre en negras prisiones,
y tu madre aquí encerrada.—
Oídolo había la reina desde su alta ventana:
—¿Qué tenedes vos, Jimena,
Jimena, la mi cuñada?
Si os faltaban dineros, yo os daré el oro y la plata;
si os faltaban vestidos,
yo os daré de seda y grana;
si os faltaban regalos,
cuantos en mi mesa estaban.
—No me faltaban dineros, tengo yo el oro y la plata;
ni me faltaban vestidos,
muchos tengo yo en mi arca;
ni me hacen falta juguetes,
eso es lo que me sobraba;
el mayor de mis cuidados
éste que ahora contara:
el niño ya tengo grande,
por su padre me demanda.
—Yo te juro a Dios, Jimena
a Dios, que me puso el alma, ni comer pan a manteles,
ni con el rey duerma en cama, hasta que saque a ese conde
de la prisión en que estaba.—
Fuese para los palacios adonde el rey gobernaba.
El buen rey, como la vido,
en sus ojos cayó en gracia.
—Buenos días, mi señor rey.
—Buenos los tengas, mi amada, ¿qué tienes tú, la mi reina,
y cuál es la tu demanda?
—Que me saques ese conde
de la prisión en que estaba
y le cases con Jimena, Jimena, la mi cuñada.
—¡Aína, mis caballeros, armad pronto una algazara
de justas y de torneos, músicas muy concertadas,
y me traigáis ese conde en palmas muy estimadas!—
Otro día, de mañana, las ricas bodas se arman.

Así han reelaborado la historia de Bernardo del Carpio los cantores sefardíes de Marruecos.

El punto de partida de esta narración, adecuada al gusto de los judíos africanos que prefieren los finales felices, es un romance letrado, extremamente soso, referente a aquellos que Luis Vélez de Guevara llamaría “hurtos de amor” gozados por el Conde de Saldaña. Comenzaba prosaicamente con el verso “En los reynos de León / el casto Alfonso reinava”. La única impresión vieja conocida del romance figura en el Cancionero de romances de 1550; pero Vélez lo hizo cantar en su comedia pseudo-histórica El conde don Pero Vélez y don Sancho el Deseado, y el embajador de Felipe II en la corte de Catalina de Médici, en un despacho cifrado dirigido a su rey, lo incluyó junto a un centón de versos de muy diversa temática recordados de memoria.

Llegó a tradicionalizarse en la Península, pues, aún en 1983 y 1985, se cantaba en Montejo de la Sierra, Madrid, como comienzo de una narración cíclica de la historia de Bernardo, con un verso paralelo al de la tradición judeo-marroquí en que se da noticia del nacimiento del niño:

como la nácar y el agua.

Para escuchar y descargar gratis música y canciones que hemos recomendado con el gusto ecléctico que nos caracteriza, en el Podcast Canciones de Gatopardo, en www.ivoox.com .

Entre otras, "Ay, amor" de Ignacio Jacinto Villa, Bola de Nieve, intérprete y autor de letra y música:

Letra:

... Amor,
yo sé que quieres
llevarte mi ilusión.

Amor,
yo sé que puedes también llevarte mi alma.

Pero, ay amor,
si te llevas mi alma,
llévate de mí también el dolor,
lleva en ti todo mi desconsuelo
y también mi canción de sufrir.

Ay amor, si me dejas la vida, déjame también el alma sentir;

si sólo queda en mi
dolor y vida,
ay amor, no me dejes vivir.

Y también, podcast de poemas recitados en Gatopardo, en ivoox.com

EDWARD FAGAN, EL TIMO DEL ABOGADO JUSTICIERO , LOS QUERULANTES Y EL MUSEO DEL PRADO

En las últimas semanas ha aparecido la siguiente noticia, cuya fuente es la Agencia EFE:

Herederos de la familia judía Wertheim han solicitado hoy la ayuda del Museo del Prado para catalogar, preservar, recuperar y restituir parte del legado artístico perdido de su antepasado el doctor Ambrosius Wolfgang Bäuml, que incluye pinturas de Goya, Rubens o Tintoreto (sic), entre otras.

Según han explicado hoy a EFE Rudolf y Giselheide Sutor, dos de los herederos, la familia cuenta con documentación que acredita que parte de la colección artística fue prestada al Museo del Prado por Ambrosius Wolfgang Bäuml o por la compañía que este empresario judío tenía en propiedad con sede en Suiza, Interwiko AG.

Otra parte del legado, según los herederos, le fue sustraída por Hans Hoffmann, que fuera cónsul de Alemania en Marbella (Málaga) hasta su muerte en 1998 y —afirman— presunto colaborador de Hitler.

Hoffmann prestó distintos servicios como asistente jurídico a Ambrosius Wolfgang Bäuml mientras fue cónsul alemán en Málaga.

La familia quiere verificar la localización exacta de las obras prestadas por Ambrosius Wolfgang Bäuml al Prado, si están expuestas o almacenadas en el museo, en qué condiciones, qué documentos posee sobre la recepción de los cuadros o si estos fueron transferidos a otros museos.

"Necesitamos la ayuda del Prado para encontrar los cuadros. Los buscamos desde hace 19 años", subrayó hoy a Efe Giselheide Sutor.

Una ayuda que, según Edward Fagan, el museo se ha comprometido a prestar esta misma mañana y que consistirá en comprobar si los cuadros que la familia Wertheim asegura prestó su antepasado están o estuvieron en alguna ocasión entre sus fondos.

Los herederos de la familia Wertheim han dirigido un escrito a Presidencia del Gobierno y a la Embajada de Alemania en España en el que solicitan cuanta documentación tengan relacionada con Hans Hoffmann y su presencia en Málaga.

Información para evaluar el caso:

Edward Fagan, también conocido como Edward D. Fagan, Edward Davis Fagan y Ed Fagan. Ciudadano estadounidense (Harlingen (Texas), 1952). Ejerció como abogado desde 1980 hasta 2008, en el que fue inhabilitado y expulsado del cuerpo de letrados de Nueva York por 1) falsedad, engaño, tergiversación y fraude en su actividad profesional; 2) impago de multas y costes impuestos por sentencia judicial. www.scribd.com: Edward Fagan Disbarment 2008

El 24 de junio de 2009, la Corte Suprema del Estado de New Jersey lo expulsó del cuerpo de abogados por apropiación indebida de fondos, cuentas bancarias y fideicomisos que pertenecían a sus clientes. El caso fue previamente estudiado por la Junta de Revisión Disciplinaria, que recomendó a la Corte su inhabilitación, en un informe donde se detalla minuciosamente cómo llevó a cabo las apropiaciones, mintió y entorpeció la investigación: www.scribd.com: Edward Fagan Disbarment 2009 Disciplinary Review Board to Supreme Court of New Jersey

Fagan comenzó defendiendo los intereses de compañías tabacaleras e industrias productoras de asbesto, demandadas por daños y delitos contra la salud pública. A finales de los 80 creó una empresa dedicada a organizar viajes en yate para millonarios. Entre el personal acompañante incluía científicos y ecologistas. La empresa tenía una fundación llamada Odissoe con fines medioambientales. El negoció se hundió en menos de tres años.

En 1994 volvió a ejercer de abogado (esta vez defendiendo a víctimas con lesiones) y empezó buscando publicidad con casos sensacionalistas: ofreció a la revista Star un artículo donde supuestamente demostraba que Sylvester Stallone había intentado defraudar a un cliente suyo. Stallone amenazó con una demanda, el magazine no publicó el artículo y Fagan consiguió darse a conocer. Otro caso que salió en prensa y televisión fue el de una demanda en nombre de una niña de seis años a la que había pinchado un anónimo vagabundo en el Metro.

Hasta 1996, en el que descubrió el filón de las víctimas del Holocausto, las deudas, bancarrotas y pleitos contra él se fueron acumulando. La demanda contra los Bancos Suizos que embargaron cuentas a víctimas del Holocausto le hizo rico y famoso. Y dejó que casos de clientes menos rentables se perdieran porque no se molestó ni en contestar una llamada. http://www.apnewsarchive.com/2000: Report Lawyer Faces Complaints

En el año 2000 se dictaron las primeras sentencias contra él por contumaz desatención, y mala praxis profesional.

http://articles.nytimes.com/2000/09/08/us/: AN AVENGER'S PATH: A special report.; Lawyer in Holocaust Case Faces Litany of Complaints

Las sentencias de inhabilitación describen perfectamente a Edward Fagan, su trayectoria profesional y su forma de actuar:

1. Fagan interpone demandas fraudulentas, sin base jurídica, en nombre de asociaciones inexistentes, en las que tiene participación, con el único fin de llegar a un acuerdo y obtener beneficios como abogado y como demandante:

*"Este procedimiento disciplinario se incoa por la actuación del denunciado (Edward Fagan) representando a los demandantes en la demanda presentada en la United States District Court for the Southern District of New York cuyo título es: la Association of Holocaust Victims for Restitution of Artwork & Masterpieces, a/k/a "AHVRAM", (Asociación de Víctimas del Holocausto para la restitución de arte y Obras Maestras, tambien conocida por sus siglas "AHVRAM") y otros contra el Bank Austria Creditanstalt AG, et al, No. 04 Civ. 3600. El denunciado (Edward Fagan) interpuso, en 2004, una demanda por 6.800.000.000 $ contra varias corporaciones, organismos estatales e instituciones financieras acusándolas de robo, apropiación indebida y venta de arte expoliado durante el Holocausto. En agosto de 2005, la Juez Shirley Wohl Kram desestimó la demanda porque consideró que carecía de base alguna para la jurisdicción federal y que constituía poco más que una repetición de otra querella anterior contra el Bank Austria y que había terminado en acuerdo (Assoc. of Holocaust Victims for Restitution of Artwork & Masterpieces v Bank Austria Creditanstalt AG, 2005 US Dist LEXIS 17411, 6 [SDNY 2005]). La Juez Kram señalaba, además que la asociación demandante AHVRAM no existía (...)

*La Juez Kram observaba, además, que el denunciado (Edward Fagan), valiéndose de AHVRAM, había interpuesto demandas al menos contra seis gobiernos u organizaciones y que la investigación demostraba que este caso parecía formar parte de un patrón muy definido y precupante (2005 US Dist LEXIS 17411, 18). Por último, la Juez Kram dictaminó que el denunciado (Edward Fagan) había cometido un acto de denuncia temeraria y fraudulenta ya que (Edward Fagan) había comprado intereses en arte robado con el único fin de incoar demandas que implicara ese arte expoliado. *(2005 US Dist LEXIS 17411, 17)."

"El día 2 de abril de 2007, este tribunal (...) concluyó que el demandado (Edward Fagan) había violado el código deontológico en DR 1-102(A)(4)(conducta que implicaba falsedad, engaño, tergiversación y fraude); DR 1-102(A)(5) (conducta perjudicial a la administración de justicia; DR 1-102(A)(7)(conducta contraria a la ética profesional); DR 5-103 (al haber adquirido acciones como propietario en el sujeto de litigio); DR 7-106(A)(desacato a las sentencias de los tribunales) y DR 7-106(C)(7)(violación de normas procesales"

"El denunciado (Edward Fagan) sabía que la asociación demandante AHVRAM no existía y que la compensación que buscaba ya la había obtenido por acuerdo en otro proceso"

(In the Matter of Edward D. Fagan, (admitted as Edward Davis Fagan),an attorney and counselor-at-law: M-2732 Departmental Disciplinary Committee M-3148 for the First Judicial Department, M-3193).

2. Las irregularidades y falta de ética de la actuación profesional de Edward Fagan no fueron puntuales sino que se dieron durante todo el tiempo que duró su actividad, lo que se tradujo en numerosas inhabilitaciones temporales:

"En 1994, el Juez Michael Mukasey de la United States District Court, Southern District of New York lo sancionó por contrademandas temerarias y y multa de 500$, además de las costas del juicio y del abogado de la parte contraria"(In the Matter of Edward D. Fagan, (admitted as Edward Davis Fagan),an attorney and counselor-at-law: M-2732 Departmental Disciplinary Committee M-3148 for the First Judicial Department, M-3193).

"En 2002, el denunciado (Edward Fagan) fue amonestado en New Jersey por mentir a su cliente anunciándole que había presentado una petición en su nombre y que la fecha de la vista ya estaba programada" . In re Fagan, 172 N.J. 407 (2002)."

"En 2003, el denunciado (Edward Fagan) fue amonestado por no informar a su cliente sobre el estado en que se hallaba su proceso por daños corporales y por imcumplir el acuerdo al que había llegado de asistir a cursos de reeducación profesional en lugar de medidas disciplinarias. In the Matter of Edward D. Fagan, DRB 03-286 (October 21, 2003).

"Desde el 27 de septiembre de 2004 el demandado (Edward Fagan) ha estado en la lista de abogados inhabilitados por el Tribunal Supremo por no pagar la cuota anual del New Jersey Lawyers' Fund for Client Protection.(1)

Anteriormente estuvo inhabilitado durante los siguientes períodos:

del 3 al 21 de julio de 1986;
del 18 de julio de 1991 al 6 de febrero de 1992;
del 20 de julio al 17 de diciembre de 1992;
del 12 de diciembrede 1994 al 3 mayo de 1995; del 15 de septiembre al 15 de octubre de 1997;
del 21 de septiembre de 1998 al 19 de marzo de 1999;
del 30 de septiembre de 2002 al 28 de febrero de 2003.

3. Edward Fagan se ha presentado fraudulentamente como letrado a pesar de que está inhabilitado desde 2008. El Juez Federal Reggie B. Walton ha dicho expresamente, en 2012, que Edward D. Fagan "no puede comparecer en representación de otros individuos"

Sólo en 2012, Fagan ha presentado las siguientes demandas, aunque tiene prohibido el ejercicio de la abogacía:

No es la primera vez que Flagan ejerce sin derecho a hacerlo. En septiembre de 1999, el DEC (District V-C Ethics Committee) abrió una investigación para saber por qué estaba anunciándose como abogado , cuando estaba inhabilitado desde el 21 de septiembre de 1998 hasta el 19 de marzo de 1999. Flagan se escapó de la sanción diciendo que había sido una equivocación de los anunciantes.

En el caso de la demanda de EDWARD D. FAGAN, v. THE CZECH REPUBLIC, NATIONAL GALLERY IN PRAGUE, and MUSEUM OF DECORATIVE ARTS OF PRAGUE, la sentencia del Juez James I. Cohn, de 23 de octubre de 2012, muestra claramente que Fagan no puede ejercer, que toda acción legal que inicie como tal será anulada por fraude de ley y que busca su beneficio parapetado en el interés de organizaciones inexistentes.

www.scribd.com: United States District Court. Dismissal Fagan vs. the Czech Republic and National Gallery in Praga:

"(...) Fagan interpuso un recurso para que se le permitiese una Demanda Pro Se en nombre de "Victims of Holocaust Art Theft" y para otras compensaciones. (Fagan I, DE7. En ese recurso Fagan afirmaba que "Victims" no era una organización legal independiente de él, sino más bien un nombre ficticio que usaba para interponer demandas como individuo"

"Pero como el Tribunal ha explicado anteriormente, Fagan no puede representar a otra persona ante esta corte, especialmente dada su situación de inhabilitación"

4. Fagan compra parte de los derechos que pudieran tener los herederos de víctimas del Holocausto. Con esta argucia (que fue uno de sus motivos de inhabilitación) consigue una propaganda "moral" a sus demandas, retiene la libertad de acción de los herederos y convierte toda sentencia en contra en una "injusticia" contra las víctimas de la Shoah.

En la demanda contra la República Checa, había comprado parte de los derechos a Michal Klepetár y amplió ilegalmente su derecho a reclamar compensación en nombre de todos los herederos de Popper y de todos los bienes expoliados.

5. Edward Flagan se ha apropiado, en varias ocasiones, del dinero de sus clientes, víctimas del Holocausto. No ha mostrado escrúpulo alguno ante la avanzada edad de las víctimas ni su trágica historia. Su inhabilitación en New Jersey recoge dos casos:

el de Gizella Weisshaus and Estelle Sapir, ambas sobrevivientes del Holocausto:

"La acusación a su conducta ético-profesional, de fecha 3 de diciembre de 2004, imputaba al demandado de apropiación indebida y consciente de los fondos fiduiciarios pertenecientes al patrimonio heredado de Jack Oestreicher, primo de Weisshaus, y de la compensación que era propiedad de Sapir, violando así las leyes RPC 1.15(a), RPC 8.4(c), y los principios de In re Wilson, 81 N.J. 451 (1979). En el primer caso se alegaba que el demandado se había apropiado fraudulentamente de 82.432$ de los fondos de Jack Oestreicher. En el segundo, que se había apropiado fraudulentamente de 427.500 $ de la compensación de 500.000 $ que había recibido Sapie. El demandado negó que hubiera hecho nada incorrecto. El Juez Especial Minuskin presidio las sesiones del juició que duro 27 días, entre el 18 de agosto de 2005 y el 19 de abril de 2007, al final de las cuales el juez especial concluyó que el demandado (Edward Fagan) se había apropiado fraudulenta y conscientemente de los fondos pertenecientes a Oestreicher y Sapiir. En consecuencia, recomendó su inhabilitación."

En conclusión: Edward Fagan es un pícaro, un bribón y un sinvergüenza, que ha visto un negocio fácil en la explotación de víctimas del expolio nazi.

En el caso de los herederos Wertheim hay que añadir:

La " Asociación de Interés de Herederos Wertheim" no existe, como no existía AHVRAM ni la "Victims of Holocaust Art Theft". Por tanto es muy difícil que Mr. Tim Furhr sea miembro de ésta.

La "familia judía Wertheim" puede ser cualquiera con ese apellido y que reuna unos cuantos parientes. Desde luego, no se refiere a los descendientes de Georg Wertheim. El baile de nombres y víctimas Rudolf y Giselheide Sutor (née Eichhammer) y Wertheim recuerda demasiado al caso Klepetár y Popper.

Interwiko A.G fue una compañía con sede en Suiza dedicada a la importación-exportación durante el período 1984-1996. No figura ninguna empresa con ese nombre en ningun documento de ningún Archivo que contenga material sobre bienes del Holocausto, cualquiera sea su naturaleza.

La historia, como poco, es confusa. Si se quiere convertir el caso en un expolio de arte por los nazis, como apresuradamente lo ha hecho alguna prensa (2), las fechas no concuerdan. Hans Hoffmann, conocido en España como Juan Hoffman, fue cónsul honorario de Alemania Federal en Málaga desde 1966 hasta 1995. Desde 1995 hasta 1998 ejerció como decano del cuerpo consular y le sucedió como cónsul Klaus A. Meixner. Los cónsules anteriores a Hoffman fueron Rudolf Frömke (1912-1940) y Emil Küstner (3) . Si el robo de la colección se produjo siendo Hoffman cónsul, sería entre 1966 y 1998, fecha de su muerte. Por otra parte, habría qué preguntarse qué hacía un judío contratando la asistencia jurídica de Hoffman, un nazi tan conocido como Skorzeny o Degrelle. En cualquier momento de su vida , Hoffman, era un García Carrés: un nazi suelto y sin vacunar (4).

La petición de Fagan y los Sutor al Museo del Prado, al Gobierno de España y a la Embajada de Alemania en España para que les haga el trabajo de investigación con el que fundamentar una demanda es digna de quedar en los anales de la picaresca. Sigue la misma fórmula de las cartas que Fagan envió a distintas autoridades checas, conminando al pago de unos bonos a los que decía tener derecho, so pena de su peculiar código civil, a las más devastadoras querellas (5).

Fagan ha sido defendido por dos rabinos, Aryeh Scheinberg de la Congregation Rodfei Sholom en San Antonio, Texas, y Allen Schwartz of Congregation Ohab Zedek in New York que han reducido sus desmanes a "complicaciones" de su vida pública y privada, pero han destacado su amor por los judíos, Israel y la Torah (6).

Allen Schwartz ya dijo palabras semejantes sobre un estafador, Chaim Regensberg, que defraudó a la congregación Ohab Zedek 11$_{1}$000.000$ destinados a obras sociales. El individuo, al parecer, era un gabbai muy piadoso y amante de la Torah (7)

No pongo en duda la religiosidad de Edward Fagan ni la del avocatto Licio Gelli. Pero en España no cabe un chorizo más.

COMUNICADO DE NODO50 SOBRE EL BLOQUEO DE HETZNER A KAOS EN LA RED

En el año 2010, Nodo50 puso en marcha sus primeros servidores dedicados administrados, cuya finalidad era ofrecer una solución sostenible para organizaciones de gran tamaño que necesitan más recursos técnicos de lo habitual. Para realizar esta labor contratamos máquinas y alojamiento al proveedor alemán Hetzner [1], uno de los mayores de Europa.

El pasado 26 de Octubre de 2012 Heztner nos comunicó una queja de terceros sobre el contenido de una de las webs alojadas, "Kaos en la Red". Un particular, en nombre de "AFI-CAT (Association of Friends of Israel in Catalunya) afi-cat.or", había escrito a Heztner para quejarse de ciertas informaciones publicadas por "Kaos en la Red" y exigir la clausura de la web. Los artículos habían sido publicados en Internet hace más de un año, y la mayor parte fueron escritos hace tres, en el contexto de la "Guerra en Gaza", invierno de 2008-2009. Se da la circunstancia de que el dominio de la persona que envió el mensaje de queja a Hetzner se creó 5 días antes de su envío, y la web carece de contenido y es una simple redirección al Ministerio de Asuntos Exteriores de Israel.

Nodo50 ha intercambiado en los últimos días varios correos con Heztner para aclarar que:

- - No vamos a borrar ningún contenido.
- - No existe ninguna orden judicial que pida el borrado de dichos artículos.
- - La identidad del "delator" (afi-cat.org) es cuando menos sospechosa de
- ser fraudulenta.
- - Se trata de un claro intento de censura hacia unas informaciones que denuncian la vulneración de los derechos humanos y las resoluciones de Naciones Unidas por parte de Israel, así como la situación que atraviesa el pueblo Palestino.

La mañana del sábado 3 de noviembre de 2012, a las 9:30 horas, Heztner nos ha comunicado que ante nuestra negativa a borrar dichos artículos procederán al bloqueo del servidor de “Kaos en la Red” el lunes 5 de noviembre a las 11:00 horas.

La respuesta

El mismo sábado 3 de noviembre, alrededor de las 15:00 horas, teníamos preparado el nuevo alojamiento para “Kaos en la Red” en nuestras infraestructuras en Suecia, esperando al momento de desconexión, por parte de Heztner. El nuevo servidor sincroniza los datos cada hora, esperando a entrar en funcionamiento.

No vamos a permitir que ni el colectivo “Kaos en la Red” ni sus usuarios sufran bloqueo alguno, su información permanecerá online en todo momento.

El aprendizaje

Sacamos algunas conclusiones de lo ocurrido los últimos días:

- Nos parece preocupante la falta de escrúpulos por parte de Heztner en su forma de interpretar los términos y condiciones del contrato vigente, y bloquear webs bajo peticiones de particulares, sin necesidad de proceso judicial alguno o verificación de la veracidad de los interlocutores y las acusaciones.
- En los últimos seis meses estamos migrando todos nuestros dominios a un registrador canadiense, EasyDNS. La migración es parte de nuestra estrategia para apoyar a organizaciones comprometidas con la libertad de expresión. A pesar de haber recibido las mismas peticiones que Heztner para el bloqueo de Kaos en la Red su respuesta ha sido la opuesta. EasyDNS ha defendido el derecho de comunicarse libremente en Internet. Nodo50 quiere agradecerles su apoyo y solidaridad en estos momentos difíciles.

Hace ocho meses migramos nuestros servidores a Suecia y escribimos:

“Cada vez son más los que entienden que son los proyectos no comerciales e independientes los que mantienen el espíritu transformador de una red libre y abierta”

Gracias a la solidaridad de todos los proyectos alojados en Nodo50 y a quienes nos han ayudado en Suecia, en Canadá, y en cualquier parte del mundo para que sigamos estando SIEMPRE online.

Un abrazo,
Asamblea de Nodo50

Te lo agradezco mucho, Pau.

A ver si alguien puede averiguar por qué el servidor Germany Nuremberg Hetzner Online Ag no permite las críticas a la política del Gobierno de Israel por parte de Kaos en la red; pero aloja un panfleto por el exterminio de los judíos -algo sobreactuado, apestando a "bandera falsa", todo hay que decirlo- como www.nazicenter.ir ...

Ya me contarás lo que encuentres.

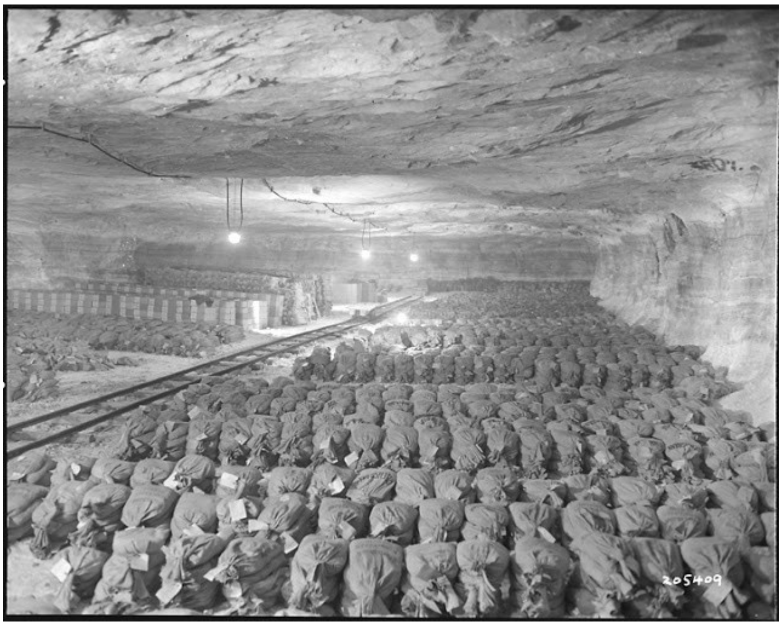
GINÉS VIDAL Y SAURA, EMBAJADOR ESPAÑOL EN BERLÍN Y EXCELENTÍSIMO ORDINARIO DE ARTE EXPOLIADO POR LOS NAZIS



El expediente seguirá abierto hasta la vigésima primera generación.

En el caso de que se inicie algún proceso de beatificación histórica o de proclamación de "Justo entre las naciones", ruego añadan, en el expediente del diplomático español Ginés Vidal y Saura, el siguiente documento que se halla en los Archivos Nacionales de Estados Unidos, NARA. Está incluido en los informes de inteligencia que utilizó la Roberts Commision para evaluar el tráfico de arte y bienes artísticos expoliados por los alemanes, que tenían España como destino o país de tránsito.

Con referencia a los 856 kilos de objetos artísticos y pinturas que han llegado hace poco a Barcelona por Lufthansa en dos remesas: además de varios equipajes que pertenecían al embajador español en Berlín, había 7 cajones de pinturas y 9 baúles sellados, consignados al Ministerio de Asuntos Exteriores en Madrid por la Embajada de España en Berlín.

En otro vuelo han llegado 16 cajas y 5 cajones consignados por el Gobierno del Reich para la Embajada Alemana en Madrid.

Al parecer, estos últimos consisten en tapices, tesoros artísticos religiosos y joyas enviados a España para ser reparados.

El 10 de febrero de 1945 todo el personal diplomático de la Embajada de España en Berlín cruzó la frontera Suiza huyendo de los bombardeos de la Eighth Air Force sobre la ciudad, previos a la batalla de Berlin que concluyó con la rendición incondicional de Alemania ante la Unión Soviética. El día 11, las últimas cien toneladas de oro puro ya se habían trasladado desde el Reichsbank hasta las minas de Merkers, cerca de Eisenach, donde se sumaron a las miles de obras de arte robadas por los alemanes en toda Europa. Pero, desde hacía más de un año, la salida de grandes cantidades de oro, joyas y objetos de arte era continua. El embajador Vidal y Saura ofreció las ventajas de la inmunidad diplomática para sacar los últimos restos del pillaje nazi. El ministro de Asuntos Exteriores que cooperó en los enjuagues fue José Félix de Lequerica, en cuyo curriculum el expolio fue el menor de sus crímenes.

Ginés Vidal murió meses después, en Berna, al parecer de una hemorragia cerebral, el mismo día en que Mussolini fue ajusticiado por los partisanos.

La suya fue una trayectoria coherente: en 1933 (coincidiendo con las opiniones de Salvador de Madariaga, hoy "olvidadas"), desde su puesto de cónsul en Copenhage, alertó sobre la permisividad de las leyes españolas, que habrían permitido la entrada de refugiados judíos en nuestro país. Justo Gómez Ocerín, Ministro Plenipotenciario en La Haya y Subsecretario del Ministerio de Estado durante la Segunda República, tranquilizó a Vidal con el anuncio de nuevas leyes que exigían visados y demostrar medios económicos a los refugiados, a fin de detener oleadas de judíos y otros indeseables. La correspondencia pueden leerla en el Archivo del Ministerio de Asuntos Exteriores, signatura R516/4, si tienen a bien perder el tiempo en todos los trámites burocráticos que una partida de funcionarios inútiles han ido inventando para impedir la investigación.

Vidal y Saura, encabezó la delegación diplomática que, a finales de 1940, fue a Berlin a negociar el pago pendiente con el gobierno alemán, por los servicios prestados por la Legion Condor por habernos bombardeado durante la Guerra Civil. Vidal y sus dos acompañantes, de la Puerta y Trelles, quedaron estupefactos y sin entender una palabra cuando Reinhard Koenning les presentó 60 archivadores gigantes conteniendo las cuentas de la deuda. La incompetencia diplomática y contable de los enviados por Franco, que tampoco tenían idea de lo que era la deuda austriaca, les confiere a estos personajes una innegable actualidad.

HA FALLECIDO EL EMBAJADOR DE ESPAÑA EN ALEMANIA

El Sr. Vidal de Saura murió a consecuencia de una embolia cerebral El sábado, día 28, a las diez cuarenta y cinco, ha fallecido en un sanatorio de Suiza el Excmo. Sr. D. Ginés Vidal y Saura, embajador de España en Alemania, a la edad de cincuenta y cuatro años, como consecuencia de una embolia cerebral.

El embajador había sufrido ya dos ataques en Alemania en el curso de los últimos meses, continuando no obstante en el desempeño de su cargo. El 11 de marzo se agravó de tal forma que tuvo que ser trasladado a Suiza en una ambulancia, ingresando en el sanatorio donde acaba de fallecer.

Su desaparición, en la plenitud de sus facultades y brillante carrera, representa una grave pérdida para España, en cuyo servicio ha muerto el ilustre diplomático, pues su misión en Berlín, en circunstancias extremadamente difíciles, ha sido sin duda la causa directa de la enfermedad que ha ocasionado su muerte.

El mérito de su constante labor en los múltiples puestos que había desempeñado desde su ingreso en la carrera diplomática en 1910, y muy especialmente el celo, tacto y clara inteligencia de que dió pruebas durante su embajada en Alemania, merecen los mayores elogios.

El finado era autor de varias obras históricas y sobre temas internacionales de gran interés y valor científico.

Los restos mortales, embalsamados en Suiza, serán trasladados a España tan pronto como las circunstancias lo permitan.

Este libro merecería ser estudiado en las Universidades que forman a los futuros historiadores, porque describe de manera inmisericorde cómo se perpetuó la gangrena que ha llevado a la ruina a Barcelona y a Catalunya, paradigma de la incuria y la corrupción hispana y, mal que nos pese, grotesca caricatura de Sicilia.

Quien no lo haya leído no puede decir que comprende este país.

LA MADELON

Pour le repos, le plaisir du militaire,
Il est là-bas à deux pas de la forêt
Une maison aux murs tout couverts de lierre
Aux vrais poilu c'est le nom du cabaret
La servante est jeune et gentille, Légère comme un papillon.
Comme son vin son œil pétille,
Nous l'appelons la Madelon
Nous en rêvons la nuit, nous y pensons le jour,
Ce n'est que Madelon mais pour nous c'est l'amour

Refrain

Quand Madelon vient nous servir à boire
Sous la tonnelle on frôle son jupon
Et chacun lui raconte une histoire
Une histoire à sa façon
La Madelon pour nous n'est pas sévère
Quand on lui prend la taille ou le menton
Elle rit, c'est tout le mal qu'elle sait faire Madelon, Madelon, Madelon !
Nous avons tous au pays une payse
Qui nous attend et que l'on épousera
Mais elle est loin, bien trop loin pour qu'on lui dise
Ce qu'on fera quand la classe rentrera
En comptant les jours on soupire
Et quand le temps nous semble long

Tout ce qu'on ne peut pas lui dire
On va le dire à Madelon
On l'embrasse dans les coins. Elle dit : "Veux-tu finir..."
On s'figure que c'est l'autre, ça nous fait bien plaisir.

Au refrain

Un caporal en képi de fantaisie
S'en fut trouver Madelon un beau matin
Et, fou d'amour, lui dit qu'elle était jolie Et qu'il venait pour lui demander sa main [Oui sa main...]
La Madelon, pas bête, en somme, Lui répondit en souriant:
"Et pourquoi prendrais-je un seul homme
Quand j'aime tout un régiment ?
Tes amis vont venir. Tu n'auras pas ma main J'en ai bien trop besoin pour leur verser du vin."

ALFONSO MARTÍNEZ DE TOLEDO: DE LA CALIDAD DE LOS HOMBRES

De las complexiones

En hombres hay muchas maneras, y por ende son malos de conocer, peores de castigar. Y por cuanto es cosa muy honda el corazón del hombre, según Salomón dice, por ende, no sólo por lo que de partes de fuera demuestra es conocido, mas aun por las calidades y complexiones que cada uno tiene es por malo o bueno habido. Y son en cuatro principales maneras halladas, según las calidades de ellos: unos son secretos, callados y de cortas razones, flemáticos, adustos; y otros son en otras tres maneras: unos sanguinos, alegres y placenteros; otros coléricos y furiosos; otros malenconiosos, tristes y pensativos. Esto según más y menos, que el hombre de todas cuatro complexiones es compuesto, mas una de ellas señorea el cuerpo más que no otra, según que aquí diré de las complexiones de los hombres. Y quiero primeramente poner las complexiones mejores y de mayor excelencia, según su naturaleza de ellas y la constelación de sus planetas; que cierto es que los cuerpos sobrecelestiales dan a los inferiores cuerpos sus influencias naturalmente y obran en ellos según más y menos.

Primeramente digo que hay algunos hombres que son sanguinos, con muy poquita mezcla de otra calidad y complexión ni predominación en grande cantidad de otro accidente. Este tal en sí comprehende la correspondencia del aire, que es húmedo y caliente; este tal es alegre hombre, placentero, riente y jugante, y sabedor, danzador y bailador, y de sus carnes ligero, franco y hombre de muchas carnes y de toda alegría es amigo, de todo enojo enemigo, y ríe de grado y toma placer con toda cosa alegre y bien hecha. Es fresco en la cara, en color bermejo y hermoso, sobejo, honesto y mesurado; este tal es misericordioso y justiciero; que ama justicia y mesura, mas no por sus manos hacerla ni ejecutarla; antes es tanta la piedad que en su corazón reina, que no le place ver ejecución de ninguno que viva, antes ha duelo de cualquier animal irracional que vea morir o penar. Duélele el mal hecho, pésale el mal obrar; plácele bien hacer y verlo hacer. Suma: que el sanguino, si de otra calidad contraria no es sobrado, dicho es bienaventurado. Y son de su predominación estos tres signos: Géminis, Libra, Acuario: su reinar de estos tres signos, lo demás es en poniente.

De la calidad del hombre colérico

Hay otros hombres de calidad coléricos; estos son calientes y secos, por cuanto el elemento del fuego es su correspondiente, que es caliente y seco. Estos tales súbito son irados muy de recio, sin templanza alguna. Son muy soberbios, fuertes y de mala complexión arrebatada, pero dura breve tiempo; pero el tiempo que dura son muy peligrosos. Son hombres muy sueltos en hablar, osados en toda plaza, animosos de corazón, ligeros por sus cuerpos; mucho sabios, sutiles e ingeniosos; muy solícitos y despachados; a todo perezoso aborrecen; son hombres para mucho. Estos aman justicia y no todavía son buenos para mandarla, mejores para ejecutarla; así son como carniceros crueles, vindicativos, al tiempo de su cólera, arrepentidos de que les pasa. Son de color blanquinosa en la cara. Y son de sus predominaciones estos tres signos: Aries, Leo y Sagitario: ardientes como fuego. Reinan estos tres signos en levante, y son muy fuertes hombres y los demás a perder.

De la calidad del hombre flemático

Hay otros que son flemáticos, húmedos, fríos de su naturaleza de agua. Estos tales son tibios, ni buenos para acá, ni malos para allá, sino a manera de perezosos y negligentes, que tanto se les da por lo que va como por lo que viene; dormidores, pesados, más flojos que madeja, ni bien son para reír ni bien son para llorar; fríos, invernizos, de poco hablar, solitarios, medio mudos, hechos a machamartillo, sospechosos, no entrometidos, flacos de saber, ligeros de seso, judíos de corazón y mucho más de hechos. Son de su predominación tres signos: Cáncer, Escorpio, Piscis. Reinan estos tres signos a la parte de la trasmontana. La color tienen como de abuhados.

De la calidad del hombre malencónico

Hay otros hombres que son malencónicos: a estos corresponde la tierra, que es el cuarto elemento, la cual es fría y seca. Estos tales son hombres muy irados, sin tiento ni mesura. Son muy escasos en superlativo grado; son incomportables donde quiera que usan, mucho riñosos y con todos rifadores. No tienen templanza en cosa que hagan, sino dar con la cabeza a la pared. Son muy inicuos, maldicientes, tristes, suspirantes, pensativos; huyen de todo lugar de alegría; no les place ver hombre que tome solaz con un papelote. Son sañudos, y luego las puñadas en la mano, porfiados, mentirosos, engañosos; e innumerables otras tachas y males tienen. Son podridos, gargajosos, ceñudos y crueles sin mesura en sus hechos. Esto todo susodicho se entiende de las complexiones de cada una de las dichas calidades en él más predominantes. Empero, si otra complexión mejor ayudase a la mala en cantidad mayor que ella, hará a la persona perder la propia y allegarle a la que le ayuda, y será demudado en la mejor complexión. Y por el contrario eso mismo. Ejemplo: el flemático puede ser tanto de la sangre ayudado que le hará ser muy mejor que flemático; y esto es de todas las complexiones. Y por el contrario también, aunque, como dije, el hombre de todas cuatro es complexionado; pero la que más reina, aquella le tira a su calidad en mucho o en poco, en bien o en mal, según su reinar. Son de sus predominaciones tres signos: Tauro, Virgo y Capricornio. Reinan estos tres signos al mediodía. Color tienen de cetrinos.

Por fin, un texto interesante y que puede dar lugar a verdaderos debates y no estos efímeros de si España es Cataluña o Cataluña es francófona, de si la situación económica mejorará el año que viene o vendrá el Espíritu Santo a resolverlo, etc. Echo de menos una explicación de la imagen que acompaña al texto del Arcipreste.

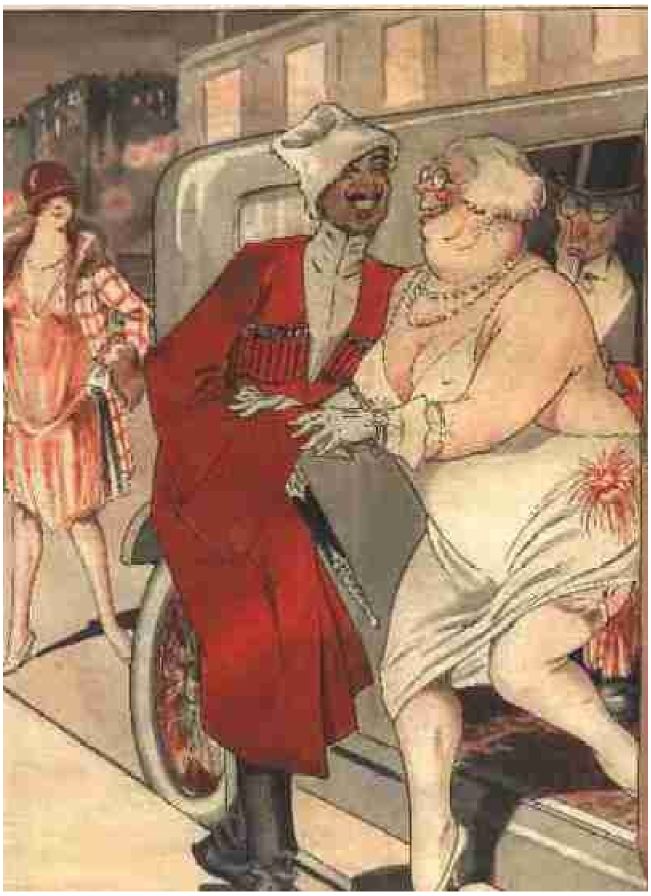
EUROVEGAS A MADRID Y LA AGUIRRE DE MADAME



Lo que digo no es de chanza:
un burdel es cosa fina
y más si tiene cabina
y se va con Esperanza.

Si el burdel tiene casino,
no veo yo la objeción
a pagar al alimón
ser putero y Aladino.

Un burdel tiene madame que gobierna a las gatitas y soluciona las cuitas
del marqués o del gañán.

Son gatos los de Madrid
y es gata su presidenta, profesional elementa
de gachos y de gachís

En asuntos del carajo
y con tan piadosa gente, para atender a clientes,
hay que tener desparpajo

Si el mon jules es un semita, el socio es un mexicano,

el mon chou chou es un cristiano
y la mafia moscovita, bien podemos concluir que Madrid ha puesto en boga cobrar en la sinagoga

y follar en Chamberí

Si usted es antisemita
y no le mola el jugar, le montan el lupanar
en una coqueta ermita.

Para vicios de sotanas pederastas alegrías
y reales gollerías:
las domus carmelitanas.

Madrid es el centro de España y España centro del mundo:
hasta el casto Segismundo
se va de putas y cañas.

Aqui se coge una tranca Aqui el guiri no se apoca.
porque vendemos la coca de la Costa Polvoranca.

Desde los tiempos de Adán, los vicios de los piadosos
hacen ricos a mafiosos.
Que se lo cuente Strauss-Kahn.

Diga que sí, don Alimaña, muy bien explicado. Icono de periodistas, hay que ver cómo pone en valor la redacción y en escena la crítica constructiva. Pero, con el debido respeto, por favor, no nos enlace con C. J. Cela Conde deseoso de que el debate catalán "entre en los asuntos que la ciudadanía debe tratar". Pudiendo reflexionar sobre la migración del pato WC, no se puede comparar. No nos ponga contra las cuerdas, o nos cuelgue en ellas, porque nos aburrimos tanto, tanto... Quien quiera irse de España, que se vaya, pero en silencio por favor, todos callados, sin molestarnos. Ya quisiera tener yo la ilusión de poder irme a alguna parte.

Esperanza se nos fue sin darnos explicación
y Gatopardo también, causando gran conmoción.

Muy solos nos ha dejado sin el querido Alimaña, lectores con muy mal hado, sin Eliah, Cabra, ni nada.

La soledad es nuestro sino, ¿qué haremos sin esas risas que no reemplaza el buen vino ni suavidad de las brisas?

Malos tiempos nos acechan ¿quién nos podrá defender?
si del trabajo nos echan
ya ni podremos leer

algo con inteligencia que alivie nuestros pesares
y perderemos paciencia
y no curaremos males.

en la prosa al escribir se equivoca al recabar risas contra el mal vivir que es un mal muy general.

Lo mejor es ajo y agua,
a joderse y aguantar,
o pillar una piragua
y exiliarse en Gibraltar.

Este país, desde Adán, se acostumbró a perder
siempre fiero el ademán

siempre dispuesto a correr en pos de su capitán.

No diré yo que en el fondo
no piense como la abuela pero son tiempos tan duros que estos versos van por ella.

Si Agüela se pone así malos tiempos nos rodean nunca vi tal frenesí en el cantar de su pena.

Güelina levante el ánimo, que joder nos joderemos,
y lo digo sin sarcasmo
pero otros tiempos veremos.

Deje la piragua en tierra
y a los monos Gibraltar, quédese por estas sierras,
por llanuras o la mar.

De irse que marchen ellos, nosotros aquí quedamos
y miraremos su reinos
caer bajo nuestras manos.

Marianico y Rubalcaba que se vayan al exilio que remen en la piragua hasta encontrar otros pillos.

De aquí no nos mueve nadie que bastante hemos sufrido para que se lleve el aire el sudor que hemos vertido.

Habrá que encontrar el medio de luchar como Quijotes aunque sin ningún remedio nos llamen los grandes zotes.

Gatopardo con su pluma es un peligro social pues al que caiga despluma de su total falsedad.

Que vuelvan risas y risas que pronto hemos de morir aunque no tengamos prisas
no está lejos el partir.

Por eso nada perdemos porque está todo perdido
y aunque muy poco podemos
no dejemos ir lo ido.

Repitamos buenos ratos, burlas, sarcasmos y críticas.
el genio de Gatopardo,
que eso nadie nos lo quita.

Que Goldman-Sachs se enriquezca, que medren nuestros políticos,
que escriban las marionetas la guillotina está presta.

Sólo es cosa de esperar
y hacer lo que uno pueda pero no desesperar
porque está al ganar la Abuela.

Ella tampoco lo cree aunque ha vivido tanto que igual lo sabe muy bien
y simula el desencanto.

No recuerda los placeres,
el vino, amistad y amor,
aquellos queridos seres,
todo eso que vivió.

A mi me pasa lo mismo me asedia el desencanto pero sé que no es lo mismo porque nunca tuve encanto.

Así que arriba los ánimos que a Eliah queda por decir qué fue de los nazis amos dónde su sobrevivir.

Que le falta a doña Cabra,
de Santamaría, Pajín, lo que cobran de la pasta
Chacón y otros decir.

Cuánto bobo, cuánto malo
comprendo la extenuación pero, como soy, no alcanzo a aprobar la decepción

de gente con tal talento que nos puede socorrer cuando yo como otros muchos preferiríamos morrer.

Coda: juro que voy a comprar un diccionario de rimas porque yo esto sólo lo hago por la Abuela. Que don Alimaña and C., si quieren, sigan en la cárcel, pero yo no lo repito. Siempre respeté a mis mayores y no quiero que Güeli pase malos ratos entre rejas. Nota erudita: “morrer” significa en dialecto norteño “morir”. La mejor pintada que he visto en mi empresa es la siguiente:“Todos vamos morrer”, de anarquistas, claro, o similares, gente de mal vivir.

ROLF Y HANS GÜNTHER, LOS CÓMPLICES DE ADOLF EICHMANN QUE LA CIA PROTEGIÓ

Desde hace siete años permanece desclasificado un documento de la CIA (1) que demuestra que los criminales de guerra Rolf Günther y su hermano Hans Günther no habían muerto en 1945, sino que seguían vivos en la localidad alemana de Eschwege (Hessen) en 1961:

El documento, como puede verse en el párrafo 1, cruza los nombres de los hermanos y sus fechas de nacimiento Los datos de edad correctos son los del párrafo 4:

Hans Günther, nacido el 22 /08/ de 1910 (2):

Rolf Günther, nacido el 08/01/ de 1913 (3):

Las siglas y cargos que mencionan son:

Stubaf: Sturmbannführer o Comandante de Unidades de Asalto de las SS. Su grado superior era el Obersturmbannführer y el inferior inmediato Hauptsturmführer. Hans Günther y Adolf Eichmann eran Obersturmbannführer, Rolf Günther Sturmbannführer y Josef Mengele, Klaus Barbie o Alois Brunner, Hauptsturmführer.

AMT IV-B, RSHA. La Reichssicherheitshauptamt o RSHA (Oficina Central de Seguridad del Reich), bajo el mando de Heinrich Himmler, agrupó, desde su creación en 1939 los servicios de seguridad, SD o Sicherheitsdienst, la Kripo o Kriminalpolizei (Policía Criminal) y la Gestapo o Geheime Staat Polizei (Policía Secreta del Estado).

La RSHA se dividía en siete departamentos o Ämter (AMT). AMT IV correspondía a la Gestapo y su jefe máximo era el SS Gruppenführer Heinrich Müller, cuya suerte y paradero aún se desconoce. El AMT IV a su vez se dividía en 6 secciones identificadas con letras.

AMT IV B se encargaba de la identificación, control y exterminio de grupos religiosos, étnicos y francmasones. La ejecución de toda la Solución Final al "Problema Judío" o Endlösung der Judenfrage, coordinada y perfilada en todos sus detalles en la Conferencia de Wansee, fue encargada a Eichmann. El grupo de oficiales de la Gestapo encargados de las operaciones necesarias para el exterminio, los llamados "Hombres de Eichman" pertenecían al AMT IV B y eran:

Alois Brunner, Theodor Dannecker, Dieter Wisliceny, Hermann Alois Krumey, Franz Novak, Gustav Richter, Wilhelm Zöpf, Heinz Rothke, Franz Abromeit, Otto Hunsche, Siegfried Seidl y los hermanos Günther. Cada uno de estos delegados u hombres de confianza se encargó de la operación en una zona geográfica de Europa (4)

Rolf Günther

NSDAP (National Sozialistische Deutsche Arbeiterpartei) nº: 472.421
SS (Schutzstaffel) nº: 290.130

Era el asistente personal de Eichmann y supervisor de los Delegados. En el caso de que Eichmann no estuviera presente, era Rolf Günter el que firmaba y daba las órdenes. Así, es Rolf Gunther quien, en junio de 1942, ordenó a Kurt Gerstein y al Prof. Pfannenstiel, del "Hygiene Institute" de las Waffen SS, que sustituyera el monóxido de carbono de diesel por Zyklon B en los campos de exterminio de Belzec, Sobibor y Treblinka, una de las fases de la Aktion Reinhard, iniciada en 1942 y que, a 31 de diciembre del mismo año, había eliminado a 1$_1$274.166 judíos.

El papel de Rolf Günther en el Holocausto está detallado en el Informe de Kurt Gernstein (5), en el interrogatorio a Eichmann, en declaraciones de acusados de Nuremberg, en el interrogatorio a Dieter Wisliceny o en el de Franz Novak.

Oficialmente Rolf Günther se suicidó en el campo de prisioneros de Ebensee durante el verano de 1945 y así lo certificó la Cruz Roja y las autoridades americanas.

El problema es: que los documentos de las autoridades americanas no aparecen y el que revelamos ahora de 1961 deja clara su protección a estos genocidas y respecto a la Cruz Roja, examinado su turbio papel como supervisora de campos de exterminio nazi y protectora de criminales de guerra nazi en posguerra, no es el organismo más fiable.

Sin embargo, sería interesante localizar ese supuesto certificado de defunción para saber quiénes lo firmaron.

Hans Günther.

SS : nº 290.129

Fue el representante permanente de Eichmann en la Zentralstelle fur Judische Auswanderung, en Viena y en Praga. La Oficina Central de Emigración Judía era el organismo burocrático encargado de robar a los judíos de Bohemia y Moravia todo su patrimonio y deportarlos hacía los campos de concentración.

Historiadores, cazanazis y organizaciones en torno al Holocausto han dado por cierta la versión, cuyo origen no aclaran, de que Hans Günther murió a manos de partisanos checos el 5 de mayo de 1945.

El documento de la CIA que publicamos deja claro las razones por las que no se pasó la información a Israel, que dos meses más tarde comenzaría el juicio contra Adolf Eichmann. El presidente de Estados Unidos era John F. Kennedy y el Canciller de la República Federal de Alemania, Konrad Adenauer. El Director de la CIA Allen Dulles y el del Bundesnachrichtendienst o Servicio de inteligencia federal Reinhard Gehlen, buena gentuza donde las hubo.

Desde 1957 se había firmado un acuerdo entre los servicios de inteligencia alemanes y el ejército americano (USAREUR y USAFE) para que los refugiados de origen étnico aleman fuesen interrogados en centros dirigidos por personal alemán y oficiales del ejército americano. En 1959 entraron en este acuerdo Francia y Gran Bretaña. En el área americana los centros se llamaban JICs (Joint Interrogation Centers). En 1960 había JICs en Stuttgart, Munich, Nurenberg, Kassel, y Frankfurt. En los interrogatorios, los militares americanos eran ayudados por la MI (Military Intelligence) y el 532d Military Intelligence Battalion's Company.

El 532d Military Intelligence Battalion's Company tenía 12 bases: Bad Hersfeld, Fulda, Bad Neustadt, Coburg, Kronach, Hof, Marktredwitz, Altenstadt, Cham, Berchtesgaden, Passau y Eschwege, refugio de Hans y Rolf Günther.

Coda:

No sé el número de libros, artículos, congresos y comités sobre el Holocausto que han aparecido desde 2005. Por los correos que me llegan, innumerables. Tampoco sé la cifra exacta de académicos que han engordado sus curriculos y sus sueldos, periodistas que han firmado best-sellers u organizaciones que han justificado existencia, donaciones y prebendas hablando del tema. Los responsables del Holocausto siguen sin ser juzgados por la historia porque hay una partida de vagos templagaitas que han decidido que las víctimas sigan siendo rentables más allá de sus cenizas. Como suele ocurrir con los inútiles y los mediocres, el esfuerzo mental va en relación inversamente proporcional a su preocupación por el copyright.

Si es indecente sacar beneficios de los muertos, es más indecente el cambalache con los culpables:

Hace unos días, cotejando la lista de las 2.500 empresas alemanas que habían utilizado prisioneros como mano de obra esclava, lo que se conoce como Catalogue of Camps and Prisons in Germany and the German-Occupied Territories, published in July 1949 by the International Tracing Service (ITS), descubrí que el American Jewish Committee y la Jewish Virtual Library habían decidido eliminar de la lista de empresas nazis, aquellas que habían accedido a dar una compensación económica por sus crímenes.

"Those companies that join the compensation fund will be taken off the list and put in the column of member companies of the fund. So far, we have been able to remove 47 companies on our list that have voluntarily joined the compensation fund."

No sé qué ley humana o divina les ha dado a estas organizaciones la autoridad para representar a las víctimas: judíos, gitanos, comunistas, anarquistas, enfermos y homosexuales; para otorgar el perdón de los pecados o para reescribir la historia. Pero mercachifles de la muerte como éstos, sobran.

(4) De todos estos criminales de guerra, sólo fueron ejecutados Siegfried Seidl (Austria, 1947), Dieter Wisliceny (en Checoslovaquia en 1958) y Adolf Eichmann (Israel, 1962).

Alois Brunner desapareció y vivió protegido por el gobierno en Siria hasta 1996, que es la última fecha de localización.

Theodor Dannecker. Se suicidó (suponemos) en la Prisión de Bad Tölz en 1945 tras haber sido detenido por el ejercito americano.

Hermann Alois Krumey. Detenido por los aliados en 1945. Liberado en 1948 gracias a la intervención en su favor del periodista y abogado judío Rudolf Kasztner. Después de la guerra fue presidente de la poderosa Asociación de Alemanes de los Sudetes, que le ofreció su apoyo incondicional. Las autoridades de Korbach en Hessen le concedieron un crédito estatal destinado a refugiados para abrir un próspero negocio en la ciudad. En custodia desde 1960 a 1965. Por su participación en el exterminio de los judíos de Hungría fue condenado a 5 años por la Corte Penal de Frankfurt en 1965, condena que se consideró que ya había cumplido. En 1969, por una apelación de la Fiscalía, se le juzgó de nuevo y se le condenó a cadena perpetua, pero la sentencia no se ejecutó porque se admitió una apelación del acusado.

Franz Novak o Nowak: En libertad en Austria hasta 1961. Juzgado por sus crímenes en 1964, fue sentenciado a 8 años de prisión, aunque el juicio fue anulado en 1966, siendo absuelto de los cargos y liberado.

Gustav Richter. Repatriado por la Unión Soviética a Alemania en 1955. En libertad hasta 1982, que es cuando la Justicia alemana terminó se preparar el juicio. Condena de 4 años por su participación en el exterminio de gitanos y judíos de Rumania y el asesinato de 300.000 judíos en Belzec.

Wilhelm Zöpf No fue acusado de nada hasta 1963. Juzgado en 1967 por el asesinato de 83.000 judíos holandeses. 9 años de prisión. Se desconoce si los cumplió enteros.

Heinz Rothke. Vivió de manera pública como abogado en Wolfsburg, Alemania occidental. Falleció el 14 de julio de 1966. Francia lo condenó a muerte in absentia. No consta petición de extradición a Alemania.

Franz Abromeit escapó en 1945. Se le supuso en Egipto.

Otto Hunsche Arrestado en 1960. En 1965 se le condenó por el asesinato de 1.200 personas, pero el Juez consideró que ya había cumplido la pena con los 5 años desde su arresto

Tübingen (Württemberg), garden route 24, the 4. May 1945 at present Rottweil

(Translated from German)

On 14 July 1938 my second arrest occured, and I was committed to the Konzentrationslager Welzheim because of subversive activity. Before that I was frequently warned and interrogated by the Gestapo, and received a ban on speaking throughout the whole Reich area.

When I heard about the beginning of the killing of mentally ill persons at Grafeneck and Hadamar and other sites, I decided to make every effort to look into the matter of these ovens and chambers in order to learn what happened there. This was all the more relevant as a sister-in-law by marriage - Bertha Ebeling - was compulsorily killed in Hadamar. With two references from Gestapo officers who had worked on my case, I easily succeeded in joining the SS. The gentlemen took the view that my idealism, which they probably admired, must be of advantage to the Nazi cause. On 10 March 1941 I joined the SS. I received my basic training in Hamburg-Langenhorn, in Arnhem (Holland), and in Oranienburg. In Holland I immediately contacted the Dutch resistance movement (graduate engineer Ubbink, Doesburg)

Because of my dual studies I was soon taken over by the technical-medical service and allotted to the SS-Führungshauptamt, Amtsgruppe D, Sanitätswesen der Waffen-SS Abteilung Hygiene. I completed the training in a course together with 40 physicians. At the Hygienedienst I could determine my activities for myself. I constructed mobile and stationary disinfection facilities for the troops, for prisoner-of-war camps, and concentration camps. With this I had great success and was from then on undeservedly considered as a kind of technical genius. Indeed it turned out well at least to some extent, by getting the horrible epidemic typhus wave in 1941 in the camps under control. Because of my successes I soon became Leutnant and then Oberleutnant.

At Christmas 1941 the court which had ordered my expulsion from the NSDAP was informed about my joining the SS in a leading position. The result was a severe witch hunt against me. But because of my great successes and my personality I was protected and kept in office. In January 1942 I became head of the department of health engineering and in addition in a double function for the same sector I was taken over by the Reichsarzt SS und Polizei. In this function I took over the whole technical disinfection service including disinfection with highly toxic gases.

In this capacity I was visited on 8 June 1942 by the until then unknown to me SS-Sturmführer Günther from Reichssicherheitshauptamt Berlin W, Kurfürstenstraße. Günther arrived in civil clothing. He gave me the order to immediately obtain 100 kg prussic acid for a very secret Reichs order, and to drive with it by car to an undisclosed location which would be only known by the driver. Then some weeks later we drove to Prague. I understood little of the nature of the order but accepted it because here was an accidental opportunity to do something which I had longed for for a long time - to be able to view inside these objects.

In addition I was recognized as such an authority and considered so competent as an expert on prussic acid, that in every case it would have been very easy for me to declare on some pretext that the prussic acid was unsuitable - because of decomposition or the like - in order to prevent its use for the real killing purpose. Together with us travelled - merely by chance - Professor Dr. med. Pfannenstiel, SS-Obersturmbannführer, full Professor of Hygienics at the University of Marburg/Lahn.

Then we drove by car to Lublin where the SS-Gruppenführer Globocnik awaited us. In the factory in Collin I had intentionally intimated that the acid was destined for the killing of human beings. A man appeared in the afternoon who was very interested in the vehicle and, after being noticed, promptly fled at a breakneck tempo. Globocnik said: "This whole affair is one of the most secret things of all in this time, one can say the most secret of all. Whoever talks about it will be shot on the spot. Only yesterday two blabbers have been shot." Then he explained to us:

"Actually" - that was on 17 August 1942 - "we are running three facilities", namely: - Belzec, at the country road and railway line Lublin - Lemberg, at the demarcation line with Russia. Maximum output 15,000 persons daily.

-Treblinka, 120 km northeast of Warsaw. Maximum output 25,000 persons daily.

-Sobibor, also in Poland, I don't know exactly where. 20,000 persons maximum output daily. Then in preparation - Majdanek near Lublin.

Belzec, Treblinka, and Majdanek I have visited personally in detail, together with the leader of these facilities, Polizeihauptmann Wirth. Globocnik consulted me alone and said: "It is your task in particular to disinfect the extensive amounts of textiles. The whole Spinnstoffsammlung [= Collection of spun material in Germany] has only been gathered in order to explain the origin of the clothing material for the Ostarbeiter [eastern workers] etc, and to present it as an offering of the German nation. In reality the yield of our facilities is 10 - 20 times larger than that of the whole Spinnstoffsammlung."

Thereafter I discussed with the most efficient companies the possibility of disinfecting such amounts of textiles - it consisted of an accumulated stock of approximately 40 million kgs = 60 complete freight trains - in the existing laundries and disinfection facilities. However it was absolutely impossible to place such huge orders. I used all these negotiations to make known in a skilful way or at least to intimate, the fact of the killing of the Jews. In the end it was sufficient for Globocnik that everything was sprinkled with a bit of Detenolin so that it at least smelled of disinfection. That was then carried out.

"Your other and far more important task is the changeover of our gas chambers which actually work with diesel exhaust fumes into a better and quicker system. I think especially of prussic acid. The day before yesterday the Führer and Himmler were here. On their order I have to personally take you there, I am not to issue written certificates and admittance cards to anybody!"

Then Pfannenstiel asked: "What did the Führer say?" Glob.: "Quicker, carry out the whole action quicker." Pfannenstiel's attendant, Ministerialrat Dr. Herbert Lindner, then asked: "Mr. Globocnik, do you think it is good and proper to bury all the corpses instead of cremating them? A generation could come after us which doesn't understand all this!"

Then Globocnik said: "Gentlemen, if ever a generation will come after us which is so weak and soft-hearted that it doesn't understand our task, then indeed the whole of National Socialism has been in vain. To the contrary, in my opinion one should bury bronze plates on which it is recorded that we have had the courage to carry out this great and so necessary work."

The Führer: "Good, Globocnik, this is indeed also my opinion!" Later the alternative option was accepted. Then the corpses were cremated on large roasts, improvised from rails, with the aid of petrol and diesel oil.

The next day we drove to Belzec. A small special station had been created for this purpose at a hill, hard north of the road Lublin-Lemberg, in the left angle of the demarcation line. South of the road some houses with the inscription "Sonderkommando Belzec der Waffen-SS". Because the actual chief of the whole killing facilities, Polizeihauptmann Wirth, was not yet there, Globocnik introduced me to SS-Hauptsturmführer Obermeyer (from Pirmasens). That afternoon he let me see only that which he simply had to show me. That day I didn't see any corpses, just the smell of the whole region was stinking to high heaven in a hot August, and millions of flies were everywhere.

Near to the small double-track station was a large barrack, the so-called 'cloakroom', with a large counter for valuables. Then followed the barber's room with approximately 100 chairs, the barber room. Then an alley in the open air, below birches, fenced in to the right and left by double barbed wire with inscriptions: 'To the inhalation- and bath rooms!'. In front of us a sort of bath house with geraniums, then a small staircase, and then to the right and left 3 rooms each, 5 x 5 meters, 1.90 meters high, with wooden doors like garages. At the back wall, not quite visible in the dark, larger wooden ramp doors. On the roof as a "clever, little joke" the Star of David. In front of the building an inscription: Hackenholt-Foundation. More I couldn't see that afternoon.

The next morning, shortly before 7 a.m. someone announced to me: "In ten minutes the first transport will come!" In fact the first train arrived after some minutes, from the direction of Lemberg. 45 wagons with 6,700 people of whom 1,450 were already dead on arrival. Behind the barred hatches children as well as men and women looked out, terribly pale and nervous, their eyes full of the fear of death. The train comes in: 200 Ukrainians fling open the doors and whip the people out of the wagons with their leather whips.

A large loudspeaker gives the further orders: 'Undress completely, also remove artificial limbs, spectacles etc. Handing over valuables at the counter, without receiving a voucher or a receipt. The shoes carefully bound together (because of the Spinnstoffsammlung), because on the almost 25 metre high heap nobody would have been able to find the matching shoes again. Then the women and girls to the barber who, with two, three scissor strokes is cutting off all hair and collecting it in potato sacks. "That is for special purposes in the submarines, for seals or the like!" the SS-Unterscharführer who is on duty there says to me.

Then the procession starts moving. In front a very lovely young girl; so all of them go along the alley, all naked, men, women, children, without artificial limbs. I myself stand together with Hauptmann Wirth on top of the ramp between the gas chambers. Mothers with babies at their breast, they come onward, hesitate, enter the death chambers! At the corner a strong SS man stands who, with a voice like a pastor, says to the poor people: "There is not the least chance that something will happen to you! You must only take a deep breath in the chamber, that widens the lungs; this inhalation is necessary because of the illnesses and epidemics." On the question of what would happen to them he answered: "Yes, of course, the men have to work, building houses and roads but the women don't need to work. Only if they wish they can help in housekeeping or in the kitchen."

For some of these poor people this gave a little glimmer of hope, enough to go the few steps to the chambers without resistance. The majority are aware, the smell tells them of their fate! So they climb the small staircase, and then they see everything. Mothers with little children at the breast, little naked children, adults, men, women, all naked - they hesitate but they enter the death chambers, pushed forward by those behind them or driven by the leather whips of the SS.

The majority without saying a word. A Jewess of about 40 years of age, with flaming eyes, calls down vengeance on the head of the murderers for the blood which is shed here. She gets 5 or 6 slashes with the riding crop into her face from Hauptmann Wirth personally, then she also disappears into the chamber. Many people pray. I pray with them, I press myself in a corner and shout loudly to my and their God. How gladly I would have entered the chamber together with them, how gladly I would have died the same death as them. Then they would have found a uniformed SS man in their chambers - the case would have been understood and treated as an accident, one man quietly missing. Still I am not allowed to do this. First I must tell what I am experiencing here!

The chambers fill. "Pack well!" - Hauptmann Wirth has ordered. The people stand on each other's feet. 700 - 800 on 25 square meters, in 45 cubic meters! The SS physically squeezes them together, as far as is possible.

The doors close. At the same time the others are waiting outside in the open air, naked. Someone tells me: "The same in winter!" "Yes, but they could catch their death of cold," I say. "Yes, exactly what they are here for!" says an SS man to me in his Low German. Now I finally understand why the whole installation is called the Hackenholt-Foundation. Hackenholt is the driver of the diesel engine, a little technician, also the builder of the facility.

The people are brought to death with the diesel exhaust fumes. But the diesel doesn't work! Hauptmann Wirth comes. One can see that he feels embarrassed that that happens just today, when I am here. That's right, I see everything! And I wait. My stop watch has honestly registered everything. 50 minutes, 70 minutes [?] - the diesel doesn't start! The people are waiting in their gas chambers. In vain! One can hear them crying, sobbing... Hauptmann Wirth hits the Ukrainian who is helping Unterscharführer Hackenholt 12, 13 times in the face.

After two hours and 49 minutes - the stop watch has registered everything well - the diesel starts. Until this moment the people live in these 4 chambers, four times 750 people in 4 times 45 cubic meters! Again 25 minutes pass. Right, many are dead now. One can see that through the small window in which the electric light illuminates the chambers for a moment. After 28 minutes only a few are still alive. Finally, after 32 minutes, everyone is dead!

From the other side men from the work command open the wooden doors. They have been promised - even Jews - freedom, and some one-thousandth of all valuables found, for their terrible service. Like basalt pillars the dead stand inside, pressed together in the chambers. In any event there was no space to fall down or even bend forward. Even in death one can still tell the families. They still hold hands, tensed in death, so that one can barely tear them apart in order to empty the chamber for the next batch. The corpses are thrown out, wet from sweat and urine, soiled by excrement, menstrual blood on their legs.

Children's' corpses fly through the air. There is no time. The riding crops of the Ukrainians lash down on the work commands. Two dozen dentists open mouths with hooks and look for gold. Gold to the left, without gold to the right. Other dentists break gold teeth and crowns out of jaws with pliers and hammers.

Among all this Hauptmann Wirth is running around. He is in his element. Some workers search the genitals and anus of the corpses for gold, diamonds, and valuables. Wirth calls me to him: "Lift this can full of gold teeth, that is only from yesterday and the day before yesterday!" In an incredibly vulgar and incorrect diction he said to me: "You won't believe what we find in gold and diamonds every day" -he pronounced it (in German Brillanten) with two L - "and in dollars. But see for yourself!" And now he led me to a jeweller who managed all these treasures, and let me see all this. Then someone showed me a former head of the Kaufhaus des Westens in Berlin, and a violinist: "That was a Hauptmann of the Austrian Army, knight of the Iron Cross 1st class who is now camp elder of the Jewish work command!"

The naked corpses were carried on wooden stretchers to pits only a few meters away, measuring 100 x 20 x 12 meters. After a few days the corpses welled up and a short time later they collapsed, so that one could throw a new layer of bodies upon them. Then ten centimeters of sand were spread over the pit, so that a few heads and arms still rose from it here and there. At such a place I saw Jews climbing over the corpses and working. One told me that by mistake those who arrived dead had not been stripped. Of course this has to be done later because of the Spinnstoffsammlung and valuables which otherwise they would take with

Neither in Belzec nor in Treblinka was any trouble taken over registering or counting the dead. The numbers were only estimates of a wagon's content... Hauptmann Wirth asked me not to propose changes in Berlin re his facilities, and to let it remain as it is, being well established and well-tried. I supervised the burial of the prussic acid because it allegedly had decomposed.

The next day -19 August 1942- we drove in the car of Hauptmann Wirth to Treblinka, 120 km north northeast of Warsaw. The equipment was nearly the same as, but much larger than in Belzec. Eight gas chambers and real mountains of suitcases, textiles, and clothes. In our honour a banquet was given in old German style in the communal room. The meal was simple but everything was available in sufficient quantity. Himmler himself had ordered that the men of these commandos received as much meat, butter and other things, especially alcohol, as they wanted.

Then we drove in the car to Warsaw. I met the secretary of the Swedish legation in Berlin, Baron von Otter in the train when I tried in vain to get a bed in a sleeping car. Still under the immediate impression of the terrible events, I told him everything with the entreaty to inform his government and the Allies of all of this immediately because each day's delay must cost the lives of further thousands and tens of thousands.

He asked me for a reference, as to which I specified Generalsuperintendent Dr. Otto Dibelius, Berlin, Brüderweg 2, Lichterfelde-West, an intimate friend of the pastor Martin Niemöller and member of the church resistance movement against Nazism. I met Mr. von Otter twice again in the Swedish legation. Meanwhile he had reported to Stockholm and informed me that this report has had considerable influence on Swedish-German relations. At the same time I tried to report to the Papal Nuncio in Berlin. There I was asked if I am a soldier. Then any further conversation with me was refused and I was asked to leave the embassy of His Holiness. While leaving the embassy, I was shadowed by a policeman on a bicycle who shortly passed me, got off, and then absolutely incomprehensibly, let me go.

Then I reported all this to hundreds of personages, among others the company lawyer of the Catholic bishop of Berlin, Dr. Winter, with the special entreaty to forward it to the Holy See. I must also add that SS-Sturmbannführer Günther from the Reichssicherheitshauptamt - I think he is the son of the Race-Günther- again demanded from me very large amounts of prussic acid in early 1944 for a very sinister purpose. On the Kurfürsten-Street in Berlin he showed me a shed in which he intended to store the prussic acid. I consequently explained him that I cannot take sole responsibility. It was approximately several wagon loads, enough to kill millions of people. He told me that he himself doesn't know whether the poison would still be needed; when, for whom, in which way etc. But it has to be permanently kept available.

Later I often thought about the words of Goebbels. I can believe that they wanted to kill a majority of the German nation, surely including the clergy or the unpopular officers. It should happen in a kind of reading rooms or club rooms, so far as I gathered from the questions re the technical realization that Günther asked me. It could also be that he intended to kill the foreign workers or prisoners of war - I don't know. In every case I managed to ensure that the prussic acid disappeared for some purpose of disinfection after arrival in the two concentration camps Oranienburg and Auschwitz.

That was somewhat dangerous for me but I could have easily said that the poison had already been in a dangerous condition of decomposition. I am sure that Günther tried to get the poison in order to probably kill millions of persons. It was sufficient for approximately 8 million people, 8,500 kgs. I have authorized invoices for 2,175 kgs. I always allowed the invoices to be authorised in my name, allegedly for the sake of discretion, but in truth because of being free to dispose of the poison and being able to allow it to disappear. Above all I avoided presentation of invoices again and again, delaying payment and putting off companies until later."

As for the rest I avoided appearing in concentration camps too often because it was sometimes usual to hang people or to carry out executions in honor of the visitors.

All my statements are true, word-for-word. I am fully aware of the extraordinary tragedy of my record before God and the whole of mankind, and take it on my oath that nothing of all this that I have registered has been made-up or invented but everything is exactly the truth.

Muy interesante. Gracias por la información y los documentos. Bien dicho: "No sé qué ley humana o divina les ha dado a estas organizaciones la autoridad para representar a las víctimas: judíos, gitanos, comunistas, anarquistas, enfermos y homosexuales; para otorgar el perdón de los pecados o para reescribir la historia. Pero mercachifles de la muerte como éstos, sobran."

Hasta el momento del accidente, no hay coincidencia de versiones en lo que hizo el matrimonio Harris. 6. Accidente: Los hechos que los distintos relatos destacan son:

a) Tomás conducía un Citroën DS 19 serie 1963:

Marca y modelo de coche correcto.

Que Tomás conducía el coche es un dato que sólo pudo aportar Hilda Harris. Sin autopsia que confirmara las lesiones del cadaver con la posición del conductor, no es un hecho indiscutible.

b) El coche estaba en perfecto estado antes del accidente.

Es un asunción injustificada (15): No hubo peritaje de daños. No hubo análisis de la policía científica y no se guardó la cadena de custodia de éste como prueba en una muerte violenta. El Citroën estuvo varias horas, después del accidente, en la carretera de Llucmajor y , como puede verse en la foto, cualquiera pudo tener acceso a él.

Fuente: El testimonio de Desmond y Bill Bristow o "Dice Bill que dijo su padre que dijo su madre que dijo Hilda…"

En el relato de Desmond Bristow sobre los hechos posteriores a la muerte de Tomás Harris, lo único que dice del coche es que fue a recogerlo a un lugar tan insólito como la "aduana española" (16). No menciona ni alude ni sugiere que lo examinara, porque insiste en que la causa del accidente estuvo en las tormentosas relaciones de Tommy y Hilda, muy dados a la bronca y al alcohol con la sombra de Kim Philby rompiendo la paz conyugal (17).

El único aval de que el coche no había sido alterado o había tenido una avería, lo da Bill Bristow que dice que Desmond Bristow fue a comprobar si el Citroën había sido manipulado:

"Mi padre fue allí como amigo de Tomás y para ayudar a Hilly con los trámites y también para saber saber si el choque mortal había sido o no un accidente. Por otra parte mi padre examinó el coche y estaba seguro de que había sido un accidente."(18)

En estas dos frases se recogen múltiples tonterías:

1. Bristow no pudo ayudar a Hilda en trámites mortuorios ni funerarios, porque Tomás murió el día 27 de enero y se le enterró el 29. Según el propio relato de Desmond Bristow, él se enteró de su muerte el día 28 porque lo llamó Hilda y voló desde Londres, pero, después del entierro, porque no asistió a él (19)

2. Tampoco pudo realizar ninguna gestión ni procedimiento en nombre de Hilda, porque, en esos casos, las leyes españolas exigían un poder notarial, que no lo hubo.

3. Tampoco podía conocer ni intervenir en procedimientos legales sólo asignables a abogados. Es decir, cuando afirma, por ejemplo, que fue a la policía a comprobar que el relato de Hilda sobre el accidente coincidía con lo ocurrido (20), miente como un bellaco. El atestado no lo guardaba la policía sino la Guardia Civil y el Juzgado. Ni la Guardia Civil ni el juez permitían ni permiten acceso a los atestados a cualquier piernas jugando a detective. Por aquellos años, Bristow estaba trabajando para De Beers y no tenía siquiera cobertura diplomática.

4. Desmond Bristow, al igual que su hijo Bill, no supieron ni dónde enterraron a Tomás Harris y, si lo supieron, hoy dan información falsa:

"Bill ha confirmado que Tomás esta enterrado en el Cementerio Británico, cerca de Camp de Mar, en Mallorca" escribió Anita Harris en su blog (21)

5. Es inverosímil que Desmond Bristow (que había estudiado filología francesa y española) estuviera en condiciones de evaluar si el coche había sido o no manipulado, porque la mecánica del Citroën DS 19 era altamente compleja y los mecánicos de la misma casa Citroën, en 1963 y 1964, tuvieron que pasar un curso de reciclaje y adaptación para saber reconocer y reparar las averías de este nuevo modelo. La dificultad de la mecánica del Citroën Tiburon es un clásico en la historia de la marca. Para saber si el coche había sido manipulado tendría que haber revisado precisamente los puntos más revolucionarios de la mecánica que afectaban a la seguridad: frenos, volante y dirección, que eran accionados por hidraúlica de alta presión. Es decir tendría que haber desmontado literalmente el coche y haber comprobado cualquier fuga anómala en cientos de tubos, mangueras y manguitos hidraulicos. Tendría que haber revisado la servodirección, el acumulador etc., etc. En fin tendría que haber sido un mecánico altamente especializado o tener profundos conocimientos de ingeniería hidraúlica (22)

Y Desmond Bristow es el mismo experto mecánico al que un guardia de tráfico tiene que arrancarle el coche porque él no sabe solucionar el problema, según su propio relato (23)

Bill Bristow sugiere la posibilidad de que su padre quisiera engañarse a sí mismo:

"Además, habría habido una larga investigación y, en aquella época, el Gobierno quería que se cerrara el capítulo Philby, Burgess, Maclean. El descubrimiento de estos dobles agentes había causado graves fricciones entre la Inteligencia americana y los Servicios Secretos británicos. Mi padre habría sido la persona perfecta. Ya no estaba empleado en el MI6, pero tenía conexiones. Era un amigo íntimo de Tommy y Hilda.(24)

La explicación adolece de la misma incongruencia y tergiversación narrativa:

Si Desmond Bristow quería creer que lo que le había ocurrido a su amigo era un desgraciado accidente fruto del azar, lo lógico habría sido aceptar bona fide la versión oficial y la que supuestamente le había confesado Hilda. Y no ir a revisar un coche o decir que había examinado un coche, cuya mecánica no entendía.

En 1964, lo último que pretendían los servicios secretos británicos y, en especial el MI5, es pasar página de las infiltraciones soviéticas. Las informaciones que Anatoli Golitsyn había transmitido a los servicios secretos americanos y británicos en los años posteriores a su deserción en 1961, informaciones que fueron amoldándose a lo requerido por sus interrogadores; las denuncias de Flora Solomon en 1962 contra Philby y posiblemente contra Tomás Harris ante el MI5 ; más la confesión de Michael Straight ante Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., en la que denunciaba a Anthony Blunt como agente reclutador del NKVD en 1935 y se ofrecía a declarar en juicio, constituían un dossier de acusaciones lo bastante consistente como para continuar la caza de "topos" que habían comenzado J.J. Angleton en US y Peter Wright en UK.

Es Peter Wright (25) quien reveló que el MI5 tenía pensado interrogar a Tomás Harris:

"En concreto, un amigo de Blunt al que al MI5 le habría gustado especialmente interrogar ya había muerto cuando conseguimos que Blunt confesara. Se trataba de Tomas Harris, un marchante de arte retirado que había facilitado la gran traición de Blunt introduciéndolo en el MI5. (…) La mayoria de sus colegas a los que he consultado no creen que Tomas fuera un espía soviético, ni siquiera comunista. Pero se había dicho de él que le había servido de correo a Philby, durante la Guerra Civil española, para hacer llegar la información que conseguía del lado de Franco a los rusos. La persona que había mencionado a Harris era la mujer judía cuyas acusaciones condujeron en su momento a que se descubriera que Philby era un espía".

En fin, el testimonio de Michael Straight contra Blunt, que había sido interrogado infructuosamente 11 veces desde 1951, lo consiguió Arthur Martin, interrogador del MI5, gracias a William C. Sullivan del FBI (26). Como hemos visto, las luchas intestinas entre los servicios secretos de cada país pesaba más que la rivalidad de intereses entre las dos naciones.

Por tanto, la pregunta que sigue sin contestar es: ¿Por qué, para qué y para quién "certificó" Desmond Bristow que la muerte (legal) de Tomás Harris se debió a un accidente fortuito?

Considerando que la certificación sobre el coche que conducía Harris y lo que en él pudo ocurrir procede de Desmond Bristow, ampliado y adornado por su hijo Bill, cuyos testimonios ignoran las más elementales leyes de la verosimilitud y que no se realizaron analisis forenses del vehículo, hoy no podemos afirmar que el coche fuera o no manipulado con fines homicidas.

Respecto al papel de Bristow en Palma, su función parece más la de un cleaner de operaciones especiales que la de asistente de duelo.

Sólo en esa función de dejar el asunto atado y bien atado se explica que los Bristow hagan públicos los delirios alcoholicos de Hilda en los que (siempre según esta versión) Philby la perseguía. La explicación (incongruente con la causa de la discusión conyugal como motivo del accidente): "Ella siempre había estado muy preocupada de que Tommy hubiera estado relacionado con Philby y su trabajo con los Rusos. Había sospechas porque según Hilly le dijo a mi madre: Era un coche nuevo y cuando le habían cambiado el aceite podían haber estropeado los frenos" dejaba unida la suerte de Tomás Harris a la leyenda de los espías de Cambridge y su muerte atribuible a los servicios secretos soviéticos.

Finalmente, no sería la primera operación sucia en la que participó Desmond Bristow: su papel en los casos de Henry Dericourt (alias Gilbert) o de Skorzeny en España está aún por investigar (27)

c) causa del accidente. Dos conclusiones

1. Causas desconocidas : versión oficial recogida en prensa de la época (28)

2. Discusión entre Hilda y Tomás, salida de la vía por exceso de velocidad.

Fuente: Desmond Bristow

d) Trayectoria del vehículo:

El tramo de carretera (29) en que ocurrió el accidente era una recta en buen estado, con un ligero badén no localizado con exactitud ya que la prensa de la época habla de km. 23 y los escritores posteriores de 23.500. Era un día claro, sin lluvia o niebla y por la hora sin problemas de visibilidad o deslumbramiento. Temperatura 14-16 º. Versiones de la trayectoria:

1. El coche derrapo y chocó primero contra un poste de teléfonos, que derribó, y, saliéndose de la calzada (sic), chocó después contra un almendro.

Fuentes: Prensa de la época, que reproduce la noticia de la Agencia Cifra (30)

2. El coche, conducido a gran velocidad, pasó un badén de drenaje, perdió adherencia con el firme, derrapó y se estrello contra un árbol.

Fuente: Desmond Bristow (31)

Como puede observarse entre las dos versiones hay serias discrepancias: un poste de teléfonos que desaparece en el supuesto relato de la afectada. Un poste telefónico es una cosa de más de siete metros de largo y un peso mínimo de 40 Kgs, enterrado en un 15% y con unos cables aereos que, caso de derribarse, es difícil que lo hagan de manera inadvertida.

Por otra parte, la versión periodística es difícil de imaginar con las leyes conocidas de la física y de la cinemática. De tomar por buena esta versión, tendríamos que admitir que los postes telefónicos estaban en la calzada o, dicho de otra manera, la única secuencia posible físicamente es salirse de la calzada como paso previo a chocarse contra un poste. En la calzada los obstáculos contra los que un coche puede chocar son: otro coche, un animal o un peatón.

Para saber qué ocurrió realmente, habría que haber realizado:

a. Un estudio del firme de la calzada, estado del asfalto, ausencia de vertidos deslizantes, etc.

b. Un estudio de las huellas y trayectoria de frenado.

c. Indagar si algún animal o peatón había irrumpido en la calzada obligando al conductor a una maniobra brusca.

d. Análisis médico-forense para determinar la concordancia entre el impacto o los sucesivos impactos correspondían con las deformaciones en el coche y con las lesiones en sus ocupantes.

Como no se realizaron estos estudios y los relatos de esta fase son increíbles, hoy no podemos llegar a ninguna conclusión válida.

7. Consecuencias del accidente: la ausencia de autopsia.

Aquí se dan dos versiones antagónicas:

a) Como consecuencia del impacto/s, Tomás y Hilda salieron despedidos del coche, Hilda con apenas unos rasguños y Tomás con heridas gravísimas de las que falleció poco después en la clínica del Dr. Prieto, en Llucmajor, a la que lo había trasladado la Guardia Civil de Tráfico:

"La esposa del pintor, Hilda de Harris, que le acompañaba, resultó ilesa. El artista, en cambio, tendido sobre el suelo, fuera del vehículo, fue recogido por unos agentes de tráfico y trasladado a una clínica de Lluchmayor, donde falleció poco después de su ingreso" (32)

Fuentes: Todos la prensa de la época y partida de defunción

b) Al chocar contra el árbol, Hilda sale despedida con heridas leves y Tomás muere instantáneamente:

Fuente: Desmond Bristow :

"Chocamos contra un árbol y yo salí despedida fuera del coche. Cuando volví (Tomás) todavía estaba dentro del coche, sin moverse, sin respirar ni nada (...) Se quedó muerto instantáneamente. Como puedes ver, yo me di unos golpes en la cara y en el brazo (...) Al día siguiente fui a la policía a ver el informe policial y todo concordaba" (33)

Una de las dos versiones es inventada. O las dos. De haber sido un cadáver lo que la Guardia Civil se encontró, debía haber sido dejado in situ hasta que acudiera el médico forense y el juez procediera a su levantamiento. Saltarse la autopsia en ese caso, habría sido una irregularidad escandalosa.

El cadáver fue trasladado el mismo día 27 al Instituto Anatómico forense, pero no se le practicó la autopsia (preceptiva en caso de muerte violenta). La autopsia médico-forense habría esclarecido:

La causa de la muerte, es decir, la enfermedad o suceso más inmediato temporalmente que provocó la extinción de signos vitales. Sin efectuar una autopsia, certificar que un shock traumático es la causa del fallecimiento puede ser, desde el punto de vista legal y médico causa suficiente, pero no necesaria de la muerte, porque, puede haber un traumatismo raquimedular que, dentro del cuadro de gravedad general, sea la causa real de la muerte. En el caso de muerte por shock traumático, es necesario investigar y confirmar que la víctima recibió el soporte vital prehospitalario correcto. De no ser así, o de no haber existido, como fue el caso de Harris, el traslado del herido, sin inmovilización cervical y sin estabilizar, a la consulta de un médico que carecía de medios hospitalarios de urgencia, pudo ser la causa de la muerte.

Sin un análisis toxicológico e histopatológico es imposible saber si hubo envenenamiento o infarto previos al accidente o si el estado de órganos como corazón, encéfalo etc, despues de procesos de aceleración y desaceleración brusca, después del impacto contra el esqueleto u otros órganos, era compatible con la vida. Por tanto no sabemos si se trató de una muerte accidental o por homicidio.

La forma de la muerte o lo que es igual establecer la relación entre las lesiones y las circuntancias y causas que las provocaron. Existen “patrones” de lesiones según el tipo de accidente, pero son dinámicos y dependen del estado de la víctima previos al impacto, de la ausencia o presencia de gestos motores defensivos y de las cadenas cineticas y cinemáticas que se desencadenen en el accidente. Por ejemplo una fractura de femur o tibia es diferente según se produzca en una victima sentada o de pie y según el impacto sea frontal o lateral.

Si no hay autopsia es imposible reconstruir la secuencia de lesiones internas y externas que produjeron la muerte y tampoco podemos saber si las declaraciones de Hilda Harris a las autoridades españolas corresponden con la realidad. Por lo que sabemos, Tomás podía ir conduciendo o haber sido atropellado: las lesiones coincidían con las de un conductor traumatizado por choque frontal (con una serie de anomalías aún por explicar) y con las de un peatón atropellado con trayectoria de impacto sobre el capó y techo del vehículo (trayectoria de roof vault) (34)

La data de las lesiones y la data la muerte. La Guardia Civil de Tráfico acudio al lugar del accidente a las 14 h 40 minutos. La hora oficial de la muerte de Tomás Harris fue a las 15 h 15 minutos. En 35 minutos los agentes pararon la circulación, se hicieron cargo de los heridos, Hilda, leve, Tomás, gravísimo, subieron el cuerpo de éste a un coche, y lo trasladaron a la consulta del carrer de Sant Miquel de Llucmajor, un trayecto de unos 2 Kms. O la operación se hizo siguiendo el ritmo de un comando de asalto de Fuerzas Especiales o el cuerpo del accidentado entró ya cadáver en clínica del Doctor Prieto. La pregunta inevitable es: ¿Supieron reconocer signos vitales en la víctima unos agentes tan inexpertos o azorados que no supieron aplicar los primeros auxilios ya preceptivos en la época?

La autopsia habría establecido si las maniobras de resucitación, la presencia de ciertas sustancias en sangre, como la digoxina, o pinchazos (sugeridos por algún novelista y algún desinformador) se habían realizado sobre un cuerpo vivo o un cadáver.

Identificación del cadáver.- El cuerpo con gravísimas heridas (o muerto) que la Guardia Civil trasladó desde el lugar del accidente hasta la consulta del Dr. Prieto fue identificado legal, pero no biométricamente ya que los pasaportes británicos en 1964 no incluían huellas dactilares con las que cotejar las del cadáver. Su pasaporte y la declaración de Hilda Harris bastaron para la identificación del que parecía ser víctima de un desgraciado accidente de circulación.

El Dr. Prieto cumplió con el protocolo y envió el cadáver al Hospital General de Palma para que se efectuara la autopsia, trámite exigido por la leyes españolas en caso de muerte violenta (accidentes de tráfico incluidos). En algún momento entre la tarde del 27 hasta la mañana del día 29 se decidió cometer una irregularidad y no practicarla autopsia, por razones desconocidas. En está irregularidad tuvieron que participar el juez que no la mandó, el médico forense que no la exigió, el cónsul británico en Palma, Cecil Francis Fladgate, que no protestó por tal negligencia y toda la familia Harris que tenía el derecho a saber las causas reales del accidente y podía haber pedido una autopsia clínica.

Tal connivencia no significa necesariamente conspiración, sobre todo porque en esta cadena de irregularidades había una jerarquía y es indagando de dónde partió la orden o el consejo de que no se practicara la autopsia donde hallaremos alguna luz.

En resumen, el cadáver que se enterró en el nicho 47, legalmente identificado como Tomás Harris Rodríguez, puede ser el de éste o el de cualquiera hasta que no se efectuen pruebas de ADN.

Conclusiones: el espejismo "Post hoc, propter ergo hoc"

Sin autopsia del cadáver, sin análisis científicos y forenses del coche ni del accidente, sin identificación biométrica del cuerpo, y con unos testimonios que se contradicen entre sí, es imposible establecer una relación causa-efecto entre accidente y cadáver.

Cualquier versión que elijamos nos lleva a un escenario absurdo:

Tomás Harris conducía un coche a tal velocidad que arranca de cuajo un poste de teléfonos enterrado 80 cms, pero ni semejante impacto se refleja en la carrocería ni el coche se para, porque "rebota" y se vuelve a estrellar contra un almendro. Los ocupantes, suponemos que sin cinturon de seguridad, salen despedidos lateralmente y no se estampan contra el parabrisas ni el conductor, además, contra el volante, según la descripción de lesiones del médico que lo atendió. Dos choques frontales violentísimos que no dejan indentaciones en v en el morro del coche ni arrugan el capó.

Es comprensible que Hilda pudiera confundir un moribundo con un muerto, pero es más raro que la Guardia Civil y el médico confundieran un muerto con un vivo.

Y más raro aún que el muerto o un moribundo, desnucado, con fracturas de femur, tibia, perone y varias costillas rotas saliera del coche y se trasladara varios metros para tumbarse en el suelo.

En conclusión: para el historiador y el investigador hubo un cadáver y un coche siniestrado, no se sabe en qué orden y su relación nunca ha sido satisfactoriamente explicada.

8. El entierro. Según todos los relatos, Tomás Harris fue enterrado en un nicho en el Cementerio de Palma y a la ceremonia sólo asistieron tres personas: Bartolomé Mestre (psiquiatra), José María Acosta (galerista) y Gabriel Rebassa Bisquerra (Cura párroco de Felanitx).

Tomás Harris era hijo de judio y cristiana conversa al judaísmo. Fue educado como judío, pero es posible que abandonara su fe y hubiera dispuesto un entierro laico y que el cura católico asistiera en calidad de amigo personal.

Tomás Harris era una persona familiar, extravertida, con relaciones sociales y, sobre todo, un nexo entre los diplomáticos británicos en España y las autoridades franquistas. Gozaba de prestigio y simpatía en España y era un individuo condecorado con la OBE en su país. Es extraña la ausencia en el entierro de su familia, a la que estaba muy unido, de amigos íntimos y, sobre todo, de un representante de la embajada.

Es un misterio por qué no se le enterró en una tumba del Cementerio Británico de Mahón y se eligió como forma de enterramiento el nicho, costumbre española que sorprende y repugna a la cultura anglosajona laica o creyente. Incluso en España, en 1964, se recurría al enterramiento en nicho sólo cuando la familia no podía costear una sepultura en tierra. Enterrar en nicho era de pobres.

Puede aducirse que Tomás, como extranjero residente en España, no tenía derecho, según las leyes, a comprar suelo a perpetuidad (así se entendía que era el de las tumbas), pero Harris tenía familia española y tal inconveniente podía haberse soslayado.

En síntesis, en 48 horas, Tomás Harris, rico, querido por familia y amigos y héroe de su país, tiene un entierro oscuro y miserable al que sólo asisten tres amigos del pueblo. Ni siquiera Robert Graves considero su muerte digna de anotarla en su diario.

En algún momento el nicho sufrió desperfectos por saqueo o desidia que nadie ha reparado.

En 2005 el Consulado Británico acordó con el Ayuntamiento de Palma el traslado de todos los ciudadanos británicos enterrados en el Cementerio de Palma entre 1928 y 1988 a un terreno comprado por la Embajada para que descansaran de forma más digna. O en suelo británico.

La familia Harris, que siempre ha reivindicado la memoria y la obra académica y artística de Tomás, manifiesta un total desinterés por sus restos mortales. Es un desinterés difícil de explicar en judíos, en católicos, en ingleses o en españoles, que son las culturas que confluyen en esta familia.

La leyenda de la extraña muerte de Tommy Harris

"Above all, precision! We should never lie accidentally or out of carelessness, but always intentionally and deliberately." Sefton Delmer

No se sabe exactamente quién fue la primera persona que empezó a difundir el rumor de las extrañas circunstancias que rodearon la muerte de Tomás Harris.

El primer autor que lo recoge es Peter Wright. Sin embargo desde Wright hasta hoy nadie ha señalado ninguna de las anomalías e irregularidades que se dieron en el accidente y en el procedimiento legal posterior. Que alguien se estrelle contra un poste un día en perfectas condiciones atmosféricas para conducir es un hecho que ocurre todos los días en las carreteras de todo el mundo.

Los autores que mencionan la "misteriosa muerte" o las "extrañas circunstancias" tampoco explican en qué estriba el misterio. Su técnica consiste en relacionar causalmente el hecho con otros acontecimientos significativos para la tesis que intentan defender. Si Harris murio después de que Philby huyera a la Unión Soviética querría decir, según insinuaban, que algún servicio secreto lo habría asesinado como venganza, no se sabe por qué ni qué vengaban, pero la prueba sería que se mató y si se estrelló meses antes de la confesión de Blunt, eso indicaría que la NKVD lo había silenciado para que no hablara de su relación con los espías de Cambridge.

Al incluir la muerte de Harris y otras muertes de individuos interrogados o acosados por los servicios de inteligencia, en el limbo de la conspiración universal, éstas perdían su identidad y se desdibujaban. En técnicas de desinformación el recurso se conoce como "sesgo de foco", es decir, se desvía la atención del observador de un hecho, ofreciéndole un modelo atractivo con el que comprender el fenómeno. Por la ley del mínimo esfuerzo, el ser humano opta por las respuestas antes que por plantearse incógnitas. E incluso si elige la investigación, tiende a discurrir por una senda de preguntas ya formuladas. Su libertad de pensamiento se limita a aceptar el reto de la esfinge, pero no a preguntar él.

Otros dos factores, también muy utilizados en desinformación, que interfieren en la investigación de la muerte de Tomás Harris son son la ilusión de serie (o apofenia) y el rechazo a la ambigüedad. Son errores de análisis innatos: ante un número de hechos o sucesos tendemos a crear series donde no las hay. Aquí radica la seducción de los discursos paranoides. Explicar, por ejemplo, varias muertes de agentes, relacionándolas como consecuencia de un hecho (infiltración soviética, operación de la CIA o huida de Philby) es siempre más aceptable que analizar cada caso y admitir que pueden darse casos de azar o casos que no tengan relación alguna con lo que estamos tratando. Un gran aficionado a la desinformación como Kim Philby explicaba en sus memorias todos los infortunios que le acaecieron a los servicios secretos británicos como consecuencia de su traición. Con ello su ego quedó perfectamente satisfecho y los servicios secretos también. En términos de propaganda, My Silent War, es una disculpa valiosísima para el MI5 y el MI6, que se presentaron ante la historia pecando de buenos y crédulos y no de incompetentes y pérfidos.

El caso de Peter Wright es muy revelador de este error de análisis porque intentó recurrir a esta técnica de desinformación y cayó en la trampa de desinformadores más astutos. Peter Wright intentó dar una explicación presentable de la tortura o muerte de comunistas o excomunistas o sospechosos de comunismo investigados e interrogados por él, concretamente: Bernard Floud, Sir Andrew Cohen y Alister Watson. Para desviar la atención de estos escándalos que ponían en evidencia los métodos del MI5 interrogando, intentó relacionar las muertes temporalmente y hacer responsable de ellas a Philby y Blunt:

A la mañana siguiente me llegó un mensaje diciendo que Floud se había suicidado, al parecer con una manta y un horno de gas. Poco después me llamó Blunt por teléfono con más malas noticias:
—"Phoebe ha muerto" dijo
—"¡Dios Santo! ¿Cómo?
—Se ha tirado al metro
Tres muertes, dos de las cuales eran suicidios, en un grupo tan reducido de gente y el momento en que las estábamos investigando, parecían algo más que mala suerte. El MI5 estaba aterrorizado de que se le asociara públicamente con estas muertes y suspendió posteriores investigaciones. Los periódicos ya estaban siguiendo la historia de Philby y su papel como el Tercer Hombre y acababan de descubrir la importancia de su cargo en el MI6. En Fleet Street empezaban a circular rumores de que Blunt estaba implicado"

La melée de Wright de hechos, personas y fechas, como puede verse, está envuelta en un estilo rápido y emocional. Muere de infarto Cohen, se suicida Floud y se suicida Pool, en este orden, a raíz del escándalo de la huida de Philby. Simplemente repasando fechas descubrimos la manipulación:

1. Huida de Philby: 23 enero 1963.
2. Confesión de Blunt: Abril 1964
3. Suicidio de Bernard Floud: 10 octubre 1967, tras ser interrogado por Wright el 8 y el 9 de octubre.
4. Muere Sir Andrew Benjamin Cohen: 17 junio 1968. Ataque al corazón. Un día antes de que lo investigara Wright.
5. Suicidio de Phoebe Pool en 1971.

Ni coincide la secuencia de muertes, ni éstas ocurren cercanas, ni tienen que ver con la huida de Philby. En 1967, el mundo está al tanto de la vida y milagros de Philby porque el Sunday Times y el Observer han publicado amplias series de artículos sobre él; en 1968, el mismo Philby publica sus memorias. En 1967, el caso Blunt no existe porque se le había dado inmunidad. Pero sí existían torturas, acosos y uso de fármacos con detenidos a manos de cazaespías y cazacomunistas.

Cada muerte es un caso y su investigación ha de ser aislada, con riesgo incluso de que quede sin explicar.

El azar, la polisemia y la causalidad múltiple producen rechazo. Tendemos a preferir un error concluyente a una verdad necesariamente ambigua o inconclusa por falta de datos. Es más creible que los rusos provocaran el accidente de Harris porque es más aceptable que admitir la inverosimilitud del accidente mismo. Lo primero tiene un punto y final; lo segundo plantea más preguntas.

El Sic et Non de la muerte de Tomás Harris

Entonces añadí : « Lo que tengo que decir sobre este asunto no es nuevo en absoluto, pero al parecer no tiene nada que ver con el caso, ya que tú has pedido sólo un argumento de autoridad y no una explicación. Sin embargo, si aceptas los argumentos lógicos, estoy dispuesto a demostrarte que, de acuerdo con la definición de San Agustín, has incurrido en la herejía al creer que un padre puede ser su propio hijo” (Pedro Abelardo, Historia Calamitatum, cap.IX)

Tomás Harris pudo morir o no morir en el accidente y pudo tener el accidente o no tenerlo. Si aceptamos que tuvo el accidente y su muerte, tendremos que admitir que aceptamos como real lo legal y como histórico sólo lo que está avalado por documentos. Pero en ese caso, también tendríamos que aceptar que hubo una interpretación muy laxa del procedimiento legal y que tampoco los documentos existentes sirven para confirmar su muerte.

El caso del accidente es aún más peliagudo, puesto que tendríamos que abandonar nuestra postura legalista y admitir que el relato del accidente deriva de una fuente oral secundaria nada fiable. Por tanto, como en cualquier hecho histórico, las afirmaciones categóricas sólo son sostenibles si admitimos su falta de lógica.

La investigación admite más campos especulativos en el caso de los agentes y servicios de inteligencia. Hay que considerar la posibilidad de una falsa muerte y un accidente ficticio. ¿Cuáles son los antecedentes históricos que justifican tomar en consideración semejante hipótesis?

1. No existen inventos ni ocurrencias individuales en el comportamiento de un agente. Tomás Harris no era una personalidad original. Se comprueba en su comportamiento como agente, en su obra artística y hasta en su vida personal. El retrato que nos transmiten sus colegas y los servicios de inteligencia tiene más que ver con el arquetipo del español que imaginan los anglosajones que con una realidad que lo confirmara. El tópico del español espléndido y dadivoso pesa más que el comportamiento de un socialita británico, conocedor de que un anfitrión debe invertir en agasajar a sus huéspedes si quiere oir algo interesante a sus intereses. La misma liberalidad la mostraba Victor Rothschild con sus invitados y amigos, pero, en este caso, el prejuicio antisemita lleva a los comentaristas a preguntarse qué oscuros fines perseguía o qué conspiraciones tramaba. En el fondo, los dos eran ciudadanos ingleses con sangre extranjera y, en consecuencia, con comportamientos exóticos o sospechosos para sus contemporáneos Cuando dejemos los fastos y fantaseos españolistas de la operación Garbo y se analice esta historia dentro de la operación Fortitude y su coste humano podremos aquilatar con alguna precisión la función de sus actores. Ni Juan Pujol ni Tomás Harris inventaron la estratagema de los agentes ficticios. Antes de la guerra, el Capitán Payne Best, agente principal en Holanda de la secretísima Red Z , timó a Claude Dansey y al MI6 con una red de 13 espías de los cuales sólo eran reales cuatro. La red que más gastos ocasionaba se llamaba House (casa) y sus sub-agentes Table (mesa) y Chair (silla). La información era totalmente inventada. Payne también fue condecorado con la OBE británica y la Croix de Guerre belga (MI6, p. 131).

Tomás Harris era un agente altamente disciplinado, consciente de que su función era ejecutar maniobras de diversión y elaborar informes sobre individuos, ajenos o dentro del servicio y sin empatía alguna que interfiriera en sus juicios. Un agente que podría haber fingido su muerte, pero nunca haberlo hecho de manera improvisada. Por tanto, sería interesante rastrear sus transacciones económicas al menos en los dos años anteriores a su muerte. Su forma de organizar la operación sería similar a otras hechas anteriormente por él o por los servicios secretos.

2. La falsa muerte como estratagema fue utilizada en numerosas ocasiones por los servicios de inteligencia y sus agentes. Generalmente se trata de un ardid de carácter defensivo, pero no siempre. En el caso de la Operación Mincemeat, se "plantó" un cadáver real, pero con una documentación falsa como cebo. También hubo cadaver real y calcinado más allá de una posible identificación en el caso del accidente de avión donde supuestamente perdió la vida Henry Dericourt en 1962, testigo clave en la oscura trastienda donde se cocinó la Operación Cockade. Hubo cadáver falso, certificado de defunción falso firmado por un médico, confirmación de las autoridades militares y hasta tumba, en el caso de uno de los más atroces criminales de guerra nazis protegidos por el MI6: Horst Kopkow. A Humphrey Richard Hugh Slater se le dio por muerto también en 1962, pero nunca se encontró su cadáver: desapareció en Madrid. Durante años se especuló sobre la misteriosa muerte de Hugh Slater, posiblemente a manos de espías soviéticos. El caso está sin resolver, pero si echamos una ojeada a la London Gazette, podremos ver que Slater estaba en bancarrota y reclamado por sus acreedores. Años después, el parlamentario John Stonehouse organizó su falso suicidio en una playa de Miami. De John Stonehouse se dijo que se había suicidado para no rendir cuentas por sus relaciones con el espionaje checo. En realidad, había planeado meticulosamente su supuesta muerte porque había cometido fraude y falsificación en los negocios que dirigía. La falsa muerte de Juan Pujol en Angola que urdió Tomás Harris con los servicios de inteligencia británicos (no sabemos si el MI5 o el MI6) está confusamente explicada. Si Araceli González pudo casarse con el americano Edward Kreisler en 1958, en España no había divorcio y tampoco consta que lo hubiera hecho para poder casarse en Estados Unidos, significa que se presentaron a las autoridades toda una documentación falsa que acreditaba la muerte de Pujol por malaria en 1949. También se le dijo a Pujol que Mr. Grey (alias de Cyril Mills en la Operación Garbo) había muerto.

   Había antecedentes de desaparición en la familia Harris. Su hermano William, durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial, desapareció y su mujer y descendientes lo creyeron héroe de guerra muerto en combate hasta 2006. Simplemente se había trasladado a Gales. Todos sus hermanos sabían que estaba vivo, pero guardaron su secreto.

Tomás Harris conocía los medios para fabricar una muerte y tenía los contactos para falsificar documentos. Eso no significa que su muerte fuera falsa, pero sí que, en el caso de que lo hubiera sido, poseía los conocimientos y medios para inventarla.

3. Independientemente de la forma en la que se ejecute, las falsas muertes organizadas por los servicios de inteligencia presentan una serie de características comunes:

a. El extranjero como locus amoenus

b. La sobreactuación también conocida como overkill

c. La invención de causas misteriosas

d. Las viudas como eslabón débil de la operación.

e. El rastro documental: T de Treasury

a. Exceptuando el caso de Kopkow, que “murió” en territorio bajo jurisdicción militar, lo habitual es que el agente o el servicio elijan “morir” en un país extranjero, donde se supone que los medios de identificación son más rudimentarios y es más difícil detectar la falsificación de documentos de identidad foráneos: el cadáver de la operación Mincemeat aparece en las costas españolas, el accidente de Dericourt ocurre en Laos, Pujol fallece en Angola, Stonhouse en Florida y Slater se esfuma en Madrid. La muerte de un ciudadano extranjero conlleva además la intervención de la embajada o consulado más cercano y la posibilidad de problemás diplomáticos. En el caso del MI6, que dependía y actuaba bajo el amparo logístico y la protección del Foreign Office, tal medida estaba perfectamente justificada.

b. La sobreactuación en la representación y relato de la muerte es un defecto derivado del stress de riesgo. En la mente de sus inventores pesan tanto los arquetipos novelescos como los modelos profesionales. Los agentes tienden a morir de manera escandalosa y atípica, incluso con algún elemento de melodrama, como en el caso de Garbo. Nadie supone que la muerte de Burgess fuera irreal, aunque pocos personajes del mundo del espionaje han concitado mayor número de leyendas, porque murió en un hospital por cirrosis alcoholica y no de un extraño infarto en una oscura calleja del Cairo. Una muerte atípica y novelesca desencadena fantasías del whudunit o quien lo hizo. La sobreactuación, a veces puede caer en lo grotesco. En el caso de la operación Mincemeat, se han ido agravando en el proceso de transmisión una serie de incongruencias que no se habrían destacado si los mismos responsables de los servicios secretos no hubieran insistido en recrearse en los detalles a fin de demostrar su pericia técnica en el arte del engaño. En pintura, el fallo se conoce como “no saber cuándo el cuadro está terminado”.

En 1953, el relato novelesco de la operación Mincemeat (“El hombre que nunca existió”) se le encargó apresuradamente al Lt. Commander Ewen Montagu como parapeto de desinformación a las investigaciones que había realizado el periodista del Daily Express Ian Colvin, que, días antes había descubierto la tumba de Glyndwr Michael en el Cementerio de Huelva. Las prisas, la falta de coordinación entre los pergeñadores de la leyenda y un cierto élan trilero se dejan traslucir en una narración donde hay o un cadáver demasiado descompuesto para ser verosímil la engañifa o hay otro cadáver fresco que nadie ha explicado de dónde lo han sacado.

La morosidad con que se relatan los preparativos documentales para “datar” al muerto no tienen efectividad alguna, toda vez que las autoridades españolas equivocaron la lectura de fechas. En fin, la Operación Mincemeat, segundo o tercer intento del mismo truco, debió más a la incompetencia profesional del forense español y de los servicios de inteligencia militar alemanes que a la astucia británica. La insistencia en querer escribirle una biografía al cadáver, porque la prensa ya había descubierto su identidad, ha sido una concatenación de desatinos. Dijeron que Michael era un mendigo alcohólico (los mendigos son muy queridos a los servicios de espionaje en todo tiempo y latitud, vid. la Operación Mengele del CNI español), muerto por neumonía, luego que era un mendigo alcoholico con neumonía que había muerto por ingestión de matarratas, más tarde que el matarratas la había provocado la neumonía y, en algún momento de semejante historial médico, se había ahogado. Establecida su muerte de manera múltiple y contundente, le añadieron un padre y una familia que asintieron patrióticamente a la operación, con la única salvedad que el padre del finado había muerto años antes y no hay familiares que corroboren la historia. En fin, añadiendo detalles, han conseguido que Mincemeat sea un enigma aún debatido por los investigadores.

Cuando hubo que difundir el rumor de que Garbo había muerto, no se comunicó el hecho y la causa de manera escueta, como es lo habitual en otros casos. Se le hizo padecer varios ataques de malaria hasta que "sucumbió ante otro ataque (…) que, esta vez, lo mató" (Operation GARBO, Pujol, West, p.4)

c. De la misma forma que, en Galicia, la aparición de la Santa Compaña suele coincidir con lugares de desembarco y transporte de contrabando, en las muertes fabricadas, aparecen personajes misteriosos, encuentros fortuitos y coincidencias, cuyo único fin es impedir el análisis del observador de los hechos escuetos. Es una maniobra de distracción muy utilizada en contrainformación: por ejemplo, en la fuga de Maclean y Burgess, se han ido añadiendo elementos novelescos: bebida, stress, registros, amores y amantes, hasta hacer desaparecer los rasgos de lo que fue una operación con todas las características de haber sido diseñada por servicios de inteligencia, de forma que los historiadores insisten en volver a hablar de la sexualidad de los agentes o de sus desequilibrios emocionales, pero ya se han olvidado de rescatar lo dicho y descubierto en el Parlamento durante aquellos años.

El caso Dericourt, cuya columna vertebral es la de un traficante de drogas protegido por sus servicios al MI6, servicios entre los cuales se hallaba delatar a sus propios compañeros ante la SD (y Gestapo), se ha ido embelleciendo con batallas de la resistencia y doble vida amorosa de un protagonista aventurero e impulsivo, que casa mal con el espíritu frío y calculador del personaje real. El misterio ya no es por que el SIS lo libró de una sentencia a muerte en Francia, sino que su mujer nunca se enteró de que tuvo otra mujer e hijos en Indonesia. El investigador pierde el tiempo intentando entender la mente de un traidor, en lugar de indagar quién y por qué se le ordenó que traicionara a los comandos del SOE. Los recursos de embellecimiento no son siempre producto de tácticas de desinformación, usadas premeditadamente. Surgen espontáneamente para asimilar y hacer más aceptable una realidad traumática o repugnante para el narrador o para su auditorio. En el relato suele ocurrir una pausa o inciso, donde se explica de manera trivial y divertida, aquellos temas que, inconscientemente, el narrador sospecha que causan rechazo. Kim Philby cae en este error de manera sistemática. Allí donde aparece una anécdota, hay un intento por encubrir un aspecto sucio de su trabajo, de la misma forma que el Philby real está escondido en sus omisiones, omisiones que, paradójicamente, han respetado los servicios de inteligencia británicos en el recuento de sus fechorías. Investiguemos los servicios de Philby a la causa franquista y británica (Guernika y delaciones de anarquistas), la delación de grupos del POUM a los stalinistas durante la guerra civil española, la desinformación cocinada en Gran Bretaña que transmitió a la Unión

d. La palabra "espía" remite básicamente a un universo literario. El agente real ha de ser estudiado dentro de la escala y función de sus pares en otros organismos del estado que les paga. Son burócratas, funcionarios, investigadores, traficantes, recolectores de datos o asesinos a sueldo. Están preocupados por sus salarios, sus pensiones y el colegio de sus hijos. Aprovechan todas las ventajas de su cobertura (legaciones comerciales, status diplomático, etc) por razones económicas, aunque ello pueda suponer debilitar su secreto. Están insertados en la sociedad y siguen las pautas que le marca su clase y su historia. Un servicio de inteligencia no se puede permitir excéntricos incontrolados ni rebeldes.

En el caso de la muerte fingida del agente, las "viudas" plantean problema serios: decidir si se le informa o no del engaño, pagar su mantenimiento, cuando el agente tiene una situación laboralmente irregular y controlar sus movimientos. Una técnica de minimizar daños es desacreditar su imagen veladamente (todo lo sutilmente que pueda ser capaz un servicio secreto que, muy a menudo, va como una apisonadora). Es entonces cuando se airean depresiones, alcoholismo, celos o sociopatías y lo que pueda decir esa mujer a partir de ahí no será tomado en cuenta. El retrato de Hilda Harris como alcoholica irrecuperable, con amnesia anterógrada, delirios sobre Philby, armando broncas y avergonzando en público a Tomás surge a raíz del relato de Bristow. Lo cierto es que la trayectoria de Hilda, en cuanto a discreción sobre el trabajo de Tomás se refiere, es impecable: no hay una sola declaración suya ni antes ni después de la muerte de Harris. No concedió entrevistas, no publicó libros de memorias, no habló en ningún homenaje póstumo ni de Tomás ni de su propio trabajo en el SOE y el MI5. Las famosas fiestas de los Harris se desvanecieron con Tomás, y Hilda también. Sin embargo, es necesario investigar cuáles fueron sus movimientos desde febrero de 1964 hasta diciembre de 1972, fecha de su muerte. Si fue alcoholica, también lo fueron Churchill y Thatcher y no por ello menos interesantes para los estudios históricos.

e. No sabemos qué pasó con los papeles personales de Tomás Harris: su agenda, su correspondencia, sus notas, documentación fiscal y de contabilidad personal. La documentación oficial, el archivo y la contabilidad de la Spanish Art Gallery también andan en ignoto paradero. Fuera real o ficticia su muerte, la muerte es un problema de Hacienda y tiene que quedar reflejada en muchos documentos, además de en un certificado de defunción de un juzgado de paz de un país tercermundista, como lo era España en 1964.

El ritmo procesal y la burocracia del HM Treasury o de los departamentos de hacienda no suelen plegarse a los intereses tácticos de los servicios de inteligencia. A veces, incluso, los han dejado con el culo al aire. Un año después de la fuga de Burgess y Maclean a la Unión Soviética, cuando el mundo se había cansado de llamar traidores a los fugitivos, el pueblo británico se enteró de que seguían recibiendo sus salarios como civil servants del Foreign Officce y acumulando años de jubilación. Las atropelladas explicaciones del gobierno en el Parlamento merecen hoy una revisión histórica.

Hay que revisar las declaraciones de impuestos de Tomás y Hilda Harris. Y las death duties que se pagaron en 1964 y en 1973. Por los documentos de HM Treasury que se conservan hoy en The National Archives de Kiev, sabemos que la testamentaría de Hilda Harris se inició inmediatamente después de su muerte (cosa normal en Gran Bretaña, a diferencia de España donde puede dilatarse el proceso indefinidamente), pero, en estos documentos, aún se habla de un patrimonio de Tomás Harris en suelo británico pendiente de impuestos y cuyo valor hoy sobrepasaría el medio millón de libras esterlinas. La carpeta T227/4510 contiene la correspondencia entre el British Museum, el Inland Revenue y los abogados de los herederos de Hilda Harris (Payne Hicks Beach&Co) sobre la valoración de la colección de grabados de Goya para pagar los impuestos de transmisión. Como suele tratandose de los negocios de los Harris, el tasador despierta profundas sospechas en los expertos del museo y de Hacienda, y quedan sin contestar preguntas insidiosas sobre el origen de ciertas cifras: i.e., el patrimonio de Tomás Harris.

Hay otros nidos donde buscar.

Hace unos meses alguien me enseñó una serie de fotos supuestamente del cadáver del accidente de Llucmajor (1964) y de Tomas Harris, en 1971, en Venezuela. Al parecer formarían parte de un expediente secreto sobre este agente.

Las fotos de 1964 eran tres: una tomada a distancia muestra un cuerpo, en la calzada de la carretera, cerca de la cuneta (no descubrí arcén) y, a bastante distancia, en el mismo sentido, un coche oscuro ligeramente salido de la carretera. En ese lado había postes , pero no aparecía ninguno caído. No había coches ni motos de la Guardia Civil. La foto podía ser la de cualquier accidente. Las otras dos fotos eran las de un hombre fotografiado de cuerpo entero y de cintura hacía arriba. El fondo era el asfalto. No se trataba de un herido, sino de un cadáver evidente. La torsión del cuello era tan exagerada que le daba aspecto de un ahorcado. Los ojos estaban profundamente hundidos y la boca abierta como en un espasmo agónico. El lado izquierdo del cuerpo contorsionado y con la pierna rota en una posición antianatómica. Era un individuo canoso, con barba rala, de unos sesenta años. El rictus distorsionaba tanto las facciones que era imposible compararlas con la última fotografía que conocemos de Tomás Harris. Sin embargo sí había algo claro: la oreja izquierda no tenía la marcada y estrecha escotadura intertrágica que caracterizaba las orejas de Tomás Harris.

Las fotos de 1971 eran cuatro ampliaciones de una serie posiblemente tomadas con teleobjetivo. En ellas alguien con un llamativo parecido con Tomás Harris conversa con otro individuo en la terraza de un café, probablemente de un lugar latino. Harris aparece poco más envejecido, pero bastante más delgado, con el pelo y la barba muy recortados. Dos detalles apuntan a que pudiera tratarse del auténtico agente: las orejas, que coinciden con las de Harris y un sello en el meñique de la mano izquierda, un sello como el que Tomás heredó de su padre.

¿Son auténticas estas fotos? Me es imposible afirmarlo. Las fechas y los lugares me los facilitó el informante de palabra y, al pie de cada fotografía, se había tapado algo con cinta adhesiva blanca, posiblemente anotaciones o siglas.

(13) "Tomas had dropped off some of his ceramics at the local kiln so they could be fired."
Carta de Bill Bristow a Anita Harris: http://anitaharrisfamily.co.uk/tomas-harris-book-notes/

(14) Como iremos comprobando, Bill Bristow es una fuente inagotable de incongruencias en este relato.

(15) En este sentido, las alegaciones de Andreu sobre el escaso kilometraje del coche o las de un pariente de Harris, un tal Buces, sobre que la compañía de seguros pagó a Hilda una fuerte indemnización carecen de sustancia o fundamento técnico.

(16) "On my arrival I retrieved the smashed-up car from Spanish customs" A game of moles, p. 278. En España, los coches siniestrados ahora y en 1964 se almacenan en el Depósito Municipal de Vehículos.

(17) Desmond Bristow, cuando quiere convencer al lector de algo, lo repite muchas veces. Es una técnica eficaz en los interrogatorios de los servicios secretos, pero que tiene un pobre resultado estilístico. Veamos cómo hace interpretar a Tomás y Hilda Harris una versión muy sui generis de ¿Quién teme a Virginia Woolf?:

"Poco después de año nuevo fuimos a una fiesta con Tommy y Hilda. Volvimos con ellos a Logan Place (la casa de los Harris) y en cuanto bajamos del coche empezaron a discutir. Cuando llegamos a la casa estaban gritándose el uno al otro. Hilda se metió en la cocina y se sirvió una bebida. Tommy la siguió pero Hilda le lanzó un plato. Tommy empezó a gritar de tal forma que Betty y yo empezamos a temer por su seguridad. Hilda se puso a llorar histérica y salió corriendo de la cocina al salón. Betty fue a calmarla. Entré y le pregunté a Tommy si estaba bien. Había un par de platos rotos en el suelo. Tommy estaba sentado en un taburete, mesándose los cabellos: "Dios, Desmond, lo siento mucho".

Betty me sugirió que intentáramos convencerlos de que se viniesen con nosotros a Essex en lugar de quedarse el fin de semana en Londres. Tommy aceptó. Se acercó y puso su mano en mi hombro: ¿Puede Betty llevar a Hilly al coche mientras cojo algunas cosas. Me podrías poner un whisky? (…)

A la mañana siguiente, Betty le preguntó a Hilda porque habían empezado a discutir de pronto. Hilda le explicó que pasaba continuamente y, cuando no discutían sobre el libro sobre Goya que Tommy estaba preparando, discutían sobre Philby" (A game of moles, pp. 277-278). La anécdota, manida, llena de clichés peliculeros y sin interés narrativo alguno, tiene como único fin recalcar el fatal triángulo imputable a Kim Philby.

A la hora de evaluar la relación de Tomás Harris con Philby hay que saber aquilatar este tipo de información "dice Bristow que dice su mujer que dice Hilda".

(19) "The day after the accident Betty answered the telephone to a very distraught Hilda. 'Betty, Tommy is dead, he killed himself in a car accident yesterday.' Betty, in a state of semi-shock, asked if he had been alone, and Hilda explained that she had been in the car with him and felt it was her fault, and so on and so on. Poor Hilda. I agreed to fly out and help her however I could." A game of moles, p. 278

(22) En http://es.scribd.com/doc/100871766/The-hydraulic-system- of-the-Citroen-DS -explained puede verse la complejidad del sistema hidraúlico del DS 19 y de otros modelos (no sólo del 21, como parece inferirse del primer título).

El Citroën DS 19, conocido como la Déesse y como Tiburón en España fue revolucionario no por su motor, que era convencional y de poca potencia, sino por su diseño aerodinámico, su suspensión hidraúlica, su estabilidad en diferentes firmes de calzada y su sistema de frenado absoluto. Esa especial suspensión neumática o "blanda" es lo que daba la impresión de que el coche iba a más velocidad que la real a cualquiera que no estuviera acostumbrado. Tenían otras innovaciones al que el conductor tenía que acostumbrarse y que le dieron fama de que era un coche dificil de conducir: el freno no era un pedal sino una especie de valvula de goma en forma de champiñón altamente sensible al toque de pie. El freno de mano no era de palanca lateral sino de pedal.

La suspensión y seguridad del coche se hizo mundialmente conocida en el atentado contra De Gaulle en Petit-Clamart, el 22 de agosto de 1962. El Citroën en que iba el presidente francés pudo huir con sólo tres ruedas, ya que la cuarta había sido destrozada por las balas. Había otras características del DS19, menos conocidas, pero imprescindibles en una investigación forense de accidente: el volante de un solo brazo que se curvaba desde la columna de dirección hasta el borde con el fin de que, en caso de choque frontal, el conductor no se estampara contra el volante, sino que fuera impelido hacia la derecha (en nuestro caso, haría más improbable que Tomás saliera despedido por la puerta del conductor). El diseño del eje de las ruedas delanteras respondía a dar la máxima estabilidad al coche en caso de desnivel o badén...

Cuanto más se estudia este coche más difícil es de creer la descripción del accidente que da Bristow.

(24) "There was the suspicion because, according to Hilly, who told my mother, 'It was a new car and had been in for an oil change they could have fixed the brakes.' On the other hand my father who looked over the car was sure it was just an accident. But then perhaps he had to be convinced it was. Otherwise it would have become a very large investigation, and at that time the Government wanted the Philby, Burgess, MacClean book closed. The whole double agent revelation had caused very serious friction between the American Intelligence and Britain's Secret Services.

My father would have been the perfect person. He was no longer under the employ of MI6. But he was still attached. He was a close friend of Tommy's and Hilda's. He would not want to believe it was fixed. So even if it was the evidence would be fairly easy to cover up. (This last statement is from my own analysis.)

(27) Henry Dericourt, conocido como agente "Gilbert" fue el encargado por el SOE y el MI6 de delatar a la Gestapo comandos y voluntarios que ellos mismos enviaban a territorio francés y redes de resistencia en Francia. El objetivo era que, al ser interrogados por la Gestapo, revelaran información errónea. La operación de desinformación, parte de la gran Operation Cockade, costó la vida a cientos de agentes y militantes que fueron torturados durante meses antes de ser ejecutados. Estos agentes "desechables" eran generalmente mujeres jovenes sin entrenar, voluntarios con ideología de izquierdas o resistentes franceses. Después de la guerra, en 1948 Dericourt se salvó de la pena de muerte en Francia, por la declaración de un agente del MI6, enviado por el gobierno británico, Nicholas Bodington. Vid. Robert Marshall, All the King's men, pp. 252 y sigs. Desmond Bristow considera a Gilbert un agente arrojado, muy importante y eficaz: "This daring air force officer became known as the highly important and successful agent Gilbert" (A game of moles, p. 112) y relata "pleased as punch" su participación en semejante salvajada.

Bristow también tiene una muy buena opinión de Otto Skorzeny, militar nazi, traficante de armas, arte o cualquier cosa expoliada y organizador de la red Odessa. "Su llegada a Madrid después de su exculpación en los juicios por crímenes de guerra, causaba preocupación. En realidad, Otto era un caballero y evitaba juntarse con los nazis en Madrid. Joe (Presley, representante del FBI en España) tuvo varias reuniones con él y Otto le pasó información sobre alemanes indeseables. También le dio información sobre bienes alemanes escondidos, información que Joe me pasaba a mí" (A game of moles, p. 201). Texto valioso porque nos revela cómo pagaba Skorzeny la impunidad con la que se movió hasta su muerte.

Dear Sirs

TOMAS HARRIS

With reference to my letter of 18 June the Affidavit relating to the estate of Hilda Harris is now available and confirms the value of the personal estate and realty. The English estate of Tomas Harris is however included at an estimated figure of £51,000. Can you please show in detail how this is arrived at.

Can you also please reply to the final sentence of my letter of 18 June. I would be glad if you could give this early attention as I have not yet been able to give the Treasury any estimate of the net amount payable by them if they accept the Goya etching and it would be advisable to make some progress.

Yours faithfully

Mr. Patterson ✓

Finance Act 1973: Section 46.

nom For some years the Juanàs Harris collection of nom drawings by Goya have been on loan to the British Museum.

Mrs. Hodgkinson rang to give us warning that we may expect an offer of the collection in lieu of estate duty which is likely to be conditional on allocation to the British Museum. The valuation set on the collection by the executors will possibly be of the order of £170,000: this is not a firm figure, nor is the estate duty liability yet determined.

However, even if the liability is less than the (net) value of the collection, the testator's wishes apparently cover getting the whole collection permanently into the Museum's hands, so that they may benefit by the "gift" of the estate's acceptance of a price which is lower than the full market value.

You may care to warn Mr. Spence, and I attach a possible draft. (attached) 30/c

Noted. I'd sooner wait until there is a formal offer. But thanks. [initials] 29/8

Dear Miss Petrie

won HILDA HARRIS DECEASED

The solicitors, Messrs Payne Hicks Beach & Co, wrote on 13 June 1974 to offer a collection of Goya etchings, which have been on indefinite loan to the British Museum for some time, in lieu of Estate Duty at a market value of £174,585. I wrote to the solicitors on 18 June 1974 asking for certain information which would enable me to calculate the benefit of exemption, but I have not had a reply. Meanwhile, a valuation of, apparently, the same etchings by the same valuers for Stamp Duty adjudication purposes has been referred to me and the values there are appreciably lower. In the Thomas Harris Estate, valuations by Colnaghi have proved very suspect and we may be heading for an appeal in respect of Capital Gains Tax. I do not know whether you wish to make any reference to the British Museum at this stage or whether you would prefer to wait until the queries relating to current market values and the benefit of Estate Duty exemption have been resolved.

Yours sincerely

HILDA HARRIS DECEASED

We spoke about this case, where you are still waiting for information from the solicitors about prices etc. One part of the information still outstanding is whether or not the offer is intended to be a conditional one, as the terms in which the offer was made are obscure. Until you are able to tell as about this, we can do nothing but note that the offer is in the pipe-line.

Yours sincerely

Dear Miss Petrie

HILDA HARRIS DECEASED

With reference to your letter of 1 November, the solicitors, Payne Hicks Beach & Co, have now written to say that the offer of the lithographs by Goya as a pre-eminent collection under the provisions of section 46 of the Finance Act 1973 is on condition that the collection shall thereafter be in the exclusive possession or control of the British Museum.

They have also forwarded a more detailed breakdown of the items on offer of which I forward a copy.

It is very difficult at this stage to calculate with any accuracy the effective rate of Estate Duty payable. On the assumption that a foreign domicile is agreed and, although this has not been notified to the parties, it seems almost certain that it will be, the rate could be in the region of 62%. On this basis the net amount payable for the collection is £93,402.

Yours sincerely

Dear Miss Nicholls

PROCEDURES: SECTION 34

In accordance with paragraph 4 of our procedures/mechanics document I am consulting you about a conditional offer in lieu of estate duty of lithographs by Goya. These have been on indefinite loan to the British Museum for some time and the condition attached to the offer is that if accepted, "the collection shall thereafter be in the exclusive possession on control of the British Museum". The cost to the National Land Fund is still uncertain as the tax affairs of the estate giving rise to the offer are still unsettled, but it appears on present information that the likely price will be more than 25% of the British Museum's purchase grant in aid.

I should be most grateful for your comments on the acceptability of the offer, which fills a considerable gap in the museum's own collection of Goya prints and drawings. Is it possible to have these within 10 days, please?

Yours sincerely

MISS J C PETRIE

Admirable el trabajo que se ha tomado usted en resucitar el fantasma de la conspiración en relación a la muerte de Tomás Harris. La suya es, hasta ahora, las más original y arriesgada de las interpretaciones. Enhorabuena. Permítame, de todos modos, que le puntualice algunos detalles que le han llevado a conclusiones algo apresuradas. Tomás Harris (o su recién creado impersonator) fue enterrado en el cementerio civil de Palma por expreso deseo de la familia. Al entierro acudieron más personas de las que usted cita. Lo del nicho no es tan raro ni humillante, créame. Robert Graves también descansa en un nicho muy modesto, aunque en un cementerio más bello, ciertamente. La tumba de Harris no ha sufrido saqueos, simplemente alguien robó el pequeño cuadro de loza, obra del propio Tomás, que se incrustó en la lápida. Por otra parte, le aseguro que la familia de Harris no se ha desentendido de sus restos ni de su memoria ni de su legado ni de sus papeles. Esa es, particularmente, una afirmación ofensiva, formulada ad ignorantiam, que le ruego rectifique. Por último, si quiere que nos creamos su historia de las fotos, debería ser un poco más preciso. ¿Son de un informe secreto, dice usted? ¿Y alguien las va enseñando por ahí, tranquilamente? ¿Y qué razón aduce usted para que, a estas alturas, cuando incluso se han desclasificado las memorias de Blunt, se mantengan en secreto para los historiadores y sólo usted, en calidad de no sabemos qué, tenga acceso a ellas? Muchas gracias por la atención. Atentamente,

Y esa mención tan poco elegante al embonpoint que aqueja a don Jaume, que lo ha convertido en una desafortunada caricatura de su tía...

Admiro su trabajo en profundidad sobre temas tan interesantes . La acusacion de espionaje a favor de la URSS dentro de la Red de Cambridge contra Tomas Harris ,con mis limitados conocimientos sobre el tema , me resulta poco comprensible . Flora Solomon acusa a Kim Philby y a Tomas Harris .Su base de la acusacion contra Tomas Harris es la estrecha amistad que los unia y que la inducia a intuir que "podia haber mas ". ¿ espionaje a favor de la URSS? ,¿ con su mera" intuicion "se atreve a una acusacion tan grave ante los servicios de "caza de topos " ingleses ?. Le agradeceria su interpretacion del asunto .

Muchas gracias por su amable comentario.
Ningún investigador ha accedido a la declaración e interrogatorio de Flora Solomon. Todas las interpretaciones y valoraciones tienen como fuentes primarias los escritos más que delirantes de Chapman Pincher y Peter Wright. Peter Wright es el primero que mete a Harris en la zarzuela de los espías de Cambridge y pone a Solomon refiriéndose a una muerte que aún no ha ocurrido. Toda la bibliografía posterior que insiste en acusar o insinuar que Harris era un espía soviético no ha aportado ni una sola prueba o indicio consistente.
El único valor que podría tener el testimonio de Solomon en aquellas fechas no fue lo que pudiera decir sino que era el único testigo con nacionalidad británica que el MI5 podía presentar ante un juez. No podían declarar ni Golitsyn ni Teddy Kollek por razones obvias. Lo que se dice que declaró es una melonada, que ningún servicio de inteligencia tendría en cuenta si no se pudiera incardinar en un expediente ya "armado", como lo estaba el de Philby.
Flora Solomon fue una dama que su falta de belleza nunca fue empañada por un exceso de inteligencia. Pero era obediente. En mi opinión, diría lo que Victor Rothschild le ordenara, con notas a pie de página del MI5. Wright insinua que Philby y ella habían sido amantes... ¿Humor inglés?
En cualquier caso, para mí, la historia de los espías de Cambridge tiene la misma credibilidad que las apariciones de Fátima. Y Harris a lo más soviético que se acercó fue al tavárishch vodka.
Saludos cordiales

gracias de veras por su explicacion , me confirma la seriedad de su estudio sobre lo que parece una gran patraña historica.
De entrada la "prueba de cargo " de Flora Solomon contra Kim Philby es ridicula : ¿ le propuso Philby formar parte como agente del Komitern en la lucha antinazi en 1935 ? de esto deduce F Solomon que Philby era agente sovietico casi 30 años despues . Podia haber mencionado las travesuras de Kim niño al que conocia por amistad de Flora con su padre , St John Philby, cientifico arabista ,agente imperialista ingles , consejero de los Saud .... y mucho mas . saludos .

Sr Meyer : otro de los temas sobre Tomas Harris que me resultan poco veridicos cuanto mas lo estudio es , en teoria , su obra estelar dentro del contra- espionaje ingles y en concreto en su seccion de voltear espiar (XX), en la IIGM . la operacion Garbo . De entrada al indagar un poco sobre Juan Pujol encuentro a un barcelones emboscado , quintacolumnista y ya pasado al "bando nacional " agente de Franco y con simpatias pronazis , personalidad muy diferente al pacifista-antifranquista del retrato pintado por Tomas Harris que nos siguen vendiendo la industria de la patraña... .Hablando solo a proposito de Garbo ,si pasamos a Arabela el tema se vuelve mucho mas sustancioso . De nuevo gracias sr Meyer .saludos cordiales

Sr. Villalonga: Una de las tareas de los servicios de inteligencia es desinformar y mentir. Y la de cualquier lector crítico es indagar cómo lo hacen. El problema básico es que, para mentir o decir la verdad, usamos patrones heredados o modelos adquiridos mediante entrenamiento o técnica. Pero todo es detectable. Los servicios secretos británicos siempre han usado y abusado de la novela de espionaje y de la BBC, cosa que es de agradecer porque son muy entretenidas. Christopher Andrew, el autor de la Historia autorizada del MI5, reconoce que, incluso cuando los servicios de inteligencia británicos los formaban cuatro gatos sin repajolera idea del oficio (finales del XIX, principios del XX), ya tenían fama de sagaces e implacables gracias a escritores como Le Queux o Kipling.
En el caso de Garbo, las inconsistencias políticas e históricas sobre el personaje habrían pasado inadvertidas entre otras tantas, si no hubieran insistido en hacer un spin-off de la serie. No hacerle una traqueotomía a Juan Pujol antes de darle por segunda vez la OBE fue un fallo. De pacifista-antifascista-cuasi-almirante del Desembarco de Normandía pasó a ser lo que siempre fue: un franquista ofreciendo sus servicios al mejor pagador, un Alcázar de Velasco con retórica de botiguer. A Pujol lo está salvando el provincianismo inglés y el paleterío español, que está encantado de tener algo con que tapar las vergüenzas nacionales, que no sea La Nueve y otros indeseables que terminaron en campos de exterminio.

Del caso Pujol hay una derivación interesante y la cuenta Liddell. A petición del MI5 y Harris, el Courtauld Institute of Art da una documentación a Pujol que lo acredita como especialista en arte. Por otro lado, Harris está nervioso porque le ha dado un Velázquez (no se aclara si falso o verdadero) para que mercadee con él en Venezuela y sabe que si rastrean la obra, van a llegar a él...Y ahí lo dejo.
Saludos cordiales

Creo que acierta usted , don Eliah , Joan Pujol no era el cuasi- almirante de la operacion "puertas abiertas " ,sino el grumete. El desembarco estaba dirigido por un viejo Lord del Almirantazgo ingles , el gran W C, y un almirante de la marina imperial alemana , el pequeño W C .No quiero faltar al respeto a Churchill y Canaris , la ocurrencia se atribuye al "pequeño almirante". Puede que se deba a falta de informacion por mi parte , pero a Juan Pujol no le encuentro otra ubicacion que el papel de grumete , incluso en la operacion Arabela -Garbo parece que el papel de oficiala correspondia a su mujer Araceli Gonzalez(morenaza con garbo). saludos cordiales

ROMANCE DE LA CONDESA DE CASTILLA TRAIDORA

LA CONDESA DE CASTILLA TRAIDORA

Por los palacios del rey iba una dama corriendo;
iba descalza y desnuda,
   desmelenado el cabello,
en busca del rey don Sancho del rey don Sancho, el nuevo.

—¡Cómo duermes, ay, don Sancho, cómo te entregas al sueño,
la traidora de tu madre procura hacerte el entierro!
En la semana no hizo
    sino un vaso de veneno;
no lo bebas, ay, don Sancho, sin que ella beba primero.
—¿Cómo te va, hijo mío,
    hijo mío y mi consuelo?
Aquí te traigo, hijo mío,
    este vaso de gran precio,
aquí te traigo, hijo mío,
    un vaso de vino bueno.
Toma, bebe de este vino,
    que te lo traigo compuesto, que por hacer la bebida tres días van que no duermo.
—Yo os agradezco, mi madre,
    los vuestros desasosiegos,
mas no beberé, mi madre,
    sin que lo probéis primero.
—El día que murió tu padre hice yo un juramento:
donde estuvieran los hombres,
    de no beber yo primero.
—Bebedlo, madre, bebedlo,
    que, si no, os mato luego.
No lo tocó a los labios,
    muerta se cayó al suelo.
La ha enterrado como a madre;
    sobre la tumba alzó un templo.
Mandó cartas por España
    de esta manera diciendo: “Donde quiera que hay mujeres, hombres no beban primero”.

Este relato del frustrado envenenamiento del conde don Sancho de Castilla por su madre se ha recogido a lo largo del siglo XX en pueblos de Palencia, León, Asturias y Lugo; sólo en boca de muy contadas mujeres. No conocemos el texto letrado de que son trasunto las versiones trasmitidas y reelaboradas por tradición oral, las cuales han alcanzado grados muy avanzados de diversificación textual. Pero, si, como bien pudiera ser, el prototipo letrado del romance comenzara tan dramáticamente como la versión palentina de Támara de Campos (en que se fundan los primeros versos de la aquí editada), el romance oral del siglo XX sería heredero de un “romance nuevo”, de aquellos que (a imitación de los tradicionales más “viejos”) representan vívidamente una escena, en vez de narrar la historia (como hacían los autores de romances “cronísticos”, “eruditos”, pertenecientes a la anterior generación de poetas romanceristas). No obstante, la información escenificada tiene su origen en un relato erudito de mediados del siglo XVI: la Crónica general de España editada por Florián de Ocampo en Zamora, el año 1541.

La más antigua manifestación que conocemos de la leyenda de “La condesa de Castilla traidora” se halla en la Chronica naiarensis (del último cuarto del siglo XII), donde el episodio referido en el romance constituye la segunda traición de la condesa (mediante la primera, ha propiciado la muerte de su marido, el conde Garci Fernández, por haberse enamorado de Almanzor). Esta leyenda, aunque temáticamente refleje condiciones históricas ajustadas a los tiempos en que vivían los personajes en ella implicados cuando Almanzor ejercía su poder tutelar sobre los poderes de la España cristiana, tiene obviamente, desde sus orígenes, una trama ficticia y fue ideada teniendo presente la historia de Cleópatra, reina de Siria muerta el año 120 antes de Cristo, tal como la narra Justino. Tanto por razones literarias como en vista de la crítica textual, se puede afirmar que el relato nada tiene que ver con la poesía épica y que tuvo su orígen en la historiografía clerical.

La dependencia del romance tradicional del siglo XX de la divulgadísima publicación de Ocampo es evidente, ya que en él se encuentra clara huella de dos motivos de tardía aparición textual: el asociar la fundación del monasterio de Oña por el conde don Sancho a la expiación del parricidio y el fundamentar la “costumbre” castellana de que las mujeres beban primero en la advertencia que salva al conde de la muerte. El primero de esos dos motivos se debe al arzobispo de Toledo don Rodrigo Ximenez de Rada, en su historia De rebus Hispaniae, que lo introdujo como explicación pseudo-etimológica del topónimo “Oña”, que consideró basado en la costumbre española de llamar “Mionia” (‘mi dueña’) a la madre; episodio heredado por la Estoria de España de Alfonso X, cuya “Versión vulgata” editó, en esta parte de la Crónica general, Florián de Ocampo. El segundo, ajeno a la obra de don Rodrigo y a la original Estoria alfonsí, aparece incorporado a la “Versión vulgata”. Es, por tanto, obvio que el romancerista del siglo XVI concibió la escena a partir de lo narrado en la crónica impresa en 1541.

Pese a su fuente de inspiración, el romance, una vez reelaborado en el curso de su vida oral plurisecular, no desmerece al lado de las mejores creaciones del Romancero del siglo XX con más remotas raíces tradicionales.

INFORME DE FISCALIZACIÓN DE LA AGENCIA EFE (2001)

La agencia EFE fue constituida en 1939 con el fin de ofrecer una visión magnificada de los triunfadores del golpe de Estado de 1936: Franco, la Falange Española Tradicionalista (FET) y las Juntas de Ofensiva Nacional Sindicalista (JONS), y monopolizar la información (junto con el NO-DO, creado en 1942), siguiendo las tácticas y estrategia del Ministerio de Propaganda nazi de Joseph Goebbels.

Desde entonces, la Agencia Efe, ha permanecido como un ente anacrónico, parasitario, y extraño engendro jurídico (Sociedad Anónima Mercantil y Sociedad Estatal), cuyo principal cliente es el Estado español, y utilizada como fondo de reptiles por los sucesivos gobiernos, que establecen contratos ministeriales con la Agencia EFE al margen de todas las garantías de libre concurso y competencia, mientras crece incontrolable como destino y sinecura de periodistas mediocres y serviles (alrededor de 1.300 empleados, con cargo al SEPI y a los Presupuestos Generales del Estado), en una nebulosa de descontrol y mangancia con déficit en aumento, y ocurrentes iniciativas financieras dignas de los personajes de Chesterton del "Club de los negocios raros".

Nada que ver con el estatuto y financiación de la Agence France Presse y otras agencias mundiales de noticias.

Para muestra de la galbana que puede aquejar a los que deberían controlar el gasto, véase el último informe de Fiscalización del Tribunal de Cuentas (realizado nada menos que en 2001 y enviado al Congreso en 2005), que anunciaba fallos y descontrol contables, y la imposibilidad de enjugar el déficit millonario que la aqueja, por mucho que pase de un ejercicio a otro mudando de partida presupuestaria y ministerio al cargo de la teta nutricia:

"El permanente desequilibrio económico-patrimonial que sufre la Agencia, ocasionado por los resultados negativos que reiteradamente obtiene, obliga a la Entidad a acometer todos los años variaciones de su capital social, con objeto de restablecerlo. De esta forma dicha actuación, que debiera ser excepcional por parte del Estado como accionista único sobre los fondos propios de la Entidad, se convierte en el procedimiento habitual para compensar la insuficiencia de ingresos obtenidos en el ejercicio."

En 2010, EFE tuvo un déficit de 2,300.000 euros; en 2011, perdió 4,800.000 euros. Nada raro si se tiene en cuenta que una de sus compras estrella en 2012, en concurso público, por ejemplo, es un traductor automático de español-inglés por 140,000 euros. A estas alturas.

Lo entrecomillado, pertenece al Informe de fiscalización del Tribunal de Cuentas (que cualquier día de estos se darán por enterados de lo que significa cumplir con los parámetros de transparencia informativa que nos exige Europa); los subrayados en amarillo son nuestros:

"I. INTRODUCCIÓN

I.1. INICIATIVA Y ALCANCE DE LA FISCALIZACIÓN

El Pleno del Tribunal de Cuentas, en el ejercicio de la función fiscalizadora regulada en la Ley Orgánica 2/1982, de 12 de mayo, del Tribunal de Cuentas (LOTCu), y en la Ley 7/1988, de 5 de abril, de Funcionamiento del Tribunal de Cuentas (LFTCu), incluyó a iniciativa propia en el Programa de Fiscalizaciones, la fiscalización de la Agencia EFE, S.A. correspondiente al ejercicio 2001.

Los objetivos generales de la fiscalización, de acuerdo con las Directrices técnicas aprobadas, han sido los siguientes:

- Comprobar el cumplimiento de las disposiciones legales y reglamentarias a que está sometida la Entidad.
- Comprobar que las cuentas anuales de la Agencia para el ejercicio 2001 representan adecuadamente, en sus aspectos significativos, la imagen fiel de su situación financiera y patrimonial, así como del resultado económico del ejercicio.
- Evaluar los sistemas de control interno y los procedimientos de gestión aplicados.
- Analizar, en la medida de lo posible, la gestión de la actividad económico-financiera, comprobando su adecuación a los principios de eficiencia y eficacia.

La fiscalización se ha referido al ejercicio 2001, sin perjuicio de las comprobaciones de determinadas actuaciones correspondientes a otros ejercicios que se han estimado necesarias para el cumplimiento de los mencionados objetivos.

Las actividades de la Agencia EFE, S. A. en el ejercicio 1995 fueron fiscalizadas por el Tribunal de Cuentas y los resultados correspondientes figuran en el Informe aprobado por su Pleno en sesión de 28 de octubre de 1998, en cuya recomendación tercera se abordaba la necesidad de implantación de fórmulas alternativas de control, por lo que la Comisión Mixta Congreso-Senado para las Relaciones con el Tribunal de Cuentas, mediante Resolución de 30 de noviembre de 1999, acordó “Instar al Gobierno para que tome las medidas oportunas para dar cumplimiento a la recomendación tercera ...”.

Por ello, teniendo en cuenta el alcance de dicha resolución y la situación de permanente desequilibrio financiero-patrimonial que viene presentando la Entidad, en la presente fiscalización se ha realizado, por una parte, el seguimiento de las principales conclusiones y recomendaciones del Informe señalado anteriormente, y, por otra, el análisis del control interno implantado por la Entidad con vigencia en el ejercicio 2001, mediante normas internas aplicables genérica o específicamente a sus diferentes operaciones, especialmente en las delegaciones de la Agencia.

La Agencia EFE, S. A. (en adelante EFE) fue constituida por tiempo indefinido el 3 de enero de 1939, y es una Sociedad estatal de las previstas en el artículo 6.1.a) del Texto Refundido de la Ley General Presupuestaria (TRLGP), aprobado por Real Decreto Legislativo 1091/1988, de 23 de septiembre, habiendo modificado la Entidad, el 13 de julio de 1992, sus Estatutos sociales para adaptarlos al Texto Refundido de la Ley de Sociedades Anónimas (TRLSA), aprobado por Real Decreto Legislativo 1564/1989, de 22 de diciembre.

Su capital social, que a 31 de diciembre de 2001 ascendía a 511 millones de pesetas (3.071.000 euros), se encontraba totalmente suscrito y desembolsado, siendo titular del 100% de sus acciones el Estado, inicialmente a través de la Dirección General del Patrimonio del Estado (DGPE), si bien el acuerdo del Consejo de Ministros de 25 de mayo de 2001, al amparo de lo dispuesto en la Ley 7/2001, de 14 de mayo, de modificación del Texto Articulado de la Ley de Bases del Patrimonio del Estado (LPE), aprobado por Decreto 1022/1964, de 15 de abril, autorizó la transmisión de la totalidad de la participación accionarial de la DGPE en la Agencia EFE, S.A. a la Sociedad Estatal de Participaciones Industriales (SEPI), entidad en la cual se ha integrado la Agencia a partir de dicha fecha.
El artículo 2 de los Estatutos de la Agencia EFE establece como objeto social de ésta la obtención y distribución de información española e internacional en España y en todo el mundo, especialmente en Iberoamérica y en aquellas áreas en que se utilice el idioma español, así como todos los servicios que tengan conexión con el periodismo informativo, en sus aspectos literario y gráfico, pudiendo extender su actividad a otros sectores o negocios relacionados con la información en general, así como con la industria periodística. Estas funciones son desarrolladas por la Agencia en las siguientes dos grandes áreas: por una parte realiza actividades de interés general, como agencia de noticias y vinculadas al Contrato de prestación de servicios de cobertura informativa que se analiza más adelante, y por otra, actúa en régimen de libre competencia, prestando servicios y asistencia técnica a otras empresas.

En relación con las actividades de interés general como agencia de noticias, hay que señalar que en cumplimiento de lo previsto en el Acuerdo de Consejo de Ministros de 14 de mayo de 1998, en julio de dicho año la Agencia EFE, S.A. suscribió con el Estado un Contrato-Programa (en adelante CP) y un Contrato de prestación de servicios de cobertura informativa (en lo sucesivo CSCI). En relación con los mismos hay que mencionar lo siguiente:

- El CP establece las obligaciones y compromisos mutuos en el marco de la legislación general y específica aplicable durante el periodo de vigencia del mismo (1 de enero de 1998 a 31 de diciembre de 2001), definiendo igualmente los objetivos a alcanzar por la Agencia, en especial en lo relativo al desarrollo de un plan de saneamiento, reestructuración e inversiones, que confiera viabilidad futura a la Entidad.

- Respecto al CSCI, la Agencia se compromete a desplegar la infraestructura necesaria para la cobertura informativa de los acontecimientos que se desarrollen principalmente en las zonas de interés estratégico para la política internacional de España, así como la difusión de la imagen de España en el exterior, la vertebración informativa permanente del Estado y la cobertura y difusión en España y en el exterior de las actividades y viajes de los miembros de la Casa Real, de los representantes del Gobierno, de otros órganos de la Administración Central y de las Cámaras Legislativas.

Dicho Contrato, autorizado por el Acuerdo del Consejo de Ministros citado y con un período de vigencia inicial entre el 1 de julio de 1998 y el 31 de diciembre de 2001, establece unos recursos globales a aportar por el Estado, para dicho período, de 23.741 millones de pesetas (142.683.000 euros), a distribuir en los siguientes ejercicios: 17.206.000 euros en 1998, 38.651.000 en 1999, 42.981.000 en 2000 y 43.845.000 en 2001.

I.3. ORGANIZACIÓN

Como se ha señalado anteriormente, la Agencia EFE es una sociedad anónima mercantil, recayendo la responsabilidad de su gestión en el Consejo de Administración, constituido por el Presidente y 13 miembros, gestión que se instrumenta mediante dos Direcciones principales (la de Información y la de Gestión), de las que dependen las restantes Direcciones de la Agencia, siendo especialmente destacables, entre otras, la Dirección Comercial, la Dirección Económico-Financiera, la Dirección de Organización y Personal y la Dirección Técnica.

Para el desarrollo de su actividad, la Agencia EFE dispone, además de sus servicios centrales ubicados en Madrid, de una red de veinticinco delegaciones en el territorio español y treinta y siete en el extranjero con delegado propio, ocho oficinas (similares en funcionamiento a las delegaciones pero sin delegado) y dos corresponsalías, siendo complementaria a dicha organización la actuación de colaboradores y corresponsales fuera de las sedes de la Entidad.

Las actividades de la Agencia se agrupan en las siguientes áreas o líneas de servicio:

- Áreas operativas, formadas por los siguientes servicios:
  - Servicio de texto.
  - Servicios gráficos.
  - Televisión.
  - Radio.
  - Multimedia.
- Áreas no operativas, que realizan tareas comunes a diversas áreas, y son las siguientes:
  - Áreas de Apoyo Informativo, y Apoyo técnico y logístico.
  - Áreas de Estructura, que incluyen Presidencia, Secretaría General, Dirección de Información y Dirección de Gestión.
  - Área Comercial y de desarrollo de productos.

Las áreas operativas están directamente vinculadas a las líneas de negocio de la Agencia, distinguiéndose, según lo establecido en el CP, las siguientes dos actividades diferenciadas:

- Actividades de interés general, que son las que desarrolla como agencia de noticias y vinculadas al CSCI suscrito con el Estado, señalado anteriormente.
- Actividades de libre competencia, que corresponden a los servicios y asistencias técnicas ofertados a otras empresas y que están al margen del CSCI, concurriendo con otras empresas en régimen de mercado abierto.

La Agencia EFE participa además en las siguientes Sociedades, que no han sido objeto de la fiscalización, que configuran su Grupo:

- EFEAGRO, S.A., cuya actividad es la obtención, elaboración y difusión de información agroalimentaria. La participación de la Agencia EFE, S.A. en su capital social es del 50%.
- EFEGESTIÓN, S.A., que en la actualidad se encuentra sin actividad y en cuyo capital social la participación de la Agencia EFE, S.A. es del 100%.
- ACAN-EFE, con domicilio social en Panamá, cuya actividad es la de agencia de prensa y está participada por la Agencia EFE, S.A. en un 52% de su capital social.

1.4. RENDICIÓN DE CUENTAS

Las cuentas anuales de la Entidad correspondientes a 2001 fueron presentadas a la Intervención General de la Administración del Estado (IGAE) el 12 de septiembre de 2002, fuera del plazo fijado legalmente, y remitidas por aquélla a este Tribunal el 8 de noviembre de 2002, asimismo con posterioridad al plazo establecido en los artículos 130 del TRLGP y 35.1 de la LFTCu.

1.5. TRÁMITE DE ALEGACIONES

Los resultados de las actuaciones practicadas en el presente procedimiento fiscalizador se han puesto de manifiesto al actual Presidente de la Agencia EFE y al que fuera Presidente de la Sociedad durante el periodo fiscalizado, a los efectos de que formulasen las alegaciones y presentasen los documentos y justificaciones que estimaran pertinentes, conforme prevé el art. 44.1 de la Ley de Funcionamiento del Tribunal de Cuentas.

Tras la solicitud y concesión de prórroga, se han recibido en plazo las alegaciones del Presidente actual de la Entidad, que se acompañan al presente Informe, no habiéndose recibido alegación alguna del anterior responsable de la Agencia.

Analizadas las alegaciones recibidas, se han incorporado al texto cuantas modificaciones se han considerado necesarias en los casos en que se han aceptado, introduciéndose, además, las aclaraciones que se han estimado oportunas.

II. ANÁLISIS DEL CUMPLIMIENTO DEL CONTRATO-PROGRAMA Y DEL CONTRATO DE PRESTACIÓN DE SERVICIOS DE COBERTURA INFORMATIVA, SUSCRITOS ENTRE EL ESTADO Y LA AGENCIA EFE, S.A.

La situación de desequilibrio patrimonial de la Agencia EFE, S.A., debida a las reiteradas pérdidas, determinó la necesidad, a partir del año 1997, de realizar un plan de reestructuración aplicable para un periodo de seis años (1998-2003). En este sentido hay que destacar, como se ha señalado anteriormente, que el 1 de julio de 1998 se suscribió un CP entre la Agencia EFE, S. A. y el Estado, con vigencia desde el 1 de enero de 1998 hasta el 31 de diciembre de 2001 [1], en el que se establecieron las obligaciones y compromisos mutuos. En la misma fecha se firmó, asimismo, el CSCI mencionado anteriormente.

Ambos contratos conforman el Plan de empresa de la Sociedad, teniendo el CP, como objetivos específicos, un plan de saneamiento y reestructuración de plantilla y un plan de inversiones, y en los mismos el Estado se compromete a efectuar un seguimiento y evaluación de las actuaciones definidas, así como la dotación de fondos mediante la suscripción de una ampliación de capital de la Sociedad por el importe necesario para abordar los objetivos marcados. Por su parte, la Agencia deberá:

- Promover la modificación de las condiciones recogidas en el Convenio Colectivo para dotarla de flexibilidad organizativa, supeditando los incrementos salariales a las recomendaciones del Gobierno sobre las empresas públicas en reestructuración.
- Adaptar el departamento de televisión de la Entidad a su función natural de agencia de noticias, colaborando con Televisión Española, S. A. (TVE) y el resto de las televisiones públicas en los canales dirigidos al continente americano, así como la utilización conjunta de las sedes, tanto en territorio nacional como en el exterior.

- Mantener los criterios de imputación de ingresos y gastos entre actividades de interés general y libre competencia utilizados en la elaboración del CP.
- Separar las actividades de la Agencia y suprimir aquellas que, sin tener la consideración de servicio de interés público o general, carezcan de viabilidad económica.

Para financiar ambos planes y según lo establecido en el propio CP, la DGPE suscribió, en agosto de 1998, una ampliación de capital de 8.000 millones de pesetas (48.081.000 euros), de los cuales 3.807 millones de pesetas (22.881.000 euros) se destinaron al plan de saneamiento y reestructuración de plantilla y 4.193 millones de pesetas (25.200.000 euros) a inversiones en servicios de interés general.

Cabe señalar que en el plan laboral presentado por EFE a la Dirección General de Trabajo (DGT) en la solicitud del Expediente de Regulación de Empleo de 26 de enero de 1999, al que se hace mención más adelante, ya se planteaban, entre otros aspectos los siguientes:

- La necesidad de acometer determinadas reformas, entre ellas la supresión de actividades inviables económicamente (en especial las de Teletexto y Radio 24 horas), que hasta la fecha habían originado importantes pérdidas [2].
- El considerable incremento de la plantilla de personal entre los años 1986 a 1996, pasando de 644 a 1.171 efectivos, que, si bien estuvo justificado en el período 1989-1992 por el contrato suscrito por la Agencia con Televisión Autonómica de Madrid, S.A. y el lanzamiento de nuevos proyectos, resultó desproporcionado en el siguiente período, al no desarrollarse en el mismo nuevas actividades.

Se señalaba, además, la tendencia de convertir contratos temporales en indefinidos. Así, en 1990 la plantilla fija representaba el 63% del total, mientras que en 1991 alcanzó el 65%, el 77% en 1992, el 79% en 1993, el 80% en 1994 y el 84% en 1997, con unos efectivos totales en dicho año de 1.172 trabajadores.

Por otra parte, hay que destacar que el CSCI suscrito con el Estado no define con precisión los objetivos pretendidos en el mismo, con relación al criterio para cuantificar las aportaciones de aquél a la Agencia EFE, bien en función de los resultados obtenidos o de los costes generados por la actividad relacionada en el precitado contrato, así como respecto a los criterios de imputación de los ingresos entre las distintas áreas operativas de la Entidad. Únicamente se establece la cantidad global para el período de vigencia del contrato, lo que dificulta la valoración objetiva de la gestión de aquellas actividades afectas al mismo, señaladas anteriormente, y por tanto al análisis de la gestión de la actividad económico-financiera de la Entidad.

En la fiscalización se ha analizado, en particular, el cumplimiento del objetivo de saneamiento y reestructuración de plantilla, que constituye uno de los objetivos del precitado CP. Respecto a dicha reestructuración, el CP prevé lo siguiente:

- La reducción neta de la plantilla en 238 personas -el 20% del total- a lo largo de cinco años, correspondiendo 221 durante el período de aplicación del CP, mediante jubilaciones anticipadas, prejubilaciones, bajas incentivadas y externalización de servicios generales, estimándose la baja de 266 personas y la contratación de 45 para cubrir servicios específicos. La disminución de 17 trabajadores hasta completarla reducción neta de plantilla, debía producirse en 2002, año posterior a la finalización del CP.
- El desarrollo de un plan de formación para la profesionalización y readaptación del personal.

La evolución de la plantilla prevista en el CP a lo largo del periodo de vigencia del mismo era la siguiente:

PLANTILLA PREVISTA EN EL CONTRATO-PROGRAMA

	1998	1999	2000	2001	TOTAL
a) Plantilla inicial	1.172	985	984	966
b) Bajas	217	16	18	15	266
Jubilaciones anticipadas y prejubilaciones	80	16	18	15	129
Bajas incentivadas	137	-	-	-	137
c) Altas	30	15	-	-	45
d) Plantilla final (a-b+c)	985	984	966	951	**-
e) Reducción neta (a-d)	187	1	18	15	221

Las condiciones máximas a las que debía ajustarse el plan de reducción de plantilla eran las siguientes:

- En las prejubilaciones y jubilaciones anticipadas, los complementos salariales a cargo de la empresa no podrían suponer que el salario bruto, en cómputo anual, superase el 80% del percibido por el trabajador en el momento de su incorporación al plan.
- Para las bajas incentivadas, la indemnización no podría superar el importe bruto correspondiente a la última anualidad percibida.

El coste estimado de dicho plan entre 1998 y 2001 era de 3.382 millones de pesetas (20.326.000 euros), correspondiendo 2.732 millones de pesetas (16.420.000 euros) a prejubilaciones y jubilaciones anticipadas y 650 millones de pesetas (3.906.000 euros) a bajas incentivadas. Además, para cubrir el objetivo de la Sociedad de situar la plantilla en el año 2003 en 934 personas, se preveía un coste adicional, a la finalización del CP, de 425 millones de pesetas (2.554.000 euros).

Con objeto de readaptar su plantilla, el 26 de enero de 1999 la Agencia EFE, S.A. presentó ante la DGT un Expediente de Regulación de Empleo (ERE), con vigencia desde enero de 1999 a diciembre de 2002. La DGT, mediante Resolución de 10 de febrero de 1999, autorizó la extinción de la relación laboral de 246 trabajadores, de los cuales 54 se encontraban en excedencia, con el siguiente desglose:

- 143 mediante prejubilaciones, jubilaciones anticipadas y compromisos de acceso al sistema de jubilación.
- 103 a través de las restantes medidas, incluidas bajas incentivadas.

En el proceso de aplicación de las medidas aprobadas por la mencionada Resolución, se establecieron dos fases: una primera, con límite temporal de 30 de junio de 1999, en la que debían producirse todas las prejubilaciones de trabajadores con 57 años cumplidos y las bajas incentivadas, tanto voluntarias como forzosas; y otra, hasta el 31 de diciembre de 2002, consistente en ir aplicando las jubilaciones a quienes fueran cumpliendo la edad de 57 años, al tiempo que se debía favorecer un proceso de reordenación interna para adecuar los recursos a la nueva estructura organizativa.
El cuadro siguiente recoge la comparación entre la reducción de la plantilla prevista en el CP desde el 31 de diciembre de 1997 hasta la misma fecha del año 2001 y la efectivamente producida por aplicación del ERE:

	PERSONAL EN ACTIVO		VARIACIÓN
	31-12-1997	31-12-2001
Previsiones del Contrato-Programa	1.172	951	221
Expediente de Regulación de Empleo	1.172	997	175
Diferencia	0	46	46

Según el Departamento de Recursos Humanos de la Agencia, la diferencia de 46 personas se debió al retraso sufrido en la presentación definitiva y aprobación del ERE (enero y febrero de 1999 respectivamente), en relación con la solicitud inicial formulada por la Agencia en octubre de 1998, motivado por la oposición al mismo que mantuvieron los representantes sindicales de la Agencia, por lo que no pudo ser efectivamente aplicado hasta el 18 de abril de 1999, lo que supuso un retraso importante respecto al CP, suscrito en julio de 1998. Por ello, a 31 de diciembre de 2001, tan solo 175 personas causaron baja de la Agencia al acogerse al ERE, frente a las 221 previstas en el precitado CP, correspondiendo esta diferencia a 25 prejubilaciones previstas en el ERE para el año 2002, 18 bajas incentivadas voluntarias no previstas y 3 prejubilaciones imposibles de efectuar por falta de años de cotización, hecho este último que no se tuvo en cuenta al redactar el CP.
Por otra parte y para analizar el grado de cumplimiento por la Agencia EFE de lo suscrito en el CP en materia de personal, se ha comparado la plantilla real a 31 de diciembre de 1997 (integrada por un total de 1.177 trabajadores) [3] con la existente a 31 de diciembre de 2001, habiéndose obtenido los siguientes datos:

	PLANTILLA REAL			CONTRATO PROGRAMA	ERE
	PERSONAL FIJO	PERSONAL TEMPORAL	TOTAL
Plantilla a 31-12-1997	993	184	1.177	1.172	1.172
Plantilla a 31-12-2001	867	173	1.040	951	997
DIFERENCIAS	126	11	137	221	175

La aplicación del ERE acumulado a 31 de diciembre de 2001 era la siguiente:

SITUACIÓN APLICADA	BAJAS DE PERSONAL
	FIJO	EXCEDENTE

Jubilación anticipada y prejubilación	109
Recolocación	7	5
Baja incentivada	29	23
Bajas por finalización de excedencia		2
Total de bajas acumuladas	145	30

No obstante, las bajas derivadas de la aplicación del ERE no consiguieron la pretendida reducción de la plantilla, al producirse nuevas contrataciones de personal. De esta forma, se incrementó la diferencia entre la plantilla que preveía el CP para el ejercicio 2001 (951 trabajadores) y la realmente existente en diciembre de dicho año (1.040 personas), con una reducción neta de la misma de 137 empleados, frente a la inicialmente prevista de 221.
De las 175 bajas producidas (104 en el año 1999, 39 en el 2000 y 32 en el 2001), en la fiscalización se han analizado 24 expedientes de trabajadores afectados por el ERE (16 en activo y 8 en situación de excedencia), en los que se recogen todas las situaciones de reajuste anteriormente señaladas, y que abarcan todas las categorías laborales de la Entidad. Del examen de dichos expedientes se constata lo siguiente:

- Todos los trabajadores analizados estaban incluidos en el listado de situación de la plantilla en la fecha previa a la solicitud de autorización del ERE (25 de enero de 1999).
- El cálculo de la indemnización percibida se ha realizado, en todos los casos, conforme a lo establecido en el ERE y los conceptos utilizados para efectuarlo coinciden con los que figuran en la nómina del trabajador correspondiente al mes anterior a su baja en la empresa.

- En 6 expedientes seleccionados de baja incentivada y recolocación diferida correspondientes a los años 1999 y parte de 2000 la Entidad no practicó la retención del Impuesto sobre la Renta de las Personas Físicas (IRPF) a una parte de la indemnización denominada "30% resto indemnización", siendo subsanado este error en los restantes expedientes del ejercicio 2000 y sucesivos de 2001, no habiendo corregido el error de los expedientes del ejercicio 1999, correspondientes a los trabajadores habían cobrado la indemnización y abandonado la empresa.
No obstante, tanto las cantidades brutas que no han sufrido retención (entre 902 euros y 3.606 euros), como las retenciones no practicadas (por un total de 1.977 euros), son de escasa relevancia cuantitativa.
- Para los trabajadores acogidos a la jubilación anticipada se ha verificado que todos cumplen los requisitos establecidos en el Plan Social. Igualmente se ha comprobado que durante el periodo anterior a la jubilación definitiva se ha aplicado el porcentaje máximo del 85% del salario bruto que tenían a la fecha de aceptación del plan (si tenían acreditadas cotizaciones a la Seguridad Social anteriores al 1 de enero de 1967) o del 80% si no concurría dicha circunstancia.

III. ESTADOS FINANCIEROS[4] III.1. OPINIÓN

De acuerdo con las comprobaciones y verificaciones efectuadas, las cuentas anuales de la Agencia EFE, S.A. correspondientes al ejercicio 2001 representan, en todos sus aspectos significativos, la imagen fiel del patrimonio, y de la situación financiera, así como del resultado de sus operaciones y de los recursos obtenidos y aplicados durante el ejercicio, y contienen la información necesaria y suficiente para su interpretación y comprensión adecuada, de conformidad con las normas y principios contables que le son de aplicación..

En los siguientes epígrafes se desarrollan los resultados más relevantes deducidos del análisis de las principales partidas de los estados financieros de la Entidad.

III.2. INMOVILIZADO

III .2.1. Inmovilizado inmaterial

El saldo del inmovilizado inmaterial ascendía, a 31 de diciembre de 2001, a 4.744.000 euros, y representa el 8% del activo total, habiendo experimentado en 2001 un incremento neto de 1.093.000 euros, debido, básicamente, a la compra de aplicaciones informáticas y a la activación de gastos por trabajos para su inmovilizado realizados por la propia Agencia (siendo las altas totales de 2.632.000 euros), destacándose de estos últimos los relativos al banco de datos, cuyo saldo se ha incrementado en el ejercicio, por este concepto, en 865.000 euros, y que corresponden a la imputación de los costes directos incurridos en su realización, siendo los de personal, con el 91% del total, la partida más significativa.

En la fiscalización se ha verificado la correcta contabilización de las operaciones asociadas a la mencionada base de datos, así como los relativos a otras operaciones por 379.000 euros.

III.2.2. Inmovilizado material

El inmovilizado material presentaba, a 31 de diciembre de 2001, un saldo de 36.241.000 euros, que suponen el 62% del activo total, correspondiendo su mayor parte –el 90%-al valor contable de los edificios de la Sede central de la Entidad en Madrid, que en el ejercicio 2002 fueron vendidos a la SEPI. El saldo del inmovilizado material se ha minorado en 1.421.000 euros respecto al del ejercicio anterior, debido, básicamente, a la dotación de una provisión por 721.000 euros, correspondiente al archivo gráfico.

Entre los incrementos del ejercicio (2.638.000 euros) destacan los correspondientes a la activación de los costes del archivo gráfico (908.000 euros), el 83% de los cuales se refiere a gastos de personal adscrito a la actualización y digitalización de dicho archivo, para su ulterior comercialización.
La Entidad carece de procedimientos escritos para las adquisiciones y bajas de bienes del inmovilizado. En el caso de terrenos y construcciones, tanto las adquisiciones como las bajas deben ser analizadas y aprobadas por el Consejo de Administración. Para las restantes altas y bajas se aplican unos procedimientos no escritos, que en el caso de las primeras se formalizan en una "propuesta de inversión" que varía en función de si la misma supera o no 3.005 euros. Igualmente existen límites cuantitativos para determinar la persona con competencia para autorizar las adquisiciones (hasta 9.000 euros el Director Económico-Financiero, entre esa cifra y 30.000 euros el Director Gerente, y a partir de la misma el Presidente de la Entidad).

En el análisis del incremento y de la disminución del inmovilizado, sobre una muestra del 22% y 41% respectivamente, se ha comprobado con relación a las altas que se han seguido las normas señaladas en función del importe y que están correctamente contabilizadas en el ejercicio de su adquisición.

En cuanto a las bajas, el procedimiento establecido para las que derivan de la obsolescencia o el deterioro del bien, requiere una propuesta de la Dirección Técnica, y la autorización del Director Económico-Financiero. En las restantes (robo, incendio, cese de actividad, etc.) no se aplica un procedimiento preestablecido. En relación con las bajas que han sido analizadas, en un caso la documentación que figura en el expediente facilitado, referido a la baja de un equipo de televisión en la delegación de Méjico, por importe de 35.000 euros, no consta documentación suficiente que la soporte, si bien se encontraba totalmente amortizado.

Por otra parte, de las verificaciones efectuadas sobre esta rúbrica se ha constatado que la Entidad contabilizó un ingreso extraordinario por 1.022.000 euros, correspondientes a la anulación de la amortización acumulada referente a terrenos, debido a que hasta el ejercicio 2001 la dotación de la misma se realizaba incorrectamente sobre el valor conjunto del terreno y de la construcción.

Como hecho posterior al periodo fiscalizado, en el ejercicio 2002 la Entidad vendió a una Sociedad perteneciente al Grupo SEPI el inmueble de su Sede central, por un importe de 37.040.000 euros, obteniendo un beneficio de 16.006.000 euros, suscribiendo simultáneamente un contrato de arrendamiento sobre dicho inmueble con una duración de diez años y una renta anual de 1.803.000 euros.

III.2.3. Inmovilizado financiero

El inmovilizado financiero presentaba un saldo neto de 461.000 euros y dentro del mismo figuran las participaciones en empresas del grupo, con un neto contable de 198.000 euros, siendo las Sociedades que forman el mismo las siguientes:

- Efeagro, S.A., en cuyo capital la Agencia EFE, S.A. participa en un 50%. El valor contable de la participación de la Agencia EFE en dicha Sociedad ascendía, a 31 de diciembre de 2001, a 150.000 euros, cifra inferior al valor teórico contable de la participación en la misma (267.000 euros).

- Efegestión, S.A., de la que la Agencia EFE es titular del 100% de sus acciones. Esta Sociedad se constituyó en 1989 y carece de actividad desde el año 1995, por lo que debería considerarse la conveniencia de su liquidación. Su valor en la contabilidad de la Agencia EFE es inferior al neto contable de aquélla, si bien la diferencia (300 euros) carece de relevancia.

- ACAN-EFE, con sede social en Panamá, de la que la Agencia EFE, S.A. posee el 52% de su capital social. Su valor neto en la contabilidad de la Agencia EFE a 31 de diciembre de 2001 era nulo.

Entre las participaciones en empresas del grupo la Agencia EFE incluye la cuenta "Fondo aportación ACAN", con un saldo de 505 miles de euros, que han sido provisionados en su totalidad, y recogen el saldo de las entregas realizadas por aquélla para el sostenimiento financiero de su filial ACAN-EFE e imputadas a los resultados de cada ejercicio.

En la contabilización de dichas entregas, por un importe conjunto de 3.594.000

euros, la Agencia EFE no ha seguido el principio de uniformidad y, además, en algunos ejercicios, el criterio aplicado no es el previsto en el Plan General de Contabilidad, puesto que aquéllas se han registrado del modo siguiente:

- Hasta el ejercicio 1993 como "Clientes de dudoso cobro", por 1.719.000 euros. Este saldo se canceló al cierre de dicho ejercicio.

- Entre los ejercicios 1993 a 1996 como Inmovilizado financiero, en la cuenta "Fondo aportación ACAN", por 505.000 euros.

- Entre los ejercicios 1997 a 2001 como "Gastos extraordinarios", por 1.370.000 euros (de los cuales 288 miles de euros corresponden al ejercicio fiscalizado).

En relación con estos movimientos hay que señalar que aunque los saldos de "Clientes de dudoso cobro" y de "Fondo aportación ACAN" fueron provisionados en su totalidad, el segundo aparece en contabilidad en el ejercicio 2001, mientras que el primero fue dado de baja en las cuentas anuales del ejercicio 1993. Respecto a la consideración como gastos extraordinarios a partir del ejercicio 1997, hay que señalar que en dichas operaciones no concurren los supuestos específicos para este tipo de gastos (que no se originen por las actividades ordinarias y típicas de la empresa, y que no se espere, razonablemente, que sean frecuentes).

II.3. DEUDORES A LARGO PLAZO

Su saldo en el balance a 31 de diciembre de 2001 ascendía a 1.346.000 euros y se ha incorporado, en su totalidad, durante el año 2001, debido a la consolidación fiscal en dicho ejercicio por la integración de la Agencia en SEPI, y se corresponde con el Impuesto sobre beneficios anticipado, cuya fecha de recuperación excede el ejercicio.

III.4. GASTOS A DISTRIBUIR EN VARIOS EJERCICIOS

El saldo de esta cuenta se elevaba, a 31 de diciembre de 2001, a 214.000 euros, lo que ha supuesto una disminución del 96% respecto al del cierre del ejercicio anterior.

En dicha cuenta se incluía, hasta el ejercicio 2001, el saldo pendiente entre el pasivo devengado y los pagos realizados por la externalización de las obligaciones adquiridas en el ERE (17.108.000 euros) en febrero de 1999, imputándose los gastos diferidos a los resultados del ejercicio en función del calendario de bajas establecido en el plan de empresa de la Agencia y en el CP. El saldo pendiente de imputar a gastos a 31 de diciembre de 2000 ascendía a 4.808.000 euros, decidiendo la Agencia, por un criterio de prudencia, incluir como gasto extraordinario en el ejercicio 2001 la totalidad de dicho saldo.

III.5. DEUDORES

El saldo de deudores alcanzaba a 31 de diciembre de 2001, 13.836.000 euros, con un aumento del 32% respecto al ejercicio anterior, correspondiendo el incremento más relevante a la cuenta "Empresas del grupo deudores", que pasó de 4.000 euros a 2.896.000 euros, debido, básicamente, a la ya mencionada integración de la Agencia EFE en la SEPI, lo que ha originado créditos fiscales a favor de la primera, por importe de 2.560 miles de euros, e impuesto sobre beneficios anticipado a corto plazo, por 198 miles de euros, y que serán abonados por SEPI una vez presentada la declaración consolidada.

La cuenta de deudores presenta el siguiente desglose:

(en miles de euros)

Concepto	Saldo a 31/12/01	Saldo a 31/12/00
Clientes ptas.	7.510	7.475
Clientes moneda extranjera	1.877	1.715
Clientes de dudoso cobro	3.231	4.273
Crédito fiscal SEPI	2.560	-
Imp. sobre beneficios anticipado a CP	198	-
Deudores grupo, empr. facturación	89	4
Otros deudores, facturación	126	5
Deudores dudoso cobro	154	154
Deudores varios	516	619
Otros saldos deudores	281	118
Personal	413	445
Administraciones Públicas	396	45
Provisión insolvencias de tráfico	(3.515)	(4.378)
TOTAL DEUDORES	13.836	10.475

Las verificaciones efectuadas sobre el área de deudores han incluido el análisis de la situación de la deuda a 31 de diciembre de 2001, y el cálculo del periodo medio de cobro de los mismos.

Respecto al cálculo aproximado del período medio de cobro a clientes, excluidos por su naturaleza los saldos de dudoso cobro y los derivados del CSCI suscrito con el Estado, se ha obtenido un resultado de setenta y tres días tanto en el ejercicio 2000 como en 2001. Realizados análogos cálculos respecto a proveedores, se obtiene un período medio de pago aproximado de cincuenta y un días en 2000 y cincuenta y cuatro en 2001.

Con relación a las cuentas de clientes, que en conjunto suponen el 91% del saldo total de deudores, también se han efectuado comprobaciones sobre la antigüedad de la deuda existente a 31 de diciembre de 2001, analizando la suficiencia de la provisión dotada, así como la cuenta de clientes y deudores de dudoso cobro al cierre del ejercicio 2001.

En relación con la provisión para insolvencias, con un saldo a 31 de diciembre de 2001 de 3.515.000 euros, hay que señalar que la dotación del ejercicio ascendió a 685.000 euros y se corresponde con la efectuada sobre clientes de dudoso cobro, por 559.000 euros, y con una estimación de fallidos, por 126.000 euros, relativa a dotaciones globales sobre saldos que, a pesar de tener una antigüedad inferior al año, se consideran asimismo de dudoso cobro, aunque los mismos no figuran en el balance agrupados en dicha cuenta.

La Sociedad, dota las provisiones aplicando el criterio general de que un año después del vencimiento de la factura, en caso de no haber sido cobrada, se considera al cliente como moroso dotándose la provisión correspondiente, manteniendo estos saldos como clientes de dudoso cobro en el balance cinco años, siendo posteriormente eliminados de la contabilidad.

El análisis de la morosidad se realiza desde la Central, si bien, en el caso de las delegaciones exteriores, los criterios aplicables son determinados por los delegados, al ser éstos los que pueden hacer una valoración individual de sus clientes.

En las verificaciones del Tribunal sobre la relación de clientes dotados con la correspondiente provisión se han constatado diferencias, de carácter inmaterial (2,9 miles de euros en total), entre las cifras que se deducen de dicha relación y la información disponible en el Departamento de Contabilidad.

Asimismo, en la fiscalización se ha constatado que en las dotaciones globales mencionadas anteriormente figura la correspondiente al saldo de un cliente, por 276.000 euros, del que únicamente se ha dotado un 25% (69.000 euros), y respecto del cual se ha observado que no se han realizado cobros posteriores, por lo que debería haberse dotado la provisión por la totalidad de la deuda.

Respecto a las verificaciones realizadas sobre la antigüedad de la deuda, han consistido en analizar tanto la que deriva de facturación a clientes desde la Sede central, como la de aquellos que se efectúa en el exterior, sin que del mismo se haya observado nada reseñable.

En relación con las cuentas de dudoso cobro, con un saldo al 31 de diciembre de 2001 de 3.385.000 euros, hay que señalar que su importe más relevante corresponde a clientes de dudoso cobro (3.231.000 euros), dotados en su totalidad con la correspondiente provisión, los cuales mantiene la Entidad en el balance con arreglo al criterio expuesto anteriormente. No obstante, se ha observado que a 31 de diciembre de 2001 figuran 775.000 euros correspondientes a ejercicios anteriores a 1997, por lo que, de aplicar el criterio señalado anteriormente, deberían haberse eliminado en el balance de la Entidad, si bien la Agencia EFE alega que su mantenimiento obedece a que se trata de clientes que aún se encuentran en fase de reclamación judicial.

Respecto al saldo de deudores de dudoso cobro, por 154.000 euros, su mayor parte corresponde a deudas anteriores a 1990, por lo que, como indica la propia Entidad, es improbable su cobro, y por tanto deberían darse de baja junto con su correspondiente provisión.

Dentro de la rúbrica “Deudores varios”, el saldo de la cuenta “Deudores diversos” (516.000 euros), está indebidamente minorado en 66.000 euros, que corresponden a la financiación, por dicho importe, concedida por la Comisión Europea para la ejecución de un proyecto del que, aunque al cierre del ejercicio 2001 no se había iniciado, la Agencia había recibido los fondos. En consecuencia, al tratarse de financiación semejante a una subvención dicho importe debería haberse incluido en el pasivo del balance, sin que en ningún caso pueda considerarse como un menor saldo de una cuenta deudora del activo del mismo.

III.6. FONDOS PROPIOS

El cuadro siguiente muestra la variación de los fondos propios de la Entidad:

	(en miles de euros)
	2000	2001
Fondos propios	2.048	(6.333)
Capital social	16.080	3.071
Resultados negativos ejercicios anteriores	(5.001)	(1.023)
Pérdidas	(9.031)	(8.381)

De dicho cuadro se deduce que al cierre de los ejercicios 2000 y 2001 la Entidad estaba incursa en las previsiones del artículo 260 del TRLSA, al ser su patrimonio neto inferior en un 50% al capital social. Esta situación ha determinado que la Junta General, en sesión de 23 de mayo de 2001, acordara la reducción de su capital social en 13.009.000 euros, para compensar parcialmente las pérdidas acumuladas, a pesar de lo cual los fondos propios, a 31 de diciembre de 2001 tras la operación descrita, eran negativos en 6.333.000 euros, por lo que la Entidad seguía incursa en el supuesto legal señalado anteriormente.

Igualmente, la Junta General en sesión de 13 de junio de 2002, acordó una nueva reducción del capital social por 3.071.000 euros, y una ampliación del mismo de 6.611.000 euros, si bien a continuación se acordó una nueva reducción del capital social de 6.194.000 euros.

El permanente desequilibrio económico-patrimonial que sufre la Agencia, ocasionado por los resultados negativos que reiteradamente obtiene, obliga a la Entidad a acometer todos los años variaciones de su capital social, con objeto de restablecerlo. De esta forma dicha actuación, que debiera ser excepcional por parte del Estado como accionista único sobre los fondos propios de la Entidad, se convierte en el procedimiento habitual para compensar la insuficiencia de ingresos obtenidos en el ejercicio.

III.7. PROVISIONES

La evolución de las provisiones en el ejercicio fiscalizado es la siguiente:

(miles euros

de)

PROVISIONES	Saldo a 31-12-2000	Dotaciones	Aplicaciones	Ajustes	Saldo a 31-12-2001
Para riesgos y gastos a largo plazo	4.798	984	(1.545)	(389)	3.848
Para riesgos y gastos a corto plazo	2.255	0	(605)	0	1.650
Para operaciones de tráfico	0	186	0	0	186
TOTALES	7.053	1.170	(2.150)	(389)	5.684

Las provisiones para riesgos y gastos a largo plazo incluyen, básicamente, las correspondientes al fondo complementario de pensiones, al premio de permanencia, y para otras responsabilidades. Las dotaciones más significativas en el ejercicio 2001 fueron la del fondo complementario de pensiones, por importe de 349.000 euros, y una extraordinaria, por 505.000 euros, para abonar a dos trabajadores en ejecución de una sentencia del Tribunal Constitucional.

Los ajustes efectuados en esta cuenta durante el ejercicio, por importe de 389.000 euros, son los siguientes:

- 70.000 euros corresponde a la previsión del fondo complementario de pensiones de un jubilado fallecido en 2001, por lo que la Entidad ha procedido a dar de baja la misma.
- 232.000 euros por la valoración, a 31 de diciembre de 2001, del fondo complementario de pensiones realizada por una aseguradora privada, que cuantifica dicho fondo en 2.403.000 euros.
- 87.000 euros, por la valoración efectuada por la mencionada aseguradora de la provisión para premio de permanencia, que ascendió a 144.000 euros, al considerar la Agencia EFE que la firma del Convenio Colectivo en el ejercicio 2001 excluiría del derecho a percibir dicho premio de permanencia a los trabajadores que por su edad no cumplieran los requisitos establecidos.

La cuenta de provisiones para riesgos y gastos a corto plazo recoge las previstas por bajas incentivadas, habiéndose aplicado a su finalidad 605.000 euros.

Por último, la cuenta de provisiones para otras operaciones de tráfico recoge las dotaciones para cubrir las diferencias de cambio por las cuentas a cobrar y saldos de tesorería, por importes de 174.000 euros y 12.000 euros, respectivamente, correspondientes a la delegación de la Agencia en Buenos Aires.

III.8. ACREEDORES

En este epígrafe se analizan los acreedores a corto y largo plazo, de los que la mayor parte de su saldo conjunto corresponde a deudas con entidades de crédito y deudas con empresas del grupo.

El desglose y evolución de las deudas con entidades de crédito es el siguiente:

(miles de euros)

Deudas con entidades de crédito	31-12-2001	31-12-2000
A corto plazo	2.488	9.477
A largo plazo	19.301	31.696
TOTAL	21.789	41.173

La disminución del 47% en el ejercicio 2001 se compensa parcialmente con el incremento en dicho ejercicio del saldo de las deudas con empresas del grupo, que se analiza posteriormente.

Entre las deudas a largo plazo destaca, por su importancia cuantitativa, un crédito sindicado de 30.050.000 euros, suscrito el 3 de octubre de 2000, con vencimiento a cinco años y tipo de interés aplicable el euribor más un diferencial del 0,6% anual, destinado a amortizar otro de igual cuantía concedido en julio de 1997.

El crédito sindicado se distribuía en dos tramos: el primero como préstamo de 18.030.000 euros, y el segundo mediante una línea de crédito por un límite máximo de 12.020.000 euros.

Las condiciones impuestas por el sindicato bancario concedente del crédito fijaban unas limitaciones respecto al nivel de endeudamiento de la Agencia EFE y a si la misma estaba incursa en los supuestos previstos en los artículos 163 y 260 del TRLSA, referentes ambos a la situación patrimonial de la Entidad, determinándose que en el supuesto de incumplimiento de dichas limitaciones el sindicato bancario podía cancelar el crédito. Aunque ambos requisitos fueron incumplidas en el ejercicio 2001, existe una carta del agente del crédito sindicado en la que se manifiesta de forma expresa que, a pesar del incumplimiento, no ejercerá su derecho de cancelación anticipada. Como hecho posterior al La disminución del 47% en el ejercicio 2001 se compensa parcialmente con el incremento en dicho ejercicio del saldo de las deudas con empresas del grupo, que se analiza posteriormente.

Entre las deudas a largo plazo destaca, por su importancia cuantitativa, un crédito sindicado de 30.050.000 euros, suscrito el 3 de octubre de 2000, con vencimiento a cinco años y tipo de interés aplicable el euribor más un diferencial del 0,6% anual, destinado a amortizar otro de igual cuantía concedido en julio de 1997.

El crédito sindicado se distribuía en dos tramos: el primero como préstamo de 18.030.000 euros, y el segundo mediante una línea de crédito por un límite máximo de 12.020.000 euros.

Las condiciones impuestas por el sindicato bancario concedente del crédito fijaban unas limitaciones respecto al nivel de endeudamiento de la Agencia EFE y a si la misma

estaba incursa en los supuestos previstos en los artículos 163 y 260 del TRLSA, referentes ambos a la situación patrimonial de la Entidad, determinándose que en el supuesto de incumplimiento de dichas limitaciones el sindicato bancario podía cancelar el crédito. Aunque ambos requisitos fueron incumplidas en el ejercicio 2001, existe una carta del agente del crédito sindicado en la que se manifiesta de forma expresa que, a pesar del incumplimiento, no ejercerá su derecho de cancelación anticipada. Como hecho posterior al periodo fiscalizado, hay que mencionar que la Sociedad canceló dicho crédito con fecha de 19 de junio de 2002.

El saldo medio diario del crédito sindicado dispuesto por la Entidad durante 2001 ascendió a 28.254.000 euros (de los cuales 18.030.000 euros corresponden al primer tramo y los restantes 10.224.000 euros al segundo), habiendo generado unos gastos por intereses de 1.478.000 euros, lo que supone un tipo medio de interés del 5,23%.

Respecto a las deudas con empresas del grupo, su saldo a 31 de diciembre de 2001 (27.591.000 euros) equivale al 47% del pasivo total, y se ha incrementado en 27.334.000 euros respecto al del ejercicio anterior (257.000 euros), que suponían, a dicha fecha, únicamente el 0,4% del pasivo. Esta situación fue debida a que SEPI dispone de un sistema para optimizar su gestión de tesorería y la de su grupo de Empresas, mediante el cual la matriz actúa como intermediaria de la oferta y demanda de tesorería entre las empresas que integran el grupo, de modo que la sociedad con excedentes presta, a la que necesita recursos, en condiciones más ventajosas para ambas que las existentes en el mercado, procedimiento de financiación que fue utilizado por la Agencia a partir de noviembre de 2001.

En la fiscalización se han analizado las tres operaciones que conforman el saldo de la deuda a 31 de diciembre de 2001, habiéndose verificado su correcta contabilización y la de los intereses de las correspondientes disposiciones, resultando un tipo medio del 3,6%.

III.9. RESULTADOS DEL EJERCICIO

Entre los resultados del ejercicio hay que destacar que las pérdidas de explotación se incrementaron un 92% en el ejercicio fiscalizado, pasando de 2.850.000 euros en 2000 a 5.473.000 euros en 2001. Asimismo, los resultados financieros negativos se incrementaron un 32% en el ejercicio 2001, al pasar de 1.959.000 euros a 2.582.000 euros. Como consecuencia, las pérdidas de las actividades ordinarias se incrementaron un 68%, al pasar de 4.809.000 euros en 2000 a 8.055.000 euros en 2001.

Los resultados extraordinarios negativos se incrementaron un 5%, al pasar del 4.222.000 euros a 4.430.000 euros, por lo que las pérdidas del ejercicio antes de impuestos se elevaron a 12.485.000 euros, que han supuesto un incremento del 38% en relación con las del ejercicio anterior (9.031.000 euros).

Es de destacar, asimismo, que, como se ha señalado anteriormente, la integración en el ejercicio 2001 de la Agencia EFE en SEPI y su correspondiente Grupo consolidado ha supuesto el reconocimiento, a favor de la primera de dichas Entidades, de un crédito fiscal y de un impuesto sobre beneficios anticipado, ambos por importe de 4.104.000 euros. Por ello, las pérdidas del ejercicio pasan a ser de 8.381.000 euros, un 7% menores que las del ejercicio anterior.

Los resultados negativos que reiteradamente obtiene la Agencia EFE, derivados de una estructura de gastos rígida, así como el hecho de que un elevado porcentaje de sus ingresos proceden del CSCI suscrito con el Estado (que no permite imputar los ingresos entre las distintas áreas operativas), obliga a cuestionar la viabilidad financiera de la Entidad en caso de mantenerse el mismo marco operativo, siendo necesario delimitar de forma precisa las actividades de interés general, y adecuar la financiación recibida del Estado como contraprestación de cada una de estas actividades desarrolladas por EFE, de forma que ello permita dimensionar la Entidad, y con ello sus costes, a los ingresos obtenidos, evitando las continuas pérdidas que, independientemente de ciertas mejoras en la gestión de la Entidad, en parte se deben a la estructura de ingresos mencionada.

III.10. INGRESOS DE EXPLOTACIÓN

Los ingresos de explotación del ejercicio 2001 se elevaron a 83.603.000 euros, de los cuales la partida más relevante es la correspondiente a la cifra neta de negocios, con 78.016.000 euros (de los que el 47% corresponden al CSCI suscrito con el Estado), correspondiendo los restantes a: trabajos realizados por la empresa para el inmovilizado 2.565.000 euros; otros ingresos de explotación 2.952.000 euros y 70.000 euros a excesos de provisiones.

En la fiscalización se han analizado los doce clientes más relevantes, que sobre las ventas de la Agencia suponen el 58% del total, comprobando en sus contratos principales, los elementos esenciales, así como que la facturación es coincidente con los importes registrados, sin que se haya constatado nada reseñable.

Dentro de la cifra de negocios se incluye una partida de 180.000 euros correspondientes a una subvención de la Junta de Andalucía relativa al convenio de la Agencia con dicha Junta para financiar el servicio en Árabe, subvención que en noviembre de 2002 no había sido reconocida por el órgano concedente, ni remitidos los fondos. Asimismo, en dicha cifra de negocios figuran contabilizadas otras dos subvenciones por 39.000 euros, que por su naturaleza no deberían tampoco incluirse entre la cifra de negocios sino en apartado específico.

III.11. GASTOS DE EXPLOTACIÓN

Los gastos de explotación del ejercicio ascendieron a 89.076.000 euros, siendo su desglose el que se recoge a continuación:

(en miles de euros)

Gastos de personal	59.751
Dotaciones para amortizaciones de inmovilizado	5.554
Otros gastos de explotación	22.151
Variación de provisiones	1.142
Aprovisionamientos	478
TOTAL GASTOS DE EXPLOTACIÓN	89.076

III.11.1. Gastos de personal

Los gastos de personal representan un 63% del total de la Agencia, de los cuales, 48.014.000 euros corresponden a sueldos, salarios y asimilados, y 11.737.000 a las cargas sociales.

En la fiscalización se ha verificado, respecto a los gastos de personal, la correcta contabilización y periodificación de sus partidas, así como que el pago de las nóminas fue autorizado por el órgano competente.

En el análisis de quince nóminas individuales, comprensivas de distintos meses del ejercicio 2001 y de empleados de todos los departamentos y categorías, se han obtenido los siguientes resultados:

- Se ha verificado que todos los trabajadores seleccionados aparecen inscritos en el correspondiente libro de matrícula, habiéndose constatado que veinte trabajadores aparecían con el mismo número de inscripción, deficiencia que no ha sido subsanada a posteriori.

- En el cálculo de las retenciones a cuenta del IRPF, en doce de los quince casos analizados se han observado pequeñas discrepancias entre aquéllas y las que corresponderían de acuerdo con la normativa tributaria, si bien su incidencia económica es inmaterial, puesto que la suma total neta, incluidas diferencias positivas y negativas, fue de mil euros.

III. 11.2. Dotaciones para la amortización del inmovilizado

Las dotaciones para la amortización del inmovilizado en el ejercicio 2001 ascendieron a 5.554.000 euros, de los cuales 96.000 euros corresponden a gastos de establecimiento, 3.919.000 euros a inmovilizado material y el resto, 1.539.000 euros, a inmovilizado inmaterial.

Entre la amortización del inmovilizado material destaca la efectuada sobre el archivo gráfico por importe de 989.000 euros, cuyo cálculo se efectúa diferenciando por una parte las adiciones anteriores a 1989, y por otra las posteriores a dicho año, y entre éstas, utilizando tres tramos con porcentajes distintos en función de su antigüedad.

Por lo que se refiere al inmovilizado inmaterial, su partida principal la constituye la amortización de la base de datos, que en el ejercicio 2001 ascendió a 604.000 euros, y cuya amortización se lleva a cabo en cuatro años, en lugar de los cinco que corresponden al resto del inmovilizado inmaterial.

En la fiscalización se ha verificado la corrección de los cálculos efectuados para dichas dotaciones, así como su contabilización.

III..11.3. Otros gastos de explotación

Su saldo está integrado por la cuenta de “Servicios exteriores” (21.808.000 euros) y por la cuenta de “Tributos” (343.000 euros), debiendo destacarse como partidas más significativas de la primera de dichas cuentas, las correspondientes a servicios de profesionales independientes (con 10.325.000 euros), arrendamientos (1.292.000 euros) y reparaciones y conservación (1.647.000 euros).

De dichas partidas destaca el incremento del 10% respecto al ejercicio anterior de la rúbrica de servicios profesionales independientes, uno de cuyos conceptos (vigilancia y seguridad, por un importe en 2001 de 180.000 euros) ha aumentado un 57%.

En la fiscalización se ha requerido la documentación correspondiente a 13 apuntes contables, por importe de 678.000 euros, de los que la Entidad, en el transcurso de los trabajos de verificación, no ha facilitado la documentación soporte respecto a seis de ellos debido a la dificultad en obtenerla de los mismos (cuyo importe asciende a 103.000 euros), al tratarse de gran cantidad de recibos por colaboraciones que al incluir diversos conceptos de gasto, su registro contable se efectuó en varios asientos resumen, por lo que no resultaba inmediato el acceso directo a la documentación comprobante de dichos asientos contables.

III.12. RESULTADOS EXTRAORDINARIOS

En el ejercicio 2001 la Entidad ha obtenido unos resultados extraordinarios negativos de 4.430.000 euros, como diferencia entre unos gastos extraordinarios de 6.536.000 euros, y unos ingresos extraordinarios de 2.106.000 euros.

En relación con los primeros, su importe es superior a los del ejercicio anterior (4.508.000 euros) debido, fundamentalmente, a dos hechos: por una parte, la imputación como gastos del ejercicio de la totalidad del saldo pendiente al cierre de 2000 del fondo de prejubilación señalado anteriormente (4.808.000 euros), del cual 2.554.000 euros correspondían al ejercicio 2002, y por otra, la provisión del inmovilizado material por importe de 721.000 euros, correspondiente en su totalidad al archivo gráfico.

Respecto a los ingresos extraordinarios, con un importe de 2.106.000 euros, sus partidas más significativas corresponden al ajuste del fondo de jubilación (228.000 euros) y a la anulación de la amortización de los terrenos, realizada conjuntamente con los inmuebles por importe de 1.022.000 euros, situación descrita anteriormente.

IV. ANÁLISIS DE DETERMINADOS ASPECTOS DE LA GESTIÓN DE LAS DELEGACIONES

Como se ha señalado anteriormente, las actividades de la Agencia EFE, S. A. en el ejercicio 1995 fueron fiscalizadas por el Tribunal de Cuentas y los resultados correspondientes figuran en el Informe aprobado por el Pleno en sesión de 28 de octubre de 1998, en cuya recomendación tercera se abordaba la necesidad de implantación de fórmulas alternativas de control de las Delegaciones, por lo que la Comisión Mixta Congreso-Senado para las Relaciones con el Tribunal de Cuentas, mediante Resolución de 30 de noviembre de 1999, acordó "Instar al Gobierno para que tome las medidas oportunas para dar cumplimiento a la recomendación tercera ...".

Para verificar el cumplimiento de esta recomendación, se ha analizado el control interno implantado por la Entidad con vigencia en el ejercicio 2001, mediante normas internas aplicables genérica o específicamente a sus diferentes operaciones, especialmente en las delegaciones exteriores de la Agencia. Dicha normativa interna no puede considerarse como un manual de organización y procedimientos de gestión integral, al no establecer las funciones, responsabilidades, métodos, procedimientos y objetivos específicos de control para cada una de las áreas de la actividad de la Agencia; no obstante, dispone de un Manual de Gestión de Delegaciones en el Exterior, asimismo de aplicación subsidiaria por las delegaciones nacionales, elaborado en 1989 y objeto de sucesivas revisiones, la última de las cuales data de 1995, sin que con posterioridad se hayan plasmado las modificaciones producidas, en especial las referentes a tramitación de autorizaciones de gasto y cumplimentación de impresos.

Por tanto, aunque la Agencia ha efectuado mejoras en el control de sus delegaciones, el sistema debería ser perfeccionado introduciendo los procedimientos referidos en el párrafo anterior para dar un cumplimiento más preciso a la mencionada Resolución de la Comisión Mixta.

IV.1. DELEGACIONES NACIONALES

Las delegaciones nacionales disponen de un sistema informático de gestión, denominado SIGAE, que permite introducir información sobre sus gastos, verificando la Central de la Agencia la corrección de las imputaciones de dichos gastos a los conceptos y elaborando diversos listados (de liquidaciones, de cheques, de caja –con saldo inicial, movimientos y saldo final-, de domiciliaciones, de viajes y mensual de operaciones).

En relación con el sistema de gestión implantado hay que señalar lo siguiente:

- Cada uno de los delegados realiza una liquidación mensual de las operaciones gestionadas directamente, que remite a la Sede central.

- La facturación de las delegaciones nacionales, su cobro (a excepción de Barcelona) y el seguimiento de impagados, se realiza por la Sede central, que elabora informes trimestrales con objeto de informar a dichas delegaciones sobre conceptos, cantidades y clientes a los que se ha facturado. En la fiscalización se han verificado los aspectos sustanciales de los contratos firmados, la facturación y cobro de las de Barcelona, Bilbao y Valencia, sin que se hayan apreciado aspectos destacables.

- Igualmente se ha verificado, para las delegaciones señaladas anteriormente, el cumplimiento de los requisitos de autorización previstos en el manual de gestión en lo concerniente a gastos extraordinarios o inversiones, y a otros tales como dietas, estancias, locomoción, horas extraordinarias, comisiones, pagas extraordinarias, etc.

- Aunque el manual de gestión prevé que la Sede central de la Agencia debe remitir mensualmente a cada delegación un listado de la evolución de la ejecución del presupuesto, en la fiscalización se ha verificado que dicha remisión se efectúa trimestralmente.

- Las delegaciones nacionales no remiten a la Sede central, antes de la finalización de cada año, una relación detallada de las previsiones de inversiones necesarias para el ejercicio siguiente, según establece el Manual de gestión, aunque la Sede central realiza consultas para determinar los gastos previsibles y algunos de los cuales se determinan desde la Central.

A efectos del análisis realizado sobre el resultado económico [5] obtenido por las delegaciones nacionales, se ha considerado como tal la diferencia entre ingresos y costes directos (considerando como ingresos directos los obtenidos por servicios producidos por la delegación y vendidos en la zona territorial donde se ubica y sin tener en cuenta, por tanto, los ingresos derivados del CSCI que suponen aproximadamente la mitad de los obtenidos por la Agencia, y respecto a los costes directos, considerando los directamente generados por el funcionamiento de la misma). Teniendo en cuenta este planteamiento y por lo tanto sin tomarlo como indicador de la gestión de las delegaciones, hay que destacar que sus ingresos directos durante el ejercicio 2001 ascendieron a 7.237.000 euros (el 8% del total de la Agencia), los costes directos a 16.258.000 euros (el 18% del total), habiéndose experimentado un incremento de sus pérdidas del 13% respecto al ejercicio anterior [6]. De las veinticinco delegaciones, únicamente en cuatro (Ceuta, Córdoba, Melilla y Tenerife) los ingresos son superiores a los costes.

Entre los costes directos, los de personal, con 11.465.000 euros, representan el 70% del total, mientras que el mayor volumen de ingresos (6.354.000 euros, el 88% del total) corresponde al servicio de texto en español.

En la fiscalización, como ya se ha mencionado, se han realizado verificaciones sobre las delegaciones de Barcelona, Bilbao y Valencia, teniendo en cuenta, como criterio para su selección, el hecho de que las mismas presenten un resultado negativo elevado o bien variaciones interanuales significativas. En relación con las mismas cabe mencionar:

- La de Barcelona tiene un resultado económico negativo de 2.276.000 euros, y unos resultados extraordinarios positivos de 73 miles de euros, derivados de la anulación en 2001 de la amortización acumulada sobre terrenos, incorrectamente realizada con anterioridad, circunstancia que se detalla en otro epígrafe de este Informe.

La mayor parte de los gastos de esta delegación se gestionan por la Central de la Agencia. Se han revisado diversas operaciones de ingresos y gastos del mes de enero de 2001, que representan el 8,5% y 8,4% sobre el total anual respectivamente, por un importe conjunto de 83 miles de euros.

- Bilbao presenta en el ejercicio 2001, un resultado económico negativo de 558.000 euros (con un aumento del 59% respecto al ejercicio anterior), habiéndose incrementado sus costes un 27% debido, básicamente, a la necesidad de incrementar las medidas de seguridad en las delegaciones abiertas en el País Vasco y Navarra (de mil euros en 2000 han pasado a 44.000 euros en 2001),permaneciendo los ingresos prácticamente inalterables.

Se han comprobado diversos gastos correspondientes al mes de mayo, por importe de 39.000 euros (el 45% del total de dicho mes).

- Los ingresos directos de Valencia (929.000 euros –el 13% del total de las delegaciones nacionales-) se han incrementado un 19%, especialmente debido a los nuevos convenios suscritos en 2001, en tanto que los gastos sólo han aumentado un 8%, lo que justifica la disminución de los resultados negativos en un 44% respecto al ejercicio anterior.

En este caso se han efectuado verificaciones sobre los ingresos correspondientes al mes de junio, por importe de 19.000 euros (el 27% del total de dicho mes).

Todos los ingresos y gastos incluidos en la muestra seleccionada sobre las tres delegaciones referidas, se encontraban suficientemente documentados y registrados, sin que se hayan apreciado circunstancias destacables en ninguno de ellos.

IV.2. DELEGACIONES INTERNACIONALES

Respecto a la estructura internacional, las cuarenta y siete unidades (treinta y siete delegaciones, ocho oficinas y dos corresponsalías), consideradas como centros de coste, se agrupan en las siguientes nueve áreas: Europa, Norteamérica, Caribe, Sudamérica, Magreb, Próximo Oriente, Extremo Oriente, África Subsahariana y la correspondiente a EFE News Services [7] (en adelante EFE News). En relación con esta organización internacional hay que señalar lo siguiente:

- Las delegaciones internacionales disponen de un sistema contable (SIGEX) implantado en 1999, mediante el cual se registran los ingresos y gastos mensualmente, debiendo remitirse los datos de la liquidación a la Sede central, por procedimientos telemáticos, antes del día 5 del mes inmediato siguiente y los justificantes con posterioridad.

- La Sede central, a través del Departamento de Delegaciones Exteriores, controla las liquidaciones remitidas por el delegado bajo su responsabilidad y contabiliza los ingresos y gastos correspondientes, efectuándose un nuevo control por parte del Departamento de Planificación y Control encuadrado en la Dirección Económico-Financiera.

En el análisis de otros aspectos de la actividad desarrollada por las delegaciones internacionales, contemplados en el Manual de gestión de las mismas, se ha observado lo siguiente:

- Como ya se ha expuesto anteriormente, el manual de gestión prevé expresamente que deberá actualizarse regularmente con objeto de mejorar su contenido en función de los resultados de su efectiva aplicación, sin que desde el año 1995 hasta 2001 se haya plasmado en él variación alguna, a pesar de que aspectos contemplados en el mismo, tales como tramitación de autorizaciones y cumplimentación de impresos, fueron modificados durante dicho período.

- El manual de gestión implantando en la Agencia, prevé la realización de un sistema de control de las delegaciones mediante auditorías, que se inició con carácter cíclico en 1994, efectuado por el personal de la Sede central de la propia Entidad y por firmas privadas. Sin embargo, desde dicha fecha únicamente se han realizado seis auditorías, todas ellas por firmas privadas aunque con un programa elaborado por la Sede central, a las Delegaciones de San Juan de Puerto Rico, Río de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, Méjico, Manila y Santiago de Chile, en todos los casos de ejercicios anteriores a 1998. Como aspectos destacados en dichas auditorías y que persisten en algunas delegaciones durante el periodo fiscalizado, hay que señalar la existencia de clientes sin contrato o con contrato vencido, retrasos en el cobro a clientes, falta de homogeneidad en la política de facturación, no constancia de determinadas autorizaciones para la contratación de personal, etc. Pese a ello, desde entonces no se han vuelto a efectuar auditorías externas ni internas sobre la gestión efectuada por las delegaciones exteriores.

- Dicho manual prevé que los delegados tendrán incentivos por su gestión, exigiendo aquél que la descripción de éstos formará parte del propio manual. No obstante, en el mismo no se desarrolla ni la forma ni los criterios para cuantificar y liquidar los incentivos previstos. En la práctica, los incentivos fueron percibidos durante el periodo fiscalizado, mediante comisiones liquidadas trimestralmente y calculadas sobre los cobros a clientes de cada delegación, con independencia de los resultados económicos de ésta. El sistema de cálculo de las comisiones de los delegados exteriores consiste, básicamente en aplicar un 11% sobre la variación producida entre los cobros acumulados en el periodo referido al ejercicio anterior y los de dicho periodo referido al ejercicio corriente (denominada comisión por incremento), y además un 1% sobre la menor de esas dos cantidades comparadas (comisión por mantenimiento).

De esta forma se desvinculan los incentivos a percibir por los delegados exteriores con el objetivo principal que, como gerentes, se les asigna en el Manual de gestión, cual es mejorar su contribución territorial al resultado de la Entidad, dándose la circunstancia de que en Delegaciones con resultados negativos elevados se han liquidado comisiones en concepto de incentivos a los propios Delegados que las gestionan. El siguiente cuadro recoge un resumen de los resultados obtenidos por las Delegaciones exteriores agrupadas en áreas geográficas, y las comisiones percibidas por los responsables de las mismas.

(En miles de euros)

AREAS	RESULTADO ECONÓMICO (*)	COMISIONES DELEGADOS
Delegaciones de Europa	(5.812)	13
Delegaciones de Norteamérica	94	38
Delegaciones de Caribe	(769)	11
Delegaciones de Sudamérica	(1.761)	47
Delegaciones de Magreb	(381)	-
Delegaciones de Próximo Oriente	(857)	-
Delegaciones de Extremo Oriente	(1.544)	1
Delegaciones de África Subsahariana	(370)	-
Delegaciones de Efe News Services	(3.731)	28
	(15.131)	138

(*) Como se ha mencionado anteriormente, el resultado considerado es la diferencia entre los ingresos directos y costes directos de cada Delegación.

Respecto a estas comisiones, así como las percibidas por los vendedores de la Entidad (siendo estos agentes comerciales, administrativos de la Delegación y comisionistas), se han realizado verificaciones sobre las delegaciones de Méjico, San Juan de Puerto Rico y Buenos Aires señalándose lo siguiente:

- La liquidación de octubre de 2001 efectuada por el delegado de San Juan de Puerto Rico no incluye el listado de las comisiones percibidas por el propio Delegado, o la solicitud de autorización de anticipo, en su caso, conforme establecía el procedimiento aplicable antes de 2001.

- La liquidación de las comisiones percibidas por los vendedores se efectúa, sobre el total facturado, en el momento de cobro de la primera factura de cada nuevo cliente, con independencia de si las sucesivas facturas son abonadas en plazo o resultan impagadas, si bien la Agencia EFE manifiesta en Alegaciones que en este último caso recalcula las comisiones satisfechas.

- En relación con los contratos para la prestación de servicios por la Agencia, a formalizar por el delegado con remisión de una copia del mismo (o de los requisitos mínimos) a la Dirección Comercial y a la Dirección Económico-Financiera, el manual de gestión prevé que en aquéllos deberán recogerse, al menos, los servicios que incluyen, su vigencia, cláusulas de revisión, tarifas individualizadas, moneda y tipo de cambio, condiciones de pago e interés por la penalización, en su caso, por demora en el pago.

De la información existente en la Dirección Económico-Financiera se deduce que existen al menos 16 contratos más, firmados y en vigor en 2001, que los facilitados al Tribunal por la Dirección Comercial de la Agencia. Igualmente es destacable que no consta que la Dirección Económico-Financiera haya recibido copia de los contratos, ni que tenga conocimiento de los requisitos mínimos exigidos en el Manual de gestión, en aquellos supuestos en los que el correspondiente contrato no fue remitido. Todo ello pone de manifiesto una falta de coordinación entre ambas Direcciones [8].

En las verificaciones efectuadas sobre los contratos suscritos por las delegaciones de Méjico, Puerto Rico, Buenos Aires y EFE News Washington se destaca lo siguiente:

- Uno de los dos contratos firmados por el delegado de San Juan de Puerto Rico tan solo es un borrador que carece de sus elementos sustanciales, tales como fecha de suscripción, firma de uno de los contratantes, vigencia y tipo de interés de penalización por demora en el pago.

- En dos contratos de la delegación de Buenos Aires no figura expresamente el tipo de interés por demora, sino que se entiende resuelto aquél por incumplimiento en el pago.

- Uno de los contratos de la delegación de Méjico no está firmado por una de las partes y no consta la fecha de suscripción; otro, en contra de lo establecido en el Manual de gestión no está fijado en dólares USA y además carece de la firma de la otra parte; tres contratos, actualización de otros anteriores, no fueron remitidos completos por la Delegación y en los mismos no se especifica el interés de demora en el pago, y en uno de ellos el titular contratante con la Agencia es distinto al inicial.

- En los contratos suscritos por EFE News Washington no se prevé el tipo de interés por demora sino la rescisión de aquéllos en caso de impago, ni se establece la forma de dicho pago. Además, en uno de ellos falta la firma de la otra parte contratante.

- En relación con la gestión de ingresos y cobros hay que señalar que la facturación es realizada habitualmente por la propia delegación internacional, informando mensualmente sobre la misma a la Sede central. Por otra parte, y según lo estipulado en el Manual de gestión, los delegados han de remitir a la Central información sobre la antigüedad de la deuda y respecto a la situación de los clientes morosos, pero en la práctica es la Central la que elabora esta información teniendo en cuenta los datos aportados, en su caso, por los delegados.

Respecto a los resultados económicos de las delegaciones internacionales [9], y teniendo en cuenta para este análisis el mismo planteamiento señalado para las delegaciones nacionales, de considerar como resultado el margen entre ingresos directos y gastos directos de las delegaciones internacionales, hay que señalar que los ingresos directos del conjunto de las mismas ascendieron en 2001 a 6.952.000 euros, y los costes directos se elevaron a 21.543.000 euros, por lo que en el ejercicio se han generado resultados negativos por 14.591.000 euros.

La mayor parte de los ingresos (en concreto, 5.403.000 euros –el 78%-) procede del denominado "Servicio de texto exterior", representando los ingresos de distribución por internet el 18%. En relación a los costes, el 64% del total corresponde a gastos de personal.

Las principales magnitudes económicas de estas áreas internacionales se reflejan en el cuadro siguiente:

		(miles	de euros)
	INGRESOS (a)	GASTOS (b)	% a/b
Europa	442	6.254	7
Norteamérica	1.070	976	110

EFE News Services, U.S. inc.	1.467	5.198	28
TOTALES (*)	6.380	21.511	30

(*) A efectos de imputación a las delegaciones internacionales, la Entidad incluye como apartados independientes, los denominados "previsiones" e "instalaciones", por un importe conjunto de 572 miles de euros en concepto de ingresos y 32 miles de euros como gastos.

A continuación se detallan los aspectos más relevantes de dichas áreas internacionales, habiéndose analizado, en particular las delegaciones internacionales de Londres, Moscú y Belgrado (del área de Europa); Méjico (única que integra el área de Norteamérica); San Juan de Puerto Rico (en el área del Caribe); Buenos Aires (en el área de Sudamérica); y Washington, que presenta la liquidación conjunta de EFE News, por tratarse de las delegaciones que presentan un mayor volumen de costes, un mayor volumen de ingresos, o por su evolución en relación con el ejercicio anterior.

El área geográfica de Europa, que incluye once delegaciones, cuatro oficinas y una corresponsalía, ha obtenido en 2001 unos ingresos directos de 442.000 euros y unos costes directos de 6.254.000 euros, por lo que sus resultados negativos se elevaron a 5.812.000 euros, sin que ninguna de ellas haya obtenido resultados positivos. Asimismo hay que destacar, por una parte, que tres de dichas delegaciones (Bruselas, Londres y Roma), con un importe conjunto de 281.000 euros de ingresos, concentran el 64% del total del área, y por otra, que la delegación del Belgrado y las oficinas de Bucarest y Budapest no presentan ingresos en el ejercicio.

Se han realizado verificaciones sobre la justificación de determinadas operaciones incluidas en las liquidaciones presentadas por las delegaciones de Londres, Moscú y Belgrado correspondientes a los meses de febrero, marzo y abril, respectivamente, sin que se hayan observado aspectos destacables, excepto por lo referido a esta última en el apartado V sobre el control interno.

El área geográfica de Norteamérica se corresponde únicamente con la delegación de Méjico y es la única con resultados positivos en 2001 (aunque inferiores en un 49% respecto al ejercicio anterior), ascendiendo sus ingresos directos a 1.070.000 euros y sus costes directos a 976.000 euros.

En el análisis de determinadas operaciones del mes de diciembre de 2001 y con independencia de lo señalado en otras partes del Informe, se constata que en aquél se incluyen liquidaciones de colaboradores que corresponden a meses anteriores, circunstancia que afecta a las liquidaciones mensuales rendidas por dicha Delegación a la central de la Agencia.

En el área de Caribe se incluyen las delegaciones de La Habana, Panamá, San Juan de Puerto Rico y Santo Domingo.

Respecto a San Juan de Puerto Rico hay que señalar que del análisis de determinadas operaciones incluidas en la liquidación del mes de octubre de 2001 se ha observado que el delegado de aquélla en el periodo de abril a noviembre de 2001, y que hasta entonces era simultáneamente delegado en Santo Domingo (al pasar la delegación de Santo Domingo a ser una oficina dependiente de la delegación de San Juan de Puerto Rico y gestionada directamente por el mencionado delegado), percibió en aquel mes, además de la ayuda de vivienda otorgada por su condición de delegado en Santo Domingo (1.700 dólares USA mensuales), una cantidad en concepto de alquiler por un apartamento en San Juan de Puerto Rico (1.000 dólares USA mensuales), situación justificada por la Entidad en base a un criterio de economía, que no ha sido acreditado durante la realización de la fiscalización, ni en el trámite de alegaciones.

Además, en los justificantes de gastos por seguros médicos de la liquidación analizada se observa que el mencionado delegado tiene doblemente cubiertos aquéllos, además de por la póliza suscrita a nivel general para todo el personal con vinculación a la Sede central de la Agencia, por otras pólizas suscritas específicamente para el resto de empleados de la delegación de San Juan de Puerto Rico, cuantificándose la parte de esta última que corresponde a dicho delegado en 119 dólares USA al mes, sin que dicha duplicidad esté prevista, ni conste autorización escrita[10].

conjuntos se elevaron en 2001 a 2.796.000 euros y los gastos a 4.557.000 euros, que representan, respectivamente, el 40% y el 21% del total de las delegaciones internacionales, ocupando sus resultados negativos (1.761.000 euros) el tercer lugar de entre las áreas analizadas.

En relación con Buenos Aires se han analizado los justificantes de determinadas operaciones incluidas en la liquidación de los meses de junio y julio, sin que se hayan apreciado incidencias reseñables, salvo por lo expuesto en otras partes del Informe.

Como se ha señalado anteriormente, aunque EFE News constituye una sociedad independiente de la Agencia EFE, S.A., funcionalmente actúa como una delegación representando el área de Estados Unidos, y aunque efectúa una única liquidación desde Washington, agrupa tres oficinas con delegado en Washington, Nueva York y Miami y otras sin delegado en Houston y Los Ángeles.

Hay que señalar que las liquidaciones presentadas en el ejercicio 2001 por esta sociedad no eran concordantes con el sistema contable implantado con carácter general por la Sede central de la Agencia (SIGEX), habiéndose subsanado esta deficiencia a partir de 2002.

Por otra parte, se han analizado determinados justificantes de las operaciones incluidas en la liquidación del mes de septiembre, sin que se hayan apreciado incidencias destacables.

V. ANÁLISIS DEL CONTROL INTERNO

En las verificaciones del Tribunal respecto al control interno, cuyos aspectos básicos se desarrollan en el manual de gestión utilizado por la Agencia, se ha observado, como más relevante, además de determinados aspectos expuestos anteriormente, lo que se detalla en los siguientes subapartados.

V.1. CONTRATACIÓN DE COLABORADORES

Para la contratación de colaboradores en las delegaciones Internacionales, que se realiza a propuesta del Delegado, se requiere la autorización previa de la Dirección de Personal de la Sede central. De las verificaciones realizadas por el Tribunal en relación con dicha contratación se ha deducido lo siguiente:

- De los dos contratos de colaboradores correspondientes a la delegación de Méjico, requeridos por el Tribunal, ninguno de ambos estaba archivado en la Dirección de Personal de la Sede central, siendo remitidos por fax desde la Delegación a pesar de lo que manifiesta la Entidad en la Alegación, y de uno de ellos tampoco constaba su contratación en la Dirección Económico-Financiera.

- Respecto a la delegación de San Juan de Puerto Rico, en un contrato verbal con un colaborador temporal que cobraba un fijo mensual no consta la previa autorización de la Sede central y pese lo manifestado por la Entidad en las Alegaciones, en ningún momento se ha acreditado documentalmente que fuera innecesaria la autorización referida.

- En las liquidaciones de la delegación de Buenos Aires se incluye, en concepto de "Colaboradores informativos" un pago mensual de 300 pesos argentinos, cuyo importe total anual equivale a 4.000 euros, cuando en la práctica y según la Entidad se trata de una ayuda de carácter social autorizada verbalmente por la

Dirección de la Agencia. Además, no consta autorización por la Sede central del contrato con un trabajador que cobraba por día trabajado.

Lo anterior pone de manifiesto una deficiencia de control interno en relación con la contratación de colaboradores de las delegaciones exteriores, efectuándose la misma, en algunos casos, de forma directa por el delegado sin la previa y necesaria autorización de la Dirección de Personal de la Agencia.

V.2. GASTOS DE VIAJE DEL PERSONAL DE PLANTILLA

En relación con los gastos de viaje del personal de plantilla cuando correspondan a desplazamientos fuera del territorio de la delegación, el manual de gestión indica que deberán ser aprobados por el Director de Información de la Sede central, a propuesta o con conocimiento del Director de Internacional. Respecto a ello hay que señalar lo siguiente:

- En la liquidación de Belgrado del mes de abril figura un justificante de gastos de viaje firmado por el propio delegado, cuando el mismo debería haber sido autorizado por el Director de Internacional, siendo su cuantía inmaterial (912 euros).

- En el caso de que los viajes sean dentro de la demarcación territorial de la delegación, la autorización debe efectuarla el Delegado. Sin embargo, tres justificantes de viajes incluidos en la liquidación del mes de diciembre de Méjico, por desplazamientos dentro del área geográfica de dicha delegación y por importe de 2.200 euros, carecen de la autorización del delegado.

- Un justificante de viaje incluido en la liquidación del mes de julio de la de Buenos Aires, por un desplazamiento fuera del área geográfica de la mencionada delegación y por importe de 386 euros, únicamente aparece autorizado por el delegado, aunque en el mismo se indica que dicho gasto cuenta con la autorización de la Dirección Técnica de Madrid, extremo este no acreditado documentalmente.

V.3. CAMBIOS DE DELEGADO

El Manual de gestión indica que en los cambios de delegado, el entrante deberá redactar un informe sobre la situación de la delegación a la fecha del inicio de su mandato, si bien en la práctica es el saliente quien realiza tal actividad. En el ejercicio 2001 se han cambiado los de La Paz, Lima, Lisboa, Manila, Méjico, San Juan de Puerto Rico, Santiago de Chile y Santo Domingo, respecto de lo cual hay que señalar lo siguiente:

- El Tribunal ha requerido los informes señalados, no habiendo entregado la Agencia el correspondiente a la delegación de La Paz, por no haberse emitido aquél, puesto que la delegada de dicha población pasó a ser delegada en Lima, desde donde dirige ambas delegaciones.

- No se adjunta acta de arqueo de caja ni información sobre saldos bancarios, en el informe sobre la situación de la delegación, en el cambio de delegado de San Juan de Puerto Rico de abril de 2001, ni en el informe efectuado al realizar la entrega conjunta de San Juan de Puerto Rico y Santo Domingo de noviembre de 2001, respecto a los saldos bancarios de la última citada.

- En relación con el cambio de delegado de Manila no consta la existencia de un informe completo, sino tan sólo tres borradores de informe, ninguno de ellos firmado, y en los que no aparece referencia alguna sobre saldos bancarios y arqueos de caja.

- No aparece firmado por el entrante, el informe sobre la situación de la delegación con motivo del cambio de delegado efectuado en noviembre de 2001 en las delegaciones de San Juan de Puerto Rico y Santo Domingo.

- En el cambio de delegado en Méjico no consta el preceptivo informe suscrito por el saliente, excepto el inventario.

V.4. OTROS ASPECTOS DE LA GESTIÓN

En el Manual de gestión utilizado por la Agencia para desarrollar sus actividades, se contemplan otros aspectos que inciden en la gestión realizada, y sobre los cuales se han efectuado comprobaciones debiéndose señalar lo siguiente:

1.- El Manual referido establece que cada delegado internacional dispondrá de una cuenta bancaria por cada moneda utilizada, a nombre de la Agencia, para la realización de operaciones bancarias habituales, disponiendo de poderes sobre la misma, debiendo aquél remitir a la central, mensualmente, el extracto bancario de sus movimientos.

En relación con las verificaciones efectuadas sobre dichas cuentas hay que señalar lo siguiente:

- El extracto de la cuenta nº-0031020401903 de la delegación de San Juan de Puerto Rico facilitado al Tribunal por la Agencia EFE está incompleto.

- Méjico dispone de tres cuentas abiertas en pesos mejicanos y dos en dólares USA. Dos de las nominadas en pesos (nº-01 51012031739 y nº-07 0106477895) son utilizadas para pagar gastos corrientes, en contra de lo previsto en el manual de gestión. Por otra parte, la tercera en pesos nº-44 000456658 que corresponde a un depósito a plazo, el número que figura en el extracto bancario no concuerda con el que aparece en el listado contable de movimientos que figura en la liquidación remitida a la central por dicha delegación. Situación que igualmente se produce con relación a las cuentas nº-07 0106477895 y nº-08 0106478190. Asimismo, de una de las cuentas abiertas en dólares USA (nº-09 0106477895 según el listado de movimientos bancarios de la Entidad), no se adjunta su extracto en la liquidación de la delegación a la central referido al mes de diciembre. Estas últimas deficiencias, pese a ser de carácter meramente formal, evidencian una falta de rigor en la documentación que acompaña a la liquidación remitida por la delegación de Méjico.

3.- También señala el Manual de gestión que cada Delegado debe mantener un inventario de los bienes, que se actualizará como mínimo en el momento de cambio de responsable. En el ejercicio 1988 se realizó un inventario total por una empresa externa, que se ha ido actualizando anualmente, aunque aquélla únicamente elaboró una relación de los bienes existentes a dicha fecha, sin asignarles números o códigos a cada elemento. En el año 1999, la Sede central remitió a todas las delegaciones una relación de los bienes sobre los que tenía constancia, con objeto de conciliar los datos, deduciéndose de dicha conciliación que, en algunos casos, los bienes que figuran en poder de las delegaciones son superiores a los existentes según la Central, debido a que aquéllas no dan de baja los elementos obsoletos o totalmente amortizados.

En relación con las delegaciones en las que hubo cambio de delegado durante 2001, se ha requerido en la fiscalización, el inventario correspondiente a la de Méjico, constatándose que hasta noviembre de 2002 no se había conciliado con la información incluida en el inventario rendido en el informe de cambio de Delegado a fecha de 1 de junio de 2001.

VI. ANÁLISIS DE LAS ACTIVIDADES DE LIBRE COMPETENCIA

Como se ha señalado en la introducción del Informe, en la Agencia EFE las áreas operativas (servicio de texto, servicios gráficos, televisión, radio y multimedia, apareciendo este último diferenciado como tal en la contabilidad analítica del ejercicio 2001, y que consiste en una combinación de productos elaborados por otras áreas), están directamente vinculadas a las líneas de negocio que representan las dos actividades que realiza la Agencia, actividades de interés general, (como agencia de noticias y vinculada al CSCI, suscrito con el Estado) y actividades de libre competencia, (prestación de servicios y asistencias técnicas a otras empresas al margen del CSCI y en régimen de mercado abierto) definiéndose la mismas en el anexo 1 del CP de forma imprecisa.

La Agencia EFE dispone de un sistema de contabilidad analítica concebida como un instrumento de control de la gestión de los distintos departamentos y áreas de su estructura orgánica, permitiendo dicho sistema calcular los resultados por áreas o líneas de servicio, entre las cuales adquieren especial relevancia las mencionadas áreas operativas, al mismo tiempo que permite imputar los ingresos y gastos entre las actividades de interés general y de libre competencia.

El sistema distingue igualmente otras áreas no operativas (área de apoyo informativo, técnico y logístico; área de estructura; y área comercial y de desarrollo de productos), que realizan tareas comunes para diversas áreas operativas, por lo que sus costes se distribuyen entre éstas.

Por último, existen costes comunes difícilmente distribuibles entre las diferentes áreas.

Hay que destacar que los criterios de imputación de ingresos y gastos entre ambos tipos de actividades han variado durante el período de aplicación del CP suscrito con el Estado, incumpliendo el compromiso adoptado por la Agencia en la cláusula segunda de aquél, que fija la necesidad de mantener los criterios de imputación de ingresos y gastos entre actividades de interés general y de libre competencia utilizados en la elaboración de este CP a lo largo del período de vigencia. No obstante, en este sentido, el cambio cualitativo que supuso el desarrollo de internet durante el periodo considerado, justifica la modificación del criterio de imputación, considerando este servicio como de interés general.

Asimismo, la cláusula 4 del referido CP no distingue de forma precisa ambas actividades, puesto que únicamente señala que “Durante el período de vigencia de este Contrato, la Agencia impulsará el desarrollo de los servicios multimedia y empresas, diferenciándolos de aquéllos considerados de interés general realizados por encargo de la Administración General del Estado. En paralelo, la Agencia deberá proceder a cancelar aquellas actividades sin viabilidad económica y que no son encuadrables como servicio de interés general (Teletexto y Radio 24 Horas)”.

La complejidad del sistema de contabilidad analítica utilizado por la Agencia, en cuanto a la imputación de ingresos y costes entre las dos actividades, unido al hecho de que el CP no delimite claramente el ámbito objetivo de cada una de ellas, dificulta el seguimiento y comparación de los resultados que presentan las actividades consideradas como de libre competencia.

Las desviaciones entre las cifras de resultados de la Agencia y las previstas en el CP para el ejercicio 1998, han determinado que la Comisión de Seguimiento del mismo y la DGPE (titular de las acciones de la Agencia en aquel momento) encomendasen a una consultora externa la realización de los siguientes trabajos:

- Un análisis de la situación del sistema de información analítica, con objeto de mejorar la identificación de los resultados de las actividades de interés general y de las de libre competencia.

- Un análisis de la imputación de los ingresos derivados del CSCI entre las distintas actividades de interés general realizadas por la Agencia.

De ambos estudios derivó la consideración como de libre competencia, y por tanto no vinculados a los compromisos del CSCI suscrito con el Estado, las siguientes actividades:

- Servicio en árabe.

- Servicios locales.

- Servicio de reportajes.

- Servicio de radio.

- Servicio de televisión (excluida la Agencia de Noticias Nacional en formato video).

La cuantificación de los resultados obtenidos en el ejercicio 2001 se ha realizado teniendo en cuenta los criterios expuestos en los trabajos realizados por la consultora externa, señalados anteriormente.

Es de destacar, asimismo, que la Entidad no asigna los resultados financieros ni los extraordinarios y de ejercicios anteriores a las áreas o líneas de negocio, sino que aquéllos se aplican directamente a las áreas de interés general.

En el cuadro siguiente se incluyen los resultados de explotación distribuidos entre las distintas áreas operativas de la Agencia:

De estos cuadros se deducen, entre otros, los siguientes aspectos:

- Del total de ingresos, el 45% corresponde al CSCI, suscrito con el Estado, y el 55% restante a ventas de servicios y otros accesorios.

- El 91% de los ingresos totales de la Agencia (incluidos los derivados del CSCI) corresponde a servicios de interés general, destacando entre éstos los servicios de texto, que representan el 74% de los ingresos totales. Asimismo, el 89% de los gastos totales corresponde a los servicios de interés general, representando, igualmente, los relativos a servicio de texto el 72% del total. Por ello, los servicios de interés general son los que acumulan un mayor resultado negativo (el 65% -5.473.000 euros), de lo que se deduce que los servicios que se prestan en libre mercado suponen un 35% de los resultados negativos, aunque los ingresos de éstos únicamente suponen el 9% del total de la Agencia.

- Entre los gastos destacan los de personal, con el 55% del total, nivel que se incrementaría hasta el 67% si se considerasen los gastos de personal de las áreas que generan costes indirectos.

Como se ha señalado anteriormente, entre las actividades de la Agencia EFE se encuentran aquéllas en las que ésta opera en el mercado de libre competencia, agrupándose las mismas en el servicio en árabe, servicios locales, servicio de reportajes, servicio de radio y servicio de televisión.

Los ingresos de estos servicios suponen el 9% de los totales, y los gastos equivalen al 11%, y los datos económicos de los mismos, deducidos de la contabilidad analítica, se resumen en el cuadro siguiente:

VI.1. SERVICIO EN ÁRABE

Este servicio, consistente en la difusión de noticias en caracteres árabes elaboradas por traductores de la Universidad de Granada, se inicia en el año 1994 en virtud del acuerdo, con una vigencia de cuatro años, suscrito entre dicha Universidad, la Junta de Andalucía y la Agencia EFE, en el que se fijaba que la Universidad facilitaría el equipo de traductores y las instalaciones, la Junta de Andalucía transferiría a la Universidad los créditos necesarios para cubrir los gastos y la Agencia EFE sería la encargada de las restantes actividades (equipos, gestión, etc.). Tras la expiración del acuerdo, a partir de septiembre de 1998 se replantea el servicio y se suscribe un nuevo convenio entre la Agencia y la Junta de Andalucía, encargándose aquélla de la realización de todas las actividades a través de su delegación en Granada y subvencionando la Junta los costes en la cuantía que se acuerde anualmente (72 miles de euros en 1998 y 180 miles de euros en 1999 y 2000 –en el ejercicio 2001 la Agencia contabiliza un ingreso por 180 miles de euros, aunque al cierre de la fiscalización la Junta de Andalucía no había aprobado dicha subvención ni transferido los fondos correspondientes, situación contraria al principio de prudencia).

Además de los ingresos de la Junta de Andalucía, durante el ejercicio 2001 la Agencia ha prestado por este concepto servicios a otros cinco clientes, a tres de los cuales factura directamente y a los dos restantes a través de la agencia de noticias de Marruecos, que retiene el 50% del importe facturado, sin que en contabilidad analítica se reflejen los ingresos de estos últimos, ya que los potenciales clientes de los países árabes compran la información directamente a sus respectivas agencias nacionales, con las que EFE tiene suscritos convenios de intercambio de información. Como dichos ingresos no son valorados ni cuantificados económicamente al cierre del ejercicio y su facturación se realiza con posterioridad a dicho momento como ingresos extraordinarios (esto conlleva que no se incluyen en la contabilidad analítica), lo que pone de manifiesto un deficiente control sobre dichos ingresos si bien los importes carecen de materialidad.

Del análisis de los datos de la contabilidad analítica se deduce que los ingresos obtenidos en los ejercicios 1999, 2000 y 2001 no cubren ni los gastos de personal directamente destinado a realizar el servicio (un director y quince trabajadores más, entre editores y traductores, la mayor parte de los cuales con contrato temporal).

De todo lo anterior se infiere que este servicio, prestado en régimen de libre mercado, no es rentable desde el punto de vista económico, por lo que debería analizarse su futura viabilidad o, alternativamente, su consideración como servicio de interés general, incluyéndolo, a efectos de su financiación, dentro del CSCI, suscrito por la Agencia con el Estado.

VI.2. SERVICIOS LOCALES

Estos servicios, encuadrados en el área de texto, únicamente se prestan en el ámbito de la Comunidad Autónoma de Andalucía, puesto que en el resto del territorio nacional o bien carecen de entidad o bien se realizan por otras agencias locales (Cataluña y País Vasco), y son los únicos, de entre los que se prestan en régimen de libre competencia, con financiación suficiente para cubrir sus costes, ya que para su realización no requieren una estructura de costes adicional, cifrándose éstos en un 15% de los costes de los servicios de texto que se generan en sus respectivas delegaciones.

VI.3. SERVICIO DE REPORTAJES

Este servicio se presta como una combinación entre el servicio gráfico y el de texto, materializándose en fotografías acompañadas de un pie explicativo. Al igual que la mayoría de los definidos como servicios de mercado, genera resultados negativos, no cubriendo con los ingresos obtenidos ni siquiera sus costes directos.

Con carácter general, no existen contratos con los clientes de este servicio (básicamente revistas nacionales o locales), puesto que a éstos se les va entregando el material a medida que lo solicitan, por lo que no pueden realizarse estimaciones sobre su futura viabilidad, aunque se observa una tendencia a la disminución de ingresos por el mismo.

Los principales costes de este servicio son los de personal, con el 49%, que en 2001 fueron prácticamente similares a los ingresos por ventas.

VI.4. SERVICIO DE RADIO

El servicio de radio consistente en prestar servicios de agencia audio de ámbito nacional que ofrece boletines de noticias y crónicas informativas a sus clientes

Este servicio, al que están adscritas de un modo directo 24 personas en el ejercicio 2001, es, dentro de los considerados de libre competencia, el que presenta un resultado económico negativo más elevado y representa el mayor volumen del conjunto de los servicios de libre mercado.

En relación con el mismo hay que señalar que la cláusula cuarta del CP suscrito entre la Agencia y el Estado indica que "La Agencia procederá a la cancelación de aquéllas actividades sin viabilidad económica y que no son encuadrables en la consideración de servicios de interés general (Teletexto y Radio 24 Horas)". Aunque el servicio de Teletexto se clausuró en julio de 1998, el de Radio 24 horas no fue clausurado y la Agencia reorganizó el Departamento de Radio, configurando un servicio de radio de noticias o agencia de noticias, que no estaba previsto en el precitado CP.

De los datos económico-financieros de este servicio se deduce que sus ingresos directos no cubren ni los gastos de personal, que representan el 60% del total, por lo que, teniendo en cuenta, además, que no se han suscrito nuevos contratos, la Agencia debería replantearse la viabilidad futura de este servicio.

En la fiscalización se han requerido los contratos de los dos principales clientes de este servicio, con una facturación conjunta de 278.000 euros en el ejercicio 2001 (el 30% del total), no habiendo facilitado uno de aquéllos, manifestando la Agencia su inexistencia debido a que se trata de una relación comercial de carácter variable no reflejada en documento alguno.

VI.5. SERVICIO DE TELEVISIÓN

La realización de este servicio en el ámbito de la libre competencia se desarrolla mediante la prestación de servicios de asistencia técnica de televisión, tanto en la Central de EFE como en la delegaciones nacionales, incluyéndose igualmente la explotación de los estudios de televisión ubicados en la sede social, y cuyo alquiler comprendía también los servicios del personal necesario para poder realizar las grabaciones y cambios de decorado.

Los ingresos de este servicio cubren los costes directos, pero no la totalidad de los costes, puesto que en el ejercicio se ha generado un resultado negativo de 141.000 euros.

El Servicio de Televisión se nutre de contratos fijos y de una serie de asistencias variables, estando adscrito al mismo 86 empleados. En relación con los contratos fijos hay que señalar lo siguiente:

- Los ingresos obtenidos en el ejercicio 2001 por el contrato suscrito con una entidad privada (2.086 miles de euros) equivalen al 40% del total. Dicho contrato concluyó en abril de 2002.

- El contrato de corresponsalía con una entidad pública, por el que en 2001 se han ingresado 865 miles de euros (el 16% del total), concluyó en enero de 2002.

Teniendo en cuenta que ambos contratos finalizaron en el ejercicio 2002, sin que se suscribieran otros, es previsible que las pérdidas del servicio se incrementen en dicho ejercicio, por lo que la Agencia debería plantearse la viabilidad futura del mismo.

VII.1. EN RELACION CON EL CONTRATO PROGRAMA Y EL CONTRATO DE PRESTACIÓN DE SERVICIOS DE COBERTURA INFORMATIVA

1.- El Contrato de Prestación de Servicios de Cobertura Informativa suscrito por la Agencia con el Estado, no define con precisión los objetivos pretendidos en el mismo, con relación al criterio para cuantificar las aportaciones de aquél a la Entidad fiscalizada, bien en función de los resultados obtenidos o de los costes generados por la actividad relacionada en el precitado contrato, así como respecto a los criterios de imputación de los ingresos entre las distintas áreas operativas de la Entidad. Estableciéndose únicamente la cantidad global para el período de vigencia del mismo, lo que dificulta la valoración objetiva de la gestión de aquellas actividades de interés general afectas al mencionado contrato y por tanto al análisis de la gestión de la actividad económico-financiera de la Entidad (apartado II).

VII.2. EN RELACION CON LOS ESTADOS FINANCIEROS

1.- Los estados financieros de la Agencia EFE correspondientes al ejercicio 2001 representan, en todos sus aspectos significativos, la imagen fiel del patrimonio, y de la situación financiera, así como del resultado de sus operaciones y de los recursos obtenidos y aplicados durante el ejercicio.

2.- La Entidad no ha aplicado uniformemente el criterio de contabilización de las aportaciones realizadas a su filial ACAN-EFE desde 1993, por un importe conjunto de 3.594.000 euros, y al mismo tiempo no ha aplicado las previsiones del Plan General de Contabilidad al considerar, a partir de 1997 y hasta el ejercicio fiscalizado, dichas aportaciones (por un importe en dicho periodo de 1.370.000 euros) como gastos extraordinarios (epígrafe III.2.3).

3.- Al cierre de 2001, la Agencia EFE seguía incursa en las previsiones del artículo 260 del Texto Refundido de la Ley de Sociedades Anónimas, al ser su patrimonio neto inferior en un 50% al capital social. Este permanente desequilibrio económico-patrimonial que sufre la Agencia, ocasionado por los resultados negativos que reiteradamente obtiene, obliga a modificar todos los años su capital social, con objeto de restablecerlo. Con ello, esta actuación del Estado sobre los fondos propios de la Entidad, se convierte en el procedimiento habitual para compensar la insuficiencia de recursos obtenidos en el ejercicio (subapartado III.6).

VII.3. EN RELACION CON EL CONTROL INTERNO Y LA GESTIÓN

1.- La Agencia EFE no disponía en el ejercicio fiscalizado de un manual de organización y procedimientos de gestión integral, en el que se establezcan las funciones, responsabilidades, métodos, procedimientos y objetivos específicos de control para cada una de las áreas de su actividad. Únicamente dispone de un Manual de gestión de delegaciones en el exterior, que se aplica de forma subsidiaria por las delegaciones nacionales, elaborado en 1989 y objeto de sucesivas revisiones, la última de las cuales data de 1995, sin que con posterioridad se hayan plasmado las modificaciones producidas, en especial las referentes a tramitación de autorizaciones de gasto y cumplimentación de impresos (apartado IV).

2.- El Manual de gestión prevé como uno de los sistemas de control de las Delegaciones el de la realización de auditorías, que se inició con carácter cíclico en 1994, efectuado por personal de la propia Entidad y por firmas privadas. Sin embargo, desde dicha fecha únicamente se han realizado seis auditorías a delegaciones internacionales, todas ellas por firmas privadas aunque con un programa elaborado por la Sede central y en todos los casos sobre ejercicios anteriores a 1998. Pese a que en las mismas se señalaban determinadas deficiencias, algunas de las cuales se han seguido manteniendo, desde entonces no se han vuelto a efectuar auditorías externas ni internas sobre la gestión efectuada por las delegaciones exteriores (subapartado IV.2.).

3.- Los delegados, según el Manual, tienen incentivos por su gestión, exigiendo aquél que la descripción de los mismos forme parte del propio manual. No obstante, en éste no se desarrolla ni la forma ni los criterios para cuantificar y liquidar los incentivos previstos. En la práctica, los incentivos fueron percibidos durante el periodo fiscalizado, mediante comisiones liquidadas trimestralmente y calculadas sobre los cobros a clientes de cada delegación, con independencia de los resultados económicos de ésta, con lo cual se desvinculan los incentivos a percibir por los delegados exteriores, con el objetivo principal que como gerentes se les asigna en el Manual de gestión, cual es mejorar su contribución territorial al resultado de la Entidad (subapartado IV.2.).

4.- La Agencia EFE dispone de un sistema de contabilidad analítica que le permite calcular los resultados por áreas o líneas de servicio, entre las cuales se encuentran las operativas (servicio de texto, servicios gráficos, televisión, radio y multimedia) vinculadas a la realización de actividades de libre competencia. De esta forma, se pone de manifiesto que la Agencia realiza actividades sin viabilidad económica, entre las que

se encuentran el servicio de árabe, servicio de radio y servicio de televisión (apartado VI.)

VIII. RECOMENDACIONES

Con objeto de subsanar las deficiencias y debilidades expuestas en le presente Informe, y para dar un más adecuado cumplimiento a la Resolución de la Comisión Mixta Congreso-Senado para las Relaciones con el Tribunal de Cuentas de 30 de noviembre de 1999, relativa a la necesidad de mejorar el control en la Entidad, deberían abordarse entre otras las siguientes actuaciones:

1. Que en el próximo Contrato de prestación de servicios de cobertura informativa que se suscriba con el Estado, se precisen las cantidades a aportar por éste, vinculándolas al coste derivado de la consecución de los objetivos de interés general establecidos en el mismo, en aras al cumplimiento del principio de eficiencia y economía.

2. Implantar procedimientos por escrito para todas y cada una de las actividades que realiza con trascendencia económico-financiera, elaborando un manual de organización y procedimientos que establezca funciones, responsabilidades, métodos y objetivos específicos de control.

3. Mejorar los procedimientos de control interno en la Agencia EFE, mediante la creación de un departamento propio al efecto, o bien mediante la realización de auditorías externas en sus delegaciones.

4. Modificar el sistema de incentivos a los Delegados, procurando que las cantidades percibidas por tal concepto lo sean teniendo en cuenta la consecución de unos objetivos previamente establecidos para las Delegaciones.

5. Cancelar aquellas actividades sin viabilidad económica y que no son encuadrables como servicios de interés general, dando cumplimiento a lo establecido en el Contrato Programa suscrito con el Estado.

NOTAS

1) En el Anexo 1 se presenta un seguimiento de las principales magnitudes económicas previstas en el CP, y las realmente producidas durante los ejercicios de aplicación.

2) Respecto a estas actividades hay que señalar que la finalización, en el ejercicio 1997, del contrato de servicios con la Televisión Autonómica de Madrid, S.A. incidió en la infrautilización de recursos del Departamento de Televisión y mermó considerablemente los ingresos de la Agencia.

3) La diferencia entre esta cifra y los 1.172 trabajadores que aparecen en el CP corresponde a los siguientes efectivos: 3 Directivos fuera de convenio, un jubilado y una extinción de la relación laboral.

4) Los anexos 2 y 3 (páginas 62 y 63 en SCRIBD) incluyen, respectivamente, el balance y cuenta de pérdidas y ganancias.

5) No se han considerado los ingresos derivados del CSCI suscrito con el Estado que representan la mayor parte de los ingresos de la Agencia, ni costes indirectos.

6) Los datos económicos más relevantes de estas delegaciones se incluyen en el Anexo 4 (pág.64 en SCRIBD).

7) Existen otros dos centros de coste no territoriales denominados “Previsiones” e

“Instalaciones”, que recogen una serie de gastos/ingresos imputados globalmente al conjunto de Delegaciones dada su pequeña cuantía o la imposibilidad de asignación a un centro de coste concreto.

8) Pese a lo manifestado por la entidad en alegaciones, el Manual de gestión en el capítulo 1 apartado 2 punto C dispone que “es obligación del Delegado remitir copia de cada contrato formalizado o, en su defecto, comunicar por escrito los seis requisitos anteriormente expuestos a la Dirección de Comercio exterior, con copia a la Dirección Económico financiera.”

9) En el Anexo 5 (pág. 65 en SCRIBD) se recoge un resumen del desglose de ingresos y gastos originados por cada una de las áreas que agrupan las delegaciones exteriores de la Agencia EFE.

10) A este respecto, la Entidad alega que se incluyó al delegado en la póliza del seguro médico de Puerto Rico, para alcanzar el número mínimo de asegurados requerido para obtener precios más económicos.

RELOX DE PRíNCIPES: MANUAL SEXUAL PARA BORBONES RIJOSOS

De cómo el Rey debe guardar compostura con la hacienda de sus sotanillos corpóreos

Su Juanita Majestad:

Olvide todo lo que aprendió en el ejército sobre la mecánica del émbolo y pistón. Usted se ahorra otro remiendo de pelvis y los españoles unas cuantas facturas de hospital. Condecore al dídimo que le queda y otórguele el Marquesado de Capacaída por los servicios prestados en palacios y lupanares de aquí y de Alá.

Descubra el cibersexo:

Fácil: sólo necesita su mano derecha y un portátil. El portatil se lo puede encender un ordenanza o macero real. No recurra al ministro de Cultura, que de enchufes sólo conoce los que le han puesto en el cargo. Quítese el reloj, anillos e seellos de la su corte si los hubiere no vaya a terminar con una balanitis o eruptio pruriginosa. Hágase una manola, pero safe. La clase currante recurrimos al calendario de piensos Pascual, que unos años pone titis y otros cabaña porcina ibérica. Como usted es de gusto fijo, le recomiendo los anuncios de seriesyonkis.com, o amistarium.com. Pendonas peroxidadas garantizadas.

Sentadico en su trono, sin necesidad de atravesar puertas cerradas, sin bragueros ni bastones de diseño, con su pijama de flor de lis, sus maritatas y su ron con Mirinda-naranja y echa usted el rato la mar de bien.

Y si le falla internet: polvotelefónico.es.

La caza, muy bien, pero dentro de los muros de palacio, con la familia. Si le apetece caza mayor: cace a Cristina Almeida, a Moratinos, o a César Vidal, y que se jodan los

A Gatopardo y a don Alimaña cuya huida a tierras lejanas perdono,o no, ya veré.

Érase un rey cuyos huesos
Se cascaban con presteza
Y cuyos preciados besos
No escatimaba su alteza
A princesas y plebeyos.

Alimaña reconvino
Su proceder insolente
Pues en lugar de con tino
Descansar entre su gente
Le daba por pegar tiros.

No escuchó el rey el consejo
De hombre experimentado
Y se fue a cazar conejos
Habiendo muy disgustado
A su pueblo fiel plebeyo.

Al reconocer su falta
Perdió su pueblo la inquina

Pero continuó el monarca
Tropezando en cada esquina
Y en cada bosque de matas.

Para mayor alborozo
El inane de la Concha
Casi le mete en un pozo Con su vacuidad oronda
Que nos produce gran gozo.

Alimaña hombre sabio
Se fugó a Azerbayán
Pero volvió a dar el callo
Al saber quietas las aguas
Y el monarca desquiciado.

Gracias al redactor jefe
Nos enteramos sin prisa
Que hay traductora de jeques
Y aguantamos nuestra risa
Y nuestra muy mala leche.

Magníficos versos. Muy agradecida le quedo por esa inmerecida dedicatoria. Suerte tiene usted con lectores minuciosos como Moncho. Se agradece también la nota. Ni nuestra querida Pamela Chu podrá alegrarnos los viernes, pero se intentará. A ver si con la risa resistimos.

Moncho, enhorabuena. Desde unos versos rijosos de Luis Alberto de Cuenca, no había leído nada tan interesante. Ahora bien, su conclusión me parece un poco precipitada. Hay varias otras alternativas que yo no descartaría además de la que ya apunta usted.

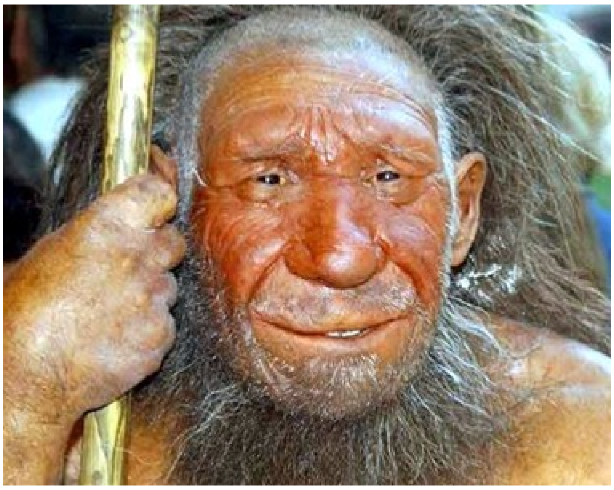
SOBRE LA SECTA SECRETA EL YUNQUE, EN MÉXICO Y EN ESPAÑA



La clase media es esclava de su imagen social, y actua siempre por miedo a perder su función de ejemplo para las clases inferiores, y sus prerrogativas. Sus cachorros reciben a diario su discurso xenófobo, clasista y rabioso, que cala hondo porque es primario, irracional, y se corresponde con mentes poco desarrolladas, dignas del hombre de Neandertal, que se pretenden únicas y privilegiadas: no hay imbécil que no crea ser una eminencia.

El Yunque es una secta destructiva, secreta, originaria de México, que se ha instalado en España, y que tiene como finalidad formar asesinos sin remordimientos, en defensa de unos supuestos valores espirituales y religiosos que obligan a exterminar a quien no comparta los presupuestos de la secta, compuesta por basura humana que se reviste de un credo despreciable para justificar sus instintos asesinos y sus crímenes.

Y, naturalmente, nadie tan fácil de manipular como los adolescentes a los que captan y hacen creer que forman parte de una casta superior, que es la premisa de todos los asesinos mesiánicos y la de todos los idiotas solemnes con manías de grandeza y mala baba.

Es cierto que El Yunque es una secta destructiva, pero su estrategia no se centra en matar. Hay dos o tres presuntos casos en Mexico.

Aunque estarían dispuestos a ello, el peligro es su sutileza.

Muchas personas los apoyan (a sus asociaciones tapadera) sin saber lo que hay detrás.

NOTIFICACIÓN

En PALMA DE MALLORCA, a trece de Marzo de dos mil doce, yo el Secretario teniendo presente a la Procuradora Dª Maria Antonia Oto i Maria, en nombre y representación de INSTITUTO NOOS y OTROS le/s notifico la resolución de fecha 13.03.2012, por medio de lectura integra y entrega de copia literal autorizada con expresión del asunto a que se refiere, haciéndole entrega asimismo de copia del escrito presentado en fecha 08.03.2012 por el Procurador D. Santiago Carrión Ferrer, en nombre y representación de SINDICATO COLECTIVO DE FUNCIONARIOS PÚBLICOS "MANOS LIMPIAS"; haciéndole saber el recurso que cabe contra la misma, plazo y órgano ante quién debe interponerse firma y doy fe.

AUTO

En Palma a trece de marzo de dos mil doce.

Dada cuenta; los anteriores escritos, de los que se dará traslado al Ministerio Fiscal y partes personadas, únanse a la Pieza Separada de su razón.

Que en fecha 7 de febrero de 2.012 la Representación Procesal de la Asociación Instituto Noos de Investigación Aplicada, de Don Diego Torres Pérez, de Doña Ana María Tejeiro Losada, de Virtual Strategies, S.L., de Noos Consultoría Estratégica, S.L., de la Fundación Deporte, Cultura e Integración Social, de Shiriaimasu, S.L. y de Intuit Strategy Innovation Lab, S.L. plantea la nulidad de determinadas diligencias policiales que en aquel entonces se estaban llevando a cabo en la Ciudad de Barcelona.

Que por Providencia de fecha 8 de febrero de 2.012, entre otros extremos, se acordó tener "por promovido incidente de nulidad de las actuaciones que se están llevando a cabo en Barcelona por el Grupo de Delincuencia Económica y, a tenor de lo prevenido en el artículo 240.2 de la Ley Orgánica del Poder Judicial, dar previa audiencia al Ministerio Fiscal y partes personadas por término de cinco días y, con su resultado, se acordará, denegándose en este momento la petición de suspensión de las que resten por practicar", trámite que fue evacuado por el Ministerio Fiscal oponiéndose a la invocada nulidad y por las Representaciones Procesales de Don Miguel Tejeiro Losada y Don Jaume Matas Palou en sentido favorable con las argumentaciones que constaban en los respectivos escritos que obran en la causa.

Que en fecha 21 de febrero de 2012 se dictó Auto que, entre otros extremos, literalmente decía: "...2º Desestimar la petición formulada por la Representación Procesal de la Asociación Instituto Nóos de Investigación Aplicada, de Don Diego Torres Pérez, de Doña Ana María Tejeiro Losada, de Virtual Strategies, S.L., de Naos Consultorio Estratégica, S.L., de la Fundación Deporte, Cultura e Integración Social, de Shiriaimasu, S.L. y de Intuit Strategy Innovation Lab, S.L. que plantea la nulidad de determinadas diligencias policiales que en aquel entonces se estaban llevando a cabo en la Ciudad de Barcelona ".

QUINTO.-

Que en fecha 2 del presente mes se dicta Providencia que, entre otros extremos, literalmente dice: "...3º Tener por interpuesto en tiempo y forma por la anterior Procuradora recurso de reforma contra el Auto de fecha 21 de febrero respecto de su pronunciamiento segundo que literalmente decía: "Desestimar la petición formulada por la Representación Procesal de la Asociación Instituto Nóos de Investigación Aplicada, de Don Diego Torres Pérez, de Doña Ana María Tejeiro Losada, de Virtual Strategies, S.L., de Naos Consultorio Estratégica, S.L., de la Fundación Deporte, Cultura e Integración Social, de Shiriaimasu, S.L. y de Intuit Strategy Innovation Lab, S.L. que plantea la nulidad de determinadas diligencias policiales que en aquél entonces se estaban llevando a cabo en la Ciudad de Barcelona", dándose traslado al Ministerio Fiscal y partes personadas a los efectos del artículo 222 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal y, con su resultado, se resolverá. ", trámite que no ha sido evacuado.

SEXTO.-

Que en fecha 22 de febrero de 2012 recayó Providencia que, entre otros pronunciamientos, contema el de "...lapretensión deducida por la Representación Procesal de Don Mario Sorribas Fierro de que se supriman y destruyan determinados folios de la causa relativos a su declaración prestada como testigo, por razones de fidelidad procesal no cabe acceder a la misma sin perjuicio de que se tenga en cuenta el dato de su anterior declaración para su adecuada valoración."

SÉPTIMO.-

Que, notificada a las partes la Representación Procesal de Don Mario Sorribas Fierro interpone en tiempo y forma recurso de Reforma y subsidiario de Apelación contra la anterior resolución, recayendo en fecha 2 del presente mes providencia que, entre otros pronunciamientos, contiene el siguiente: "...4º Tener por interpuesto en tiempo y forma por la Procuradora Doña María del Carmen Gaya Font, en nombre y representación de Don Mario Sorribas Fierro, recurso de Reforma y subsidiario de Apelación contra la providencia de fecha 22 de febrero respecto del pronunciamiento literal siguiente: "...la pretensión deducida por la Representación Procesal de Don Mario Sorribas Fierro de que se supriman y destruyan determinados folios de la causa relativos a su declaración prestada como testigo, por razones de fidelidad procesal no cabe acceder a la misma sin perjuicio de que se tenga en cuenta el dato de su anterior declaración para su adecuada valoración", dándose traslado al Ministerio Fiscal y partes personadas a los efectos del artículo 222 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal y, con su resultado, se resolverá", trámite que no ha sido evacuado.

OCTAVO.-

Que en fecha 2 del presente mes recayó Providencia que, entre otros pronunciamientos, contenía el siguiente: "...5º No puede desconocerse que la declaración prestada por Don Iñaki Urdangarin ante este Juzgado los días 25 y 26 del pasado mes de febrero fue, en términos absolutos y con independencia del sistema utilizado para su documentación judicial, de larga duración pero de cara a la constatación de la realidad y a extraer de ella soluciones de para eventos venideros conviene no perder de vista que la plasmación en un acta de sólo 42 folios de una declaración que se dice haber durado más de 20 horas, tiempo coincidente con las llegadas y salidas de la sede judicial del declarante deducidos los recesos, no guarda una razonable proporción, lo que encuentra su explicación en el inadecuado sistema de documentación del acto que fuerza a interrumpir las intervenciones de quienes interrogan y de quien responde con una cadencia aproximada de cada dos o tres oraciones al objeto de transcribir con la mayor fidelidad posible preguntas y respuestas. Un elevado número de interrupciones generó un debate en la medida en que los distintos letrados legítimamente intervienen cuestionando los exactos términos de la transcripción o postulando la constatación de una riqueza de matices sólo propia de las transcripciones absolutamente literales, lo que obligaba en muchas ocasiones a borrar lo escrito y a requerir al propio declarante para que dirimiera las dudas o redactara por sí mismo las respuestas. El tiempo invertido en estos menesteres puede por aproximación cuantificarse en unos dos tercios de la total duración del acto, con la obligada presencia del declarante aunque con ocasión de esas interrupciones no fuera objeto de interrogación, y con los negativos efectos de pérdida de la espontaneidad del acto. Este estado de cosas se produjo por la libre decisión de Don Iñaki Urdangarin que previamente al acto solicitó por escrito se le dispensara de la grabación audiovisual de la diligencia para la que el Juzgado ya estaba preparado. Esta grabación hubiera evitado la conflictividad sobre la correcta transcripción del acto y reducida su duración a un tiempo sensiblemente inferior al del día señalado. La petición del Sr. Urdangarin así como la de todos aquellos que interesaron la misma dispensa estaba más que justificada, y por ello se accedió a la misma, en razón de que la obligada entrega de copia a todas la partes personadas hacía inevitable que su imagen y voz fuera objeto de una rápida reproducción y difusión en todos los medios, incluidos los televisivos. Así pues, al objeto de evitar la anterior distorsión, se acuerda que todas las declaraciones de quienes que lo sean en calidad de imputados y de los testigos que se prevean complejas se recogerán en grabación audiovisual con independencia del parecer de las personas afectadas cuyos derechos a no ver quebrantada su intimidad e imagen quedaran debidamente tutelados a través del siguiente procedimiento: A) El original y copia de seguridad serán custodiados en la caja fuerte del Juzgado a cargo y bajo la responsabilidad de la Sra. Secretaria Judicial; B) Bajo ningún concepto se entregará copia de la grabación al Ministerio Fiscal ni partes personadas; C) En sustitución les será entregada una transcripción literal de su contenido carente de toda imagen y sonido a cuyo efecto se librará oficio a la Gerencia del Ministerio de Justicia en este ámbito territorial para que en cada caso ponga disposición del Juzgado personal taquimecanógrafo que in situ lleve a cabo la transcripción a presencia de la Sra. Secretaria, adscriba un funcionario encargado permanentemente de tal función o, subsidiariamente proponga empresa, preferentemente residenciada en este Ciudad, que se encargue de su transcripción a la que se le harán las prevenciones legales sobre el incumplimiento de la fidelidad en su custodia, no obtención de copias, devolución de la que se le haya entregado y prohibición de su difusión, transcripción que será adverada por la Sra. Secretaria de este Juzgado; D) Con independencia de lo anterior, tanto el Ministerio Fiscal como las partes personadas podrán visionar la grabación siempre que lo soliciten con antelación suficiente, a presencia de la Sra. Secretaria y con adopción de las debidas garantías que impidan su captación. Este sistema, que no se ha adoptado previamente por carencia de medios, asegurará asimismo que, llegada la causa a un eventual juicio oral no afectado ya por el secreto sumarial, pueda comprobarse que determinadas informaciones que se están difundiendo como incuestionablemente veraces no responden en absoluto a la realidad o han tenido lugar en contextos muy distintos. Este procedimiento podrá ser objeto de las mejoras que la experiencia aconseje "

Que, notificada a las partes la Representación Procesal de Don Miguel Zorío Pellicer Mario interpone en tiempo y forma recurso de Reforma contra la anterior resolución, recayendo en fecha 6 del presente mes providencia que, entre otros pronunciamientos, contiene el siguiente: "...3º Se tiene por interpuesto en tiempo y forma por el Procurador Don Frederic Xavier Ruiz Galmés, en Representación de Don Miguel Zorío Pellicer, recurso de reforma contra la providencia de fecha 2 del presente mes por la que se acordaba la grabación de determinadas declaraciones, dándose traslado al Ministerio Fiscal y partes personadas a los efectos del artículo 222 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal y, con su resultado, se resolverá", trámite que no ha sido evacuado.

Que asimismo contra el referido pronunciamiento de la Providencia de 2 de marzo de 2.012 la Representación Procesal de la Asociación Instituto Naos de Investigación Aplicada, de Don Diego Torres Pérez, de Doña Ana María Tejeiro Losada, de Virtual Strategies, S.L., de Nóos Consultoría Estratégica, S.L., de la Fundación Deporte, Cultura e Integración Social, de Shiriaimasu, S.L. y de Intuit Strategy Innovation Lab, S.L. interpone en tiempo y forma recurso de Reforma, dictándose en fecha 6 del presente mes Providencia que, entre otros pronunciamiento, contenía el de " ...4º Se tiene por interpuesto en tiempo y forma por la Procuradora Doña María Antonia Oto i María, en Representación de la Asociación Instituto Naos de Investigación Aplicada, de Don Diego Torres Pérez, de Doña Ana María Tejeiro Losada, de Virtual Strategies, S.L., de Noos Consultorio Estratégica, S.L., de la Fundación Deporte, Cultura e Integración Social, de Shiriaimasu, S.L. y de Intuit Strategy Innovation Lab, S.L., recurso de

reforma contra la providencia de fecha 2 del presente mes por la que, entre otros extremos, se acordaba no entregar a las partes copia de las grabaciones audiovisuales y sí, en cambio, una transcripción escrita de las mismas, dándose traslado al Ministerio Fiscal y partes personadas a los efectos del artículo 222 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal y, con su resultado, se resolverá"

UNDÉCIMO.-

Que en fecha cinco del presente mes por la Representación Procesal del Sindicato del Colectivo Público "Manos Limpias" se presentó escrito por el que interesaba la declaración como testigos de Don Carlos García Revenga, Doña Julita Cuquerella Gamboa y Don José Manuel Romero Moreno.

Por lo que respecta al recurso de Reforma interpuesto por la Representación Procesal de la Asociación Instituto Nóos de Investigación Aplicada, de Don Diego Torres Pérez, de Doña Ana María Tejeiro Losada, de Virtual Strategies, S.L., de Nóos Consultoría Estratégica, S.L., de la Fundación Deporte, Cultura e Integración Social, de Shiriaimasu, S.L. y de Intuit Strategy Innovation Lab, S.L. contra el Auto de fecha 21 de febrero de 2012 que desestimaba la petición de nulidad de determinadas diligencias policiales que se habían llevado a cabo en la Ciudad de Barcelona, reconsideradas las motivaciones que se tuvieron en cuenta para adoptar tal resolución así como las alegaciones del Ministerio Fiscal y partes personadas que evacuaron el trámite, se está en el caso de insistir en la procedencia de la resolución recurrida.

En cuanto al recurso de Reforma interpuesto por la Representación Procesal de Don Mario Sorribas Fierro contra la providencia de 22 de febrero de 2012 que desestimaba la pretensión de que se suprimieran y destruyeran determinados folios de la causa relativos a su declaración prestada como testigo, la fe pública inherente a la documentación judicial de una causa hace imposible el desprenderse de documentos por muy indeseables que puedan parecer a la parte. Podrán o no surtir determinados efectos y declararse o no su validez pero, incluso penalizados que sean con la pérdida de su eficacia, han de mantener su ubicación en la causa por lo que procede desestimar el recurso de Reforma y admitir a trámite el de Apelación subsidiariamente interpuesto.

Por lo que afecta al recurso de Reforma interpuesto por la Representación Procesal de Don Miguel Zorío Pellicer Mario contra la Providencia de fecha 2 del presente mes por la que se acordaba la grabación de determinadas declaraciones, la Dirección Letrada del Sr. Zorío tiene todo el derecho a disentir del criterio seguido por este Juzgado en materia de documentación de las actuaciones judiciales pero no le asiste ninguna razón objetiva para que su defendido se sienta discriminado con respecto a otras personas porque, criticable o no, la línea que se ha seguido siempre ha sido la misma para todas las partes.

En atención a la falta de medios técnicos que los Juzgados han padecido, desde tiempo inmemorial las declaraciones de partes y testigos se han documentado mediante su escritura en soporte de papel de la parte básica y sustancial de las mismas.

Proporcionados medios técnicos de grabación audiovisual, éstos quedaron reservados a los actos de juicio oral ya que, al ser estos públicos en su inmensa mayoría, ningún peligro de filtraciones indeseadas se corría. Es por ello que este Juzgado -se piensa que la generalidad de los demás también- nunca acordó de oficio absolutamente ninguna grabación audiovisual y las escasas que en esta causa tuvieron lugar, 15 para ser exactos, siempre lo fueron a solicitud de los propios protagonistas, petición que no resultaba procedente rechazar dado que el sistema de grabación siempre asegura una absoluta fidelidad del contenido del acto.

Trasladados a la presente Pieza Separada se continuó aplicando el mismo criterio, que autorizaba la grabación audiovisual sólo cuando lo solicitara alguna de las partes tanto para sí misma como para las demás con el correctivo, sólo en este segundo supuesto, de que a ello se opusieran los afectados, no por capricho sino por alguna razón justificada y la única adivinable era la de no experimentar el casi seguro riesgo, ya materializado en esas 15 ocasiones anteriores, de ver su imagen y voz dirundidas a través de los más variados medios. En aplicación de tal criterio este Juzgado, con el beneplácito de la Sra. Secretaria, quien es la competente en esta materia, accedió a la grabación de los actos señalados para los día 11, 18 y 25 de febrero y, precisamente en aplicación de ese mismo criterio, dispensó de la grabación de su declaración a Don Iñaki Urdangarin Liebaert, que fue el primero que lo solicitó, dispensa que acabó haciéndose extensiva a todos los demás. Así pues, hasta el mismo día 26 de febrero absolutamente ningún trato de privilegio recibió Don Iñaki Urdangarin Liebaert que no recibieran los demás lo que desnaturaliza aquella esencia.

La intervención de un elevado número de Letrados en la declaración de aquél, quienes constantemente hacían uso de su derecho a matizar las transcripciones de preguntas y respuestas, puso de manifiesto que la documentación del acto en soporte de papel, que no representa dificultad alguna en procedimientos de escasa complejidad y con reducida intervención de profesionales, prolonga innecesariamente la duración de la diligencia que, cuando menos, se viene a multiplicar por tres con merma de la espontaneidad y obligando a intermitentes interrupciones del hilo conductor del interrogatorio.

El que, valorando esas negativas secuelas, se haya intentado a través de la resolución recurrida mejorar el sistema de documentación judicial al proporcionársele ahora al Juzgado medios para realizar la fiel transcripción del soporte digital al del papel, no era imaginable que pudiera ser calificada como trato privilegiado para unos ni discriminatorio para otros por la sencilla razón de que, afortunado o no el intento, es de aplicación para todos.

En cuanto a la tardanza en la transcripción de las grabaciones, se tratará de minimizarla y al respecto ya se están llevando a cabo activas gestiones, y por lo que respecta a no entregar copia de aquellas ninguna indefensión se advierte para las partes cuando ya se anuncia que se les entregarán transcripciones literales de las declaraciones, estándose en el caso de recordar que ya se adoptó una medida similar con ocasión de una diligencia de Entrada y Registro en domicilio particular de tal manera que las fotografías que se obtuvieron siempre estuvieron a disposición de las partes para su visionado pero sin entregarles copia de las mismas, procediendo de lo expuesto la desestimación del recurso de Reforma planteado, pronunciamiento que se hace extensivo al también recurso de Reforma formulado por la Representación Procesal de la Asociación Instituto Noos de Investigación Aplicada, de Don Diego Torres Pérez, de Doña Ana María Tejeiro Losada, de Virtual Strategies, S.L., de Noos Consultoría Estratégica, S.L., de la Fundación Deporte, Cultura e Integración Social, de Shiriaimasu,

S.L. y de Intuit Strategy Innovation Lab, S.L. contra la misma resolución y que se basa en una argumentación parecida.

CUARTO.-

Tanto en orden a la resolución de la solicitud formulada por la Representación Procesal del Sindicato del Colectivo Público "Manos Limpias", de práctica de nuevas diligencias, como para establecer pautas generales en orden a previsible futuras que puedan formular otras partes personadas, se está en el caso de explicitar que el objeto de toda instrucción es la investigación de hechos de trascendencia penal, no de aquéllos que, sin tenerla, sirvan exclusivamente a intereses mediáticos, al favorecimiento hacia actitudes políticas o simplemente para satisfacer la curiosidad por mucho que esas pretensiones sean comprensibles y merecedoras de todo el respeto. Si esos datos acaban por acceder a la causa lo serán de manera incidental, no porque se haya desplegado una actividad procesal que conduzca directamente a su constatación. Don Iñaki Urdangarin Liebaert esgrime la tesis de que se desvinculó totalmente de la Asociación Instituto Nóos de Investigación Aplicada a partir del 20 de marzo de 2.006, fecha esta de un acta de la Junta de la entidad en que se recoge tal desvínculación al tiempo que se le agradecen los servicios prestados, y ofrece la explicación de que ello aconteció siguiendo las recomendaciones que se le hicieron desde la Casa de S. M. El Rey.

Ninguna trascendencia penal tiene el conocer en concreto cuáles fueron aquellos supuestos consejos o instrucciones y sí que la tiene, y mucha, el establecer si Don Iñaki Urdangarin Liebaert abandonó realmente a partir de esa fecha sus actividades de negocio relacionadas con la Asociación Instituto Nóos de Investigación Aplicada y el conjunto de sociedades que giran alrededor del mismo y de Don Diego Torres Pérez ya que, de estimar que así fuera, procedería su exoneración respecto de cuantas actividades supuestamente delictivas hayan podido tener lugar a partir de ese crucial momento.

Pues bien, todo apunta a que tal desvinculación no se produjo ya que existen sobrados indicios de que Don Iñaki Urdangarin Liebaert desempeñó con posterioridad a esa significativa fecha el cargo de Presidente del Consejo Asesor de la Fundación Deporte, Cultura e Integración Social de la que era Director General Don Diego Torres Pérez y no acaba de convencer el argumento de que las funciones del primero sólo lo eran en materia estrictamente deportiva y sin conexión alguna con la Gerencia de la Fundación detentada por Don Diego Torres Pérez cuando innumerables testigos han declarado en sede policial que el Sr. Urdangarin siempre estuvo detrás de todo el entramado societario, antes y después de aquella fecha. Declaraciones de imputados en sede judicial, cuyo parcialidad en esta cuestión no se advierte, le sitúan como rector de aquél, y al mismo nivel que Don Diego Torres Pérez, mucho después del 20 de marzo de 2.006 lo que también viene avalado por la numerosa documentación intervenida. No obstante, por si todavía cupiere alguna duda, el propio Don Iñaki Urdangarin Liebaert así lo vino a reconocer en su declaración ante este Juzgado cuando admite haber mediado en el año 2.007 cerca de la Administración Balear para que Don Diego Torres Pérez obtuviera el cobro de una importante suma de dinero sin que sobre tal intervención, reiterada por demás en diversas ocasiones y con fuertes dosis de apremio, tanto que generaron la ruptura de la amistad que le unía a su interlocutor, haya facilitado explicación alguna mínimamente satisfactoria, y también cuando reconoce haber desarrollado con Don Diego Torres Pérez puntuales negocios después de su desvinculación de la Asociación Instituto Nóos de Investigación Aplicada porque entendía que la recomendación de la Casa de S. M. El Rey de apartarse de Don Diego Torres Pérez no se hacía extensiva a aquéllos y sólo a "no mantener con él asociaciones mercantiles a largo plazo", restricción esta que, al margen de que no parece muy lógica, resulta indiferente para la causa ya que cualquiera que fuera el exacto contenido de la admonición real y admitiendo hipotéticamente que fuera aceptada por su destinatario sólo en apariencia pero abiertamente desoída en la realidad, ningún reproche penal cabría hacerle al no ser tal comportamiento constitutivo de infracción penal y sólo tener repercusiones ajenas a este Orden Jurisdiccional.

Es por ello que la solicitud formulada por la Representación Procesal del Sindicato del Colectivo Público "Manos Limpias" de que sea citado Don José Manuel Romero Moreno al objeto de que deponga en calidad de testigo sobre su intervención como asesor externo de la casa de S. M. El Rey cerca de Don Iñaki Urdangarin procede sea desestimada por cuanto que tales hechos, cualquiera que sea su sentido, son irrelevantes para la causa.

Solicita asimismo Representación Procesal del Sindicato del Colectivo Público "Manos Limpias" la citación de Don Carlos García Revenga al objeto de que preste declaración en calidad de testigo sobre su aparición en un folleto divulgativo editado por la Asociación Instituto Nóos de Investigación Aplicada y en relación con su cargo de tesorero de la citada entidad y al respecto caben dar por reproducidos "mutatis mutandi" los argumentos que se tuvieron en cuenta para desestimar la petición de que Doña Cristina Federica de Borbón y Grecia depusiera, aunque en esta ocasión en calidad de imputada, sobre similares extremos.

SEXTO.-

Resulta, en cambio, absolutamente procedente se le reciba declaración en calidad de testigo a Doña Julita Cuquerella Gamboa tanto sobre los hechos objeto de su declaración en sede policial el día 8 de febrero del presente año como por los sobrevenidos y que puedan sobrevenir hasta el día señalado para su declaración que será a las 19,30 horas del día 20 de abril del presente año en la sede de la Ciudad de la Justicia de Barcelona, Gran Vía de les Cortes Catalanes N° 111. Edif. I, Sala 232 (segunda planta).

Habida cuenta de que la lista de testigos que habrán de declarar en Valencia el próximo día 14 de mayo se ha incrementado y que es posible que se precise invertir en ello el día 15, deviene prudente suspender las declaraciones señaladas para ese mismo día en Madrid para las que se acordarán nuevos señalamientos cuando la agenda de este Juzgado, del Ministerio Fiscal y de los Srs. Letrados lo permita.

OCTAVO.-

Visto el escrito presentado por el Ministerio Fiscal interesando de se oficie a determinadas entidades bancarias a efectos de que aporten extracto de movimientos de concretas cuentas bancarias, así como al Iltmo. Sr. Delegado Especial de la Agencia Tributaria a efectos de que emita informe respecto de las operaciones con terceros que consten en sus bases de datos en relación a la mercantil Gobal Consulting Partners, S.L., y entendiendo que tales diligencias tienen interés para la causa procede acceder a las mismas.

Visto lo anteriormente expuesto,

7º Se desestima, también por el momento, la solicitud formulada por la misma Representación Procesal sobre que Don Carlos García Revenga sea citado para que comparezca ante este Juzgado a prestar declaración en calidad de testigo.

10° Se tiene por interpuesto en tiempo y forma por la Representación Procesal del Sindicato del Colectivo Público "Manos Limpias" recurso de Reforma y subsidiario de Apelación contra el Auto de fecha 5 del presente mes y en concreto contra su pronunciamiento primero que literalmente decía: "Se desestima la solicitud de que Doña Cristina Federica de Borbón y Grecia sea citada para que comparezca ante este Juzgado a prestar declaración en calidad de imputada en la presente causa, formulada por la Representación Procesal del Sindicato del Colectivo Público "Manos Limpias", dándose traslado al Ministerio Fiscal y partes personadas a los efectos del artículo 222 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal y, con su resultado, se resolverá.

12° Ofíciese a las entidades bancarias seguidamente relacionadas a efectos de que aporten extracto de movimientos de las siguientes cuentas bancarias desde la fecha de su apertura hasta la actualidad:

D.P. n° 2677/08 pieza separada n° 25 (Recibido el 8 de marzo 2012)

AL JUZGADO DE INSTRUCCIÓN N° 3 DE PALMA DE MALLORCA

D. SANTIAGO CARRION FERRER, Procurador de los Juzgados y Tribunales, en nombre y representación del SINDICATO COLECTIVO DE FUNCIONARIOS PÚBLICOS "MANOS LIMPIAS", y bajo la dirección Letrada de DÑA. VIRGINIA LPZ. NEGRETE, según tengo acreditado en las Diligencias Previas al margen referenciadas, ante el Juzgado comparezco y como mejor proceda en derecho, respetuosamente, DIGO:

Que con fecha 5 de marzo de 2012 se me ha notificado Auto de misma fecha, por el que se acuerda no imputar a Dª Cristina de Borbón y Grecia; y no siendo ajustada a derecho dicha resolución, dicho sea con el debido respeto y en términos de estricta defensa, interpongo RECURSO DE REFORMA Y SUBSIDIARIO DE APELACIÓN ANTE LA AUDIENCIA PROVINCIAL DE PALMA DE MALLORCA contra dicho Auto, amparado en los artículos 216, 217, 219 y siguientes y demás concordantes de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal, por vulneración del art. 14 de la Constitución Española, del principio de igualdad, el art. 9.3 de la Constitución Española que garantiza el principio de seguridad jurídica, el art. 24.1 de la Constitución Española, el principio de tutela judicial efectiva sin indefensión, el art. 24.2 de la Constitución Española, derecho a un procedimiento con todas las garantías, en base a las siguientes,

ALEGACIONES

1°.- Esta parte se ratifica en su totalidad en nuestro escrito de fecha 15 de febrero del presente, que damos totalmente por reproducido, entendiendo que el auto dictado en modo alguno rebate todos y cada uno de los argumentos que se dan en el mismo, no habiendo sido acertado, insistimos, sea dicho con el debido respeto y en términos de estricta defensa, manifestar "que llamarla a declarar como imputada la estigmatizaría."

2°.- Puesto "que la justicia es igual para todos", esta es una oportunidad única de demostrar a todos los ciudadanos que efectivamente la justicia es igual para todos, y en modo alguno se pueden utilizar diferentes varas de medir, así no olvidemos que la mujer del Sr. Torres está imputada en los autos ¿por qué motivo Dª Cristina de Borbón y Grecia debe de ser tratada de forma diferente?, máxime cuando se ha beneficiado (al menos en su condición de esposa) de todas las actividades ilícitas que ha llevado a cabo su marido el Sr . Urdangarín, hasta el punto que sabía que con el ritmo de vida que ellos llevaban y los ingresos legales que tenían en modo alguno podían comprarse un palacete en Pedralbes por la friolera cantidad de no menos. 6.316.000 €.

3º.- Y como hemos dicho hasta la saciedad, Dª Cristina de Borbón y Grecia es licenciada en ciencias Políticas, donde la mayor parte de las asignaturas son de Derecho, es una mujer que tiene un trabajo remunerado en La Caixa, con responsabilidades en su trabajo y es propietaria del 50% del capital de Aizoon, S.A., donde desempeñaba el cargo de Secretaria de la mercantil, lo que conlleva al menos:

a) la elaboración de las actas con los acuerdos que se adopta en las sociedades mercantiles y remisión de cuentas al Registro Mercantil.
b) Lectura de las actas en las sucesivas sesiones ordinarias y extraordinarias de las mercantiles.
c) La firma de las mencionadas actas.

Y es vocal de la Junta Directiva del Instituto Noos, sin ánimo de lucro.

Y si a todo ello le añadimos que por su condición de Infanta de España debería de haber tenido una mayor diligencia que la mínima exigida a un buen padre de familia, dada su condición y lo que ello implica...??

4°.- ¿Sería justo tratarla de forma diferente a los demás? Pues no, la justicia tiene que ser igual para todos, y en modo alguno se le puede dar un trato diferente, y si a ella le puede estigmatizar estar imputada es un procedimiento penal, la misma estigmatización le produce al resto de los imputados y no por ello dejan de estarlo. Por lo que, no se pueden utilizar diferentes varas de medir.

Creemos que la única forma de depurar todas las responsabilidades y de garantizar al máximo sus derecho es tomarla declaración como imputada, al igual que se ha hecho con las esposas de los demás imputados. Es evidente que no creemos que tenga menos responsabilidad la Sra. de Urdangarín que la Sra. de Torres.

Es evidente que después de la declaración, puede quedar des imputada si los argumentos que esgrima son convincentes.

No se puede olvidar que el reparto de las ganancias de todo el dinero que se ha llevado presuntamente de forma ilícita el Sr. Urdangarín a través del Instituto Noos y de la mercantil Aizoon, S.L. y de otras entidades, ha sido repartido y disfrutado por Dña. Cristina al 50%, en lo que a Aizoon se refiere., por lo que, habiendo indicios de la presunta comisión de delitos por la misma, es por lo que , procede tomarla declaración como imputada.

No debemos olvidar que además, Dña. Cristina de Borbón disponía de cantidades en efectivo, contra el concepto "mi factura", de la cuenta de Aizoon.

5º.- No escapa a nadie como acompañaba con sus hijos a Ignacio Urdangarín cuando estaban haciendo negocios con las Instituciones investigadas, como por ejemplo el día que acudió al Balcón de la Localidad de Alcalá de Henares, invitados por el Ayuntamiento para presenciar la cabalgata de Reyes durante el período en el que el Sr. Urdangarín estaba negociando con dicho Ayuntamiento a fin de inclinar la balanza a su negocio, por lo que, no escapa a nadie que estaba totalmente al corriente de las actividades ilícitas de su marido, al igual que cuando fueron "desterrados" de lujo a Washington, ella conocía, sabía perfectamente de todas las actividades irregularidades en las que estaba metido D. Ignacio Urdangarín, había consentido las mismas y había participado en las ingentes ganancias.

6°.- La imputación de Cristina de Borbón, no es baladí, ni se solicita por capricho. Dicha imputación no es fruto solamente de lo mucho instruido y conocido hasta ahora, lo es por su participación en actividades e inscripciones que constaban y constan en el Registro Mercantil.

7º.- Consecuencia de la responsabilidad penal, la misma conlleva aparejada, a tenor del art. 122 del código Penal, una responsabilidad civil, ya que ha sido beneficiaría directa del incremento patrimonial e ingresos obtenidos fraudulentamente por el imputado Ignacio Urdangarín (según consta en la Declaración de Bienes y Patrimonio ante la AEAT obrante en los Autos).

A tenor de dicho artículo: "El que por título lucrativo hubiere participado de los efectos de un delito o falta, está obligado a la restitución de la cosa o al resarcimiento del daño hasta la cuantía de su participación", se ha beneficiado directamente de los ingresos obtenidos ilícitamente por parte del imputado Ignacio Urdangarín con lo que ello conlleva la responsabilidad civil.

8°.- Por otra parte, se dice que la imputación de Cristina de Borbón llevaría aparejada "la estigmatización", pues bien, en cualguier caso este concepto es inexistente en nuestro ordenamiento siendo pues meta jurídico, insólito, infrecuente y se contradice con lo que le ocurre todos los días y en todos los juzgados de España a miles de ciudadanos que disciplinariamente acatan la figura procesal de la imputación y acuden a los órganos jurisdiccionales por muy variados motivos.

Incluso a muchos de estos españoles los vemos acorralados por cámaras y expectación tanto social como mediática, sin que por ello el instructor le libre sin duda del mal "trago" al considerar que lo expuesto puede resultar "estigmatizante".

De aceptar esta tesis, es decir la de la estigmatización nos encontraremos con una nueva figura a todas luces "contra legem" v no contemplada ni por el Tribunal Constitucional ni por los Tribunales Supranacionales, que en el caso de Cristina de Borbón, se convierte en un eximente de tal naturaleza que imposibilita que acuda al Juzgado para que con todas las garantías constitucionales que incluyen esa figura de la imputación (incluso la de no declarar) le permita en sede judicial y en consecuencia con todas las garantías del Estado de Derecho, dar explicaciones de un comportamiento que de forma unánime (véase la encuesta realizada por un medio neutral como es Europa Press) tiene a la ciudadanía perpleja: Cristina de Borbón. mavor de edad. universitaria, políglota y cosmopolita, dejaba hacer a su esposo, sin preguntarse ni que hacia ella en un registro mercantil, ni de donde provenían los voluminosos capitales gue se mire como se mire culminaron en un incremento patrimonial tan poderoso como para adquirir una casa palacio en la mejor zona de Barcelona v pagada el contado, adquisición que se hizo sin la carga de hipoteca alguna, es decir, sin verse sometida al compromiso de pago con una entidad bancaria, que es como compran sus casas la práctica totalidad de millones de españoles.

Tampoco, y puesta a estar ajena de todo, cuestionaba Cristina el trasiego y utilización continua de cuentas en paraísos fiscales en el entramado (en el que se quiera o no se quiera participaba, al menos de forma documental según el registro mercantil), que dirigía su esposo, e incluso liberada de responsabilidad alguna según se nos quiere hacer creer ahora, olvidaba la máxima romana: la mujer del Cesar además de ser honesta tiene que parecerlo.

9°.- La igualdad viene incorporada a nuestro ordenamiento jurídico de forma expresa por mandato de nuestra Constitución, que la incorpora al mismo nada más y menos que como valor superior en igual jerarquía a la libertad, la igualdad o el pluralismo político. Dicha igualdad desde la aprobación de la Carta Magna, no ha sufrido dogmáticamente mas excepción que en lo que se conoce como discriminación positiva, término que se ha acuñado fundamentalmente sólo para personas discapacitadas: obviamente este no es el caso, Dª Cristina está en pleno uso de todas sus facultades, es una mujer libre que sabía, era consciente y consistía en todas las actividades realizadas por el marido, y que ahora este quiere atribuir como propias en una estrategia de carácter exculpatoria para la esposa.

Y recordemos una vez la igualdad afecta a todos, salvo también por mandato Constitucional a una excepción: el Jefe del Estado quien no responde penalmente.

Cristina en su condición de hija, no se ve afectada por el artículo 56.3 de la Carta Magna, que exime de exigencia punitiva al padre pero no a la hija.

10°.- Es inverosímil que en la situación de armonía familiar y existencia cotidiana en común, en la que se encuentra Cristina de Borbón, donde se integra la "affectio maritalis", la esposa desconociese el contenido de las actividades desarrolladas por el esposo con las administraciones y entidades públicas, ni contactos y modos de actuar de este, contactos que en algunos casos se producían incluso en las residencias estivales utilizadas por el matrimonio Urdangarín-Borbón.

Tampoco es en modo creíble que una persona con un elevado nivel de formación multidisciplinar y angloparlante, circunstancias estas que se dan todas ellas en la esposa, y siendo además también una ejecutiva, no sepa gue las prácticas offshore (ya acreditadas en lo instruido) se utilizan de forma generalizada en todo el mundo con un único objetivo que no es otro que el blanqueo de capitales, o la ocultación de propiedades para el fisco del país de origen.

11°.- De no estimarse el presente recurso, se infringiría el art. 14 de la Constitución Española, en relación con los art. 27,28 y 29 del Código Penal, el art. 9.3 de la Constitución Española, que garantiza el principio de seguridad jurídica, el art. 24.1 y 24.2 de la Constitución Española, entre otros, por lo que, se debe estimar el presente recurso.

Por todo lo cual,

SUPLICO AL JUZGADO, que teniendo por presentado este escrito y copias que se acompañan se sirva admitirlo, y a su virtud tenga con él por interpuesto, en tiempo y forma, RECURSO DE REFORMA Y SUBSIDIARIO DE RECURSO DE APELACIÓN ANTE LA AUDIENCIA PROVINCIAL DE PALMA DE MALLORCA contra el auto de fecha 5 Marzo de 2012, y tras los trámites pertinentes, se dicte resolución por la que estime este recurso y se revoque el mismo, en el sentido de citar como imputada a Dª Cristina de Borbón y Grecia, señalando día y hora para la práctica de dicha declaración. Todo ello por ser de justicia que pido en Palma de Mallorca, a ocho de Marzo de dos mil doce.

LUDWIG LOSBICHLER: MARCHANTE DE ARTE Y AGENTE DE LA GESTAPO

"The file never is closed"

En los archivos de Jacques Seligmann&Cie, una de las galerías de arte más prestigiosas del siglo XX, en la sección "Gente interesante: España" (People of interest: Spain), aparece, entre otros personajes de dudosa catadura, la tarjeta de visita de un marchante: Ludwig Losbichler Gutjahr, apartado 706, Barcelona. La investigación sobre este nombre comenzó por las siguientes razones:

1- Persona con apellido alemán, afincada en un país que traficaba y era camino de paso de bienes expoliados.

2- Ausencia de dirección física, no tratándose de un marchante o galería de arte cuya fama hiciera innecesario añadir su dirección

3- Presencia de dos apellidos, siguiendo la norma española, pero apartándose de ésta al conservar el nombre propio sin españolizar en Luis. Todo ello apuntaba a un individuo no originario de España que había rescatado por alguna razón su apellido materno.

4- Período histórico (1954-1962) en el que estaba archivado. Suprimidas las restricciones y controles sobre tráfico de arte que habían sido dictadas inmediatamente después de la Segunda Guerra Mundial, en estos años comienzan a aflorar en el mercado obras expoliadas cuyos dueños legítimos habían muerto en campos de concentración. La mayoría de marchantes y autoridades académicas que habían llevado a cabo o colaborado en el expolio de bienes judíos estaban de nuevo en activo en toda Europa, y habían recuperado negocios y cargos en la universidad.

5- En los archivos Seligmann, se guarda una voluminosa correspondencia (1953-1969) entre Losbichler y Germain Seligman, hijo de Jacques y director de Jacques Seligmann&Cie.. En 1940, el gobierno de Vichy, se apoderó de todos los bienes y negocios de la familia Seligmann y sus colecciones de arte fueron subastadas. Los trabajadores quemaron sus archivos para impedir que los nazis pudieran conocer dueños y localización de miles de obras de arte.

Precisamente, en la década de los 50, Germain estaba dedicado a localizar y recuperar las obras de los Seligmann. Sus intereses como historiador del arte no coincidían con las obras que Losbichler le ofrecía. Y sin embargo sorprende la paciencia y perseverancia de Germain en afianzar y continuar una relación con un marchante relativamente oscuro. He comparado el estilo de esta correspondencia con la mantenida con colegas de más prestigio y el tono es completamente distinto: más profesional, más comercial y concluyendo transacciones u ofertas de forma rápida. Por tanto, en la evaluación, hay que tener en cuenta que Seligmann albergara sospechas

De la correspondencia entre Ludwig Losbichler y Germain Seligman se obtuvo la siguiente información:

Domicilios de Losbichler

El apartado 706 de Barcelona, que aparece como dirección principal al menos desde 1953 hasta 1969, lo comparte con la empresa suiza Sandoz farmacéutica durante los años (hasta ahora documentados) 1963 y 1964. (Vid*. La Vanguardia Española*, 8 octubre, 1963, p. 40 y 24 mayo 1964, p. 73)

En 1956, Seligman, que sabe perfectamente qué significa la palabra “Apartado” puesto que mantiene correspondencia con bancos, marchantes y académicos españoles, consigue su dirección fíngiendo ignorancia:

“Mi querido Sr. Lobischler.

Hace unas semanas, le pedí a un amigo mío que iba a Barcelona que se pusiera en contacto con usted. Cuando volvió me dijo que le había sido imposible hacerlo, porque la dirección que me ha dado y a la cual envío esta carta es simplemente una dirección de correos. A lo mejor se lo digo en vano, pero es que puede que vaya a España a primeros de Junio(...) y puede que esté en Barcelona unas pocas horas, así es que necesitaría tener una dirección exacta donde encontrarle" (26 abril 1956)

Losbichler da su dirección y un contacto:

Calle del Putchet 43, teléfono 28 04 77

Y en caso de que este ausente hay que contactar con:

Anton Oboril: Oficina c/ Caspe 12 (tfno. 31-50-61)
Particular: c/ de los Dominicos, 19 (tfno. 37-83-25)

Seligman no fue a Barcelona y sólo apuntó en sus notas la calle del Putchet 43

En Putchet/ Putxet 43, con el mismo tfno que da Losbichler, estuvo la Pensión Bosque, una residencia muy modesta si se piensa en un marchante que vende obras que valían millones de pesetas.

Anton Oboril, que luego hispanizó su nombre en "Antonio", fundó en 1947 una empresa de importación de audífonos alemanes: Audisord. Antecedentes sin investigar.

El apartado 54 de Tánger. Losbichler agente de la Gestapo

Al principio de su correspondencia con Seligman, Losbichler utilizó un papel de cartas comercial con su nombre y dos direcciones postales. La del apartado 706 de Barcelona y otra donde da sólo su dirección cablegráfica:

Cables: Losbi
Clave: Mosse y Supl. Schoeller Priv.
Reg. de Com. Nº 1294 en Tanger
Casa Fundada en 1925 (Fig. A)

La confirmación de Losbichler en Tánger fue doble:

1. En 1942, el Secretario de Estado y el Departamento del Tesoro de Estados Unidos publican la lista de personas y empresas cuyos activos quedan incautados por colaboración con el régimen nazi. Entre ellos aparece Ludwig Losbichler, con una única dirección: Apartado 54 de Tánger. (The proclaimed list of certain blocked nationals, Supplement 1, August 28, 1942. Revision III of August 10, 1942, p. 16)

Este apartado es el mismo que da otro acusado de colaborar con el enemigo, Eduardo Da Mota Ribeiro y corresponde al Hotel Fuentes. Aparece en el addendum de Diciembre de 1942.

2. Documentos kv/2/3266 y kv/2/3267 de los National Archives (UK). En 1942 y 1943, en la investigación que realizan los servicios de inteligencia británicos y el Foreign Office sobre un espía alemán, Carl Marx, que intenta presentarse como agente doble en el Reino Unido, se menciona, entre otros criminales de guerra, a Ludwig Losbichler como agente de la Gestapo en Tánger, encargado de coordinar, pagar y asignar objetivos a delatores y espías. Las menciones a Losbichler (escrito con distintas grafías, según el agente encargado de interrogar o redactar el informe) son las siguientes:

"El primer contacto con los alemanes se estableció dos o tres días más tarde, un domingo por la tarde (probablemente el domingo 8 de junio). Schewizer estaba sentado en el Bar Ginger, cuando se le aproximó Losbuechler y le presentó a dos oficiales del consulado alemán. Uno de ellos era Bartl, comisario de la Gestapo, pero el otro, al parecer no era Behrends. Bartl estuvo muy amable y le pidió a Schweizer que fuera a verlo al consulado alemán al día siguiente. Schweizer afirma que le contestó de forma vaga" (Fig. 1. Interrogatorio de Zygmunt Schweizer p.1, en Oratory Schools 9/9/1942 kv/2/3266)

"Se le preguntó a Schweizer qué opinión tenía de Karl Marx y afirmó que, después de su primera visita al consulado alemán, Marx andaba siempre en compañía de Losbuechler, que, al parecer, hacía de enlace con los oficiales alemanes." (Fig. 2. Interrogatorio a Zygmunt Schweizer p.3, en Oratory Schools 9/9/1942 kv/2/3266)

"Aunque este interrogatorio no ha aportado nueva información sobre las actividades de Marx, no puede decirse que haya iluminado de manera más favorable el caso en conjunto. Marx insiste en su historia, aunque hay ciertos aspectos, como su asociación con individuos como Losbichler y Ressing, que no puede explicar y tampoco puede dar una explicación razonable por qué contactó con el consulado alemán y por qué siguió trabajando para ellos" (Fig. 3. Conclusiones del agente S. Cole en el cuarto interrogatorio a Karl Marx en Oratory School 16/19/1942, p.2 kv/2/3266)

"Entre sus amigos, Marx mencionó el nombre de Losbichler, aunque, según ha admitido él mismo, sabía que Losbichler había cambiado de opinión y estaba conchabado con los nazis" (Fig.4 Informe del agente S. Cole Tercer interrogatorio a Karl Marx en Oratory School 02/9/1942, p.3 kv/2/3266)

"Marx admite, además, que ha recibido dinero de Losbichler y dice que la cantidad puede oscilar entre 2,000 y 2,500 francos. Pero alega que luego se los devolvió a Losbichler con el dinero que había recibido de Brunner" (Fig.5 Informe del agente S. Cole Tercer interrogatorio a Karl Marx en Oratory School 02/9/1942, p.6 kv/2/3266)

"Hay que tener en cuenta que (Marx) ha admitido recibir dinero prestado de Losbichler y que, al hacerlo, se puso financieramente en manos de los alemanes" (Fig. 6 Informe del agente S. Cole Tercer interrogatorio a Karl Marx en Oratory School 02/9/1942, p.7 kv/2/3266)

"Losbichler representaba a diversas empresas, la mayoría judeo-polacas y también japonesas y checas. Marx afirma que cuando conoció a Losbichler, éste era anti-nazi y que fue más tarde, cuando se lo volvió a encontrar en Tánger, cuando se mostro como partidario de Hitler. En Tetuán, Losbichler tenía unos cuantos amigos alemanes y sólo fue al consulado alemán para registrarse. Solía ir con amigos italianos y después de hacerse amigo de Marx, le advirtió sobre destacados nazis locales como Langenheim.

Otro amigo de Losbichler era un alemán llamado Schott, que fue expulsado de Tetuán poco después que lo fuera Ressing y, al igual que éste, se dirigió a España. Schott tenía una relojería en Tetuán y su mujer se hizo cargo de ella cuando él se marchó. Marx dice que más tarde pudo ayudar a la familia Schott comprando relojes en Tánger y mandándoselos a Losbichler en Tetuán, que a su vez se los pasaba a la mujer de Schott. Marx explica que prefirió enviarlos vía Losbichler porque no se fiaba de la honradez financiera de la Sra. Schott" (Fig. 7 Informe del agente S. Cole. Interrogatorio a Karl Marx en Oratory School 01/9/1942, p.3 kv/2/3266)

"Kruger ha confirmado el hecho de que Nansen era una especie de secretario de Marx y que le ayudaba a redactar y mecanografiar los informes que más tarde entregaba a los alemanes. Kruger ha dicho que creía que Marx trabajaba principalmente para Wiedeman, que era el jefe de propaganda en Tánger. Además todo el mundo sabía la estrecha relación que mantenía con Losbichler” (Fig. 8. Informe del agente S. Cole. Información sobre K. Marx obtenida de Otto Kruger, p.3 kv/2/3266)

 Ressing “Se nos informó en 1936 y 1939 que era un agente alemán. Actuaba en Tetuán y Tánger. Decía odiar a Hitler. Ha usado distintos negocios como tapaderas”(Registry S.I.S. Trace on nº 10 in connection with Karl Marx, 03/09/1942 kv/2/3266)

(...) “Cuando Losbichler volvió a proponerle que colaborara con él, Marx aceptó porque pensó que obtendría información de los alemanes y que pondría a disposición de las autoridades británicas su conocimiento interno de los métodos” (Fig. 10. S. Cole, Resumen en inglés de los datos autobiográficos proporcionados en alemán por Karl Marx en Oratory Schools el 09/08/1942, p. 11 kv/2/3266)

alemanes. Él sólo hablaba de política en su habitación y, entonces, era anti-nazi. Es importante que mencione esto porque más adelante hablaré de la evolución de Losbichler. En cualquier caso, no es culpa mía si lo tomé por un Auslandsdeutscher (emigrante alemán) que, atemorizado por lo que había oído, tomó la actitud de "Cuando estés entre lobos, aulla con ellos". (Fig. 13 Captain HH Hindmarsch, Oratory School. Traducción de la declaración de Karl Marx el 9/8/1942, Apéndice V kv/2/3266)

"Pronto descubrí lo que ocurría con Losbichler. El miedo y, sobre todo, el gran negocio de importación y exportación que hacía con Alemania le había puesto a merced de esos malvados y su "Gleichschaltung" (nazificación) siguió inmediatamente y se hizo un instrumento fácil de la Gestapo" (Fig. 14 Captain HH Hindmarsch, Oratory School. Traducción de la declaración de Karl Marx el 9/8/1942, Apéndice VI, p. 7 kv/2/3266)

"La Sra. Busaglio le dio a un policía español, Barrera, un colega de Bartl, el anexo secreto a la lista de gente considerada por los británicos como agentes alemanes. Esta lista se le dio cuando Losbichler aún no estaba en ella. He ahí la prueba. Barrera le dio 5,000 francos por esa lista" (Fig. 15 Captain HH Hindmarsch, Oratory School. Traducción de la declaración de Karl Marx el 9/8/1942, Apéndice VI, p. 11 kv/2/3266)

"Se sabe que Karl Marx ha trabajado para Max Paul Bartl, representante de la Gestapo en Tanger, al cual informaba sobre los judíos.

La fecha aportada de nacimiento es 20. 9.01, en Kattowitz y dice ser nieto del famoso Karl Marx.

Se le ha visto en varias ocasiones en compañía de conocidos agentes alemanes: Langenheim, Keresselidze y Losbicher*. Se sabe también que trabaja para la policía española*" (Fig. 16 C.B Registry S.I.S. Trace on Karl Marx 9/8/1942 kv/2/3266)
"—¿Le acompañó cada vez que fue usted a ver al cónsul de Alemania?
—No, ya no volvió conmigo.
—¿(Karl Marx) Fue solo?
—Sí
—¿Con frecuencia?
—En mi tiempo, no, no iba mucho, pero cada vez que iba, iba con el Sr. Lossbüchler, del que ya le he hablado.
—¿Estaba el Sr. Marx en contacto constante con la Gestapo de Tánger cuando usted estaba allí?
—Estaba siempre con Mr. Lossbüchler" (Fig. 17 De la declaración de Zygmunt Scwheizer ante el Lindley Committee, el 18/9/1942, p. 3. kv/2/3267)

Las fuentes de información sobre Losbichler en estos documentos son tres: a) los servicios de inteligencia británicos, que consideran a Losbichler un agente al servicio de Alemania; b) el testimonio de un agente alemán, Scwheizer, que identifica a Losbichler con la Gestapo en Tánger; c) el testimonio del espía investigado Karl Marx, que, según comentan los analistas británicos, intenta adecentar la figura de Losbichler, pero admite sus funciones como reclutador, pagador y agente de la Gestapo.

Los datos de interés que se extraen de todo el dossier son:

1. El origen austriaco (vienés) de Losbichler deriva de él mismo. Hasta hoy no tenemos documento válido que lo confirme.
2. Lo mismo ocurre con su condición de Auslandsdeutscher. Sus antecedentes más antiguos fuera del Reich, remontan a Tetuán y 1939, como lo confirma el testimonio de Marx y una anotación encontrada en su agenda que lo situa en el Hotel Nacional.(Fig. 18)
3. En 1953, escribe moderadamente francés e inglés. En 1941, Marx dice que Losbichler "no conoce las lenguas de Tánger".
4. Sus fuentes de ingresos son: la Gestapo, sus representaciones de distintas compañías, tráfico de mercancias diversas. Sin saber qué compañías son es imposible analizar si se encargaba de operaciones comerciales corrientes o si eran negocios tapadera de los servicios de espionaje alemán.
5. Los hoteles en los que se alojaba en Tánger pueden ser el Lutetia (testimonio de Marx) y el Fuentes.
6. Mantenía excelentes relaciones con la policia y el servicio de información español (kv/2/3267)
7. Es identificado como agente de la Gestapo, por el S.I.S, entre 1940 y 1941.

Reaparición de Losbichler como marchante de arte

En 1952, se organiza la gran exposición internacional de pintura Mostra dei Primitivi Mediterranei, que recorre Burdeos, Genova y Barcelona y cuyos promotores son: el alcalde de Burdeos, Jacques Chaban Delmas, el Ministerio de Asuntos Exteriores francés, Robert Schuman (hoy en proceso de beatificación), el Ministro de Asuntos Exteriores de Italia (Alcide De Gasperi, Democracia Cristiana) y el Ministerio de Asuntos Exteriores español, Alberto-Martín Artajo, figura principal en las maniobras que permitieron al nazi Miedl quedarse con las obras expoliadas a familias judías.

En esta exposición, se exhiben, entre otras, La Presentación de la Virgen, de Pedro García de Benabarre, pintor gótico del Siglo XV, el "Encuentro de San Joaquín y Sta. Ana" de Rodrigo de Osona", "El encuentro ante la puerta Dorada" (Jaime Huguet), todas ellas pertenecientes a una "Colección Losbichler", de la que no se tenía noticia ni oral ni escrita, pero que sirve de carta de presentación a Ludwig Losbichler para entrar en el mercado del arte con la garantía y el respaldo de las autoridades y de académicos, que fueron repitiendo (algunos sin saber siquiera escribir correctamente el nombre) "en la

Cómo consiguió un agente de la Gestapo, sin riqueza conocida, el conjunto de obras que reseñaré más tarde es un misterio que sólo se aclarará cruzando la lista con obras expoliadas por nazis y obras que estaban en poder de la Iglesia Católica en España. En la correspondencia con Seligman, Losbichler, se ofrece para actuar de intermediario en la venta de la "Adoración de los pastores" de El Greco perteneciente a la archidiócesis de Toledo (Cardenal Plá y Daniel) y que se hallaba en la iglesia de St. Domingo el Antiguo, antes de que el gobierno español promulgara unas leyes que dificultaran su salida. El Ministerio de Educación cortó estos intentos de venta comprando la obra en 1956 por 1.600.000 pts. (ABC, 10 junio 1956, p. 57)

En sus transacciones y al enviar su catálogo de obras, Losbichler diferencia entre las que son de su propiedad y las que pertenecen a sus "amigos" (no clientes), aunque hay que tomar con precaución la diferencia porque bailan los dueños a lo largo de los años.

Los marchantes, museos y casas de arte que mantuvieron relaciones comerciales con Losbichler hallados hasta ahora son:

Cualificacación de Losbichler como marchante de arte.

En la correspondencia con Seligmann, Losbichler se muestra como un negociante poco conocedor de la historia del arte, del lenguaje del mercado e incluso de la figura de Germain Seligmann. Las primeras listas de obras que envía a Seligmann merecen un análisis textual, que no he realizado exhaustivamente, pero, a simple vista, se descubre que la original es una enumeración de obras redactada en alemán, sin otro orden y nexo que el pertenecer a alguien o, quizás, estar mayoritariamente almacenadas en un lugar. Quien redactó esta lista era minucioso, pero no sabía manejar bibliografía ni tenía cultura suficiente para reconocer escuelas de pintura, temas de tradición bíblica o histórica en los cuadros. En la década de los 60, Lobischler fue ayudado por algún "experto" español, probablemente académico, que ordenó el batiburrillo y pulió las descripciones añadiendo aclaraciones propias de la tradición erudita local.

Por lo demás Losbichler es un marchante trapacero que intenta soslayar las cuestiones de autoría y procedencia remitiendo autenticaciones que no son tales (como la de César Pemán, director del Museo de Cádiz a propósito de un Zurbaran) o recurriendo a validaciones de un falsario como Amadore Porcella. (300 F.2d 162: Amadore Porcella, a Citizen of the Republic of Italy, plaintiff-appellant, v. Time, Inc., a New York Corporation, Defendant-appellee)

Otro personaje asociado al mundo del expolio era su restaurador Arturo Cividini, que también trabajó para otro expoliador profesional del arte español (que figura en el dossier "gente interesante" de Seligman) como Lluís Plandiura.

El caso de "El cojo de Remolinos" de Goya.

En la lista alemana de Losbichler se incluye un lienzo, cuyo autor sería Goya. Como prueba de autenticidad cita dos documentos: uno igual al de una carta que Goya envía a su amigo Sinués en 1774 y otro que es un documento de compra-venta entre los descendientes de la familia Sinués. Queda para los especialistas en Goya analizar la autenticidad de tales y rastrear dónde se halla este Goya hasta ahora desconocido.

Losbichler/ Losbichler Gutjahr

A partir de 1955, Ludwig Losbichler se añade otro apellido: Gutjahr. La finalidad más probable puede ser confundir su apellido Losbichler como "middle name" en países anglosajones, una buena forma de borrar el apellido Losbichler en caso de que salieran a la luz expedientes de la Gestapo. Así ocurre en varias cartas enviadas a Germain Seligman, que fueron anotadas como de L.L. Gutjahr. Incluso el diario español ABC habla de Losbichler en 1978 como "Ludwing L. Gutjahr".

1978: Última información documentada de Ludwig Losbichler.

Este año, Losbichler aparece dos veces mencionado en la prensa española con ocasión de una oferta que hace al Ayuntamiento de Barcelona: la donación de su colección de arte a cambio de una renta vitalicia de 500.000 pts. al mes (3.000 euros).

Los periodistas, con pocas ganas de trabajar, se limitaron a comentar el aspecto menesteroso del marchante y decidieron que la proposición era producto de la extravagancia de un octogenario. No contrastaron ni los antecedentes ni un solo dato.

"En Barcelona vive un pobre millonario

Tiene 80 años y posee una colección artística valorada en más de mil millones de pesetas.

Interpol ha contestado. El delito del que un austríaco residente en Barcelona acusaba a una subdita suiza, ha prescrito. La policía barcelonesa citó al señor Ludwig Losbichler Gutjahr en el hotel donde reside desde hace unos 20 años, y le comunicó la novedad. El señor Losbichler escuchó con atención y dijo...—Me querellaré contra la galería de arte donde se efectuó la venta. La historia del austríaco es auténticamente asombrosa. Cuenta ochenta años de edad y parece que tiene sesenta y cinco. Aparenta vivir en la austeridad más notoria y asegura qué es propietario de una colección de obras de arte valorada en unos mil millones de pesetas. Las pasa moradas en ocasiones para afrontar sus morigerados gastos y en su colección de óleos afirma que se barajan firmas como las de Murillo, Leonardo da Vinci, Zurbarán, Benlliure, Goya, Rembrandt, Rubens..."Todas las escuelas y diversas épocas se mezclan en mi colección, que guardo en cajas fuertes y galerías de arte suizas y alemanas".Tal afirmación, que en marzo de este año nos hiciera el austríaco octogenario y, confesamos, nos sonó un tanto a camelo, adquiere valor de autenticidad con el informe de la Policía suiza al responder a la denuncia formulada por el señor Losbichler Gutjahr. Su querella fue porque una de sus marchantes en Europa, la señora Doménica Rettner, residente en Zurich, vendió un cuadro propiedad del austríaco expuesto en la Galería Limmat, de la mencionada ciudad suiza, por el precio de tres mil quinientos francos suizos, cantidad que pareció excesivamente baja al dueño de la tela y de la que nunca vio un céntimo. Responden las autoridades helvéticas que aquella tela, titulada «Ovejas paciendo», había sido valorada por el señor Gutjahr en doce mil francos suizos, cuando la señora Rettner le propuso su venta; pero no se atendió tal precio porque los técnicos de arte dijeron que sólo podían pagarse los 3.500 en que fue vendida. La señora Rettner, por su parte, Informa que posee veinticinco fotografías de otros tantos cuadros propiedad del anciano austríaco, correspondientes a la colección que dicho señor posee en Zurich, valorada en ochenta millones de francos suizos.

La marchante Doménica Rettner asegura que con aquel dinero no ganó nada, cubriendo apenas gastos al tener que utilizar abogados para defenderse de la querella que la imponía Losbichler. Y los jueces contestan que el delito prescribió a los cinco años, como señala el Código Penal del cantón suizo donde se efectuó la venta.

Una vida novelesca

El veterano austríaco es buen hablador; difícil personaje para tomar notas y poder luego hilvanarlas. El pobre millonario, o el millonario pobre, es el que en la primavera pasadase dijo que ofrecía toda su, valiosa colección a Barcelona, a cambio de un vitalicio. Se habló de medio millón de pesetas mensuales y hubo encontradas opiniones, ya que para unos lo de la colección de Goyas, Munillos, Rubens, etc., no es posible que sea cierto, mientras que otros opinan qua nada puede negarse sin investigar la realidad de esa colección. La cuestión es que nadie hizo caso de la oferta del austríaco, que ahí sigue, solitario en un gran hotel, capeando facturas y años, y jurando que jamás malvenderá una de sus obras de arte para pagar una trampa.

Sin familia, viajero eterno, muchos años en África y bastantes ya en España, fue marchante de obras artísticas desde 1948 y así fue engrosando una fabulosa colección particular de la que afirma estar enamorado,que no querría por nada del mundo desprenderse de ella, pieza a pieza.

—Tengo la auténtica «Mona Lisa», de 72 por 57, distinto tamaño que la exhibida en ei Louvre, y con el crucifijo en la mano; es una réplica a la otra «Mona-Lisa» de Leonardo, que es la del museo parisiense. Habla, habla el austríaco. Y aún invita al periodista...

—Si quiere que le cuente mi vida y que le muestre transparencias de mis mejores cuadros, tiene usted que venirse a pasar un día entero al hotel. De lo contrario, es imposible. Ludwig Losbichler opina que los museos españoles están muy vacíos de obras auténticas de arte y que los españoles en general no nos interesamos por el arte. Habla con pena del desprecio que suelen hacerle cuando, acuciado por necesidades perentorias ofrece una de sus telas. Por eso, dice, no quiere vender y sólo cede pequeñas cosas. El mayor enemigo que tiene este hombre de 80 eños de edad y quijotesco aspecto, es que transpira pobreza ofreciendo riqueza. Aunque digamos que las apariencias engañan, la verdad es que aplicamos tal tópico a circunstancias totalmente opuestas a las que rodean el extraño caballero austríaco que teniéndo de

(La Vanguardia, 11 de noviembre de1978, p. 21)

A partir de este momento Losbichler y su colección desaparecen.

Conclusiones:

Ludwig Losbichler es un agente de la Gestapo que se mueve en entre Tetuán y Tánger durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial. Representa a distintas empresas de “exportación-importación” y es el encargado de reclutar y pagar delatores y espías para la Gestapo. Era la mano derecha del Jefe de la Gestapo en Tánger, Bartl.

Como miembro de la Gestapo, goza de la protección de las autoridades, policía y servicios de inteligencia españoles. Por tanto, está familiarizado con el contrabando de la zona y tiene los contactos para moverse sin dificultad.

Los domicilios que da, a lo largo de toda su vida, siempre son apartados de correos u hoteles. A veces, como puede verse en su correspondencia con Seligman, dice vivir en un hotel (el Majestic de Barcelona), usa su papel de cartas, pero puede ser falso ya que se devuelve la correspondencia enviada a su nombre. Los nombres de hotel hasta ahora recopilados son:

* Hotel Nacional (Tetuán), cuartel general de facto de la Gestapo y el SD .

* Hotel Fuentes (Tánger)

* Pensión Bosque (Barcelona)

* Hotel Majestic (Barcelona)

* Hotel Limmathof (Zürich)

* Hotel Jura et Simplon (Lausanne)

* Hotel Baslerhof (Basilea)

* Hotel Wuerttembeger Hof (Munich)

Losbichler insiste en recibir correos no certificados, sin duda porque en España se exige documentos de identidad y quedan inscritos en un registro general.

El banco donde recibía el ingreso de sus transacciones es el Schweizerische Kreditantstalt de Zurich

Su colección estaba distribuida entre Suiza y España. En España, tiene unas en Barcelona; otras no sabemos dónde. De este grupo hay unas que dice pueden ser exportadas legalmente y otras, no. (carta a Seligman, 2 octubre, 1953)

En Suiza estaba en:

* Kunsthaus (Zurich)

* Schweizerische bankgesellschaft (Bahnhofstrasse, 45 Zurich)

* Tresor (Zurich)

En Zurich, Losbichler menciona además una "private safe" (carta a Seligman, 10, septiembre, 1956)

* Kunstmuseum (Basilea)

En todos estos lugares puede seguirse el rastro del tráfico de obras.

Losbichler declaró en 1978 que empezó a coleccionar arte en 1948. Lo cierto es que, en 1952, su lista de obras ya estaba completa. Las escuelas de pintura que representan son principalmente: española; alemana y austriaca, húngara, francesa y holandesa. En el caso español, el porcentaje de obras expoliadas y de tráfico dudoso es abrumador y sólo pudo hacerse con semejante botín con la connivencia de las autoridades eclesiásticas que custodiaban estas obras.

Es más que probable que Losbichler actuara de intermediario, en posguerra, en el tráfico de bienes expoliados (oro y obras de arte) que los nazis sacaron de Alemania y que tenía Tánger como uno de sus lugares principales en su ruta a Latinoamérica. No sé hasta qué año permaneció en Tánger y la empresa Mosse y Supl. Schoeller Priv. estuvo en activo, pero merecería una investigación.

La impunidad de la que gozó este agente de la Gestapo no sólo se la proporcionó un país como España que acogió nazis y criminales de guerra con auténtico fervor. Se la otorgó una mafia de traficantes desaprensivos como es la de las galerías y marchantes de arte y unos académicos que ganaban un sobresueldo certificando obras, cuya procedencia ignoraron cuidadosamente.

Interrogation of Zygmunt SCHWEIZER.

Together with Mr. Cole, who is examining the case of Karl MARX, I reinterrogated SCHWEIZER on certain circumstances of his contacts with the Germans in Tangier, with particular reference to various points arising out of MARX's statements.

1. SCHWEIZER declared that the Vox Bar closed around June 5th, 1941, and that the violent quarrel between himself and MARX, on the one hand, and BRUNNER on the other, broke out because of the financial disaster resulting from the failure of the Vox bar. He and MARX lost all the money they had invested in the Vox, and BRUNNER threw them out into the street without paying them a penny.

2. The first contact with the Germans was established some two or three days later, on a Sunday evening, (presumably Sunday June 8th). SCHWEIZER was sitting in the Ginget Bar, when he was approached by LOSBURGHLER, who introduced him to two officials from the German Consulate. One of these was BARTL, the "Gestapo Commissioner", while the other does not appear to have been BEHRENDS. BARTL was most friendly and asked SCHWEIZER to visit him at the German Consulate the following day. SCHWEIZER states that he gave a vague reply and decided to consult his friends, George BENIAROSCH, a Moroccan Jew, Robert COHEN, and Karl MARX. These warned him of the consequences which might follow his refusal to attend at the Consulate.

3. At this point SCHWEIZER alluded to some mysterious affair which he and Robert COHEN had in common, but persisted that this was a personal matter which concerned his own private feelings.

4. MARX and SCHWEIZER talked the German invitation over and they both decided to go, MARX apparently being anxious to give SCHWEIZER moral support.

he admitted that he was on several occasions approached by BRANDT, the Gestapo agent, and this association must have extended over a much wider period. He also admitted that he saw BARTL a few weeks before his departure from Tangier, when the latter attempted to commission him to purchase a wireless set.

10. On his second visit SCHWEIZER went along to the German Consulate, and this time the principal matter discussed was the case of Erich JANSKY. While entering the Consulate SCHWEIZER saw JANSKY waiting in the antechamber. SCHWEIZER had to answer the questions put to him by BARTL concerning JANSKY, and appears to have given him a certain amount of information. SCHWEIZER was aware for instance, that JANSKY was a double agent working for the Germans and for the French (or British), and he had learnt something from JANGL, the proprietor of the Wiener Kueche, about a 'Schweinerei' perpetrated by JANSKY.

11. SCHWEIZER never saw JANSKY again, and he considers that JANSKY's abduction to Germany was effected that very day.

12. SCHWEIZER is inclined to think that the offer of a German passport was made to him by BARTL at the second meeting, rather than the first. As far as he remembers the above were the only two matters discussed on this occasion.

13. SCHWEIZER was questioned regarding his opinion of Karl MARX and stated that after the first visit to the German Consulate MARX was constantly consorting with LOSBUECHLER, who apparently acted as a link with the German officials. MARX was also on very good terms with the Gestapo officers. SCHWEIZER said that he himself would certainly not advise the release of MARX; he would like to see him kept under surveillance for the rest of the war. Finally he asked that in the event of MARX turning out to be a German spy, due credit for his capture and unmasking should be given to him, SCHWEIZER, who business footing, could hardly be accepted in view of the fact that RESSING was known to us as a dangerous German agent, MARX professed great surprise and indignation and excused himself by saying that at the time he knew RESSING at least the latter was entirely non-political. In support of his assertion he described the alleged poverty of RESSING and his family.

6) MARX was again questioned about his original contact with the German Consulate at Tangier in July 1941. When pressed, he repeated his statement that he had only consented to get into contact with the Germans in order to give his friend SCHWEIZER moral support; in addition, he was alarmed of the consequences that might occur to him if he declined to go to the Consulate. On its being pointed out to him that he himself had not been summoned to the Consulate and that therefore he could not get into trouble if he had not gone there, MARX replied that he still regarded himself to some extent a German citizen who was in the power of the Germans. In reply to the argument that he was the holder of a valid stateless passport, MARX alleged that that was no safeguard since other stateless individuals, (e.g., BRUNNER) had also been summoned to the German Consulate and had to pay the consequences if they refused.

CONCLUSION:

7) Although this interrogation has not brought forth any new information regarding MARX's activities, at the same time it cannot be said to have thrown more favourable light on the case as a whole. MARX sticks to his story, although there are certain features, such as his association with individuals like LOSBICHLER and RESSING, which he cannot explain away and neither can he offer any reasonable explanation for ever getting into touch with the German Consulate in the first place and then of continuing to work for them.

8) Although it might be expected that further interrogations could bring to light fresh aspects on MARX' activity, it would appear that there is

11. MARX states that his chief contact in the French Intelligence was a certain agent called JACQUES who lived in the rue Michel Ange and who was working for LUIZET. JACQUES introduced him to ROBERT - another agent of LUIZET.

12. MARX states that he passed on to the French a long report on the situation in Tetuan. He was offered money by the French in return for his services but he states that he resolutely declined to accept this.

13. After the capitulation of France MARX states that he severed all connection with the French, although he knew slightly JACQUES' successor, a man called PELLISE, or PELISSIER.

Contact with the German Intelligence Service

14. This has already been described by MARX in detail in his written statement and he states that this must have taken place at the end of July 1941.

15. He was therefore cross-questioned as to what motives prompted him to actually go to the German Consulate since, according to his original description, he himself had not been invited or summoned to go there and he only appeared to have accompanied his friend, SCHWEIZER.

16. MARX began by repeating that he was at first steadfastly opposed to the idea of getting into touch with the Germans, but he let himself be overruled by his friends who pointed out the evil consequences for him if he did not go. Amongst MARX's friends he mentions the name of LOSBICHLER - although, according to MARX's own admission, he knew that LOSBICHLER had by then completely changed his views and was hand-in-glove with the Nazis.

17. MARX points out, however, that before going to the German Consulate he made it a condition that he and SCHWEIZER should go to RULE and inform him of the matter. (RULE, was a British subject whom he had got to know when he made his application to the British Consulate

27. MARX adds that another individual, an Estonian, Harri SULERI, also originally worked for HAGGENMACHER and WIEDEMAN, until he was eventually dropped by them and taken on by BARTL.

MARX'S source of Income.

29. Until leaving the Vox Bar, MARX appears to have lived fairly prosperously. He then became, according to his own admission, penniless and remained practically destitute until the end of October 1941.

30. As has been pointed out above, MARX maintains that he refused all payment from the Germans for his reports and it was only after he had begun to do translations that he received any money in return. For his translations he was paid by the line by BARTL and out of that money he himself had to pay NANSEN.

31. MARX points out that he was able to support himself in his period of penury largely owing to the fact that the International Court to whom he had appealed in the BRUNNER affair had found the verdict in his favour and BRUNNER was obliged to pay him back between 15,000 and 16,000 Fcs.

32. In addition MARX admits that he received money from LOSBICHLER and says that this must have amounted to between 2,000 and 2,500 Fcs. He claims that he was later able to repay LOSBICHLER from the money he had received from BRUNNER.

33. MARX states that he received a number of minor loans from time to time from such friends as GUTTMAN.

SPECIAL POINTS

34. MARX's justification for his work for the Germans in Tangier can be summarised as follows: -

35. It started from July 1941 when he had every expectation of being evacuated shortly to British territory and so could risk temporary "flirting" with the Germans in order to pass on useful information to the British: the reports which he gave to the Germans were in any case of such a general nature that they were quite valueless: all his work for the Germans was done with the full knowledge and approval of the British and if MARX was obliged to continue this work longer that he had originally intended, it was due to the failure of the British to arrange his early evacuation as he had desired.

36. One significant point about MARX's account of his first contact with the German consulate is that it occurred at the moment when he was known to be in great financial need and therefore likely to be very easily influencedby their offers.

37. It seems typical of German methods that they should have selected unscrupulous adventurers, such as SCHWEIZER and MARX, at a moment when they might be willing to undertake anything in order to earn a little money.

38. I therefore regard with considerable scepticism MARX's assurances that despite his very obvious financial need, he was resolute in rejecting their offers of money.

39. It is also significant that all reports we have had concerning MARX, agree in saying that he always appeared to be in possession of considerable sums of money and to be leading an easy life.

40. It must also be recalled that on his own admission he had borrowed freely from LOSBICHLER and so had put himself in the power of the Germans financially.

41. Another aspect of MARX's story which I am reluctant to accept is his contention that he worked exclusively for BARTL. It seems rather odd that, if MARX really was producing reports merely on public opinion and doing harmless translations, he should work under the Gestapo chief, BARTL, when one might have expected him to work under the Propaganda chief, WEIDEMAN.

Catholic; he was married and his wife was a heavy financial burden since she squandered considerable sums of money on ther pet dogs of which she had a great number; he also had a grown-up daughter in Tetuan. RESSING consorted almost entirely with anti-Nazi Spanish friends. MARX states that he was impulsive and outspoken in his criticism of the Nazis and that he was consequently expelled at about the end of October 1939 and was obliged to return to Spain. MARX states that his effrontery was so great that he would often turn on the news from London when he was in the presence of officials of the German Consulate. (It is difficult to reconcile this latter statement with MARX's previous assertion that RESSING scarcely ever mixed with other Germans but kept to himself and his Spanish friends.)

10. LOSBICHLER was a respresentative of a number of different firms, mostly Polish-Jewish and also Japanese and Czech. MARX states that when he first knew LOSBICHLER the latter was an anti-Nazi and it was only later, when MARX met him again in Tangier, that he showed himself to be a supporter of Hitler. In Tetuan LOSBICHLER had a few German friends and he only reported to the German Consulate in order to register in the normal manner. He consorted mainly with Italian friends and after he had become friendly with MARX he warned the latter against prominent local Nazis such as LANGENHEIM.

11. Another friend of LOSBICHLER was a German called SCHOTT who was later expelled from Tetuan shortly after the expulsion of RESSING and like the latter he made his way to Spain. SCHOTT had a watch-shop in Tetuan and after he had left, his wife kept on the business. MARX states that he was later able to assist SCHOTT's family by buying watches in Tangier and then sending them to LOSBICHLER in Tetuan, who in turn passed them on to Mrs.SCHOTT. MARX explains that he chose to send them via LOSBICHLER as he had no confidence in Mrs.SCHOTT'S financial integrity.

12. Another friend of MARX's in Tetuan was a certain Hans RUSCHKEWITZ, who originated from Danzig. This man had left Danzig and settled in the Canaries where he represented a number of German firms. He then moved to the 1st Report on KRUGER, that KARDOS was violently anti-British - a fact which Karl MARX is careful to suppress in his written account. When KRUGER arrived in Tangier, KARDOS he believes, was working at the "Olympia" Bar and later bacame the owner of the "Lido".

V. The GSELLE Affair.

12. This is only alluded to by MARX en passant, but KRUGER gives his version of the affair as follows:-

13. In his capacity of night-club proprietor MARX had also made a considerable sum of money by the illegal retailing of food stuffs. He was finally caught by the police and in order to avoid the penalties for this traffic, he made a denunciation of two men - GSELLE, a German subject, and CHROMOS (?), a Greek, whom he accused to the police of forging passports. These two men were arrested on the strength of his accusation and GSELLE was ultimately sent to a concentration camp in Germany. CHROMOS was later released from prison.

VI. MARX's Other Contacts.

14. KRUGER confirmed the fact that NANSEN was a sort of clerical assistant to MARX and collaborated with him in preparing and typing the reports which the latter submitted to the Germans. KRUGER stated that he thought that MARX worked principally for WIEDEMANN who was chief of German propaganda in Tangier. MARX's close relations with LOSEICHLER were also well known. Of the other associates of MARX, KRUGER did not appear to be well informed, but he said that he knew by repute HESSING who - as MARX claimed - had the reputation of being anti-German and was ultimately expelled on their request.

15. Although KRUGER himself is an extremely shady and shifty character I consider that the information which he volunteered may be taken as reasonably accurate since he now regards his case as already closed and would therefore see no advantage to himself in making false statements concerning other people. I therefore have the impression that KRUGER was honestly saying what he knew about conditions in Tangier and he appeared to make no attempt to advance information which he did not if fact possess.

to go to Tetuan to intervene with BEIGBEDER, the High Commissioner, who knew his fiancée and also knew MARX by name. BEIGBEDER procured a visa for MARX's fiancée and a week later, BEIGBEDER sent his car to fetch MARX to Ceuta, where his fiancée had already arrived. The two then returned to Tangier and were married at the American Mission.

28) Regarding BEIGBEDER, MARX gives it as his opinion that this man was a great patriot and democrat, a fervent catholic, who ultimately fell a victim to Gestapo intrigues. Altogether, MARX paid him some five or six visits. Before leaving for Spain, BEIGBEDER introduced MARX to TUBAO, who later became Spanish Vice-Consul in Tangier and whom MARX subsequently entrusted a letter for BEIGBEDER exposing German activities in North Africa. MARX believes that the reception of this letter caused BEIGBEDER some embarrassment and made him reluctant to see MARX when the latter was in Madrid.

29) Karl MARX lost little time in getting into contact with Captain LUIZET, the French Military Attache in Tangier in order to see if he could resume his contact with LAPLACE. MARX also volunteered to work for the French if Captain LUIZET required his services in the event of war.

30) When war did actually break out, however, Frau MARX became alarmed lest she should be interned in Tangier, since she was an aryan German, and they therefore deemed it wiser to leave Tangier for Tetuan. MARX thereupon informed Captain LUIZET of his departure and left for Tetuan.

Tetuan.

31) MARX and his wife arrived in Tetuan in September 1939 and lived at the Hotel Nacional. His contacts in that city included; Paul RESSING, a German catholic, who was later expelled on account of his outspoken criticism of Germany; the Viennese Ludwig LOSBICHLER, whom MARX considered to be at heart anti-Nazi, though outwardly conforming owing to pressure of circumstances; Hans RUSCHKEWITZ, a refugee from Danzig, and his wife; Mr. BRY, an interpreter attached to the British Consulate. MARX passed on to the latter specimens of Axis propaganda and information which he considered might be of military importance.

anything to help Germany. BARTL then changed the subject and asked if he knew JANTSKI. MARX suspected the latter of being behind the arrest of RESSING, his own expulsion from Spain and his wife's imprisonment. As he regarded JANTSKI as a thoroughly dangerous and unscrupulous man, he decided to denounce him to BARTL in order, if possible, to secure his removal. A few days after this conversation, JANTSKI was arrested and sent to Germany. BARTL escorted him back in person. During BARTL's absence, BEHRENS, Secretary of the German Consulate, sent for MARX and made him sign a statement pledging silence regarding the JANTSKI affair.

43) Sometime later, LOSBICHIER (who had by that time returned to Tangier) visited MARX and told him that BARTL had been very impressed by him and suggested that MARX should co-operate with him (LOSBICHIER) in drawing up general reports regarding public opinion in Tangier, since LOSBICHIER was not acquainted with local conditions or languages. This MARX refused.

44) After his return, BARTL had one or two other conversations with MARX regarding the BRUNNER affair. MARX told him that he had already engaged the services of the lawyer, CHERIF, at the International Court. MARX frequently saw BARTL on the beach at Tangier, but LOSBICHIER's proposition was never mentioned to him.

45) During the second half of August, SCHWEIZER learned that he would soon be able to proceed to the U.K., and RUIE also promised MARX that he would be able to go too. This information was confirmed by SOMMERY-GAD. When LOSBICHIER approached MARX with a renewed offer of collaboration, MARX therefore decided to accept as he thought that the information he obtained from the Germans, and his insight into their methods could be placed at the disposal of the British Authorities. He states that he communicated his decision to RUIE and SOMMERY-GAD and the only condition he laid down was that his evacuation to England should be arranged if he became too far compromised. In the meantime, it can be added that MARX had become Manager of the LIDO Restaurant.

MARX, Karl R.V.P.S. 23.8.42.

46) Karl MARX passed two or three reports to BARTL giving the gist of what was commonly to be heard in the cafes and streets of Tangier or on the London wireless. MARX adds that BARTL became more communicative towards him and that he was also able to get a clearer insight into the character of LOSBICHLER - a man driven by fear and by his economic interests to become more and more the tool of the Gestapo.

47) MARX states that he then looked around for some means of establishing more direct contact with the British, since he was in possession of important information and found the use of RUIE as an intermediary unsatisfactory. Through his friend Guido DRACH, he met ALAZRACHI, believed to have been formerly employed in the British Consulate in Casablanca before the war. It was through ALAZRACHI and at that man's house that MARX made the acquaintance of Mr. Green.

48) MARX told Green that he was afraid to pass on all the information in his possession as it might fall into the hands of the Germans and fatally compromise him. Green, according to MARX, was at first mistrustful, but after he had received certain items of valuable information from MARX - such as the names of BARTL's two main collaborators and an account of the activities of one, Georg GSELL - Green came to have more confidence in him.

49) BARTL then left for Madrid for some four weeks and after his return, he suggested to MARX (who in the meantime had contemplated setting up a new boarding house with the money he had recovered from the BRUNNER affair and with LOSBICHLER help in arranging necessary transactions) that he should work for him as an official translater of such documents as new Spanish laws and regulations etc. After consulting ALAZRACHI, (whom MARX believes consulted Green) MARX accepted the offer and engaged a certain NANSEN as his helper. BARTL paid for the translations by line and from this money MARX was able to pay NANSEN. MARX purposely gave the impression of working for the Germans, since he openly handed his translations to the porter at the German Consulate and consorted openly with BARTL's it seems almost certain that these were a by-product of his real work for the Germans and the Spanish in Tangiers.

23. It is significant that practically all the names of his friends and casual acquaintances which he gives in Tangiers are known to be German agents or at least anti-British - LOSBICHLER, KARDOS etc. - although he may endeavour to "white-wash" them and it is clear that he was in contact with many more individuals of equally doubtful reputation whom he omits to mention but whose names are known to us from other sources. A further interrogation of such individuals should therefore throw fresh light on the real nature of his activities in Tangiers.

TETUAN - MADRID(September 39 to February 40.)

In Tetuan we lived in the Hotel Nazional. The guests in this Hotel consisted of Spaniards, Germans, Italians and one Englishman, Mr. BRY(Brit.Post and interpreter to the English Consulate in Tetuan).

The atmosphere in the Hotel was always tense. The Spaniards kept to themselves and avoided the Germans and Italians; the crews staffs of the Italian Air Line were hardly on speaking terms with the German aviators of the Iberia Line. The Italians delighted in turning on the British news in Italian when the Germans were present.

One German who acted as a spokesman for the others complained about my presence in the Hotel to the manager and objected to having to eat in the same room as an emigrant. The hotelier reminded the German that he was not in Germany and if he did not like it he could go to another hotel.

At first we kept entirely to ourselves, speaking only to a few Italians and the manager's family. Then we were visited occasionally by the Auslandsdeutscher Paul RESSING, a German Catholic who was openly anti-Nazi and as a result soon had to leave the country owing to an order from the German Consulate. Later on there was a Viennese called Ludwig LOSBICHLER, a man who had lived abroad for many years. He had scarcely any contact with the Germans and made friends with us. He was very nervous and warned me particularly about several Germans. When I turned on the German news from Paris or London he advised me only to do it if certain Germans were not there. He himself only spoke about politics in his own room and then he was anti-Nazi. It is important that I mention this because later on I shall have more to say about LOSBICHLER's development. In any event it was not my fault if I then took LOSBICHLER to be an Auslandsdeutscher who, frightened by what he had heard, took up the attitude that "When you are among wolves, it is better to howl with them."

At the end of October Hans RUSCHKEWITZ and his wife, emigrants from Danzig arrived. We always went around with them afterwards.

Anything of particular interest which I noticed I passed on to Mr. BRY. Among other things I convinced him that the German airmen of the Iberia Line always had special machines on their planes with which they took photographs when they were over Gibraltar. More to Gibraltar, I said: "Good Lord no, he has gone off drinking somewhere with a woman."

The next day BARTL came to the Lido, sent for me to his table and said angrily: "Na! what has your friend SCHWEIZER been up to". I had not considered the matter and did not know how I stood, but I replied immediately: "What about him?". "He went to Gibraltar yesterday." "Town gossip again, I replied "SCHWEIZER went off yesterday afternoon on one of his drinking bouts and probably went up into the mountains with some woman in the evening like he did before. He'll come back again when he is sober."

After this I felt a little relieved, but the days until the ship left Tangier were among the worst of last year because I was afraid they would find SCHWEIZER on the boat.

BARTL had received one or two reports from me containing information that anyone could obtain in the streets, the cafes or by listening to the German news from London. He got more and more friendly(literally:spoke to me more and more.)

I soon discovered what LOSBICHLER was up to. Fear and above all the big import and export business he did with Germany had put him in the power of these scoundrels and his "gleichschaltung" followed immediately and he became a easy tool of the Gestapo.

I could not get any definite answer from either RULE or SUMMARY GAD. RULE always said: "I am sure it will not be long now." But when one day RULE told me there would be a letter waiting for me the next day in the Restaurant "Chez Robert", and this letter did not come, I began to be nervous.

The material which I had already collected in the meantime was very full and interesting.

I had to get into direct touch with the English as RULE did not seem to be doing the thing properly, but as I could not approach either the(Consulate)Legation or the Annex direct, so I consulted my friend Guido DRACH who lived in the same Pension and had also applied to go to England as a volunteer. DRACH put me in touch with ALAZRACHI, a man who before the war, claimed to have worked in the British Consulate in Casablanca.

I gave him a general idea of the situation and requested him - as I had not yet met him - to put me in touch with some man in authority. He promised to do this the next day. At ALAZRACHI'S house I met Mr. GREEN to whom I spoke roughly as follows:

"For months I been waiting for an answer to my offer which Mr. RULE tells me may come any day. In this connection, after I had to buy food for my dog. I used to treat some of BARTL's colleagues quite openly in the Aquarium Cafe, just as openly as I used to hand the translations to the Porter at the German Consulate in broad daylight.

To all except a few who were in my confidence, I was the Gestapo man, the German Spy, the criminal and God knows what else. But I did not care, soon people will hear and know where I am and what I am, I tought.

/ALAZRACHI But/apparently thought otherwise. I went to see him again and showed him in my book, a name. On this occasion he also noticed the name BOUSAGLIO in my book. "What about them" he said going pale. "That is a case for Gibraltar" I replied. "No" said A. you must tell me here." After some hesitation, I agreed and said: "BOUSAGLIO and his wife are working for England and Germany. "You are mad" said A. "I have proof". "What is it?"

1. Mrs. BOUSAGLIO gave the Spanish Policeman BARRERA, a colleague of BARTL's the secret Annex List of people whom the British regard as German Agents. This list was given at a time when LOSBICHLER was not on it yet. That is proof. BARRERA gave her 5,000 Francs for the list.

2. The young people who were arrested recently when trying to get to Gibraltar illegally were betrayed by Mr. BOUSAGLIO who had made friends with them and told them he wanted to come too. When he found out what the arrangement for the journey were he got the young people arrested.

"I tell you these two things as I heard them from BARRERA and draw your attention to the consequences for me if anything is done about the BOUSAGLIO's as long as I am in Tangier" I said.

ALAZRACHI said this was no proof and I must bring him more. Next day ALAZRACHI brought me a Jewish prayer book and asked me if I could read it. This was really quite ridiculous.

That same evening I saw the BOUSAGLIO's at the house of their 'old friend' ALAZRACHI. I really could not have been expected to guess this.

Then came a ship from Gibraltar. It went away again. So I spoke seriously to ALAZRACHI and asked him what he was going to do about me. I reminded him how deeply I was compromised through his promises. "Do you know, I asked ALAZRACHI, "that it might cost me my head." "You don't know the English yet, he laughed, on more or less, it is all the same to them."

Dear Mr. Seligman,

I am in receipt of your favour of Sept. 27th and beg to inform you, that my painting "The Beggar" or "Der Bettler am Wanderstab" on canvas 145x85cm, of which you have seen the photo= graphe, is at time deposed in ~~Zuerich~~ Basel at Kunstmuseum, St. Al= bangraben,16 in the hands of Conservator Herr Dr. Georg Schmidt, who will show it to you at every time.

This painting is, indeed, very interesting and could not be attributed, till today, at any of the some masters which have been named, with certitude, as Breughel, Duerer, Callot and at last time Gruenewald. Therefore it is a little difficult to quote a price, but I think, with regard of the very high quality it should not be to much, to quote about 30,000.-- Dollar?

I have the pleasure to including a list of some more paintings and one sculpture of own property, which are most in Zuerich. Only the Nº 003 is also in the Kunstmuseum Basel and the numbers 006, 017, 018, 019, 020, 024, 025, 026 and 027 are here in Barcelona, from where the first four numbers can be exported in full legality.

Awaiting your early reply, I am, dear Sir,

your very truly,

Artworks Stored in a Potash Mine in Merkers (April 15, 1945)

In early April 1945, members of the U.S. 90th Infantry Division discovered an extensive German depot in the Merkers-Kaiseroda potash mine in Thuringia. Among other things, it contained gold bullion and gold coins worth 250 million dollars (including Reichsbank gold), 2.7 billion Reichsmarks in cash, large stores of foreign currency, as well as many art objects (partly from Berlin museums). Infantry members also discovered valuables belonging to Jews who had been murdered in the Holocaust. Given the significance of the find, several high-ranking U.S. military officials inspected the mine on April 12, 1945: General Dwight D. Eisenhower (supreme commander of Allied Forces in Europe), General Omar N. Bradley (commander of the 12th Army Group), Lieutenant General George S. Patton (commander of the Third Army), and Major General Manton S. Eddy (commander of the 12th Corps). The Americans began removing and transporting the treasures to Frankfurt am Main on April 14-15.

The photograph shows Master Sergeant Harold Maus looking at the etching El buitre carnivoro [The Carnivorous Vulture] by Francisco de Goya. It is part of the series The Horrors of War and was among the artworks sent to Merkers for safekeeping by the Berlin Museum of Prints and Drawings [Berliner Kupferstichkabinett].

Año 1956-57. Trabajo en un colmado de la calle Valencia -Barcelona-.
Ayudaba a repartir pedidos por teléfono. Entré varias veces en una casa cercana al colmado con pedidos efectuados por una señora alemana que antes de abrir miraba con mucha atención. Nunca pasé del recibidor y dejaba en una mesita todo lo que ella había pedido.
Comentando con el dueño del colmado la personalidad de dicha señora, me dijo que era una refugiada alemana de la Guerra.
Un día, tras una visita de un representante de productos cárnicos, me dijo el dueño que el extraño personaje era un ex-coronel de Ejército alemán (¿).
Yo tenía 15 años y fantaseaba con todas aquellas leyendas sobre los refigiados nazis en Barcelona.
Meses después en un colmado de la Bonanova, -barrio barcelonés muy burgués-, me informaron que era un refugio de nazis que trabajaban en empresas alemanas, sobre todo farmacéuticas.

Desde niño sigo todo lo relacionado con la política.

RIPIOS EN HONOR A UNA HAZAÑA DE LA CABRA, SILENCIADA POR LA REDACCIÓN

Tiene la Cabra un salero Que a los Grandes de España aunque se salte los fueros
No duda en meterles caña.

Ni abrir la boca les deja
Va y le come las rosas
A la danzante Duquesa
Que sólo reirse osa.

Don Alimaña nos tiene
Sin información ninguna
Pero, la que se le viene Porque le persigue una.

No es la Duquesa de Alba Que sólo a la Cabra quiere.
Salga el sol por donde salga Escapatoria no tiene.

A menos que del suceso
Nos reseñe los detalles
Y nos fotografíe eso
Que se oye de calle en calle.

RIPIOS EN EL SÉPTIMO ANIVERSARIO DE GATOPARDO

Foto: Nat Farbman

Del gobierno no hay queja, a la CIA no la culpo,
pero por borde y pendeja me van a dar la del pulpo,
y arrancarme la pelleja.

No habría costado nada hacerme más lastimera, quasi quasi encebollada,
con gustos de acemilera
de una grey abellotada.

Mala ha sido mi fortuna, mala ha sido mi ralea,
que además es importuna:
a Alimaña, mi albacea,
no lo quiere ni la tuna.

Del Espía, dios nos libre:
tiene antenas y se entera
de asuntos de gran calibre, que tocan la faltriquera,

regados con cubalibre.

Don Eliah es muy suyo:
no es católico, seguro,
lo digo por el barullo
de ese mundo tan oscuro de maldad y de chanchullo.

L'agüela que es la peor,
tiene el verbo amotinado con tequila del mejor
y un pelín amontillado que resulta abrumador.

Cumplimos los siete años:
y llegaremos a ocho
tenemos muchos redaños,
y daremos con el mocho
a de Wert y sus compaños.

Enhorabuena. A ver si llegáis, al menos, a cumplir los 20 años. Aquí estamos para apoyaros. O para recibir hostias, que viene a ser lo mismo.
Doña Cabra, muy pesimista la veo, reaccione que está usted perdiendo su glamour y no hay razones porque:
1. sus ripios son mejores que los versos de G, de Lav, de Lac, de Gm, y de todas las letras del alfabeto. No se me haga la modesta. Usted ya me entiende, que es muy leída.
2. La abuela es la mejor, por el motín, la tequila o lo que sea (yo no pregunto y acepto todo), pero no me la critique, que soy una de sus nietecicas. Y aquí estoy para defenderla.
3. Al Espía que Dios le proteja y pueda seguir espiando.
4. Don Eliah, ay, qué le puedo decir, a mí me importa muy poco (estoy moderando mi lenguaje) que sea católico o judío. Tengo amigos en ambas debilidades. Es un caballero, y punto. De causas perdidas y no perdidas. Además, comparte el mismo Dios, mal que nos pese. Sobre su profeta, podríamos discutir.
5. Ande, doña Cabra, no me fastidie (nueva censura), que el tiempo no acompaña y si sigue usted así,no respondo de mis intervenciones.
Feliz cumpleaños a todos.

ASTEROIDE 433 EROS PASA A 26 KMTS. O A 26 MILLONES DE KILÓMETROS, LO MISMO DA...

433 Eros, vía Wikipedia (español)
433 eros, vía Wikipedia (inglés)

Según El Dia.es, "El asteroide Eros pasará este miércoles a 26 kilómetros de la Tierra. Será visible desde España"; La Vanguardia titula: "El asteroide Eros, el miércoles a 26 kilómetros de la Tierra", aunque luego, corrigió la cifra: "26 millones de kilómetros", cosa que no ha hecho todavía El Dia, a pesar del aviso de un lector informado.

¿Quién copió a quién y a la bendita Wikipedia sin citar fuentes?

Misterios del periodismo español actual.

Y cambiando de tema: ¿Cuándo va a informar a sus clientes Viajes El Corte Inglés de que la compañía aerea Spanair ha dejado de existir?

A fecha de hoy, 31 de enero de 2012, a las 20,36 hora española, tres días después de que Spanai suspendiese su actividad, sigue anunciando en su web "Vuelos baratos de Spanair", con esta alegría y desparpajo:

"SPANAIR:
Reserva las ultimas ofertas y promociones de vuelos de Spanair, a todos sus destinos con información precisa de horarios tarifas y condiciones. Todos los destinos de Spanair los tienes al alcance de un solo click a través de nuestro buscador de vuelos, tarifas con precios todo incluido (vuelos, tasas y cargos de emisión) desde la primera pagina con total seguridad, garantía y confidencialidad en tus compras."

[PEOR, IMPOSIBLE: MÁS DE CINCO MILLONES DE PARADOS, Y GARCÍA DE LA CONCHA EN EL INSTITUTO CERVANTES ...]

Estamos muy interesados en saber cuándo se van a llevar el susto los responsables de Patrimonio, que deberían comprobar los despojos que han dejado de la Casa-Palacio de Contreras —también llamada Casa de don Álvaro de Luna—, en Ayllón (Segovia), declarada monumento histórico-artístico, incluida su huerta-jardín, por Decreto de 17 de Julio de 1969, y las explicaciones que pueda dar Victor García de la Concha.

El Tribunal de Cuentas no debería descuidarse en realizar informe pormenorizado de su gestión al frente del Instituto Cervantes, por si sigue con las mismas mañas... y ya puestos, para ir abriendo boca, que se pasen por la Fundación pro Real Academia Española, y nos cuenten...

RESPONSABLES DE PERIODISTA DIGITAL CONDENADOS POR MALTRATO AL IDIOMA

Este Tribunal de Faltas requiere a la autoridad competente para que detenga a los socios y directivos de Periodista Digital por contratar y pagar a quien escribió el artículo de padre desconocido, "Un método infalibre para que le permitirá tener un cerebro prodigioso" como inductores y cooperadores necesarios en el delito.

Otrosí, requiere a la autoridad competente para que investigue y descubra al responsable, y lo presente ante este Tribunal de Faltas, como reo de la pena de mitones hasta el codo, sin acceso a tiza, lápiz, pluma, bolígrafo, procesador de textos, o cualquier objeto que pudiera servirle para seguir maltratando al idioma.

Como pena accesoria se les condena a escribir mil veces:

"La palabra infalibre no existe, y para que le permitirá ni es español ni lleva trazas de serlo".

Otrosí, han de ser procesados sus profesores por fraude contractual y mala praxis profesional, y el Ministerio de Educación como responsable civil subsidiario por haberles causado esta grave incapacidad para redactar con propiedad.

Un concierto de gaiteros gallegos en directo, es pena muy dura, bien es cierto que peor sería de gaiteros asturianos cuya gaita es más aguda. Pido clemencia para el periodista digital ese, que a punto estuvo de crear un interesante neologismo "infralibre". ¿Acaso no somos casi todos infralibres creyendo ser infalibles?. De todas formas, ha de ignorarse cualquier artículo relacionado con el cerebro, que suelen ser de descerebrados conductistas abducidos por la pseudopsicología norteamericana. Ayer, zapeando en la TVE me topé con un documental sobre el atractivo sexual (experiencias norteamericanas) y no daba crédito a lo que oía. Bien pensado, pido pena de banda de gaiteros asturianos para estos sádicos periodistas ignorantes que contribuyen a la alienación colectiva. Sí, por contumaces.

ANONYMOUS PROPONE: BLACK MARCH/ MARZO NEGRO

MARZO NEGRO

DEL JUEVES, 1 DE MARZO DE 2012 HASTA EL SABADO, 31 DE MARZO DE 2012

Con las continuas campañas censurando internet como SOPA, PIPA y Ley Sinde, y el cierre de sitios como Megaupload bajo acusaciones de "piratería" y "conspiración*, ha llegado el momento de ponerse en pie contra los lobbies musicales, del cine e industrias audiovisuales.

El único modo es golpearles donde de verdad les duele, en su margen de beneficios.

En marzo de 2012 se realiza el primer informe económico mundial del año.

No compres ni un disco. no descargues ni una canción. No veas ni una película en el cine, o descargues una copia, no compres ni un DVD. No compres ni un videojuego. No compres ni un libro o revista.

Espera 4 semanas para hacerlo en abril. Aguanta sólo 4 semanas como máximo, y dejaremos un buen agujero en los beneficios de esas compañías en el primer informe del año, un golpe económico que será visto for los gobiernos del mundo como una señal de importantes pérdidas de ingresos.

Esta acción puede servir como declaración de intenciones:

"No toleraremos la presion de ninguna industria a favor de una ley que censura internet"

No te tires al mar si no puedes con los piratas.

BLACK MARCH
Thursday, March 1st 2012 to Saturday 31st March 2012

With the continuing campaigns for Internet-censoring litigation such as SOPA and PIPA, and the closure of sites such as Megaupload under allegations of 'piracy' and 'conspiracy' the time has come to take a stand against music, film and media companies' lobbyists.

The only way is to hit them where it truly hurts. Their profit margins.

March 2012 is the end of the 1st quarter in economic reports worldwide.

Do not buy a single record. Do not download a single song, legally or illegally. Do not go to see a single film in cinemas, or download a copy, Do not buy a DVD in the stores. Do not buy a videogame. Do not buy a single book or magazine.

Wait the 4 weeks to buy them in April: see the film later, etc. Holding out for just 4 weeks, maximum, will leave a gaping hole in media and entertainment companies' profits for the 1st quarter, an economic hit which will in turn be observed by governments worldwide as stocks and shares will blip from a large enough loss of incomes. This action can give a statement of intent:

"We will not tolerate the Media Industries' lobbying for legislation which will censor the internet."

EN SOLIDARIDAD CON LA WIKIPEDIA, CONTRA LAS LEYES SOPA, PIPA, SINDE, LLERAS, DÖRING, POR LA LIBRE TRANSMISIÓN DE LA CULTURA Y DEL CONOCIMIENTO

"La Wikipedia se encuentra profundamente preocupada por el proyecto de ley Stop Online Piracy Act que actualmente se encuentra en discusión en el Congreso de los Estados Unidos.

La Stop Online Piracy Act (SOPA, por sus siglas) fue presentada ante el Congreso estadounidense por el diputado republicano por el estado de Texas Lamar Smith. [1] Dicha ley tiene por objeto mejorar la protección de la propiedad intelectual en internet. Sin embargo, bajo dicho argumento se pretenden limitar muchas de libertades que hasta ahora han gozado los usuarios de internet. Ya que los medios empleados promoverán la censura y limitaran la inovación.

Entre los elementos que guarda tal proyecto de ley y que Wikipedia considera contrarios a sus propósitos son los siguientes [2]:

- Conforme al texto de SOPA, Wikipedia encuadraría dentro de la definición de "Motor de búsqueda" (Internet search engine) respecto a los cuales se otorga al Fiscal general de los Estados Unidos, mediante orden judicial, la función de mandarle retirar enlaces a páginas señaladas como "sitios extranjeros infractores" (foreign infringing sites) o sujetarla a sanciones judiciales. La definición de "sitios extranjeros infractores" es bastante ambigua y podría afectar, incluso a sitios con contenido legal o en los cuales, presumiblemente, el contenido es ilegal. El elevado costo de la defensa contra estos procedimientos puede llevar a muchas páginas de internet a no dar contestación y dejando sobrevivir la presunción de ilegalidad por parte del gobierno estadounidense.
- Como resultado de ello si alguno de los proyetos de Wikimedia es sujeto a dicha orden judicial, sería obligado a revisar millones de enlaces a "sitios extranjeros infractores" alojados en ellos y bloquearlos. Ello representaría un enorme gasto financiero y humano, que impediría el rápido crecimiento que Wikipedia ha tenido hasta este momento. Al mismo tiempo, tales medidas se oponen a nuestra cultura del conocimiento libre siempre respetuosa de los derechos de autor.

- También, esta ley abre la puerta para que cualquier persona pueda solicitar la investigación e intervención de los sitios web bastando una presunción de ilegalidad o la sospecha de la violación de derechos de autor.
- La Ley SOPA impone restricciones a la red imponiendo barreras a través de los servidores DNS, lo que impediría el fácil acceso a la mayor parte de los dominios de internet con el que actualmente se cuenta.

Lo anterior podría parecer, de primera instancia, una realidad que afectaría solamente al territorio estadounidense y a los hablantes de la lengua inglesa. Sin embargo, debe considerarse que la mayor parte de los datos que conforman las distintas versiones de esta enciclopedia libre se encuentran en servidores localizados dentro del territorio de Estados Unidos, incluyendo la Wikipedia en español, quedando de esta manera sujetos a dicha jurisdicción.

El grave atentado contra la libertad en internet, ha provocado que muchas otras empresas y organismos se unan a la detracción de SOPA entre otros: AOL, Creative Commons Foundation, eBay, Electronic Frontier Foundation, Facebook, Google, Human Rights Watch, Internet Foundation, Kaspersky, Mozilla, Reporteros sin Fronteras, Twitter y Yahoo.

En el mismo espíritu, los miembros de la comunidad de Wikipedia en español hacemos extensivo el rechazo a toda legislación o proyecto legislativo que pretenda emular los fines de la ley SOPA o vulnerar cualquiera de los derechos y libertados con que los usuarios de internet cuentan hasta ahora obstaculizando el desarrollo del conocimiento libre. Por ello, esta protesta se hace extensiva a las siguientes leyes y proyectos de los distintos países cuya lengua comparte la Wikipedia en español:

- Ley Sinde. España. [3]
- Proyecto de Ley Lleras. Colombia.
- Proyecto de Ley Döring. México.

Atentamente,

La comunidad de Wikipedia en español."

CONTRA EL CERRILISMO, A FAVOR DEL LIBRE INTERCAMBIO DE ENLACES Y CONTENIDOS EN INTERNET

Con Wikipedia

To: English Wikipedia Readers and Community
From: Sue Gardner, Wikimedia Foundation Executive Director
Date: January 16, 2012

Today, the Wikipedia community announced its decision to black out the English-language Wikipedia for 24 hours, worldwide, beginning at 05:00 UTC on Wednesday, January 18 (you can read the statement from the Wikimedia Foundation here). The blackout is a protest against proposed legislation in the United States – the Stop Online Piracy Act (SOPA) in the U.S. House of Representatives, and the PROTECT IP Act (PIPA) in the U.S. Senate – that, if passed, would seriously damage the free and open Internet, including Wikipedia.

This will be the first time the English Wikipedia has ever staged a public protest of this nature, and it's a decision that wasn't lightly made. Here's how it's been described by the three Wikipedia administrators who formally facilitated the community's discussion. From the public statement, signed by User:NuclearWarfare, User:Risker and User:Billinghurst:

It is the opinion of the English Wikipedia community that both of these bills, if passed, would be devastating to the free and open web. Over the course of the past 72 hours, over 1800 Wikipedians have joined together to discuss proposed actions that the community might wish to take against SOPA and PIPA. This is by far the largest level of participation in a community discussion ever seen on Wikipedia, which illustrates the level of concern that Wikipedians feel about this proposed legislation. The overwhelming majority of participants support community action to encourage greater public action in response to these two bills. Of the proposals considered by Wikipedians, those that would result in a "blackout" of the English Wikipedia, in concert with similar blackouts on other websites opposed to SOPA and PIPA, received the strongest support. On careful review of this discussion, the closing administrators note the broad-based support for action from Wikipedians around the world, not just from within the United States. The primary objection to a global blackout came from those who preferred that the blackout be limited to readers from the United States, with the rest of the world seeing a simple banner notice instead. We also noted that roughly 55% of those supporting a blackout preferred that it be a global one, with many pointing to concerns about similar legislation in other nations.

In making this decision, Wikipedians will be criticized for seeming to abandon neutrality to take a political position. That's a real, legitimate issue. We want people to trust Wikipedia, not worry that it is trying to propagandize them.

But although Wikipedia's articles are neutral, its existence is not. As Wikimedia Foundation board member Kat Walsh wrote on one of our mailing lists recently,

We depend on a legal infrastructure that makes it possible for us to operate. And we depend on a legal infrastructure that also allows other sites to host user-contributed material, both information and expression. For the most part, Wikimedia projects are organizing and summarizing and collecting the world's knowledge. We're putting it in context, and showing people how to make to sense of it. But that knowledge has to be published somewhere for anyone to find and use it. Where it can be censored without due process, it hurts the speaker, the public, and Wikimedia. Where you can only speak if you have sufficient resources to fight legal challenges, or if your views are pre-approved by someone who does, the same narrow set of ideas already popular will continue to be all anyone has meaningful access to.

The decision to shut down the English Wikipedia wasn't made by me; it was made by editors, through a consensus decision-making process. But I support it.

Like Kat and the rest of the Wikimedia Foundation Board, I have increasingly begun to think of Wikipedia's public voice, and the goodwill people have for Wikipedia, as a resource that wants to be used for the benefit of the public. Readers trust Wikipedia because they know that despite its faults, Wikipedia's heart is in the right place. It's not aiming to monetize their eyeballs or make them believe some particular thing, or sell them a product. Wikipedia has no hidden agenda: it just wants to be helpful.

That's less true of other sites. Most are commercially motivated: their purpose is to make money. That doesn't mean they don't have a desire to make the world a better place – many do! – but it does mean that their positions and actions need to be understood in the context of conflicting interests.

My hope is that when Wikipedia shuts down on January 18, people will understand that we're doing it for our readers. We support everyone's right to freedom of thought and freedom of expression. We think everyone should have access to educational material on a wide range of subjects, even if they can't pay for it. We believe in a free and open Internet where information can be shared without impediment. We believe that new proposed laws like SOPA and PIPA, and other similar laws under discussion inside and outside the United States, don't advance the interests of the general public. You can read a very good list of reasons to oppose SOPA and PIPA here, from the Electronic Frontier Foundation.

Why is this a global action, rather than US-only? And why now, if some American legislators appear to be in tactical retreat on SOPA?

The reality is that we don't think SOPA is going away, and PIPA is still quite active. Moreover, SOPA and PIPA are just indicators of a much broader problem. All around the world, we're seeing the development of legislation intended to fight online piracy, and regulate the Internet in other ways, that hurt online freedoms. Our concern extends beyond SOPA and PIPA: they are just part of the problem. We want the Internet to remain free and open, everywhere, for everyone.

On January 18, we hope you'll agree with us, and will do what you can to make your own voice heard.

Make your voice heard!

Sue Gardner,
Executive Director, Wikimedia Foundation

CATÁLOGO RAZONADO DE OBRAS DE PROCEDENCIA DUDOSA O ILÍCITA CON LAS QUE TRAFICÓ LA FAMILIA HARRIS (SPANISH ART GALLERY, TOMAS HARRIS LTD)

LOS HARRIS Y LA SPANISH ART GALLERY: FARABUSTEADORES, BRASAS, GARIFEROS, AVISPONES Y OTRAS GERMANÍAS DEL ARTE

They don't make them like these anymore!

Antes que cuervos, picapleitos y rábulas terminaran de redactar las distintas clases, modalidades y tipos de delito, los delincuentes ya habían creado un hermosísimo vocabulario que contenía todas las especialidades de su arte, su jerarquía en el oficio y un ordo naturalis ajeno al del mundo en que vivían.

Ateniéndonos a la legislación moderna española (1) y a los convenios internacionales sobre protección de bienes históricos y culturales (2), los Harris, individualmente o a través de distintas sociedades (3) cometieron expolio y contrabando

(4) de obras de arte de manera continuada durante un período que sobrepasa el medio siglo. Pero también cometieron estos delitos según la legislación española de la época (5). Por tanto, la definición jurídica de sus “operaciones comerciales” no presenta problema alguno.

Para entender cómo fue posible que sacaran impunemente de España, principal víctima de su tráfico, tal cantidad de obras hay que estudiar el modus operandi de esta clase de traficantes:

1. La elección del país o región. España, uno de las naciones con más patrimonio histórico artístico del mundo, a finales del siglo XIX, era una nación desangrada demográficamente por guerras y pandemias. En menos de un siglo casi un millón de personas murieron en la Guerra de la Independencia, Guerras Carlistas y coloniales y unas ochocientas mil murieron víctimas de epidemias recurrentes de cólera. En 1900 casi un 70% de una población de poco más de 18.000.000 era analfabeta absoluta y las condiciones de la clase trabajadora agravaban el índice de mortalidad por malnutrición y falta de condiciones higiénicas. En términos prácticos, el país era un despojo de guerra abierto al saqueo.

2. Cooperación y complicidad de la Iglesia Católica, la nobleza y los grupos intelectuales en el expolio. Como puede observarse en las notas que acompañan a cada obra gran parte de las obras que consiguieron los Harris proceden de iglesias, monasterios y conventos, que vendieron patrimonio propio y ajeno amparando su desaparición en las desamortizaciones y, posteriormente, en la guerra civil.

Esta versión ha sido perpetuada por historiadores sin aportar documentación y pruebas de consistencia; sólo tardíamente aparecen estudios donde se describen las ventas que la Iglesia llevó a cabo, pero su carácter local ha restringido su conocimiento y apreciación. Necesariamente el inventario de todas las obras expoliadas tiene que tener en cuenta todos y cada uno de estos estudios y ha de aquilatar las fuentes documentales en la que están basados.

No es cierto que falte esa documentación. Está en las hemerotecas, a veces anunciadas como gran operación de beneficiencia por la cual la autoridad católica se deshacía de “cosas viejas” para construir asilos o colegios de huérfanos o para comprar un órgano. También aparece, caso del van der Goes, el papel de nobles como el Duque de Alba, actuando de marchantes e intermediarios en las operaciones (6). En la prensa también han quedado las protestas de algunas personas cada vez que se producía un expolio. Existe la correspondencia entre los mismos expoliadores, como tenemos un precioso ejemplo en el caso de George Bonsor y Archer Milton Huntington, dos saqueadores con formas, que nos enseña cómo entretejieron una red de intereses entre políticos, nobles y académicos bordoneros (7) que encubrieron el desmantelamiento de Itálica y otras ventas como operaciones de promoción cultural de nuestro patrimonio en Estados Unidos (8). En esta misma correspondencia se confirma, por ejemplo, que “el famoso Harris de Londres” era poseedor en 1913 de la tabla del Camino del Calvario de Juan y Diego Sánchez. Existen, en fin, los archivos de marchantes y galerías donde se han guardado anotaciones de los contactos y posibles vendedores de obras en condiciones irregulares (9)

(7) La untuosidad de nuestros académicos ofreciendo sus servicios a forasteros de tronío es un capítulo muy divertido:
"(...) Ayer vi a Cerralbo en la Academia y me dijo que había recibido su carta e iba a pedir en seguida una dosis. Le remito en este correo la fotografía del cuadrito que no me han traído hasta ayer, mide la tabla 0.33 x 0.235 y no me extrañaría nada que fuera un buen maestro. Mucho me alegraría poder enajenarla en buenas condiciones y dudo luego pueda hacer las gestiones que estime oportunas, que además agradecería mucho. Mil gracias por todo y mande lo que guste a su afmo. amigo. Antonio Vives (Escudero) (Académico de la Historia) 12 abril 1913. Carta a Jorge Bonsor.

Otro académico, que ruge por el expolio de arte, a propósito de que Lionel Harris vaya a sacar de España el Camino del Calvario de Juan y Diego Sánchez: "¿Cómo no lamentar, pues, en esta ocasion, como lo hemos hecho en tantas otras, la funestísima apatía, hija de la supina ignorancia que en materias artisticas demuestran las personas que rigen los destines públicos, al mirar indiferentes cuanto se relaciona con nuestros monumentos históricos. arqueológicos y artisticos? (...) y asi podriamos hacer larga enumeracion de los espolios verificados en nuestro tesoro artistico durante los últimos cuarenta años: esto no obstante, que en ocasiones fueron advertidas las autoridades, de que se iban a efectuar las enagenaciones, a fin de que impidiesen el despojo, que entonces pudo evitarse sin grandes sacrificios pecuniarios para las areas municipals o provinciales; requerimientos y consejos que fueron desoídos, perdiendo Sevilla para siempre tan inapreciables objetos". defensa de ciertas actuaciones académicas vaya acompañada del conocimiento de las leyes de protección artística o, cuando menos, del Código Penal.

al Museo de Arte de Cataluña. FERRANDIS (1940) lo sitúa correctamente en la colección Lázaro, de París, aunque duplica su referencia (nº 32 y nº 149) al no detectar que habia pertenecido anteriormente a Michel Boy, por quien fue vendida en 1905 (nº 297 del Catálogo G.Petit, con atribución "oriental siglo XV").

En el interior muestra varios sellos de las Aduanas francesas y una etiqueta correspondiente a la Exposición de arte musulmán de Munich, en 1910, donde figuró con el nº 8, siendo entonces su expositor la Spanish Art Gallery de Londres." "También incrementaron la popularidad de estas artes entre los coleccionistas y llevaron al establecimiento en Londres de galerías en las que se vendían las antigüedades enviadas desde Madrid. Una de las más importantes fue la Spanish Art Gallery de Conduit Street, inaugurada en 1898 por Lionel Harris (1862-1943) 85. El South Kensington Museum – ya conocido como Victoria and Albert Museum– realizó importantes adquisiciones en este establecimiento, incluidas numerosas piezas textiles nazaríes y mudéjares que formaban parte de un lote de más de doscientos fragmentos textiles comprados en 1910 (del T.66 al 260-1910); pero lo más espectacular fue probablemente el techo de madera de finales del siglo XV procedente del Palacio de Altamira de Torrijos, cerca de Toledo, que había sido demolido en 1904 (407-1905)" Miriam Rosser-Owen, *Coleccionar la Alhambra. Description: —ff. i + 64 + i— Bound, s. XVIII, in speckled brown leather, the covers framed by a single gilt rope-work motif over pasteboards, sewn on hemp(?) cords; the spine with simple horizontal gilt fillets marking the five bands, the second compartment lettered in gilt "MS. [...] / MISSA[L...]"; the spine covering partly defective and the spine side of the lower covering shrunk, perhaps from exposure to fire (not mentioned in the 1930 description), revealing blue marbled paper over the pasteboards; stored in a light-faded green cloth-covered box with a red leather title-piece lettered in gilt "MS. NO. 13 / BOOK OF HOURS / FRAGMENT / ENGLISH / 15TH C." — Belonged probably to someone closely related to Simon de Felbrigg (d. 3 December 1442), and his first wife, Margaret of Teschen (d. 27 June 1413), daughter of Przemyslaw Noszak, kinswoman and Lady of Honour of Anne of Bohemia, Richard II's wife, who married Simon ca. 1386, as suggested by several of the obits added to the calendar, by the fact that the first miniature (now missing, see below) depicted St Margaret, and by the prayer written in Czech (f. 62); inscribed "Iste liber constat Felbrygg generoso [signed?:] R. ff." (f. 62v); "Felbrygg" scratched into the outer margin of f. 13v. The de la Pole and Cheyne obits in the calendar might be explained if the manuscript passed to Margaret's daughter Elizabeth, and after the latter's death to her husband Miles Stapleton's second wife, Katherine, daughter of Thomas de la Pole and Anne, née Cheyne. Owned, s. XV, by someone with a special veneration for Peter of Verona (feast added to calendar, and prayer added on f. 61v). Inscribed "tout ma fiance", perhaps a motto, written twice (f. 62v). Inscribed with a copy of "An indenture or porcion of devyded among systers" (sic), dated 12 July "... in ye thyrde & forth yeares off ye reynes of sir philipe & marye ..." [i.e. 1556/7], appears to be initialed by the scribe "P W" and signed "William Pa[x?]er of the towne of Congleton within the [county of Cheshire]" (f. 63r). This may perhaps relate to the fact that Simon Felbrigg had three daughters (Alana, Anne, and Elizabeth) by his marriage to Margaret, and no further offspring by his second marriage; Anne was the owner of the Felbrigge Psalter in the British Library (Sloane MS 2400), whose calendar includes the added obits of her parents Simon and Margaret. Inscribed "L EAMES FAVELL"(?) (f. 10, upper margin). Inscribed, s. XIX, in purple pencil with a price and Reference number "[£]20/-/- 376(?)" (front pastedown, upper left); and with brown ink price-codes(?) (front pastedown, upper right corner, and f. 1, upper left corner, both very indistinct). George Folliott (d. 1851), of Vicars Cross, Chester; "sold by the joint direction of his daughter, Mrs. E. I. E. Folingsby Walker

[d. 1931] ... and her son James Folingsby Walker" at Sotheby's, 12 May, 1930, lot 73, at which time it had 77 leaves and "four full-page miniatures between the calendar and the beginning of the text, seven large historiated initials with full bar and scroll borders", the miniatures representing Sts Margaret, Catherine, George, and the Crucifixion; "In addition to these miniatures are three contemporary pen-and-ink drawings on fly-leaves, one a remarkable full-page pen drawing of St. Christopher" (the latter is reproduced as a full-page plate in the catalog, but it represents John the Baptist with the Agnus dei, not Christopher); bought by "Harris, T." for £155, probably the dealer Tomás Harris (1908–64), of the Spanish Art Gallery, London, who was presumably responsible for removing the four full-page miniatures, historiated initials, and flyleaves with drawings (in addition to being an art dealer, Harris was an MI5 agent and was awarded the OBE in 1945; see ODNB). Inscribed in pencil, March 1946(?): "Sarum Missal / Export Mar. '46". Endowment for Biblical Research, Brookline, Mass., Zion MS 13; inscribed in pencil "Zion MS. 13" (f. 1, upper right corner; cf. box); fol. 65 inscribed "Zion 13 / fol. 66*" (upper right corner); deaccessioned after 1985. Iron Work of the Middle Ages (collection of Spanish). (Colección de forja medieval y renacentista que estaba depositada en el Museo Arqueológico de Madrid). Several locations and owners.

"A UNIQUE and admirably representative collection of Spanish Iron Work of the Middle Ages, brought together with infinite pains and discernment by Senor Nicolas Duque, has recently been acquired by The Spanish Art Gallery, 50, Conduit Street, W. Mr. Lionel Harris has had this rich collection, covering a period of three centuries, bodily transported to London from the Archaeological Museum of Madrid, where it has been on view for the last quarter of a century. The generosity of Senor Duque in lending the collection for public use received a signal mark of recognition by a letter sealed with the Royal Arms, and bearing the signature of the Queen Regent. This Exhibition has a double interest. Not only have we here one of the finest collections of the most delicate and exquisite specimens of worked iron, wrought and beaten by the master smiths of the Middle Ages into gargoyles and Gothic arches, or into Hispano-Moresque twinings of flowery arabes- ques ; but we have also an Exhibition that can never be repeated in this or any other country out of Spain, for the Spanish Government is about to issue a decree that the remaining relics of Spain’s artistic past shall be preserved to her people. There was a violent outburst of popular feeling in Madrid at this piece of gross vandalism as it was called, and the Spanish Press was unanimous in denouncing what they considered a case of sheer robbery. But their protests were useless. The El Liberal and other journals, after speaking of the artistic knowledge and enthusiasm this collection represented, of the long patient years in which Segovia and the adjoining provinces had been searched from end to end, goes on to relate the admiration these specimens excited when exhibited in Madrid, the visitors’ book at the Museum being filled with lines of grateful homage and enthusiastic praise addressed to Senor Duque, and signed by the most eminent men —literary, artistic, and political — of Europe, The El Liberal deeply laments the fact that such a collection was not bought by the State to prevent it leaving the country. " This beautiful collection will, no doubt," continues the irate journalist, "bear eloquent testimony in other lands to the height which the Metal Workers’ Art had reached in Spain during the Middle Ages; but it will also bear eloquent testimony to our national lethargy." The more closely we examine this wonderful collection, which has excited the ire and waked the eloquence of the Spanish journalists, the more we can sympathise with them. The nails alone include about five hundred different specimens, the heads measuring from two to for the creaking of the heavy oaken doors that led to the dungeons and torture chambers of the Inquisition. And into the dungeons Senor Duque did verily descend in the course of his artistic pilgrimage, for we find sj)ecimens in this collection of handcuffs, anklets, and queer muzzle-shaped devices for imprisoning the hand. Almost every kind of Architectural Iron Work is represented — keys, locks, railings, and gratings, or "vizzyings" as they were called in England in the Middle Ages. We have, in addition, marvellously wrought caskets and sea chests of iron and steel, also coats of arms and panels of repouss^ work taken from the doors’ of castle and church.

Monypenny Breviary (El Breviario Monypenny, manuscrito iluminado de principios del s. siglo XVI, procedente del un convento de Arcos de la Frontera). Sotheby's july 2000 Private owner.

Manuscrito de 822 folios en pergamino, de los cuales 73 están iluminados por Jehan de Molisson and Jacquelin de Molisson, artistas de la escuela de Bourges. El códice se compuso en Berry, pero su encuadernación en piel roja con arabescos grabados en púrpura y verde es de factura española. Habría sido compuesto por encargo de Alexander Monypenny, chambelán de Luis XII, y quizás para la hija del primer Lord Monypenny, abadesa de la orden franciscana. El manuscrito permaneció siglos en el Convento de la Encarnación de Arcos de la Frontera (Cádiz) donde Lionel Harris lo compró a las monjas franciscanas en 1922 y lo sacó del país sin permisos oficiales acreditados hasta el momento.

Considerado uno de los manuscritos iluminados más valiosos del mundo,en su última subasta en Sotheby's, en Julio de 2000, alcanzó un valor de £3,303,500.

"The Breviary, to judge from the cleanness of its pages, mostly of very fine vellum, has had an uneventful history. It contains not the least note or inscription relating to its subsequent ownership, nor as to how it found its way from Berry to a remote corner of Andalusia. That it was possibly in the Peninsula not so very long after its completion would appear from the binding, which is of dark red leather witharabesques and cartouche work inlaid in purple and dark green, and is sixteenth-century Spanish in its rich elaboration, if French in type. Los Arcos and its religious houses, including the Franciscan convent of La Encarnacion, whence the book passed into the hands of Mr Lionel Harris (of the Spanish Gallery, London), at Seville, are not even cited in Beer's Handschriftenschatze Spaniens, the best guide to Spain's collections of MSS., private and public."

Nao de Mataró. Rotterdam Maritime Museum.

La Nao de Mataró, que procedía de la ermita de San Simón, situada cerca de Mataró. "Es uno de los más antiguos del mundo y reproduce una nave mercante mediterránea de la baja Edad Media. En referencia a su origen más probable, se le denomina modelo de Mataró. Aparentemente fue fabricado en el siglo XV, aunque durante mucho tiempo se ha ignorado su antigüedad exacta. No obstante, la madera de la quilla se ha analizado recientemente mediante carbono 14 y se ha establecido que el modelo fue fabricado entre 1456 y 1482."

"Travels of the model It is thought that the model was purchased by an antique dealer from Barcelona in the first decade of the 20th century. He sold it to Tómas Harris, an art dealer from London specialising in Spanish art (hence his 'Spanish Art Gallery'). He in turn sold the model to antique dealer Julius Böhler of Munich. Böhler exhibited it in 1929 at the Reinhardt Galleries in New York, but did not find a buyer. The model then returned to Europe. Acquisition by the Rotterdam Maritime Museum In 1929 the Dutch art collector and dealer Frits Lugt purchased the Mataró model. He tried to sell it to the Maritime Museum in Amsterdam, but without success. The Rotterdam Maritime Museum showed an interest but had insufficient funds. Frits Lugt and the director of the Rotterdam Maritime Museum, Jan Willem van Nouhuys, found someone prepared to buy the model, namely harbour baron and art collector Daniël George van Beuningen. In 1930 it was lent to the Rotterdam museum. In 1981 it was finally purchased for the museum with thefull support of the G. Ph. Verhagen Foundation."

Retablo with Scenes from the Legends of SS. Sebastian and Julian Hospitator. Early Spanish School. Panel, 2.29 m. by 2.44 m. (The Spanish Art Gallery)

Retablo de Barbastro del Cuattrocento. Lionel Harris, 1922.

Localización actual desconocida.

"COMPLETE quattrocento retablos are rarely seen outside Spain. The one here reproduced by kind permission of Mr. Lionel Harris [Plate], is a typical and well -preserved example of this characteristic class of early Spanish Church furniture. Of considerable dimensions (2.29 m. bv 2.44 m.), the polyptych is in the first instance devoted to the glorification of two youthful Saints, one remembered as a warrior, the other a sportsman —SS. Sebastian and Julian Hospitator. Both of these are seen in the principal panel, at full length, dressed in rich modish costumes of the artist's own time; St. Sebastian, on the left, holding a bow and three arrows, the emblems of his martyr- dom ; St. Julian Hospitator, on the right, with a falcon perched on his hand, in allusion to his exploits as a huntsman. On each side of this central compartment are two others, of smaller height, each containing two scenes from the legends of the same saints. On the left we see thus, in the upper compartment, St. Sebastian appearing before the judge and causing the mother and father of his two friends, Marcus and Marcellinus, to desist in their attempts to make their sons abandon the Christian faith — the upshot being the conversion of all the parties concerned ; while the lower compartment shows the martyrdom of St Sebastian. On the right again we have two scenes from the legend, which is familiar to from the story in which Gustave Flaubert, out of the slight material of the mediaeval legend, has fashioned a character study of such intense and deeply moving power : in the lower compartment, St. Julian, having slain his father and mother in mistake, addresses outside the bedchamber his wife, the "rich widow of a castle" in Caxton's tradition of the Golden Legend; while the scene at the top probably represents a later episode in the legend, St. Julian seated outside the hospital which he caused to be erected " for to harbour poor people," and addressing a group of infirm men. The predella contains in the centre a representation of the Man of Sorrows between the Virgin and St. John, and in the other compartments figures of female saints in couples (including, in the first compartment on the left, St. Engracia, the character depicted in Bartolome Vermejo's superb picture in the collection of Mrs. J. L. Gardiner). The present altarpiece, which originally was in a church at the little town of Barbastro, an episcopal see in "Eastern Aragon, displays clearly enough in a general way its af Snity to the work of the Catalan school of the end of the quattrocento. The nearest parallel to which I can point is, perhaps, Jaime Huguet's Retablo de Santa Julita in San Quirse de Tarrassa ; but the painter of Mr. Harris's polyptych has individual characteristics of style, among which mav be mentioned the application of colours in fiat washes, a positive note of vermilion being frequently echoed in the scheme of colour." The need to wear and use cloth made from plant and animal fibers has proven fertile ground for the creative imagination, and various methods have evolved to produce or embellish fabrics. The Spanish Retable and Altar Frontal is a virtual encyclopedia of needlework techniques. This medieval masterpiece was created for the Bishop of Osma, Spain, about 1468, possibly as a traveling altar. The three scenes above, the Madonna and Child, the Nativity, and the Adoration of the Magi, have been embroidered to imitate painting. Below the altar appear six apostles and the scene of the Resurrection within an elaborate architectural structure. The relief effect of the figures and colonnade, achieved through padding and stuffing, imitates in appearance a Gothic sculpted altar. Gold and silver threads, seed pearls, and spangles enhance the jewel-like character of this sumptuous devotional work.

Physical description: Alabaster effigy of Don García de Osorio. The figure lies with closed eyes, grasping his sword. He is clean-shaven, but with stubble on his face shown. His woven straw hat is decorated with a tasselled cord, and the shell of the Order of Santiago. The mantle of the Order, with its badge on his left breast, is worn over his armour. The pommel of the sword and the hilt are inscribed. The effigy's head rests on two cushions with laced edges and pointed ornaments at the corners, one is carved with a cover held together by fictive leather thongs. At the feet is a kneeling female figure on a much smaller scale. She appears to be sleeping, resting her right elbow on a helmet. She wears a loose tunic tied at the waist, and long hair bound with twisted cord. Distinctive knots on the belt and hairband of this figure are similar to those on the gloves and feet of the effigy, and resemble those knots on the companion effigy and attendant figure at her feet.

Place of Origin: Toledo (made)
Date: 1499-1505 (made)
Artist/maker: Unknown (production)
Material and Techniques: Carved alabaster
Marks and inscriptions: 'IESVS : [VICT half legible] ORIAM' 'Jesus (give me) victory' 'X DEO X BENEDICTVS' 'The blessing of god'
Dimensions: Height: 40.5 cm, Width: 64 cm, Depth: 198 cm
Object history note Like A.49-1910, this effigy was originally in a chapel of the church of S. Pedro at Ocaña, about fifty kilometres east of Toledo. The contents of the church were dispersed in about 1906, when the building was declared structurally unsafe (it was demolished in 1907). The effigies may have been acquired by a Madrid dealer, Boroondo, and were subsequently bought by the London dealer Lionel Harris, from whom the Museum purchased them. Two other effigies from the same church were bought by the Hispanic Society of America in New York at the same time.

Historical significance:

This effigy is courtly and chivalric, and at the same time is imbued with religious significance. At the feet of the knight a small mourning, or possibly sleeping female figure leans against his helmet, removed so that his face can be seen, but also suggesting he is no longer actively fighting. He wears chain mail and armour, and wears gauntlets, and holds a sword, but the inscriptions record his piety, and this complements the sentiment of the effigy of the deceased's wife (A.48-1910). All of this is typical of the Order of Santiago, which was military, and dedicated to the cause of Christianity. Such an effigy would have also acted as memorial to the family of don García Osorio, and would have been revered by his descendants and local inhabitants. Although the author of the tomb is unknown, he is likely to have been a sculptor active in Toledo, and the skill with which the costume and portraits are rendered on both this effigy and that of doña María Perea (don García Osorio's wife) suggests an experienced Castilian sculptor perhaps influenced by Netherlandish prototypes, in the tradition of Gil de Siloe.

Historical context note

The church of S. Pedro was closely associated with the military Order of Santiago, which owned Ocaña. The subject of this effigy, don García Osorio, was a knight of the Order of Santiago, and wears the mantle of the Order, with its badge on his left breast. The distinctive shell of the Order is worn on his woven straw hat. The pommel of the sword is inscribed (in Latin) 'Jesus give me victory', and the hilt, 'The blessing of God'. The church was also used for meetings of the Castilian cortes (a local parliament), and for important ceremonial occasions until the the end of the fifteenth century.

Date 1499-1505 (made)
Artist/maker: Unknown (production)
Material and Techniques: Carved alabaster
Dimensions: Height: 33.5 cm, Width: 66 cm, Length: 200 cm

Object history note

Like A.48-1910, this effigy was originally in a chapel of the church of S. Pedro at Ocaña, about fifty kilometres east of Toledo. The church was used for meetings of the Castilian cortes (the local parliament), and for important ceremonial occasions, until the the end of the fifteenth century. The contents of the church were dispersed in about 1906, when the building was declared structurally unsafe (it was demolished in 1907). The effigies may have been acquired by a Madrid dealer, Borondo, and were subsequently bought by the London dealer Lionel Harris, from whom the Museum purchased them. Two other effigies from the same church were bought by the Hispanic Society of America in New York at the same time.

Historical significance:

Doña María Perea is shown holding rosary beads, a symbol of her piety. At her feet a small mourning allegorical female figure leans against three books, which may well be intended to represent devotional volumes. Doña María's simple dress, reminiscent of a nun, also implies her lack of ostentation and her religious devotion. Although the author of the tomb is unknown, he is likely to have been a sculptor active in Toledo, and the skill with which the dress and portraits are rendered on both this effigy and that of don García Osorio (doña María Perea's husband) suggests an experienced Castilian sculptor perhaps influenced by Netherlandish prototypes, in the tradition of Gil de Siloe.

Historical context note

The church of S. Pedro was closely associated with the military Order of Santiago, which owned Ocaña. The subject of this effigy was doña María de Perea (d. after 1499), the wife of don García Osorio, a knight of the Order of Santiago, whose effigy is also in the collection (A.48-1910).

Tapestry with scenes of the Passion of Christ : from left to right, Descent from the Cross, Entombment, and Resurrection.
Victoria&Albert Museum.

Tapestry
Place of origin: Arras (probably, made)
Date: 1400-1425 (made)
Artist/Maker: Unknown (production)
Material and Techniques: Tapestry-woven in wool, silk, silver and gold thread
Credit Line: Purchased with the assistance of the Murray Bequest

15-16 warp threads per inch.
Place of Origin: Arras (probably, made)
Date: 1400-1425 (made)
Artist/maker: Unknown (production)
Material and Techniques: Tapestry-woven in wool, silk, silver and gold thread
Dimensions: Height: 105.5 cm, Width: 304 cm

Object history note

The tapestry was purchased for £3000 from the Spanish Art Gallery (Lionel Harris), Conduit Street, London, using funds from the bequest of Captain H B Murray. It had been in the collection of Lord Willoughby de Broke, at Compton Verney, and was sold at auction by Sothebys on 11 February 1921, lot 120.

The tapestry had previously been on loan to the museum, from 1 August 1913 to 15 June 1914.
Nothing more is known of its previous history.

Historical significance:

The tapestry is exquisitely and richly woven with gold thread used not only in the ornate haloes and garments but also in the foliage of trees and flowers. Other examples of tapestry-woven altar frontals of similar date (Cluny Museum, Thyssen-Bornemisza collection) show that tapestry-weaving of the highest quality was used for this purpose in the 15th century. It has been compared in style to a tapestry that was made for the Cathedral of Tournai in 1402, ordered from Pierre Fere of Arras, which shows the story of saints Piat and Eleutherius. It is also comparable with the Passion tapestries at St Mark's Basilica in Venice, from the 1420s, and the Passion tapestry at La Seo, Saragossa, Spain.

From the late 14th century Arras was renowned for the quality of its tapestries, and many of the finest incorporated gold thread, the extensive use of which in figurative tapestry may have been an Arras innovation. From the 1390s most of the fine-quality tapestries purchased by the leading nobility appear to have been made in Arras.(References from Thomas Campbell, Tapestry in the Renaissance, New York, 2002, p.31).

Historical context note

Because of its subject matter, and quality, it seems likely that this tapestry was intended to hang in a great church or cathedral, although nothing is known of its provenance prior to an English private collection in the early 20th century.

Dürer, Albrecht:

Ownership of Durer drawings looted in war still debated

CLEVELAND (AP) - The ownership of drawings by the German renaissance master Albrecht Durer remain in dispute more than 50 years after the work was stolen by the Nazis. The 24 drawings were stolen in 1941 from the Lubomirski Museum in present-day Luiv, Ukraine. They were sold on the international art market after World War II ended and are owned by major museums and collections in Europe and the United States. In 1952, the Cleveland Museum of Art bought two of the drawings: "The Dead Christ", dated 1505, and ``The Ascension,'' dated circa 1515.

Ukraine and Poland both say they own the drawings and want them back, although neither has made an official claim, The Plain Dealer reported Sunday. Museum officials in both countries told the newspaper they have questions about whether the drawings were legally brought to the market. ``Like each and every one in every country, we want our treasures returned,'' Boris Voznitsky, director of the Lviv Art Gallery, told the newspaper.

But Dobroslawa Platt, vice director of the Ossolinski Library in Wroclaw, Poland, said her institution, not Lviv, owns the drawings. Questions about ownership involve the changing of national borders in Eastern Europe, conflicting evidence, the horrors of war and the policy by the Allies for returning looted pieces in postwar Germany. ``The horror of World War II is pretty black and white,'' said Robert P. Bergman, director of the Cleveland museum, which always acknowledged the origins of its Durers. ``But the status of any given object legally and morally in the 1990s is not black and white. It's a very complex question.'' After the war, the military government gave the drawings to a descendant of the original owner, Prince Heinrich Lubomirski, a wealthy landowner. The descendant, Georg Lubomirski, sold the drawings and lived on the proceeds until his death, according to published reports. But both the Lviv Art Gallery and the Ossolinski Library say they have documents which bequeathed or deeded the prince's drawings to them. Durer, who died in 1528, combined the discoveries of Italian painters with the tradition of his homeland in his works, which also included engravings and paintings. Owners of other Durer drawings include the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, the Art Institute of Chicago, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and the Courtauld Institute Galleries in London. There should be no dispute over ownership, said Roger Ward, curator of European art at the Nelson-Atkins museum in Kansas City, Mo., which owns one of the Lubomirski Durers. "The statute of limitations has long since run out", the said. "The drawings changed hands at least twice before they came to us." The Nazis looted art museums and private collections throughout the war, and Hitler reserved more than 8,000 objects with hopes of establishing a museum after the war. Although the Allies tried to safeguard and return stolen art after the war, some were taken by the Soviets and by soldiers on both sides.

"This is such a gigantic issue", Bergman said. "We’re talking about hundreds of thousands of objects. I believe that for the rest of my professional career, this issue will face the museums of the world.’’

Retablo El Monasterio de Santa Ana de Tendilla, (Guadalajara):

"El retablo desapareció, pues, antes de 1845. Desconocemos las manos por las que pudo pasar hasta nuestro siglo. Los datos conocidos por el Art Museum de Cincinnatti (Ohio, USA) son que en 1915 estaba en la Spanish Art Gallery de Harris en Londres, lo poseía French and Co. de Nueva York en 1935, fue vendido al americano Charles Deering, industrial y aficcionado al arte quien lo instaló en su palacio de Maricel (Tarragona) hasta que se fuera en 1921. Deering lo revendió de nuevo a French and Co. y en 1953 fue adquirido definitivamente por el Museo.

En 1935 se había exhibido en el Brooklyn Museum de Nueva York. Max J. Friedlander lo cita dentro de los 14 volúmenes de su "Early Netherlandish Painting" editados inicialmente en 1935. Friedlander no proporciona foto alguna pero describe exactamente el retablo con el número 173 del catálogo de Jan Sanders van Hemessen "an altarpiece with many panels, in the centre Christ on the Cross" and Saint Jerome" pero no indica más datos acerca de su origen (salvo expuesto en Art Market, Londres, Th. Harris) o paradero ("desconocido" en su opinión)."

Description:
Large winged altarpiece with thirteen panels set in an elaborate wooden frame. When closed, the wings display grisaille images of the Virgin, the Angel of the Annunciation, and God the Father. When opened, the wings' panels depict Adam and Eve and the Sacrifice of Isaac. The central panels depict the Nativity, the Crucifixion, the Baptism of Christ, the Lamentation, Saint Jerome Penitent, and the Ascension. The predella panels illustrate Saint Francis receiving the stigmata, the Visitation, and Saint Sebastian. The entire altarpiece is surmounted by two wooden coats of arms and a finial.

Provenance:
Mid-16th century: Possibly Sotomayor and Arellano lineage [1] Ca. 1915: Lionel Harris, Spanish Art Gallery, London (French & Co., New York [2]) Reportedly Charles Deering [1852-1927], Spain [3] 1929: (Kleinberger & Co., New York, sold to [4]) November 6, 1929-1953: (French and Co., New York, sold to [2]) 1953-present: Cincinnati Art Museum

Notes:

[1] When the CAM acquired the retablo it was believed that the Count of Tendilla, Iñigo López de Mendoza y Figueroa, commissioned it as a memorial to Juana the Mad, mother of Emperor Charles V, and Ignatious Loyola. Two wooden coats of arms, initially thought to be of the lineage Tendilla and Loyola, surmount the wooden frame; however, research provided by the Museo Arqueológico Nacional, Madrid, in 1985, identifies the coat-of-arms to be of Sotomayor and Arellano lineage. This family does have sixteenth-century ties to the town of Tendilla, but the retablo is no longer believed to have been commissioned by the Count. See Mary Ann Scott, Dutch, Flemish, and German Paintings in the Cincinnati Art Museum, 1984, pp. 69-73.

[3] In a letter to the CAM on July 3, 1953, French & Co. commented on their Acquisition of the retablo: "We acquired the altar many years ago, and it was sold to Mr. Charles Deering for his palace in Spain. It came back to this country and we repurchased it." Deering built Maricel, a palace in Sitges, Spain, and also restored Tamarit castle in Tarragon, Spain. Both of these, as well as several other Spanish homes in Sitges, were used to house his art collection. Deering left Maricel in 1921, and the palace was emptied. It is not known in which Spanish home the retablo was housed, nor when it left Deering's collection.

Jordán, Esteban: Effigy of Juan Ruiz de Vergara. St. John Priory de Clerckenwell.

A WORK BY ESTEBAN JORDAN: AN EFFIGY OF A SPANISH KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF ST JOHN*

Days before the outbreak of First World War, a fine alabaster effigy of a Knight of the Order of St John in Jerusalem was presented to the Most Venerable Order of St John in Clerkenwell, just outside the boundaries of the City of London. The donor was Sir Guy Francis Laking, Bart., Keeper of the London Museum, an eminent scholar, best known for bis catalogues of the arms and armour in the Wallace Collection, at Windsor, and the Armoury in Malta. He had "always had the greatest interest in anything relating to the Order of the Knights of St John of Jerusalem, more especially since (his) work at Malta''. He offered to buy the effigy for the Order, having seen it on exhibition at the Spanish Galleries of the dealer Lionel Harris in Conduit Street', where it had been imported from Spain, "in one consignment together with 24 other cases of stonework"[3]. After some discussion as to where exactly it should be housed, the effigy was placed against the North wall of the twelfth-centuty crypt in the Priory Church of St John in Clerkenwell, of which the Order of St John was Patron. The church is a few yards from the Order's headquarters, S t John's Gate, in which the Museum and Library of the Order are today situated. Described by Pevsner as "of a quality unsurpassed in London or England" 4, the figure is a magnificent example of sixteenth-century Castilian sculpture. The recumbent, lifesize effigy represents a Knight of the Order of S t John...

[3] Letter from Lionel Harris to H. W. Fincham Esq ofJuly lst, 1914. Two tomb-figures from Ocaña in Spain, now in the Victoria and Albert Museum (inv. A.48 and A.49-1910) were bought from the same dealer in 1910.

Las primeras obras que debemos considerar, por ser cronológicamente las más antiguas, son dos tablas de mediano formato (80'5 x 48'5 cm.), procedentes de la predela de un retablo, en las que se representan la Ascensión de Cristo y Pentecostés*. Fueron donadas al Museo en 1966 por uno de sus más generosos mecenas, Antonio Pastor de la Meden, quien se las había comprado a Mr. Tomas Harris. Vienen siendo atribuidas al denominado por Ch. R. Post, a partir de la presencia de obras suyas en la iglesia zaragozana de Torralba de Ribota, Maestro de Torralba , pudiendo fecharse su ejecución, a tenor de sus particularidades formales, muy en consonancia con las pautas del «estilo internacional» (figuras elegantes, de perfiles muy cuidados; cromatismo muy vivo, de gran efectismo; rostros uniformes, escasamente expresivos, etc.), en torno a 1420-1430 (Valle Pérez, J.C y Tilve Jar, M.A., "Patrimonio aragonés en el Museo de Pontevedra" Artigrama, nº 20, 2005, p. 124)

Orley, Nicolas van, design attributed to: A Brussels Historical tapestry. Christie`s, 10 November 2005
Price Realized £36,000 (,712)
Fine European Furniture, Sculpture, Tapestries and Carpets Including Property from a European Noble Family
10 November 2005
London, King Street

Lot Description A BRUSSELS HISTORICAL TAPESTRY
LATE 16TH CENTURY, THE DESIGN ATTRIBUTED TO NICOLAS VAN ORLEY, CIRCA 1560-1580, POSSIBLY BY JOOST VAN HERSEELE
Woven in wools and silks, depicting the Rape of the Sabines from the History of Rome, with Roman soldiers and Sabine women in the foreground and a city in the background, within an elaborate scrolling foliate and fruiting border decorated with grotesques and vases and with flower-head decorated red inner and outer slips, possibly reduced in size, lacking blue guard borders, minor losses, areas of restoration and reweaving
5 ft. 7 in. x 8 ft. 5 in. (169 cm. x 255 cm.)

Lot Condition Report Some losses to wools and silks exposing the warps. Some areas of restoration and reweaving, some now discoloured, probably including sections of the left border and a central section of the right border. Top and bottom border are off-centre, suggesting that the tapestry might have been reduced in size, although there are no obvious signs of cuts between the borders and the main field.

Provenance: Lionel Harris.
Auction Title: Fine European Furniture, Sculpture, Tapestries and Carpets Including Property from A European Noble Family

Notes:

This tapestry forms part of a series that must have comprised at least five panels. Two with differing borders and depicting The Romans with Their Sabine Wives and The Sabine Women stop fighting between the Romans and the Sabines are at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The battle panel is marked with a monogram ’NvO’ on a shield in a tree, which Edith Standen convincingly argues to be that of Nicolas van Orley (’Romans and Sabines: A Sixteenth-Century Set of Flemish Tapestries’, Metropolitan Museum Journal, 1974). Nicolas van Orley’s father was Gomar, who was the brother of the famous Bernard van Orley (d. 1541). The dynasty was prolific in designing tapestries in Brussels until the 1560s when religious persecution broke up the family. Nicolas fled to Stuttgart in 1566 and supplied cartoons to Jacob van Carmes for the Duke of Württemberg. He continued to Strasbourg in 1570 and died between 1586 - 1591.

Interestingly that tapestry is also signed with the initials ’IVH’, which Standen believes to be that of Joost van Herzeele, while they also bear coat-of-arms that are almost certainly those of Pope Sixtus V (d. 1590), who became cardinal in 1570. The arms post-date the elevation to cardinal as they bear insignias that he only adopted after that date. The MET tapestries thus must have been designed before 1566 when Nicolas emigrated to Stuttgart and would have been woven after 1570 when the coat-of-arms are adjusted.

Standen believed that the series may only have included four panels, the fourth one being The Romans Admiring the Sabine Maidens. However, other panels of the set that include The Rape of the Sabines are almost certainly The Sabine Women stop fighting between the Romans and the Sabines, which was purchased by French & Co from the Spanish Art Galleries and sold to Maurice Harris in 1937. Also of identical height and not recorded by Standen is The Battle between the Romans and the Sabines which was also in the Lionel Harris collection as the offered lot, then with French & Co and which was finally sold to the Charles Cudlip Association in 1966.

(E. Standen, ’Romans and Sabines: A Sixteenth-Century Set of Flemish Tapestries’, Metropolitan Museum Journal, 1974).

Ranieri di Leonardo da Pisa: Sacra conversazione: Madonna and child with Saint Bartholomew and Michael. Sotheby's London: December 17, 1998. Private owner

A 'SACRA CONVERSAZIONE': THE MADONNA AND CHILD WITH SAINT BARTHOLOMEW AND MICHAEL, WITHIN AN ARCHITECTURAL SETTING, AN EXTENSIVE RIVER LANDSCAPE BEYOND oil on panel, within a carved and gilt wood tabernacle frame 63A by 50ain. 161.9 by 128.3cm. Ranieri di Leonardo da Pisa, has recently been identified as the artist formerly called the "Master of the Crocifisso dei Bianchi", whose "namepiece" is the pala for the Church of the Crocifisso dei Bianchi, documented in 1507, formerly in the Palazzo Arcivescovile, Lucca. The identification of that Master with Ranieri was first put forward by Baracchini (for which see Pisa, nos. 2, vol. XVI, 1986, pp. 769-772, 813-4). In the present altarpiece, as in that for the Church of the Crocifisso dei Bianchi, the group of Saint Anne, the Madonna and Child are placed before three arches. The style of both works, along with the Madonna and Child with Saints Stephen and Jerome in the Gemäldegalerie, Berlin, reveal Ranieri's training in the workshop of Vincenzo Frediani. Based on photographs, Everett Fahy has suggested the present attribution.

Girls at Saint Felix made headlines in 1998 when they staged a "sing-in" in the chapel in an attempt to stop the school selling a Madonna and Child painting by Ranieri di Leonardo da Pisa, which they regarded as a vital part of the school fabric.

The governors eventually sold the Renaissance painting at auction where it was bought by Rod Stewart, the singer, for £84,000.

"Muy grato nos es aumentar hoy estos datos con los relativos a una notabilísima tabla de los albores de la xviª centuria, procedente de Belalcázar, provincia de Cordoba, que posee el afortunado coleccionista londinense Mr. Leonel Harris, que ofrece la particularidad de estar firmada por Juan y Diego Sanchez, pintores sevillanos que florecieron en aquellos dias. Es esta obra de singular importancia, pues, además de pertenecer al grupo o seno de primitivos, que tanto interés despiertan actualmente, su técnica es de indiscutiblc mérito y además la rareza de las dos firmas, son todas circunstancias de tal valía, que por ellas la consideramos como una de las páginas mas estimables de la gloriosa escuela sevillana. ,¿Cómo no lamentar, pues, en esta ocasion, como lo hemos hecho en tantas otras, la funestísima apatía, hija de la supina ignorancia que en materias artisticas demuestran las personas que rigen los destines públicos, al mirar indiferentes cuanto se relaciona con nuestros monumentos históricos. arqueológicos y artisticos? Hace años vimos pasar a manos de un principe ruso el famoso grupo escultórico de barro cocido. formado por el insigne imaginero Pedro Millán, representando una Piedad: poco después paso a poder de extraños la bellísima imagen de San Miguel o San Jorge, obra también del mismo eximio escultor, que formó parte de la

Velázquez, Diego Rodríguez de Silva y, A portrait of Gongora, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston

Dimensions Height x width: 19 3/4 x 16 in. (50.2 x 40.6 cm) Framed: 71.1 x 51.4 cm (28 x 20 1/4 in.)
Medium or Technique: Oil on canvas
Provenance: 1622, painted in Madrid, probably at the request of Francisco Pacheco (b. 1564 - d. 1644) [see note 1]. 1660, probably with the artist [see note 2]. By 1677, Gaspar de Haro y Guzmán (b. 1629 - d. 1687), 7th Marqués del Carpio, Madrid [see note 3]; 1690s, sold from the Carpio estate to Nicolás Nepata [see note 4]. Marqués Benigno de la Vega Inclán y Flaquer (b. 1858 - d. 1942), Madrid. Private collection, Paris [see note 5]. By 1931, Tomas Harris Ltd., London; 1932, sold by Harris to the MFA for , 000. (Accession Date: March 3, 1932)

NOTES:

[1] Velázquez began his career in the studio of Pacheco, a painter and writer, and eventually married his daughter, Juana. Although Pacheco asked Velázquez to paint the portrait, its early history has not been established. It is not known whether Velázquez took it back with him to Seville; this painting or a copy after it must have remained in Madrid, where it served as the basis for several copies.

[2] A portrait of Gongora is listed, without the artist’s name, in the inventory of Velázquez’s property made at his death in 1660 (no. 179).

Joaquin in 1689; see Marcus B. Burke and Peter Cherry, Collections of Paintings in Madrid, 1601-1755 (Los Angeles: Getty Provenance Index, 1997), part 1, doc. 115, p. 837 (no. 106).

[4] According to José López-Rey, Velazquez: The Artist as a Maker (Lausanne and Paris: Bibliothèque des Arts, 1979), p. 235, cat. no. 25, the portrait continued to appear in Carpio's posthumous inventories (1692 and 1693) as "sold" and the buyer was Nepata, who bought a number of paintings from the estate.

These two imposing panels would have flanked a central painting or sculptural shrine. This northern French painter derives his style and certain figural quotations from Rogier van der Weyden, whose works were widely known and appreciated at the time.

*Tomás Harris. Letter to Margaretta Salinger. December 1, 1932, discusses the provenance of these panels, stating that they were purchased in Spain by his father Lionel Harris in 1905 and sold in 1912 to P. W. Turner of the Barbazanges Galleries, Paris; further states that the panels must have been in the Convent of Huelgas since the early 16th century, but does not know how long they were owned by the Cecilla [Sicilia] family.

 Juan Carlos de la Mata González. Letter to Josephine Dobkin. August 8, 2003, states that he has shown transparencies of these panels to the curatorial department and that they find no evidence of their presence at Las Huelgas; in their opinion, they never belonged to the monastery.

Zurbarán was renowned as a painter of large-scale religious images, greatly in demand for churches and monasteries throughout Spain and the New World. Zurbarán's colors are restrained and his compositions rigorously simple; this austerity, combined with precise detail and strong, theatrical lighting, gives his sacred figures an intense, almost mystical presence. This image may, in fact, represent a vision reportedly seen by Pope Nicholas V two hundred years after Saint Francis's death in 1226: the undecayed body of the saint standing in his burial crypt as though living.

Provenance/Ownership History.1823, acquired in Madrid by William à Court (b. 1779 - d. 1860), 1st Baron Heytesbury, Heytesbury House, Wiltshire [see note 1]; by descent within the family to Margaret Anna (d. 1920), Lady Heytesbury; April 27, 1926, Lady Heytesbury estate sale, Hampton and Sons, Heytesbury, lot 1358, sold for £21. 1931, with Tomás Harris, Ltd., London [see note 2]. By 1935, Julius Böhler, Böhler and Steinmeyer, Lucerne [see note 3]; 1938, sold by Böhler and Steinmeyer to the MFA for 02.50. (Accession Date: November 10, 1938)

NOTES:
[1] See Martin S. Soria, The Paintings of Zurbarán: Complete Edition (London: Phaidon, 1953), p. 179, cat. no. 184. William à Court was ambassador to Spain from 1822 to 1824.

[2] The MFA painting was exhibited at Tomás Harris, Ltd., London, in 1931 ("Old Masters by Spanish Artists," June 1931), though whether Harris owned it, or it was on loan from Böhler (see below, n. 3), has not been determined.

[3] Julius Böhler lent the painting to the exhibition "Alte und neue spanische Kunst" (Kunstverein, Hamburg, August-September, 1935), cat. no. 27. When asked about its provenance, Fritz Steinmeyer wrote (letter to the MFA; November 25, 1938) that the firm had bought it in 1927 from an English dealer, who had acquired it from a French private collection. Two other paintings by Zurbarán, also included in the Heytesbury sale of 1926, are documented as being owned by Böhler in 1927. However, because the MFA painting is not known ever to have been in a French collection, Steinmeyer's information is, at least in part, erroneous. According to Juan Antonio Gaya Nuño, La Pintura Española fuera de España (Madrid, 1958), p. 344, cat. no. 3107, the MFA painting was purchased at the Heytesbury sale in 1926 by Tomás Harris, who sold it in 1931 to Böhler and Steinmeyer. This has not been substantiated, however, and the painting's provenance between 1926 and 1935 remains unclarified.

ROMANCE DE LA CONDESITA

26 LA CONDESITA

Guerras se levantan, guerras entre Francia y Portugal
y nombran al conde Ansur
por capitán general.
La condesa, como es niña,
no hacía sino llorar.
—¿Cuántos días, cuántos meses puedes estar por allá?
—Por días o meses no cuentes,
por años has de contar;
por siete voy a la guerra que la ley no manda más.
Si a los siete años no vengo,
con otro puedes casar.—
Pasaron los siete años
y para los ocho van;
estando un día a la mesa,
su padre la empieza a hablar:
—¿Cómo no te casas, hija,
te debes hija casar,
cartas del conde no vienen,
cartas del conde no hay.
—Carta tengo yo en mi pecho
de que el conde vivo está.
Si me diera usted licencia
iría al conde a buscar.
—¿Licencia me pides, hija?,
tú te la puedes tomar, porque la mujer casada
tiene esa libertad.—
Cogió el bordón en la mano
y ha empezado a caminar.
Se fuera de villa en villa
y de ciudad en ciudad.
Ha corrido siete reinos,
no lo ha podido encontrar;
a la orillita de un río
vio un ganado sestear:
—Vaquerito, vaquerito,
por la Santa Trinidad, que me niegues la mentira
y me digas la verdad, ¿de quién son esas vaquitas con tanto hierro y señal?
—Son del conde Ansur, señora,
mañana se va a casar.
—Toma este doblón de oro
y ponme allá en su portal.—
Tuvo tan buena fortuna, que el conde fuera a bajar.
—Dame limosna, buen conde,

por Dios y por caridad,
que vengo de lejas tierras
y no traigo qué gastar.
—¡Oh, qué ojos tan gachones,
en mi vida los vi tal!
—Sí los has visto, buen conde,
pero no te acordarás,
que en cama dormimos juntos
y en mesa comimos pan.
—¿Eres el diablo, romera,
que me vienes a tentar?
—No soy el diablo, buen conde, que soy tu mujer carnal.—
Al oír estas palabras,
el conde cayó mortal.
—¡Levántate de ahí, el conde,
por Dios y por caridad,
vele aquí mis dulces brazos con que te solía abrazar;
vele aquí mis dulces labios que tú solías besar!
—Quédese con Dios la novia, vestidica y sin casar.
La carne que tenéis muerta
la podéis echar en sal, el pan que hubiese cocido
de limosna podéis dar, las liebres y los conejos
por el monte correrán;
las arras y los anillos que queden por la amistad, los besos y los abrazos
con ellos te quedarás.
¡Las justas y los torneos
por la romera serán!

Este texto recoge la tradición del romance en su forma más anovelada, más apta para formar parte del repertorio que podemos denominar “folclórico”. Es, básicamente, representativa de cómo se recuerda el tema en el Sur de España, donde ya fue recogido, entre las primeras muestras del romancero oral, por José Bartolomé Gallardo, en 1820, y por Serafín Estébanez Calderón “El Solitario”, en 1839, quienes oyeron o transcribieron el nombre del conde “Ansur” o “Ansúrez”, de viejo abolengo, como “Alzón” o “el Sol”, debido a la pronunciación andaluza de los cantores gitanos, quienes pronunciarían en uno y otro caso igual: “arsó”. Pero, junto a ella, el Romancero del siglo XX retiene, mayoritariamente en el Noroeste, otros modelos muy variados, en que el romance de “La condesita” conserva motivos narrativos que lo ponen en relación con un mundo más “caballeresco”:

b)

Allá arriba, en Lombardía, n’aquella noble ciudad,
el conde y la condesa

a coger flores se van.
El conde tiende su capa,
la condesa su brial;
los ojos de la condesa
arroyos son a llorar.
—¿Por qué lloras, condesita,
por qué es tanto suspirar?
—Porque me han dicho, buen conde, que te ibas a marchar.
—Si te lo han dicho, condesa,
bien te han dicho la verdad, que se han levantado guerras en rayas de Portugal.
—Conde, si vas a la guerra,
contigo me has de llevar.
—Eso sí que no, condesa,
tú me has de perdonar:
hombres que van a la guerra mujeres no han de tratar, porque nos quitan las fuerzas,
las ganas de pelear.
—Dime, conde Dirlos, dime ¿por cuántos días te vas?
—Los días no me los cuentes,
por años has de contar:
si a los siete años no vengo
o a los ocho, a más tardar, si a los ocho no he venido,
viuda te puedes llamar.—
Ya van los siete cumplidos,
los ocho querían entrar,
la pretenden muchos condes,
si se quería casar.
Un día, al salir de misa,
con su padre fue a encontrar:
—El conde Dirlos no viene,
te debes, hija, casar.
—No lo quiera Dios del cielo
ni la santa Trinidad, que mujer de mi linaje
ella se vuelva a casar.
Deme su bendición, padre,
para el conde ir a buscar.
—La de Dios ya tienes, hija,
y también la libertad.—
Se retiró a su aposento
y se empezó a desnudar:
se quitó media bordada
y la puso sin bordar;
quitó zapato de ante,
lo puso de cordobán,
puso saya sobre saya
encima de un verde brial.

De noche va por caminos,
de día por el jaral,
para que no la conozcan
los que han comido su pan.
Anduvo los siete reinos,
morería y cristiandad,
los siete anduvo en su busca sin poderlo ella encontrar;
mas, al cabo de los ocho,
vio un castillo relumbrar:
—Si aquel castillo es de moros,
ellos me cautivarán;
mas, si es de buenos cristianos,
ellos me remediarán.—
Se ha encontrado con un paje con caballos a abrevar.
—¿De quén son tantos caballos como llevas a abrevar?
—Son del buen conde lombardo,
mañana se va a casar:
ya tienen las carnes muertas,
ya están amasando el pan,
mucha gente hay convidada
y el vino puesto a enfrescar.
—Por tu vida, pajecico, ¿si me enseñarás allá?
—Eso no lo haré, señora,
eso no lo haré yo tal,
están los campos muy verdes,
los caballos se me irán.
Si alguno se te perdiere,
de mi cuenta correrá.—
Siete vueltas dio al palacio sin con nadie allí encontrar, mas, al cabo de las ocho,
con el Conde vino a hallar.
—Conde, dame una limosna,
y Dios te libre de mal.—
Echó mano a su bolsillo,
un real de plata le da.
—¡Para tan grande señor, poca limosna es un real!
—No me dirá, la romera,
de limosna ¿qué querrá?
—Yo quiero el anillo de oro
el de tu dedo pulgar, que te lo di yo de gajes
cuando fuimos a casar.—
Quitó saya sobre saya,
se quedó en el verde brial:
Vele aquí el don que me diste,
la noche de Navidad.—
El Conde, de que oyó esto, desmayado cayó atrás.

Ni con agua ni con vino
no le pueden recordar, sino con palabras dulces que la romera le da.
—¡Malhaya la romerica,
quien la trajo por acá!
—No la maldiga ninguno, que es mi mujer natural y los amores primeros son muy malos de olvidar.

El romance de “La condesita” es (o ha sido) de los más recordados en todo el ámbito de España. En otra ocasión publiqué muchos cientos de versiones de él, recogidas, en su mayor parte, en los dos primeros tercios del siglo XX, todas diferentes entre sí, aunque algunas de ellas pertenecientes a tipos regionales. En cambio, dentro de Portugal apenas es conocido en algunas localidades fronterizas. Por lo general, el área en que se ha documentado en la tradición oral moderna determinado romance no es indicativa de cómo y por dónde se expandió cuando adquirió difusión tradicional. Sus límites dependen, más bien, del proceso de olvido del tema. Pero en el caso particular del romance de “La condesita” su distribución geográfica sí es muy significativa; es un dato que hay que tener en cuenta incluso para explicar su génesis.

Que las barreras estatales hayan funcionado para excluir la comunicación entre la tradición portuguesa y la española sólo ocurre en romances de origen tardío, como los pertenecientes al “romancero vulgar” que han logrado adquirir difusión oral tradicional (esto es, que, al pasar de unos transmisores de textos a otros, han ido adaptando su lenguaje poético letrado primigenio al propio del romancero patrimonial). Pero, para las narraciones romancísticas cuya difusión oral es anterior a fines del siglo XVII, la frontera lingüística entre el español y el portugués fue totalmente permeable, desde mucho antes que se produjera la temporal unión política entre los reinos de Porrtugal y España.

La significativa ausencia (casi total) de nuestro romance en la tradición portuguesa no es el único indicio de que el tema de “La Condesita” tuvo en la tradición de los pueblos hispánicos una difusión tardía. Viene a confirmárnoslo y a explicárnoslo el hecho de que, en los márgenes del área en la cual se ha recogido, existen otros romances de tema similar, en que la “boda estorbada” es la de la mujer y en que es el varón quien llega a tiempo para reclamar a su esposa, forzada a contraer nuevo matrimonio. Uno es “El conde Dirlos”; otro “La vuelta del navegante”.

“El Conde Dirlos” se canta en Tras os Montes, El Bollo, Sanabria, Sajambre y Cantabria; en la Sierra de Béjar; además de los judíos de Marruecos. “La vuelta del navegante” en Lugo, Orense, desde Entre Douro e Minho hasta el Algarve, en Açores y en Brasil ; en Sayago; en Cataluña: en Canarias, y por los sefardíes de Bosnia.

En la baladística europea se conoce el tema de la mujer que va en busca de su esposo y logra su regreso al primer hogar, y en ese relato incluso se da el episodio del encuentro con un pastor que le sirve de informante. Por tanto, hay que admitir que el conocimiento de ese tema baladístico fue determinante en la suplantación de los romances de tema odiseico por este otro de desarrollo más “romántico”. Pero, por otra parte, es evidente que “La Condesita” surgió desde el texto de los otros romances de difusión anterior, mediante un proceso de inversión de los papeles del varón y la mujer.

La comparación textual pone, en efecto, de manifiesto que la similitud en los motivos, de que se compone el relato en las versiones de "La Condesita" y en las de "El conde Dirlos" y de "La vuelta del navegante", ni es debida a su pertenencia a un tronco común, esto es, a herencia respecto a un remoto antecesor, ni tampoco a influjos de versión a versión en el curso de la convivencia en la tradición oral de los tres romances (fenómeno que se suele llamar "contaminación"). Hay en "La Condesita", nó sólo reminiscencias múltiples de detalles que se dan ya en las versiones de los otros dos romances, sino rasgos estructurales que denuncian el proceso de aprovechamiento de motivos que, por su naturaleza, reconocemos como propios de un tema en que lo que se produce es el regreso del marido, no la ida por el mundo de la mujer en su búsqueda.

El plazo de espera, que el conde, al salir para la guerra, da a su esposa para que, de no regresar dentro de él, ella se considere viuda, es una escena, en "La condesita", calcada de la similar en "El conde Dirlos" , donde constituye un elemento imprescindible y aquí no. La partida de la esposa, cumplido ese plazo, frente al regreso del guerrero, ante la posibilidad de que se vuelva a casar la mujer abandonada, vuelven a estar en relación similar. La curiosidad de la romera por el propietario del ganado marcado de una derterminada manera carece de justificación; mientras la escena paralela del romance de "El conde Dirlos" se debe a que el esposo, al regresar a sus antiguas posesiones, descubre la substitución de sus armas (en el castillo) o de la marca (el "hierro y señal") de su ganado por las del nuevo cónyuge.

También tiene más sentido en "La vuelta del navegante" (o en "Dirlos") un motivo como el de los besos y abrazos en pago de los gastos hechos para la boda frustrada, redondeado con la queja del novio de lo limitados que fueron los favores concedidos antes de la boda interrumpida, y asimismo el refrán de los primeros amores.

Al tratar de esos romances de tema odiseico, comentaré algún detalle adicional.

En la vida tradicional de este romance de "La condesita" se han producido varios hechos curiosos. El estudio comparativo de los varios centenares de versiones en que este romance se canta como tema autónomo, recogidas a lo largo de los siglos XIX y XX, muestra la existencia de dos capas de textos: la de orígenes más antiguos está constituida por versiones en que cada motivo narrativo tiene un área de difusión propia, independiente, en la geografía peninsular; otra, más moderna, revela la difusión conjunta de todos los componentes de un texto dado, que ha adquirido especial popularidad dentro de un área regional limitada.

Otro fenómeno en la vida tradicional del tema, posterior a la formación de esos "tipos regionales", fue la moda de considerar la saga de la búsqueda del marido como una segunda parte de la aventura de la infanta con el paje Gerineldo; esa moda, nacida en Andalucía, se propagó arrolladoramente hasta muy lejos de Sierra Morena. En Andalucía, a comienzos del siglo XIX, cuando Gallardo y Estébanez recogieron el romance, "La condesita" aún se cantaba como tema autónomo; posteriormente sólo ha sobrevivido allí su narración como continuación de "Gerineldo"; el romance de tema doble ha barrido al de "La condesita" simple.

Aún hay que notar un tercer episodio en la vida oral del tema. Ramón Menéndez Pidal incluyó en su Flor nueva de romances viejos (1ª edición, 1928; 2ª, 1933) unos pocos romances de la tradición oral de los siglos XIX y XX, al lado de las versiones facticias (esto es, de su propia factura, hechas en vista de criterios estéticos, no filológicos) de los romances de temática “heroica” procedentes del viejo romancero, el del siglo XVI. Entre esas versiones basadas en la tradición moderna (por lo general muy bien concebidas) se halla una versión modélica de “El conde Flores” o “El conde Sol” (esto es, ‘La condesita’). Fue representada, el 24 de abril de 1933, por alumnos del Instituto Escuela de Madrid en el Campo del Moro y, para tal festejo se imprimió un Pliego suelto; quizá por esa razón, fue acogida en libros escolares de primera enseñanza.Tuvo tal éxito en la España rural de la República, que arraigó en la tradición y vino a transmitirse oralmente, cantada, por las más varias regiones, en competencia con las versiones propias de cada área o lugar. En 1971, el “Archivo del Romancero” contaba ya con más de una treintena de versiones recogidas de la tradición oral en pueblos de Cantabria, Valladolid, Zamora, Salamanca, Ávila, Madrid, Albacete, Cuenca, Teruel, Zaragoza, Baleares, Tenerife, Gran Canaria y entre los sefardíes de Tetuán y Alcazarquivir que tenían su origen en el texto debido a Menéndez Pidal. Cuando, entre 1977 y 1987, dirigí las campañas de recolección “colectiva” del proyecto “Description, Editing and Analysis of the Pan Hispanic Romancero”, que hoy constituyen el “Archivo Sonoro del Romancero Débora Catalán”, la versión libresca tendía a desplazar a las locales en casi todas partes. He de advertir que esta incorporación de un texto letrado de origen moderno al romancero oral, aunque no es un caso único, es algo muy excepcional.

Gracias por la labor detectivesca:
Esta noticia de La Vanguardia escrita por un menda que cree que para tener una pinacoteca o ser un marchante de arte hay que vestirse como un presentador de telediario o un boy de Celia Gámez es lo único que hay.

Me pregunto si alguien con mando en plaza, cuando Tarradellas y CIU iniciaban su periplo, hizo gestiones para aceptar el legado, o se quedó en las cajas de seguridad en Suiza...

«ANILLO DE COMPROMISO»: EXPEDIENTE XXX O LA PASIÓN ELOCUENTE

Normalmente, las escenas "para mayores con reparos" no cuentan con intérpretes que sepan ni remotamente quienes son y lo que han significado Ryszard Boleslawski, Vsevolod Meyerhold, Michael Chekhov, Lee Strasberg, Stella Adler, Harold Clurman, Robert Lewis, Meisner Sanford, Uta Hagen, Cojar Ion, Rafael Fuentes e Ivana Chubbuck, o el gran Constantin Stanislavski, pero hay excepciones, como los intérpretes de este vídeoclip, en el que las escenas de alto contenido erótico, explícitas, elocuentes, sin ambages, mantienen un raro equilibrio artistico-estético.

Ella, vestal propiciatoria, recurre al sutil registro de la estatuaria griega para subrayar la gélidez ígnea de la pasión que le embarga. Nadie, desde la escena en la que la gran Anita Ekberg se baña en la Fontana di Trevi, en «La dolce vita», había encarnado con tanta sensualidad el mito de la mujer y la hembra deseable, vertiginosamente carnal.

Él, verbaliza lo inefable del erotismo, y, en la línea de Victor Mature en "El ladrón de Bagdad", controla el gesto, la distancia, la mirada en un hieratismo mucho más difícil y elocuente como sex-simbol, que demuestra que el tamaño no importa, trascendiendo con creces la escuela interpretativa de un Nacho Vidal o un Rocco Sifreddi, tan condicionados y limitados por su físico.

El guionista y el director acuden y superan a Antonioni, a la semiótica y hasta a la física cuántica, como en esos planos en los que se distorsiona la perspectiva, y ella sentada parece mayor que él de pie; o aquél plano medio en que, cuando él se sienta a su lado, parece haberse encaramado a un taburete, estableciendo que junto a ella, crece y se crece, parábola visual de impecable factura.

No desmerece su talento el estilismo, el vestuario y el atrezzo, que la iluminación y la fotografía han sabido subrayar.

El erotismo es un monumento al buen gusto en este vídeoclip que hoy recomiendo.

Y una advertencia: alejen de esta pantalla a sus hijos y nietos. Disfruten sin familia estos minutos de placer con Cuco Sánchez, en "Anillo de compromiso".

GASTÓN PARDO: LA NUEVA CENSURA Y LOS SECRETOS DEL OPUS DEI

El requerimiento del juzgado español número 10 de lo Mercantil, obliga en medidas cautelares a la asociación de las víctimas del Opus Dei denominada opuslibros.org a retirar de la mirada pública una serie de documentos cuya autoría intelectual reclama esa discutida organización religiosa. La jueza decidirá la retirada, definitiva o no, a opuslibros.org y a su directora de las obras que pide el Opus Dei. La jueza sin oír a la parte pasiva, ha accedido de manera cautelar a la petición del Opus.

Ninguna de las obras que he tenido que retirar, están registradas dice opuslibros.org y así lo certifica el Registro central de la propiedad intelectual, certificado que opuslibros.org tiene en su poder. Y es lógico que no estén puesto que son secretas y el Opus Dei ha tenido mucho cuidado siempre de que no salieran a la luz. Ellos intentan desviar el tema basándose en la "propiedad intelectual" sobre los textos; a la que Opuslibros.org opone con energía la libertad de expresión. Las víctimas de atrocidades por parte de esa institución se han agrupado en opuslibros.org en contra de la censura, el secretismo y el engaño.

El Opus Dei es una organización secreta como lo es toda asociación religiosa cuyos votos son pronunciados de manera individual y fuera de la vista pública, y esto asimismo queda claro en el curso del litigio en que se enfrenta a opuslibros.org. Las asociaciones secretas están prohibidas por la ley española y estamos hablando de que la mayor parte de las obras cuyo retiro del dominio público se pide por vía judicial, son normativas, reglamentos, instrucciones... que regulan el funcionamiento interno de la institución y la vida de los miembros dentro de ella.

La tutela de la honra y la defensa del honor

La universidad del Opus Dei ha alterado el orden jurídico en países de raíz hispánica como México. La diferencia entre honor y honra era muy clara en ese país cuando se hablaba del alcance de la tipificación y la penalidad de los delitos de difamación y calumnias, que eran conductas antijurídicas incluidas, previstas, casi con el mismo tenor en los códigos penales de las entidades federativas denominadas estados.

Cada poder legislativo estatal había integrado en su legislación penal los delitos de calumnias y difamación, que fueron considerados durante muchos años armas defensivas suficientemente poderosas y eficaces en defensa de la honra y de la fama de los ciudadanos.

El honor, entonces se decía, no podía ser tutelado por el estado porque a diferencia de la honra, carece de un agente visible susceptible de desvanecerla. La honra si cuenta, en cambio, con un agente y por lo tanto se trata de un bien que puede y debe ser tutelado.

De súbito apareció en México como ave de mal agüero una periodista española con formación jurídica, procedente de una universidad española del Opus Dei: ella propuso en la tribuna de una universidad clerical que se adoptara en las legislaciones modernas la defensa del honor. No faltaba más. Sobre la base de sus puntos de vista comenzaron a modificarse las legislaciones locales para dar entrada a los puntos de vista modernizadores que anunciaba la conferenciante. Sus conceptos fueron bien recibidos por los políticos oportunistas del PRI y del PAN como innovaciones indiscutibles para la formación de estados tecnológicamente dispuestos de cara al futuro.

Pero no sólo eso. Los políticos mexicanos emprendieron las modificaciones siguiendo dos rutas: establecieron la figura jurídica del daño moral como parte de la legislación civil, fijando la pena pecuniaria al responsable de atacar el honor de una persona. La segunda fue la derogación de los delitos de difamación y calumnias, que antes formaban parte de los códigos penales regionales.

Lo que se logró con estas reformas legales fue que a partir de la entrada en vigor de la nueva figura de derecho civil llamada daño moral, y la concomitante derogación de los delitos de difamación y calumnias, fue que el ejercicio de oposición a todo tipo de ofensas, bajo la forma de defensa del honor redujo a un círculo muy restringido el número de personas capaces económicamente de defenderse de esa manera, es decir, el número de querellantes se reduce a quienes tengan el dinero suficiente para defenderse con un abogado de los ataques de los adversarios. Sólo una oligarquía puede defenderse con el daño moral puesto a su servicio.

En contrapartida, las personas de escasos recursos dejaron de contar con la asesoría del fiscal para hacer valer por la vía penal sus reclamos en tratándose de difamación y calumnias. La representación social a cargo del fiscal en esas materias dejó de servir. Los pobres dejaron de defenderse porque sencillamente en la república mexicana opudeísta la defensa se ha transformado en un derecho exclusivo de unos cuantos, como ha sido el caso de la revista mexicana Letras libres, a la que la Suprema corte de justicia le asignó el triunfo contra la parte quejosa, el diario La jornada, que se defendió de haber sido acusada por la revista de respaldar a los terroristas de ETA. Pero resultó que, según la Corte, sólo los de Letras libres tienen honor.

El secreto del Opus Dei

El Opus Dei sólo tiene un secreto digno de ese nombre, que no es desvelado por los documentos censurados; es el concerniente a la cooptación con que resultó beneficiada la "Obra" hacia el final de la guerra civil española, por parte del general Francisco Franco, para que un grupo numeroso y clérigos seculares y de estudiantes y profesionales que se habían arrogado ese nombre, se encargaran de cubrir las plazas de profesores que en un ochenta por ciento salieron de España al exilio ese año.

Ese secreto suele ser cubierto con el misterio y para mantenerlo fuera de la vista del público, se habla de un milagro. Un milagro transformó al Opus Dei en una de las fuerzas rutilantes del régimen franquista. Pero ese milagro tiene el nombre de un militar. Nadie puede ser tan tonto para creer que las instancias celestiales operaron el milagro de manera directa. Desde el siglo XVII las nuevas disposiciones milagrosas incluyen la asistencia de terceros de carne y hueso para llevarse a cabo. Como hemos dicho, se trató de un militar el que medió ante Franco para que el Opus Dei se implantara en España, primero en la educación, en seguida en los negocios turbios como Matesa y, finalmente, al frente de los servicios de inteligencia en la vicepresidencia del gobierno en la época de Carrero Blanco.

La imprenta y la red

Érase una vez un grupo de cristianos cismáticos, los llamados « valdenses»; el grupo lo había fundado en el siglo XIII un habitante de la ciudad de Lyon llamado Pierre Valdo. Era algo así como una prefiguración del protestantismo, y en Francia, ese grupo terminó emparentado con los calvinistas. El caso es que esa gente quería fundamentar sus posiciones socioeconómicas sobre la Biblia, para lo cual necesitaban una versión de la misma en lengua vulgar.

Eran los tiempos en que balbuceaba la imprenta (1452-1455). Mandaron a imprimir su Biblia en 1535 cerca de Neuchâtel, en Suiza, y se difundía en los mercados. Cuando el rey de Francia se enteró de tan espantosa innovación, decidió en el acto prohibir la diabólica « prensa », es decir el hecho de imprimir. Sólo se pudo imprimir, a partir de entonces, los libros que llevaran la mención « impreso por privilegio del rey », es decir después de previo acuerdo con el monarca o algún otro personaje principal del reino. Es así cómo gran parte de la vida intelectual francesa, incluyendo a Descartes, terminó expresándose mediante escritos impresos en el ex granjero, impresos que entraban de contrabando en Francia. La llamada « censura previa » estaba controlada por un « gabinete negro » cuya función y composición eran secretas.

La censura previa se mantuvo vigente hasta la ley sobre la prensa de 1881, que al fin instauró un régimen de libertad, pero bajo control. Así es cómo en Francia está prohibido publicar el menor volante o cartel sin mencionar el nombre del impresor, lo cual permite a la policía investigar hasta descubrir el nombre del autor del texto impreso. Las imprentas, hasta hoy en día, son centros de reunión policial. Nadie comenta jamás que la policía vigila que un documento salga de la imprenta.

En 1937-38, bajo el gobierno del Frente Popular en Francia, fueron emitidos varios decretos tendentes a limitar la libertad de imprimir, especialmente los textos que pudiesen catalogarse de origen foráneo. Para estos casos, decidía a su antojo una instancia ministerial. Esta medida antidemocrática instaurada por la izquierda del momento fue abolida de la reglamentación francesa hace apenas unos años, en Francia, gracias a la labor de abogado revisionista Eric Delacroix. Y son miles los libros y periódicos prohibidos en Francia por decisión ministerial sin explicación.

La reacción del poder en Francia de cara a internet, la fantástica innovación inesperada en cuanto a su alcance, es idéntica a la reacción de los antiguos regímenes, el de Luis XVI y el de Francisco Franco o Felipe González, lo mismo da, ante la imprenta y el internet: prohibir. Prohibir es la consigna cotidiana del poder.

Prohibir primero y más que nada lo que ponga en tela de juicio las bases del poder, las ideas sobre las cuales se apoya, la versión de la historia que le complace, los datos científicos elegidos por el poder con vistas a desarrollarlos en el futuro [eliminando otros aportes científicos]. Es la tradición de un poder que odia a los que lo juzgan y que rechaza cualquier debate. Se pensó un tiempo en obligar a registrarse a cualquier persona que se expresase en el internet. Pero la gente se limitó a sonreír ante esa pretensión. No obstante, la alta burocracia no ha cesado de elaborar proyectos imaginativos para poner al internet bajo control, en estos últimos diez años.

La oligarquía europea, firme en sus privilegios, no soporta la idea de que cualquier ciudadano pueda dar su parecer sobre tal o cual aspecto de la vida del país, y está muy preocupada por lo que pasaría si se revelasen las innumerables canalladas susceptibles de ser perpetradas por quienes se aferran al poder. Tal es el caso del Opus Dei en España Tal es el caso de la judicatura española que solapa la arbitrariedad y las leyes especiales.

Pero los proyectos de control de internet, elaborados bajo la presión de la actualidad, se convierten en disparates imposibles de concretar porque sus objetivos son contradictorios. Así dan lugar a debates sin fin entre gente que no sabe nada del tema.

Tienen un objetivo elemental e inmediato, que es el de limitar los riesgos políticos, pero la efervescencia de internet, su estructura acéfala, concebida por el Penaágono para resistir los asaltos, la creatividad incesante de los internautas, a quienes el general mexicano Roberto Badillo intenta convertir en formación política, vuelven obsoletos los proyectos de control antes siquiera que terminen de precisarse técnicamente. Los técnicos, los que hacen que la maquinaria funcione, observan con escepticismo porque están convencidos de que el público finalizará regulando el empleo del net, sobre la marcha, mucho mejor que los payasos que preparan leyes para calmar sus angustias personales.

La libertad es una cosa corrosiva, es cierto. Esto ya lo han aprendido los de opuslibros.org

Ahora tendrá que aprenderlo el régimen español que es semillero de jueces desnaturalizados.

Prince Alwaleed Receives Ambassador of Spain to Saudi Arabia to Discuss Economic Issues

20/3/2010

HRH Prince Alwaleed bin Talal bin Abdulaziz Alsaud, Chairman of Kingdom Holding Company, received at his office, His Excellency Pablo Bravo, Spanish Ambassador to Saudi Arabia. The meeting was also attended by Dr. Nahla Al Anbar, Personal Executive Assistant to HRH the Chairman.

Click To Enlarge

The meeting began as the ambassador thanked the Prince for giving him the opportunity to meet as it was his first meeting with HRH since he took up his post as Ambassador of Spain to Saudi Arabia. The two discussed a number of issues including the warm friendship between their two countries. The Ambassador also relayed cordial regards from His Majesty King Juan Carlos of Spain.

In addition, the meeting touched upon the repercussions of the economic crisis on Spain's economy and the two also discussed investment issues. The Prince said the crisis had affected the whole world, however the Saudi economy and the private sector are doing well. Furthermore, Mr. Bravo presented the Prince with various opportunities for investment in Spain.

In conclusion to the meeting, Prince Alwaleed referred to the long and warm established relationship between Saudi Arabia and Spain especially since they shared a common history. In addition, the Prince asked the Ambassador to relay cordial regards to His Majesty King Juan Carlos.

In 2007, HRH received at his office in Riyadh, Princess Corina Zu Sayn-Wittgenstein, Representative of the His Majesty King Juan Carlos of Spain and hosted a luncheon in honor of his guest at Kingdom Resort.

In April 2006, Princess Corina accompanied King Carlos and a Spanish delegation to Saudi Arabia on an Official State visit as Strategic Advisor to the delegation.

Prince Alwaleed's investments in Spain through KHC include Citigroup.

Agosto de 2008, el príncipe Al Walled Bin Talal es acusado de violar a una modelo española, en su yate.
En 2010 se archiva el caso por falta de pruebas.
En 2011 se presentan otras pruebas y el caso se reabre.
Diciembre de 2011, el príncipe Al Walled amenaza con cancelar el contrato del AVE a La Meca y amenaza con concederselo a los franceses (a Sarkozy), si tiene que ir a juicio por el caso de la modelo española.
Marzo de 2012, el tribunal de Palma de Mallorca declara inocente al príncipe Al Walled, no obstante le piden una muestra de saliva y éste se niega.
12 de abril de 2012, el Rey envía una carta al príncipe Al Walled felicitándole por al archivo del caso. HAY UN INTERCAMBIO DE “CARTAS” Y FELICITACIONES.

14 de abril de 2012, España y Arabia Saudí ratifican el contrato del AVE entre La Meca y Medina. EL GOBIERNO DE ESPAÑA DEBE INVERTIR UNOS 7000 MILLONES DE EUROS.
15 de abril de 2012, el Rey es operado de madrugada tras romperse una cadera en una cacería en Botswana. Primero se dice que es una caceria y ponen una foto suya de muchos años atras, después lanzan una nueva cortina de humo con una supuesta amante y princesa “Corinna zu Sayn-Wittgenstein” (“la organizadora de negocios”)
6 de mayo, Sarkozy pierde las elecciones. :D
7 de mayo, Rato abandona Bankia tras conocerse que el Gobierno saneará la entidad con 7000 MILLONES DE EUROS. Rajoy dice “Espero que no…”. IBEX 35, la mayor subida del año excepto para Bankia.
QUE CASUALIDAD QUE PIDAN 7000 MILLONES, JUSTO LA CANTIDAD NECESARIA PARA EL AVE LA MECA-MEDINA.

EL GOBIERNO ESPAÑOL HACE NEGOCIOS CON EL DINERO DE LOS ESPAÑOLES, MIENTRAS QUE ELLOS NO NOS FINANCIAN NI TAMPOCO NOS DAN CREDITO, NOSOTROS SOMOS SUS BANQUEROS Y OBTIENEN FINANCIACION CON DINERO PUBLICO.

El primer principio de una investigación es no confundir hechos relacionados temporalmente con hechos relacionados causalmente. Es lo que diferencia el conocimiento del delirio conspiranoico.
Mientras no demuestre que las empresas a las que se les ha adjudicado la concesión del Ave a la Meca han pedido un crédito a Bankia, su enumeración de hechos no explica nada.

ALEJANDRINO CALVO SANGUINO: PAPÁ PATO

Cerquita de la laguna, oculto en un matorral,
allí tenía su nidal
una familia patuna.
Y en una noche de luna,
bajo un cielo despejado,
de un huevecito quebrado,
anhelante de vivir,
de pronto empezó a salir,
un patito remojado.

Pronto llegó la mañana,
el sol comenzó a alumbrar.
Pájaros se oían cantar, alegrando la sabana.
Se sentía la soberana,
palpitación de la vida.
Una lombriz escondida, debajo de un limonero,
asomó de su agujero,
pero se escondió enseguida.

Pero volvamos al nido.
donde el patito nació.
Ya su ropa se secó,
y se ve muy bien vestido.
Sus plumas han adquirido,
un amarillo brillante.
Y de manera elegante,
le adornan negras manchitas,
tiene alas pequeñitas,

Y un pico color diamante.

En el transcurso del día,
se vieron patitos nuevos,
al eclosionar mas huevos,
que mamá pata tenía.
Y cada uno salía
parecido al anterior.
Plumas del mismo color,
y cómo iban naciendo,
todos se iban reuniendo,
con su hermanito mayor.

A la hora de la cena, apareció papá pato.
Traía un suculento plato
de delfín y de ballena,
una canasta bien llena,
de langostas y cangrejos,
y una lista de consejos,
máximas, y reflexiones,
a fin de que sus pichones,
lograran llegar a viejos.

Así que antes de cenar, abrazando a cada hijo,
muy dulcemente le dijo,
que se sentara a escuchar.
Y les comenzó a explicar, cosas que debían saber.
—Mis hijos, para comer,
antes hay que trabajar.
Y si alguien quiere enseñar, primero debe aprender.

Hay que vivir muy conscientes
del mundo que nos rodea.
Porque aunque nadie lo crea,
la mayoría de accidentes,
si fuéramos más prudentes,
no llegarían a ocurrir.
Bien podríamos prevenir, tropezones y caídas,
y acciones mal dirigidas,
que hacen llorar y sufrir.

Cuando salgan a jugar,
En compañía de otros patos, cuiden que esos dulces ratos,
no se vayan a amargar.
A veces suele pasar , que si perdemos un juego,
al sentir herido el ego,

y el orgullo de nosotros,
ofendemos a los otros,
para arrepentirnos luego.

Cuando vayan a lavar,
alisten agua y jabón.
O para cualquier acción que vayan a realizar,
es conveniente contar,
con todo lo necesario.
El elemento primario
para escribir es la pluma;
para hacer pompas, la espuma;
para hablar, el diccionario.

Procuren ser cautelosos,
sin pecar de prevenidos,
pues aunque existen bandidos,
hay seres maravillosos.
Eviten andar ociosos,
para arriba y para abajo.
Jamás tomen un atajo,
Queriendo cortar camino.
Forjen su propio destino,
con entereza y trabajo.

Cultiven el buen humor.
aprendan a contar chistes.
Jamás ni nunca estén tristes.
No den cabida al dolor.
Con un beso o una flor,
expresen sus sentimientos.
Y si a veces hay momentos,
En que tengan que llorar,
no olviden que hay que olvidar,
Y volver a estar contentos.

Cuando haya una discusión,
si alguien quiere ganar,
entonces debe callar:
y no hay más complicación.
La correcta aplicación,
de esta simple formulita,
muchos problemas evita.
Pues con la razón conviene, dársela a quien no la tiene,
que es quien más la necesita.

Al hablar, no se deslicen.
No discurran a la loca
cada vez que abran la boca, midan muy bien lo que dicen.
Calculen y analicen,

si lo que se va a enunciar, es útil para enseñar,
o posee alguna sustancia.
Y si no tiene importancia, es preferible callar.

Cepillen muy bien sus dientes.
No descuiden el aseo.
Porque no hay nada más feo que los cuerpos malolientes.
Sean afables y decentes.
Eviten ser pendencieros.
Cuiden de sus compañeros.
Brinden siempre una sonrisa.
Actúen sin pausa ni prisa.
Y sean siempre caballeros.

En las cosas del amor
hay que ser franco y sincero, porque el falso y traicionero sale siempre perdedor.
Lo más justo y lo mejor,
es ser honrado y cabal.
Y por regla general,
Nunca fingir el afecto.
La hipocresía es un defecto que riñe con la moral.

Dice un cantor popular,
que no hay que llegar primero, que a él le dijo un arriero,
que había que saber llegar.
Nunca deben aplazar,
Lo que tengan por hacer.
Si es que quieren aprender,
deben hacer las tareas,
y explorar nuevas ideas,
en los campos del saber.

Como en toda reunión
nunca falta el distraído,
alguien se quedó dormido,
sin prestar gran atención.
Por aquella distracción
muy caro habría de pagar, porque, claro, al no escuchar,
la conferencia completa,
no copió bien la receta,
para aprender a nadar.

La comida se sirvió.
Y sentados a la mesa,
con calma y delicadeza,

cada patito cenó.
Después que todo acabó,
mientras lavaban los platos,
contaron breves relatos,
que les hicieron reír.
Y feliz se fue a dormir,
nuestra familia de patos.

Con el nuevo amanecer, despidiéndose muy bajo,
papá se fue a su trabajo,
como siempre solía hacer.
Pero aquel atardecer,
algo raro sucedió.
Cuando el sol ya se ocultó
lejos, en el occidente, comprobaron tristemente,
que el pato no regresó.
Hubo tristeza en el nido,
duelo llanto y conmoción,
por la desaparición,
de alguien que era tan querido.

Pero ante un hecho cumplido,
como él mismo lo dijera,
hay que buscar la manera,
de olvidar lo que pasó.
La pata se preparó,
para ser madre soltera.

Y asumió su deber,
con alma vida y sombrero.
Al no estar su compañero,
ella supo responder.
Barría si había que barrer;
si había que planchar, planchaba.
Sus ganancias las gastaba,
en forma justa y cabal,
y en una escuela formal,
sus pichones educaba.

De sus hijos, el mayor era noble y obediente, siempre traia un excelente
o una mención de honor.
Cada gota de sudor,
por su mamá derramada,
se veía bien compensada,
con las notas que traía,
Y la pata se sentía
como madre realizada.

El patito distraído,

aquel falto de consciencia,
el que en plena conferencia,
un día se quedó dormido,
su imperdonable descuido,
lo condenó a fracasar.
Como no aprendió a nadar,
ni a manejar la piragua,
se ahogó en un vasito de agua,
sin poderlo remediar.

No hay nada que mas taladre,
o cause mas desconsuelo
que ver rodar por el suelo, las lagrimas de una madre.
Un día que hablaban del padre,
la pata gimió y lloró.
Y aunque alguien la consoló sobándole la cabeza,
de un ataque de tristeza,
Mamá Pata se enfermó.

Cataplasmas de ternura, bebedizos de cariño.
la trataban como a un niño,
para endulzar su amargura.
Pero no hallaban la cura,
cada día estaba peor,
y, al fin, un cisne doctor,
desenredó el enredijo,
y en su diagnostico dijo,
que estaba enferma de amor.

De su extraña enfermedad
nada podían entender,
hasta que un atardecer,
contó su triste verdad.
Dijo que la soledad,
la consumía lentamente.
Que, aunque reía ante la gente,
por dentro su alma lloraba.
Su corazón no olvidaba,
el pato que estaba ausente.

En busca de un curandero,
el hijo mayor salió.
Y vean lo que sucedió,
mientras recorría el sendero.
Debajo del limonero,
vio un granito de maíz,
y se apresuró feliz ,
a tomar aquel bocado.
Pero ¡sorpresa! a su lado,
allí estaba la lombriz.

El pato la iba a engullir, como era natural,
pero el astuto animal
se le supo escabullir,
lográndose introducir,
adentro del agujero.
Y le dijo: —Caballero,
ai es que me quiere comer,
más tarde lo puede hacer,
pero escúcheme primero.

Este túnel que he cavado atraviesa la montaña,
y si el ojo no me engaña,
he visto allá al otro lado,
en casa de un hacendado,
que es un hábil cazador,
al lado del corredor,
custodiada por un perro,
una gran jaula de hierro,
con un pato en su interior.

El joven se estremeció
al oír aquel relato,
pues pensó en su “papá pato”,
que un día desapareció.
Y en ese instante tomó una determinación.
Y a su férrea decisión,
puso voluntad de acero:
ayudaría al prisionero
a salir de su prisión.

A casa del hacendado,
de una vez se encaminó.
Pero nada resultó
conforme a lo planeado.
Según había calculado, seria jornada de un día;
pero el pobre no sabía,
que escalar esa montaña,
más que una increíble hazaña era casi una utopía.

Con cuerdas y con arneses, intentó ganar la cima.
Un árbol le cayó encima,
sufrió múltiples reveses,
y, naturalmente, a veces,
hasta se quiso rendir.
Pero saco a relucir
una voluntad de hierro,

y a lo más alto del cerro, exhausto logró subir.

Repuesto ya del sofoco,
y conquistáda la cumbre,
tal como era su costumbre,
quiso acicalarse un poco.
Se bañó en agua de coco,
usó hierbas bienolientes,
y entre ideas recurrentes,
unas buenas y otras malas,
de pronto vio que sus alas,
ya eran grandes y potentes.

Desde aquella gran altura,
se podía ver todo el valle, y con lujo de detalle,
su majestuosa hermosura.
Corriendo por la llanura,
ríos se veían pasar,
y allá a lo lejos el mar,
como un mágico espejo,
en donde otrora su viejo,
solía salir a pescar.

Después del breve recreo, contemplando aquel paisaje,
debía continuar el viaje,
pues no andaba de paseo.
Formando un fuerte aleteo,
se quiso desperezar.
Y fue tal su aletear,
con las dos alas al viento,
que tuvo por un momento,
La sensación de flotar.
De esa intrincada montaña,
sin pecar de exagerado,
se podría haber despeñado
el mismísimo hombre araña.
El pato dándose maña,
quiso empezar a bajar.
Y como era de esperar,
a punto se resbaló,
y en el vacio comprobó,
que ahora podía volar.

La experiencia de volar,
Y desafiar las alturas
fue de sus mil aventuras, la más espectacular.
Se dedicó a planear
por aquel límpido cielo,
pero interrumpió su vuelo,

de repente al entender, que era tiempo de poner
sus patitas en el suelo.

Su verdadera misión
era liberar al preso.
Y justo pensando en eso,
puso en marcha un plan de acción.
Y voló con precaución,
a las copas de un yarumo.
Desde allí se veía el humo,
y a las viejas cocineras,
preparando en sus hogueras,
las viandas para el consumo.

Y entonces pudo escuchar que las mujeres hablaban, que decían y comentaban,
que un señor vendría a almorzar.
Y que había que preparar,
el más delicioso plato,
lo discutieron un rato,
y por fin quedó acordado que el menú del invitado llevaría carne de pato.

Procurando el aderezo,
la más vieja de las viejas,
fue hasta la jaula de rejas,
donde se encontraba el preso.
Pronto estuvo de regreso,
con el condenado a muerte.
Ya estaba echada la suerte.
Papá pato moriría.
Su pechuga adornaría,
en la mesa el plato fuerte.

Casi al instante fatal,
de rebanarle el pescuezo,
ocurrió un raro suceso,
y hubo confusión total.
Apareció un pato igual
repartiendo picotazos.
pellizcó piernas y brazos,
y en la bronca que se armó,
el prisionero escapó,
dando grandes aletazos.

Papá pato no sabía
quien era aquel personaje que con valor y coraje,
con arrojo y gallardía,
nuevamente lo ponía,

a vivir en libertad.
Y admirando su bondad,
pensó que debía encontrarlo,
y más que recompensarlo,
ofrecerle su amistad.

El encuentro no tardó,
pues ya a distancia segura,
volando a su misma altura,
su héroe apareció.
Con sus alas lo abrazó,
mejor dicho, se abrazaron.
De alegría juntos lloraron, sin angustia ni dolor,
y para verse mejor,
en un árbol se posaron.

Se miraron fijamente,
y en el alma sintió el viejo,
como si fuera un espejo,
la imagen que tenía enfrente.
Recordó sus años veinte,
travesuras infantiles,
y en añoranzas sutiles,
a su memoria llegaron,
amores que iluminaron,
sus auroras juveniles.

Después de lo sucedido,
y ya repuestos del susto,
convinieron que era justo,
volar de regreso al nido.
Mamá pata había sufrido
demasiado por su ausencia.
Su ya maltrecha existencia,
poco a poco se extinguía,
y qué bien le sentaría,
su gratísima presencia.

Fue así como, acto seguido, remontaron las alturas
dos magnificas figuras, con enorme parecido.
Rato después en el nido,
esposa, madre y hermanos,
vieron dos puntos lejanos,
que se movían en el cielo.
Y hubo entonces gran revuelo, cuando estuvieron cercanos.

—Es él—, gritó la mamá
al reconocer al hijo.
Y otra patita dijo:

—Y viene con mi papá.
De ahí en adelante ya
todo fue rumba y festejo, tanto el joven como el viejo,
fueron homenajeados,
cómodamente sentados,
brindaron con vino añejo.

Mamá pata revivió,
volvió a ser la misma de antes.
Con taconeos elegantes,
fue quien más lo celebró.
Papá pato le entregó
una rosa y un jazmín.
Y así en medio del festín,
todo el mundo divertido,
yo les digo complacido,
que el cuento llegó a su fin.

¿Verdad que sí?

Este autor forma parte de la mejor tradición, la de los poetas colombianos como don José Manuel Marroquín, autor de "La perrilla" que tantos colombianos aprenden desde niños, saben de memoria, y pueden recitar.

Desgraciadamente, a los españoles, como mucho, nos endilgaron a Gloria Fuertes, con sus poemitas ramplones y mentecatos, y algún otro de lira estreñida catapultado por enchufe en el Parnaso literario.

Y se nota.

Hola Gatopardo.
Me ha gustado mucho este poema que has compartido, pero difiero en cuanto al comentario que haces sobre Gloria Fuertes. Para mi una gran poetisa.
No entiendo que para ensalzar a un autor haya que denostar a otros.
Saludos.

..."No entiendo que para ensalzar a un autor haya que denostar a otros."

Querida: he mencionado la tradición colombiana en poesía para niños, frente a la paupérrima literatura poética para niños en España: que a usted le parezca Gloria Fuertes una gran poetisa dice mucho de la clase de lectora que es.

Los poemas infantiles de Gloria Fuertes son de vergüenza ajena, y, por si fuera poco, no son poemas, sino cantinelas con ocurrencias y ripios para tarados.

Saludos cordiales

PARÉNESIS A DON ERNESTO KOPLOWITZ, HIJO: DE PUTA A PUTA, TACONAZO.

Don Ernesto Koplowitz:

Nos hemos enterado de que no ha solicitado la prueba del ADN para tener dos hermanas más. Adquirir familia, pero sobre todo hermanas, es un asunto grave y serio, y más si vienen resabiadas, mohínas y con el gusto por las perras de su padrino. Mientras se analizan las reliquias del patriarca y el juez procede a concluir que usted es hijo de su padre, le aconsejo que, en su papel de primogénito de la dinastía Koplowitz, vaya explicando a historiadores y futuros genealogistas unos cuantos misterios:

El judaísmo de su padre era raro. No se fie del apellido Koplowitz, sea polaco o de Alta Silesia. No es garantía de judaísmo. Hay Koplowitz judíos, pero también hay un Heinrich Koplowitz, guardián de un campo de concentración nazi, fusilado por los rusos al terminar la guerra. (Doron Rabinovici, Instanzen der Ohnmacht. Wien 1938-1945. Der Weg zum Judenrat, Frankfurt: Jüdischer Verlag, 2000). Los Koplowitz alemanes (farmaceúticos judíos, huidos de Austria y Alemania), terminaron en Brasil y no parecen de su familia (Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin, Universitätsarchiv (Politisch und rassisch verfolgte jüdische Studenten 1933-1938 an der Friedrich-Wilhelms-Universität Berlin).

Su padre era católico y el padre de su padre también lo fue y como tal fue enterrado al fallecer en Zurich en 1961. Los archivos de la Shoah recuerdan numerosos Sternberg asesinados por los nazis, pero eso no quiere decir que todo Sternberg sea judío. Su abuela no lo era o era una judía que ponía esquelas católicas a su marido. Y por si algo faltara, don Ernesto Koplowitz Sternberg está enterrado en la cripta de la Real Iglesia Parroquial de San Ginés, en Madrid, en un ataúd con una crucificado de dos palmos, y no en el cementerio judío.

Tan inverosímil era el judaísmo de Ernesto Koplowitz que una de los principales empresas del Tercer Reich, la AEG, lo contrató. La AEG no era una inofensiva empresa de electrodomésticos, sino que 1) producía componentes electrónicos de armas nazis; 2) en España, daba cobertura legal a agentes de la Sicherheitsdienst (SD) y la Geheime Staatspolizei Secret State Police —Gestapo—, además de traficar con oro y obras expoliadas a víctimas judías; 3) como la I.G Farben, Siemens, Krupp, o Rheinmetal, usaron como mano de obra esclava a prisioneros judíos de campos de concentración. Todas estas empresas, tenían prohibido de facto contratar judíos desde los años 20. En los años 30 y hasta 1945 se les prohibe por ley, y todo empleado, fuera o dentro de Alemania, era investigado para comprobar su pureza aria. Todo lo dicho puede consultarse, para hacerse una idea por dónde empezar, en:

En los US National Archives.

Y Ferencz, Benjamin B. Less than Slaves: Jewish Forced Labor and the Quest for Compensation. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 2002.

Es decir, si su padre era judío, era judio que había renegado de su religión y, al estar al servicio de AEG, traidor a su pueblo.

Si no era judío se entiende mejor la biografía de los Koplowitz: alemán filonazi, protegido de Franco y con alianzas con los sectores más ultraderechistas del catolicismo, desde su matrimonio con Esther de Juseu hasta las alianzas de una de sus hijas con los Legionarios de Cristo.

Yo creo que es preferible insistir en esa linea de investigación. La leyenda del judío, huido del nazismo en los años treinta o viajero desde los años veinte, no se tiene en pie.

Si trajere a colación la masa hereditaria para reclamar su aliquota, procure enterarse de la procedencia de los cuadros adquiridos por su familia. El mercado del arte es traicionero y uno compra de buena fe lo que pueden ser expolios y saqueos de guerra o corrupción. No le vaya a ocurrir lo que a su hermana con el cuadro de "La Condesita de Haro" de Goya, que, en su afán de incluirlo en su colección, incurrió en la falta de delicadeza de comprar la obra (salida ilegalmente de España) a Buehrle, un coleccionista y marchante de arte robado y expoliado al pueblo judío. Repase el historial de Buehrle en los National Archives, Kew (UK) para ver sus relaciones con Goering y Hitler:

- T 209/25/2
- T 209/25/1
- T 209/7/2
- FO 1050/1390

Porque, si uno tiene sangre judía, no debe traficar con nazis. Y si se trafica, se es un traidor a tu pueblo, se ponga donde se ponga el acento prosódico en Koplowitz.

El espía que surgió del frío.

ROBERT DESNOS : «CE CŒUR QUI HAÏSSAIT LA GUERRE...»

Ce cœur qui haïssait la guerre voilà qu'il bat pour le combat et la bataille!
Ce cœur qui ne battait qu'au rythme des marées,

à celui des saisons,
à celui des heures du jour et de la nuit, Voilà qu'il se gonfle et qu'il envoie dans les veines un sang brûlant de salpêtre et de haine.
Et qu'il mène un tel bruit dans la cervelle que les oreilles en sifflent Et qu'il n'est pas possible que ce bruit
ne se répande pas dans la ville et la campagne
Comme le son d'une cloche appelant à l'émeute et au combat.
Écoutez, je l'entends qui me revient renvoyé par les échos.

Mais non, c'est le bruit d'autres cœurs, de millions d'autres cœurs battant comme le mien à travers la France.
Ils battent au même rythme pour la même besogne
tous ces cœurs,
Leur bruit est celui de la mer à l'assaut des falaises Et tout ce sang porte dans des millions de cervelles
un même mot d'ordre :
Révolte contre Hitler et mort à ses partisans!
Pourtant ce cœur haïssait la guerre et battait au rythme des saisons, Mais un seul mot : Liberté a suffi à réveiller les vieilles colères Et des millions de Francais se préparent dans l'ombre à la besogne que l'aube proche leur imposera.
Car ces cœurs qui haïssaient la guerre battaient pour la liberté au rythme même des saisons et des marées, du jour et de la nuit.

Robert Desnos (1900-1945)

Robert Desnos, poco antes de ser detenido por la Gestapo

Última fotografía conocida de Robert Desnos, en el campo de concentración de Terezín. 1945.

* Otros poemas de Robert Desnos en Wikilivres

Durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial, Desnos fue miembro de la Resistencia francesa en el Réseau AGIR, (ACT Network) que recopilaba información sobre las fuerzas de ocupación alemanas para los servicios de información y sabotaje de la resistencia, bajo la dirección de Michel Hollard, que trabajaba para el Servicio de Inteligencia inglés.

Desnos proporcionaba información recogida en su trabajo, en la revista Aujourd'hui, escribía con seudónimo poemas y proclamas llamando a la resistencia y ayudaba a conseguir papeles de identidad falsos a judíos y resistentes en peligro.

Los miembros del Réseau AGIR suministraron, desde 1943 hasta su arresto, información sobre el emplazamiento de un centenar de bases de lanzamiento de los V-1 alemanes, destruidas en la denominada Operation Crossbow anglo-americana .

Desnos fue detenido por la Gestapo el 22 de febrero de 1944. Después de ser interrogado y torturado, fue deportado al campo de Auschwitz en la Polonia ocupada, más tarde trasladado a Buchenwald, y Flossenburg, en Alemania, y, finalmente, a Terezín en los territorios ocupados de Checoslovaquia, en el año 1945.

Susan Griffin relata una historia sobre el prisionero Robert Desnos:

Un día Desnos y otros fueron sacados de sus barracones. Los prisioneros montaron en la parte trasera de un camión de plataforma, sabían que el camión se dirigía a la cámara de gas, nadie habló. Pronto llegaron los guardias y les ordenaron que bajaran del camión. Cuando comenzaron a moverse hacia la cámara de gas, de repente Desnos salió fuera de la línea y le agarró la mano a una mujer. Estaba animado y comenzó a leer su palma de la mano. El pronóstico fue bueno: una vida larga y muchos nietos, la alegría en abundancia. Una persona cercana ofreció su mano a Desnos. Aquí, también, Desnos preveía una larga vida llena de felicidad y éxito. Los otros prisioneros se acercaron, con entusiasmo extendiendo sus manos hacia Desnos y, en cada caso, preveía una vida larga y feliz.

Los guardias se quedaron visiblemente desorientados. Minutos antes se encontraban en una misión de rutina, cuyo resultado parecía inevitable, pero se había convertido en algo que escapaba a su comprensión . Desnos fue tan eficaz en la creación de una nueva realidad que los guardias no pudieron seguir adelante con las ejecuciones. Ordenaron a los prisioneros que volvieran al camión y los llevaron de vuelta a los barracones.

Desnos murió en "Mala Pevnost", que fue una sección de Terezín utilizada sólo para los presos políticos, de tifus, unas semanas después de la liberación del campo de concentración.

Está enterrado en el cementerio de Montparnasse en París.

ALCARAVEA (CARUM CARVI)

La alcaravea se denomina también Alcorobea, Carvia, Comino de prado, Hinojo de prado, Alcarahueya, Alcaravía, Alcarovea, Alcarovía, Alchirivia, Caravea, Comino armenio, Comino romano, Aasca lucna (eslovaco), Al karwia o Tiqirû (Marruecos), Caraway (inglés), Cárvit (catalán), cominho (gallego y/o portugués), cumin des prés (francés), kümmel (alemán), Txarpoil (vasco).

Es una planta herbácea bianual, de menos de un metro de altura, tallo estriado, ramificado desde la base, cuyas hojas se asemejan a las de la zanahoria, y tienen un sabor delicado entre el perejil y al eneldo.

Sus frutos o semillas, son ovoides, marrón oscuro, miden de 3 a 6 mm. y maduran en verano. Tienen sabor picante, con un aroma ligeramente anisado con reverberaciones de humus.

Las flores, en umbelas, son blancas con una tenue pincelada de rosa,   nacen desde finales de la primavera.

La planta se cultiva comercialmente por sus semillas en el norte de Europa, los Estados Unidos y el norte de África.

La alcaravea en perfumería

El aceite esencial se extrae de los frutos o semillas enteros de la alcaravea, destilando por arrastre de vapor de agua. Contiene principalmente dihidrocarvona, carveol, dihidrocarveol, alfa y beta pineno, sabineno, ácidos oléico petroselínico, limoneno, flavonoides derivados del kenferol y del quercetol, carbohidratos, y ácidos fenolcarboxílicos, caféico.

En perfumería se usa en las aguas frescas y las “Fougères” masculinas, Entre otros en los perfumes, Azzaro Silver Black, fragancia fresca- amaderada- especiada, cuya nota de salida está compuesta de manzana verde, bergamota, limón verde y aldehídos.

nota de corazón está compuesta de alcaravea, coriandro, cardamomo y enebro. y en la nota de fondo, cedro, vetiver, sándalo, ambroxan y ámbar; Solo Loewe, fragancia oriental, cuya nota de salida se compone de lavanda, mandarina, bergamota y limón. Las notas de corazón, de aldehídos, nuez moscada, canela, pimienta rosa, menta, alcaravea y anís, la nota de fondo, de ámbar, almizcle, musgo de roble, vainilla y madera; Globe de Rochas, Eau De Toilette, fragancia de cuero para hombres, cuya nota de salida se compone de artemisa, alcaravea, cilantro, bergamota y notas de limón, nota media, de clavel, pino, jazmín, alcaravea, lirio de los valles, rosa y geranio, y la nota de fondo, de ládano, cuero, madera de sándalo, pachuli, almizcle, vetiver y el cedro; Hypnotic Poison de Christian Dior, cuya nota de salida está compuesta de almendra, alcaravea y jazmín; la notas medias de musgo, sándalo y musgo de roble y la nota de fondo de vainilla, almizcle y cedro. Quorum, de Antonio Puig, es una fragancia amaderada aromática para hombre, su nota de salida está compuesta de artemisa, alcaravea, pomelo, bergamota y limón, su nota media, de ciclamen, pino, clavel, sándalo, pachuli y jazmín; y la nota de fondo, de cuero, ámbar, musgo de roble y tabaco; Escale á Portofino de Christian Dior, es una fragancia cítrica-aromática, cuya nota de salida está compuesta de bergamota, cidro, y petit grain; la nota de corazon, de azahar, almendra, y enebro; la nota de fondo, de ciprés, cedro, gálbano, alcaravea, y almizcle.

La alcaravea en medicina natural:

Indicado para falta de apetito, flatulencia, espasmos gastrointestinales, dispepsias hiposecretoras, gastroenteritis. Bronquitis, enfisema, asma.

En uso tópico, la infusión de semillas de alcaravea, se usa en lavados o compresas para tratar: micosis, otitis, limpieza de heridas, ulceraciones dérmicas, y quemaduras.

Infusión: Una cucharadita de postre por taza en agua hirviente durante 15 minutos, una taza antes o después de las comidas para meteorismo y dispepsias).

Produce un efecto aperitivo, eupéptico, carminativo, espasmolítico, colagogo, antiséptico, fungicida (más potente que la nistatina), mucolítico, expectorante y galactagogo.

El aceite esencial puro puede resultar dermocáustico y, a dosis elevadas, neurotóxico (convulsivante) y hemorrágico.

Usos culinarios:

Principalmente se utilizan las semillas tostadas ligeramente en aceite y majadas en el mortero, o molidas para condimentar chucrut, goulash, legumbres, quesos, carnes y embutidos; la semilla entera se puede utilizar, junto a otras, en el pan integral y en pizzas y pasteles de carne hojaldrados.

Para los alimentos cocidos al horno se utiliza como condimento el aceite esencial de alcaravea.

Los tallos florales se pueden preparar como los espárragos, y las hojas tiernas, en ensaladas y sopas de verduras y pescado

Con las semilla de alcaravea se fabrica el “Kummel”, un licor muy popular en Alemania.

Junto con el cilantro, el comino y el hinojo forma las llamadas “especias calientes” de la gastronomía árabe.

Receta tradicional española de adobo para carne de cerdo:

Laurel troceado, orégano, alcaravea tostada y molida, canela, pimentón, pimienta, un clavo de olor por kg. de carne, ajos crudos machacados con la piel, rodajas de naranja y de limón con su cáscara, una copa de vino blanco, y sal. Se ponen las costillas y el lomo de cerdo con el adobo durante 3 ó 4 días. Se escurre bien, y se secan los trozos de lomo y las costillas con un paño.

Se fríe en aceite de oliva caliente, a fuego medio-bajo (para que no se queme por fuera mientras se queda crudo por dentro), y se retira de la sartén cuando la carne esté dorada. Se guardan en envases de barro, cristal o porcelana, cubriéndolos con el aceite donde se han frito filtrado con una gasa.

En eso de las plantas siempre he sido bastante obtuso, tanto que confundo el comino con el hinojo, que el descrito por mí es de prado y mide menos de un metro, cuando el otro, casi igual, mide dos.
Mascado en cantidad es alucinógeno. No está descrito como tal, pero que me lo digan a mí.
En Cataluña dices que le llaman cárvit, en cambio mi familia y mis amigos siempre lo han nombrado como cumí, igual que en Francia; pero yo, confundiéndolo con el hinojo "común" le llamo fonoll, pronunciado funoll. Yo, con eso me hago un lío. Ahora mismo le he preguntado a Cheli y me ha dicho que comino no es hinojo, sin embargo, al comino se le llama hinojo de prado.
En mi casa, para cocinar nunca utilizábamos el fruto, pero sí el tallo o la flor (ahora no sé cuál de los dos). Curiosamente hasta que no viajé al Pakistán no supe apreciar el intenso sabor del fruto, que se usa profusamente.
Allí le llaman entre Xira y jira.

JODER.. LA VIDA NOS TRATA MAL A muchos y peor a otros muchos mas....

A quien tiene paciencia la vida se le agota, a quien no la tiene la vida viene a por el, pero yo no sé dónde estoy....

Pau:

Lo que llamas "cumí" pudiera ser comino (Cuminum cyminum) "comí" en catalán, que es una planta de la família apiacea. Efectivamente, en hindi es jira o jeera, y en urdu, zira. El aceite esencial de comino, en dosis elevadas tiene, como casi todo, un efecto neurotóxico.

Hay mucha gente que confunde como especia el sabor de la semilla del hinojo, de la alcaravea, y del comino, sobre todo porque en la cocina suelen utilizarse molidos.

Chey:

Ojalá pudiera trasladarte un poco de mi falta de apego a la seriedad, al dramatismo, y a la vida ultraterrena, y mi convencimiento de que un buen potaje es mejor que un Valium o un tratado de filosofía.

RIPIOS AL REY QUE QUISO ATRAVESAR LA PUERTA

el rey, al querer trasponer una puerta cerrada...

Es costumbre inveterada

no atravesar puerta alguna cuando se encuentra cerrada aunque se tenga fortuna,
la sesera abourbonada,
y te persiga la tuna.

Mal está que no lo sepa,
majestad que todo olvida,
cuando ya lleva a la chepa
nueve décimos de vida,
y testa de mala cepa
de seso tan mal servida

la glamourose cabra

JIMMY WALES SOLICITA NUESTRA AYUDA PARA MANTENER WIKIPEDIA, LA ENCICLOPEDIA LIBRE

Un mensaje del fundador de Wikipedia, Jimmy Wales:

Google debe tener cerca de un millón de servidores. Yahoo algo así como 13 mil personas en su plantilla. Nosotros tenemos 679 servidores y 95 empleados.

Wikipedia es el quinto sitio web mundial, y sirve a 450 millones de personas diferentes cada mes, con cerca de un billón de páginas vistas.

El comercio es bueno, la publicidad no es mala, pero aquí no tiene mucha cabida. No en Wikipedia.

Wikipedia es algo especial. Es como una biblioteca o un parque público. Es como un templo para la mente, un lugar a donde todos pueden ir a pensar, a aprender, a compartir nuestro conocimiento con otros.

Cuando fundé Wikipedia, pude haberla creado como una compañía lucrativa con anuncios publicitarios, pero decidí hacer algo diferente. Hemos trabajado duro en los últimos años para no malgastar. Y hemos cumplido con nuestra misión, dejando el derroche para otros.

Si todos los que leen este mensaje donaran €5, podríamos terminar hoy nuestra campaña de recaudación de fondos. Pero no todos pueden o van a hacerlo. Y así está bien. Porque cada año el número de personas que decide donar es suficiente.

Este año, por favor considere hacer un donativo de €5, €10, €20, o lo que sea que usted pueda permitirse, para proteger y mantener Wikipedia.

Gracias,

Jimmy Wales, fundador de Wikipedia

PUBLICADO «EL ESPAÑOL. ORÍGENES DE SU DIVERSIDAD» DE DIEGO CATALÁN EN EL ROMANCERO DE LA CUESTA DEL ZARZAL

Hoy 15 de noviembre de 2011, San Abibus de Edesa, mártir, venerado como «vengador de los contratos incumplidos», los conjurados de la bitácora Romancero de la Cuesta del Zarzal, han acabado la edición digital de «EL ESPAÑOL. ORÍGENES DE SU DIVERSIDAD» de Diego Catalán, libro publicado en la "Colección Filológica" de la "Editorial Paraninfo", en 1989, en una edición poco cuidada, y hoy ya inencontrable.

Esta obra contiene una recopilación de artículos-reseña publicados por Diego Catalán en revistas especializadas entre 1946 y 1979, "en torno a la Metodologia de la Lingüística Historica".

"Esta edición se lleva a cabo por un grupo de ciudadanos partidarios de la cultura libre, sin canon, ni canonjías, ni derechos de autor, que trabajan sin ánimo de lucro, secundando este proyecto iniciado por Diego Catalán."

En las bitácoras Romancero de la Cuesta del Zarzal y Obras de Diego Catalán se publica su obra bajo licencia creative commons (permiso de copia y reproducción libre y gratuita, siempre y cuando se reconozca la autoría, no se haga con fines comerciales, y se transmita en las mismas condiciones).

De nada. Ya saben que me gusta ser útil.

EL YERNO DEL REY DE ESPAÑA INVESTIGADO: TRANSCRIPCIÓN DE LAS DILIGENCIAS PREVIAS N°2677/08. PIEZA SECRETA.

DILIGENCIAS PREVIAS N°2677/08. PIEZA SECRETA. JUZGADO DE INSTRUCCIÓN NÚMERO TRES PALMA DE MALLORCA

En Palma de Mallorca a siete de noviembre de dos mil once.
Dada cuenta, el anterior escrito presentado por la Fiscalía Antícorrupción únase a la Pieza Secreta de su razón, y

ANTECEDENTES DE HECHO

PRIMERO.- Que en fecha cuatro de agosto del presente año se dictó Auto cuya. parte dispositiva literalmente decía: "1º Abrir con los escritos presentados, documentos que los acompañan y la presente resolución una subpíeza sin que de su apertura quede el menor rastro en la Pieza Separada Principal N° 25. 2º Decretar su secreto para todas las partes, excepto para el Ministerio Fiscal por tiempo que se prevee no será superior a treinta días..."

SEGUNDO- Que el día tres del presente mes el Ministerio Fiscal presenta un escrito en el que solícita se acuerde la entrada y registro en el domicilio Social de la FUNDACIÓN DEPORTE, CULTURA E INTEGRACIÓN SOCIAL, con domicilio en C/ Paseo Torre Blanca, Local 20 (San Cugat del Valles).

B.- OBJETO DEL REGISTRO:

Se solicita el registro y la intervención de documentos que allí se encuentre y debe estar referido a aquellos soportes documentales (papeles, objetos y material informático) que permitan descubrir la verdadera realidad de la actividad mercantil de dichas empresas y en concreto: las operaciones mercantiles, transmisiones de fondos, facturas de clientes y proveedores así como cuantas relaciones económicas, operaciones mercantiles y negocios jurídicos en los que hubieran participado dicha sociedad con las personas o las sociedades investigadas que se citan a continuación:

Las personas:

- DIEGO TORRES.

- IÑAKÍ URDANGARÍN.

Así como las que evidencien la verdadera actividad de las sociedades registradas.

El registro solicitado está referido a toda actividad de los investigados en relación a los hechos objeto de investigación (falsedad documental, prevaricación, fraude a la administración y malversación de caudales públicos), aunque en los documentos figuren otras personas como intervinientes.

Por ello procede intervenir cuanta documentación... material o soporte informático. contabilidad, notas, agendas, cartas, fax, correos electrónicos y otros, que puedan servir para el descubrimiento de la mecánica de estos delitos (falsedad, prevaricación, fraude a la administración y malversación de caudales públicos) que pudieran estar referidas a negocios jurídicos y a cuentas corrientes, de ahorro, de depósito, libretas, fondos de inversión, seguros de vida, inversiones mobiliarias, alquiler de cajas de seguridad, y otros, que en entidades bancarias y financieras tengan los investigados y las sociedades mencionadas, así como las relativas a loa contratos; adjudicaciones y facturas procedentes de organismos públicos» y las operaciones comerciales realizadas entre las personas físicas y jurídicas reseñadas anteriormente,

También, aquellos objetos o efectos que tengan, relación directa con los hechos investigados y aquella documentación en soporte papel o informático relativo a la actividad financiera, mercantil o inmobiliaria relacionada con los delitos investigados.

Procede intervenir igualmente cuantos objetos, joyas, y documentación, materiales o soportes informáticos, contabilidades, notas o agendas que puedan servir para la correcta averiguación de la actividad y nivel económico de las sociedades investigadas así como dinero en efectivo, divisas, bonos, certificados de acciones, de valores o de depósito, instrumentos negociables, ya que pueden ser considerados como parte del pago por emitir facturación falsa.

Se solicita que se proceda a autorizar expresamente la apertura de cuantos armarios, cofres o cajas de seguridad o muebles cerrados encuentren en dichos lugares.

Se solicita que en aquellos casos que sea posible se proceda in situ al volcado o copiado de la documentación en soporte informático siempre bajo la fe y control del secretario judicial.

C.- LA DOCUMENTACIÓN

Se interesa que durante el Registro se proceda al foliado de la documentación que se intervenga.

Así mismo se interesa que las cajas con la documentación intervenida o puntos informáticos incautados sean trasladados a las dependencias del Grupo de Delincuencia Económica de la Policía Nacional de la Jefatura Superior de Policía de les Illes Balears, y que una vez allí y ante fedatario judicial se proceda al volcado o copiado de la documentación informática.

Tras el foliado y, en su caso copiado, se solicitará que la documentación quede a disposición de los investigadores (Grupo de Delincuencia Económica de la Policía Nacional) para su posterior análisis y estudio.

Ante la ausencia de lugar adecuado en las dependencias judiciales se considera adecuado que la documentación ya foliada y controlada quede en las dependencias policiales citadas bajo supervisión judicial.

D.- EL TIEMPO:

Se considera necesario que su práctica se realice a la mayor brevedad posible.

E.- LOS INTERVENIENTES:

Se solicita que se designe para ejecutar el registro al Grupo de Delincuencia económica de la Policía Nacional. A tal fin procede encomendar al Grupo de Delincuencia Económica de la Policía Nacional y con los técnicos informáticos que den el necesario apoyo técnico y recabando el auxilio, sí se precisase, de otros miembros de la Policía Nacional, lleven a efecto el registro e intervención de documentos.

Se interesa además que en el Registro participen los miembros de la Agencia Tributaria que se designen, y a tal fin se interesa se oficie al Delegado Especial de la Agencia Tributaria de Baleares a dichos efectos.

TERCERO.- El Ministerio Fiscal pretende justificar su pretensión haciendo un pormenorizado relato que puede resumirse así. Que en fecha 15 de junio de 1999 se constituyó la ASOCIACIÓN INSTITUTO NOOS DE INVESTIGACIÓN APLICADA, con un patrimonio fundacional de 100.000 pesetas y que, según sus estatutos, es una "entidad sin ánimo de lucro cuya misión es realizar investigaciones sobre el papel de la inteligencia de mercado en la competividad dé las empresas así como servir de punto de encuentro a los profesionales de esta disciplina, y al mismo tiempo promover la difusión de las investigaciones realizadas a través de cursos, conferencias, seminarios y publicaciones.

Durante los ejercicios 1999 a 2003 el INSTITUTO NOOS permanece inactivo desde el punto de vista económico, así lo ponen de manifiesto los datos proporcionados por la Agencia Tributaria que reflejan que en el periodo comprendido entre los años 2002 y 2003 dicha Asociación carece de actividad comercial no constando Ja realización de operación comercial alguna.

Es precisamente a partir del año 2003 cuando aparece la vinculación de D. IÑAKI URDANGARÍN con la citada entidad al ostentar el cargo de "administrador de la misma, situándose a partir del año 2004 como "Presidente" del INSTITUTO NOOS, posición que ocupa al menos desde el 28 de noviembre de 2004 hasta el 14 de junio de 2006.

Durante el periodo en el que D. IÑAKI URDANGARÍN ejerce de "Presidente", él cargo de "Gerente" del INSTITUTO NOOS lo ocupa D. DIEGO TORRES, quien pasa a ser Presidente al cesar el anterior, La única finalidad perseguida con la asunción o toma del control del INSTITUTO NOOS era contar con la cobertura de una asociación que formalmente no perseguía ánimo de lucro (una especie de ONG dedicada a proyectos sociales) a los siguientes efectos;

a.- Aparentar la no persecución de fines lucrativos

b.- Rodearse del prestigio social derivado de las actuaciónes altruistas a las que presuntamente se dedicaba la asociación.

c.- Evitar suspicacias por parte de terceros al financiarse básicamente con fondos procedentes de organismos públicos.

Simultáneamente, organizaron un entramado societario, utilizando el grupo de sociedades mercantiles que posteriormente se referirán, a través de las cuales desviaban los fondos públicos y privados que recibía el INSTITUTO NOOS, apoderándose de los mismos.

La operativa consistía en que por el INSTITUTO NOOS se fijaban unos precios totalmente desproporcionados por los servicios que prestaba para la Administración Pública, y tras recibir los fondos públicos, se simulaba por parte de dicha Asociación la contratación, de servicios ficticios a dichas entidades mercantiles o presumiblemente facturados por importe superior al servicio realmente prestado, emitiendo las mismas las correspondientes facturas contra el INSTITUTO NOOS, acabando de esta forma los fondos públicos en manos de mercantiles controladas por D. DIEGO TORRES y D. IÑAKI URDANGARÍN.

Las entidades mercantiles utilizadas por D. DIEGO TORRES y D. IÑAKI URDANGARIN para apoderarse de los fondos, que recibía el INSTITUTO NOOS eran las siguientes:

- NOOS CONSULTORÍA ESTRATÉGICA SL.

- AIZOON SL

- VIRTUAL STRATEGIES SL.

- SHIRIAIMASU SL

- INTUIT STRATEGY INNOVAT SL.

- DE GOES CENTER FOR STAKEHOLDER MANAGEMENT SL

En la organización interna del INSTITUTO NOOS aparece como órgano de toma de decisiones el Comité de Dirección, el cual estaba conformado, entre otros, por:

- D. IÑAKI URDANGARÍN, como Presidente.

- D. DIEGO TORRES, como Gerente.

- Doña ANA MARÍA TEJEIRO, como responsable del Área jurídico-fiscal, cónyuge de D.

DIEGO TORRES.

- D. MIGUEL TEJEIRO, como Secretario (hermano de ANA MARTA TEJEIRO

- D. MARCOS TEJEIRO, como responsable del Departamento Contable y Financiero (hermano de ANA MARÍA TEJEIRO), Estas personas conformaban un círculo cerrado de toma de decisiones, tanto respecto a los proyectos a desarrollar como al área financiera y contable de la Asociación, manteniendo apartados del conocimiento del área financiera, al resto de personas que conformaban dicho Comité dé Dirección.

Tanto el INSTITUTO NOOS como las sociedades vinculadas tenían, como mínimo desde el año 2006, el mismo domicilio social real, y sus respectivos empleados desarrollaban sus servicios para el INSTITUTO NOOS, de forma tal que sólo nominalmente cobraba la nómina de una u otra sociedad.

Ello revela que el control de las sociedades vinculadas estaba en manos de los dirigentes del INSTITUTO NOOS.

En fechas no determinadas comprendidas entre los últimos meses del año 2004 y el mes de febrero de 2005, D. IÑAKI URDANGARÍN y D. DIEGO TORRES, entraron, en contacto con D. JOSÉ LUIS BALLESTER, en aquel momento Director General de Deportes del Govern Balear, proponiéndole que el Govern Balear realizase a través del INSTITUTO NOOS un congreso internacional dedicado al "turismo y deporite", concretamente el deporte y los eventos deportivos como elementos dinamizadores de la industria turística.

Se trataba de realizar una réplica casi exacta del congreso internacional que había organizado el INSTITUTO NOOS en el año 2004 en Valencia que se denominó

VALENCIA SUMMIT, dedicado en este último caso a las "ciudades y deporte", concretamente los eventos deportivos como elementos dinamizadores de las ciudades.

Tras diversas reuniones celebradas en Palma de Mallorca entre los representantes del INSTITUTO NOOS antes aludidos, el Director General de Deportes del Govern Balear, D. JOSÉ LUIS BALLESTER y el Presidente del Govern Batear, D. JAUME MATAS, se decidió por parte de estos últimos impulsar económicamente el proyecto presentado por el INSTITUTO NOOS.

Asi, durante el mes de marzo de 2005, sin haberse iniciado expediente administrativo alguno y, por tarto, sin el sustento de un procedimiento administrativo que legítimase la actuación administrativa, los representantes del INSTITUTO NOOS y los representantes del Govem Balear, acordaron verbalmente que la Comunidad Autónoma Balear dotaría económicamente al INSTITUTO NOOS para la celebración del congreso internacional antes referido.

De hecho, durante ese mismo mes de marzo, o sea, unos 4 meses antes de suscribirse formalmente el convenio-contrato entre el INSTITUTO NOOS y los organismos públicos del Govern Balear a los que posteriormente se aludirá, y contando únicamente con la aprobación y el visto bueno meramente verbal de los representantes políticos del Govern Balear, el INSTITUTO NOOS empezó a trabajar en la organización del congreso internacional.

Se concertaron los representantes políticos antes aludidos y los representantes del INSTITUTO NOOS para eludir de forma dolosa la aplicación de la LCAP y beneficiar de forma fraudulenta al INSTITUTO NOOS, mediante la utilización ilegítima de la figura del convenio de colaboración, conculcando así los principios básicos que deben regir la contratación pública; "concurrencia, publicidad e igualdad de trato".

Así, en fecha 17 de julio de 2005, la FUNDACIÓN ILLESPORT (organismo público dependiente de la Conselleria de Deportes del Govem Balear), representada en dicho acto por la Consellera de Deportes Doña MARIA ROSA PUIG OLIVER, y el INSTITUTO BALEAR DEL TURISMO - IBATUR - (organismo público integrado en la Conselleria de Turismo del Govern Balear), representado en dicho acto por el Conseller ds Turismo JOAN FLAQUER suscriben con el INSTITUTO NOOS, representado en dicho acto por D. DIEGO TORRES, un "Convenio de Colaboración", en base al cual se encarga formalmente al INSTITUTO NOOS la organización y celebración de un congreso internacional por un precio de 1.200.000 €

Precio totalmente desproporcionado para lo que supone el encargo y que se fija exclusivamente en base a un presupuesto ficticio en tanto que realizado sin analizar coste alguno, que se adjunta al "convenio de colaboración" como parte integrante del mismo, conscientes las partes que suscriben el mismo de la falta del más mínimo soporte y justificación del presupuesto presentado por el INSTITUTO NOOS, y sin que por parte de los representantes públicos se realice actividad alguna tendente al análisis y comprobación de los supuestos costes det evento.

El 17 de septiembre de 2006 se firma entre las mismas partes un segundo Convenio de Colaboración.

El contenido de este segunda convenio es prácticamente idéntico a la del primero, salvo además de gestionar y organizar la celebración de una segunda "cumbre" en Palma, el INSTITUTO NOOS se compromete a ejecutar el desarrollo de un Observatorio Permanente de Turismo y Deporte con sede en las Baleares y a realizar y desarrollar un plan estratégico de turismo deportivo.

Respecto al Observatorio Permanente se señala en el Convenio que se trata de una iniciativa de encuentro entre agentes del mundo de la empresa, la academia y la administración pública cuyo objetivo es el seguimiento y el análisis de la evolución mundial de las actividades turísticas basadas en el deporte como elemento diferencial y aportación de valor. La misión del Observatorio es la de generar información estratégica sobre la evolución global en las relaciones entre turismo y deporte que facilite la toma de decisiones a los distintos agentes implicados.

El desarrollo de dicho Observatorio incluye entre otras actividades de investigación, recopilación y provisión de información necesaria para la toma de decisiones, durante los siguientes doce meses, entre las que destacan;

- La construcción de una red internacional de destinos y profesionales especializados en el turismo y deporte,
- La formación de un Comité Científico integrado por destacados investigadores y académicos internacionales especializados en la materia,
- El diálogo con las distintas industrias turísticas, deportivas y administraciones públicas afectadas,
- La divulgación, por los medios oportunos, del conocimiento adquirido.
- Impulsar la creación de una línea editorial con la Organización Mundial del Turismo.

En cuanto al Plan Estratégico se indica en el Convenio que se trata de un Plan en cuya concepción se integre a la administración pública, la comunidad empresarial y la universidad balear, así como al Comité Científico del liles Balears Forum, y pretende ser una referencia que ayude a orientar, por medio de análisis objetivo y riguroso, las decisiones futuras en la materia por parte de las instituciones de las Illes Balears.

El desarrollo de dicho Plan incluirá, entre otras, la realización de las siguientes actividades;

- Creación de un equipo de trabajo formado por consultores y académicos del Comité Científico Internacional.
- Puesta en marcha de un Comité de Participación integrado por representantes de la Universidad de les Illes Balears, de las asociaciones empresariales de las islas, de las principales empresas turísticas y de las administraciones públicas y deportivas.
- Realización de un análisis de las prioridades del destino.
- Análisis de competidores y ejemplos de buenas prácticas internacionales,
- Estudios de mercado para conocer eí mercado potencial de diferentes deportes.
- .Realización de un estudio de opinión para conocer la actitud de la población de las Islas Baleares hacia el turismo deportivo en general y de cada deporte concreto.
- Identificación de las infraestructuras necesarias.
- Diseño de un plan de acción.
- Seminario con grupos de empresarios.
- Comunicación de las conclusiones del Plan,

Se prevé la constitución, dentro de los siete días siguientes a la firma del Convento, de una Comisión Evaluadora formada por un representante de cada una de las entidades firmantes del Convenio, a efectos de supervisar el desarrollo del proyecto.

La duración del convenio es de un año, siendo su finalización el día 30 de junio

de 2007,

El dato de la duración de este segunda convenio resulta también significativo, en cuanto que atendiendo a la fecha en la que se suscribe el Convenio su duración debería haberse prolongado hasta septiembre de 2007, y de dicha circunstancia puede inferirse que su materialización efectiva se produjo con anterioridad a la fecha de la firma del mismo.

El presupuesto se fija en 1.100.000 € que se distribuye de la siguiente forma:

- 640.000 € por la celebración de la segunda edición del ILLES BALEARS FORUM.
- 340.000 € por el desarrollo deí Observatorio Permanente.
- .120.000 € por el diseño del Plan Estratégico.

Se incide ea el texto de este segundo convenio en que la celebración de]a segunda "cumbre" tiene un carácter de patrocinio, y que el Observatorio y el Plan Estratégico tienen el carácter de una prestación de servicios, y de ello se deriva la aplicación al presente convenio de las normas deí contrato de patrocinio (aplicación, a contrario senso del artículo 6 del TRLCAP).

Esta manifestación, que contradice el propio objeto del Convenio, tiene por finalidad dar apariencia de legalidad a la forma elegida para trasvasar fondos públicos al INSTITUTO NOOS. Efectivamente, nada tiene que ver patrocinar un evento ajeno, con el encargo de organizar un evento, y del texto del Convenio se infiere claramente que lo que se contrata es la organización de un evento.

Según el Ministerio Fiscal, común a ambos Convenios es, aparte de serias irregularidades administrativas en su tramitación como tales, en ambos casos precedidas de decisivas conversaciones extraprocedimentales, es que ni el presupuesto para su cuantificación respondía a la realidad ni se justificó su inversión e incluso ahora las facturas presentadas con tal propósito, aún dándolas a todas por buenas no cubren ni con mucho la justificación de lo recibido, dándose además la circunstancia de que muchas de ellas responden a conceptos ajenos a los eventos contratados y que la ausencia de ánimo de lucro que se pregona del Instituto Noos no se corresponde con la de sus directivos que facturaron contra aquél importantes sumas de dinero.

PRIMERO.- Desde que se abrió la Pieza Separada. Nº 25 de esta causa se han mantenido serios indicios sobre irregularidades cometidas con ocasión de los dos Convenios de Colaboración concertados entre el Govern de le Illes Balears y la Asociación Instituto Noos de Investigación Aplicada que, sin pretensiones de exhaustividad en este momento, se pueden esquematizar en: 1º Que la Asociación Instituto Noos de Investigación Aplicada y el Govern de les Illes Baleares, previamente a la. suscripción de los aludidos Convenios de Colaboración, ya habían concertado lo que constituía su objeto de manera verbal y al margen de cualquier procedimiento legal, siendo por ello que aquélla ya dio comienzo a su prestación muchos meses antes de la fecha de su suscripción; 2º Que, dada la naturaleza de los servicios contratados, estos debieron serlo con sujeción a la normativa sobre contrataciones de las Administraciones Públicas y no mediante la fórmula de Convenios de Colaboración; 3º Que, incluso en el seno de éstos se prescindieron de trámites y garantías obligados; 4º Que no todos los servicios pactados se prestaron en la realidad ni con la calidad deseable; 5º Que absolutamente nadie se preocupó de ese control; 6º Que tampoco se rindieron cuentas de la aplicación de los fondos recibidos ni nadie se tomó la molestia de recabarla; 7º Que hasta donde en este momento se conoce no existe constancia de que partes importantes de las sumas recibidas se hayan aplicado a los encargos ya que, de una parte, la totalidad de las facturas presentadas no se corresponde con las sumas percibidas para los eventos incrementándose la diferencia al descontar aquéllas que no guardan relación alguna con los encargos y todavía más si se cuestiona la procedencia de determinadas facturaciones, temas estos que pueden aclararse en un sentido o en otro, mediante la práctica de las diligencia de entrada y registro interesada.

SEGUNDO.- Aunque es indudable que la inviolabilidad del domicilio es un derecho fundamental de toda persona, proclamado por eí. artículo 18.2 de la Constitución, no está reconocido de una manera tan absoluta como para que pueda constituir un medio para la ocultación de hechos delictivos y así se ha de permitir su entrada y registro mediante resolución judicial y en los casos de flagrante delito. Tal resolución judicial ha de basarse en la existencia de indicios racionales de que en un determinado lugar se encuentra la persona del imputado, efectos o instrumentos de un delito o libros, papeles u otros objetos que puedan servir para su descubrimiento y comprobación, y deberá llevarse a cabo en la forma y manera que regulan los artículos 545 a 578 del Título VII del Libro II de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal.

TERCERO.- El artículo 118.2° de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal establece que la admisión de cualquier actuación procesal de la que resulte la imputación de un delito contra persona o personas determinadas deberá ser puesta inmediatamente en conocimiento de los presuntos implicados, requisito este que no puede cumplirse en el caso que nos ocupa pues frustraría la finalidad de las presentes actuaciones, por lo que, en consecuencia y conforme determina el artículo 302 del mismo Cuerpo Legal, procede que la presente Pieza continúe secreta para todas las partes excepto el Ministerio Fiscal por tiempo no superior a treinta días y precisamente en atención a ello se mantiene la vigencia del secreto de estas actuacíones para todas las partes personadas a excepción del Ministerio Fiscal CUARTO.- Caso de que la materialización del registro pusiera de manifiesto una discordancia entre los delitos que revelaran los efectos o indicios hallados y los que son objeto de investigación a través de la medida deberá el Sr. Secretario actuante dar cuenta al Juzgado de Guardia de los de Madrid con carácter inmediato al objeto de que por éste adopte la resolución oportuna en razón de la urgencia o traslade a este Juzgado la incidencia.

En atención a lo expuesto,

DISPONGO: Ordenar la entrada y registro en el domicilio de la FUNDACIÓN DEPORTE, CULTURA E INTEGRACIÓN SOCIAL, con domicilio en C/ Paseo Torre Blanca, Local 20 (San Cugat del Vallés).

La finalidad del registro es la intervención de documentos que allí se encuentre y debe estar referida a aquellos soportes documentales (papeles, objetos y material informático) que permitan descubrir la verdadera realidad de la actividad mercantil de dicha empresa y en concreto: las operaciones mercantiles, transmisiones de fondos, facturas de clientes y proveedores así como cuantas relaciones económicas, operaciones mercantiles y negocios jurídicos en los que hubieran participado dichas sociedades con las personas o las sociedades investigadas que se citan a continuación:

El registro solicitado estará referido a toda actividad de los investigados en relación a los hechos objeto de investigación (falsedad documental, prevaricación, fraude a la administración y malversación de caudales públicos), aunque en los documentos figuren otras personas como intervinientes.

Procede intervenir cuanta documentación, material o soporte informático, contabilidad, notas, agendas, cartas, fax, correos electrónicos y otros, que puedan scrvjr pata fil descubrimiento de la mecánica de estos delitos (falsedad, prevaricación, fraude a la administración y malversación de caudales públicos) que pudieran estar referidas a negocios jurídicos y a cuantas corrientes, de ahorro, de depósito, libretas, fondos de inversión, seguros de vida, inversiones mobiliarias, alquiler de cajas, de seguridad y otros, que en entidades bancaxias y financieras tengan los investigados y las sociedades mencionadas, así como las relativas a los contratos; adjudicaciones y facturas procedentes de organismos públicos, y las operaciones comerciales realizadas entre las persones físicas y jurídicas reseñadas anteriormente.

También aquellos objetos o efectos que tengan relación directa con los hechos investigados y aquella documentación en soporte papel o informático relativo a la actividad financiera, mercantil o inmobiliaria relacionada con los delitos investigados.

Asimismo se intervendrán cuantos objetos, joyas, y documentación, materiales o soportes informáticos, contabilidades, notas o agendas puedan servir para la correcta averiguación de la actividad y nivel económico de las sociedades investigados así como dinero en efectivo, divisas, bonos, certificados de acciones, de valores o de depósito, instrumentos negociables, que puedan ser considerados como paite del pago por emitir facturación falsa.

Se autoriza expresamente la apertura de cuantos armarios, cofres o cajas de seguridad o muebles cerrados se encuentren en dichos lugares así como que, en aquellos casos que sea posible, se proceda in situ al volcado o copiado de la documentación en soporte informático siempre bajo la fe y control del Secretario Judicial.

Durante el registro se procederá al foliado de la documentación que se intervenga y las cajas con la documentación intervenida o puntos informáticos incautados serán trasladados a las dependencias del Grupo de Delincuencia Económica de la Policía Nacional de la Jefatura Superior de Policía de les Illes Balears para que, una vez allí y ante fedatario judicial, se proceda al volcado o copiado de la documentación informática.

Tras el foliado y, en su caso, copiado la documentación quedará depositada, bajo supervisión judicial, y a disposición del Grupo de Delincuencia Económica de la Jefatura Superior de Policía dn Illes Balears para su posterior análisis y estudio.

Dicha diligencia se llevará a cabo el día siete del presente mes en horas del día o o de la noche, y con sujeción a lo dispuesto en los artículos 545 a 578 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal, de manera simultánea o asegurando, caso de no ser posible, su efectividad, encomendándose su práctica al Grupo de Delincuencia económica de la Policía Nacional con el apoyo técnico que le prestarán los miembros de la Agencia Tributaria designados a tal efecto, NUMA 57061, 2561,3173, 27601, también con el aporte técnico de expertos en informática, con el auxilio, si se precisara, de otros miembros de la Policía Nacional y bajo la fe pública y control de la Sra. Secretaria del Juzgado de igual clase de Guardia de Incidencias de los de Barcelona y otro/s que se puedan al efecto habilitar.

Caso de que la materialización del registro pusiera de manifiesto una discordancia entre el delito que revelaran los efectos o indicios hallados y los que son objeto de investigación, a través de la medida deberán los Srs. Secretarios actuantes dar cuenta con carácter inmediato al Juzgado de Guardia de los de Barcelona al objeto de que por éste se adopté la resolución oportuna en razón de la urgencia o traslade a este Juzgado la incidencia.

Continúe el secreto de las actuaciones para todas las partes, excepto para el Ministerio Fiscal por tiempo no superior a treinta días.

Para eí cumplimiento de lo acordado líbrese exhorto al Juzgado de igual clase Decano de Ios de Barcelona al que se adjuntará testimonio de esta resolución que servirá de Mandamiento en forma y que será entregado en mano a la Fuerza que habrá de practicar la diligencia al objeto de que se encargue de su diligenciado.

Esta resolución no es firme y frente a ella cabe recurso de REFORMA a interponer en el plazo de tres días y/o de APELACIÓN para ante la Iítma. Audiencia Provincial en el de cinco.

Lo mandó y firma el Iltmo. Sr. D. José Castro Aragón, MAGISTRADO- JUEZ DEL JUZGADO DE INSTRUCCIÓN NUMERO TRES DE ESTA CIUDAD.

[COMICS CANGREJO ROJO, VOCABULARIO CALÓ, Y LUDWIG WITTGENSTEIN,]

Los dos primeros números de "[Comics Cangrejo Rojo]" pueden descargarse gratis en la App Store de Itunes. Las licencias de los cómics son Creative Commons, (copia y reproducción libre, citando la procedencia y con reconocimiento de autoría), así abaratan los precios porque no gastan en abogados persiguiendo piratas informáticos en los bares de alterne de Madrid. Además, los bocadillos de los comics están en inglés, chino, japonés y francés, que siempre es un comienzo para soltarnos con los idiomas y poder ligar forasteros en las fiestas.

"[Vocabulario caló]" de Gabriel Veraldi-Pasquale, publicado en Bubok, pueden comprarlo como libro de papel o libro digital, o leerlo completamente gratis en esta bitácora, pero no se lo aconsejamos si queremos que encuentre financiación para ensanchar los límites de su cosmopolitismo más allá del caló, y los modismos aragoneses, y termine de escribir su serie sobre el monstruo de Florencia...

Pero si quieren fardar más que un submarino en Barrax, les aconsejo a ustedes comprar y llevar bien visible un libro de [Ludwig Wittgenstein]...

De nada. Ya saben que me gusta ser útil

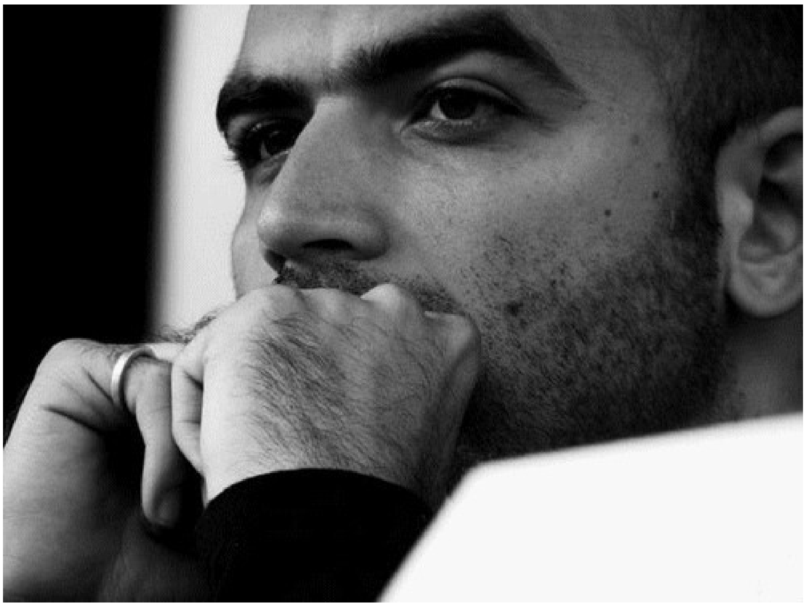
ROBERTO SAVIANO: TIERRA DE LOS FUEGOS



Imaginar no es complicado. Formarse en la mente una persona, un gesto, o algo que no existe, no es difícil. No resulta complejo imaginar incluso la propia muerte. Pero lo más complicado es imaginar la economía en todas sus partes. Los flujos financieros, los márgenes de beneficio, las contrataciones, los débitos, las inversiones... No hay fisonomías que visualizar, cosas precisas que meterse en la mente. Se pueden imaginar las diversas determinaciones de la economía, pero no los flujos, las cuentas bancarias, las operaciones individuales. Si se prueba a imaginar la economía, se corre el riesgo de tener los ojos cerrados para concentrarse y estrujarse hasta ver aquellas psicodélicas deformaciones de colores que se forman en la pantalla del párpado.

Trataba cada vez más de reconstruir en la mente la imagen de la economía, algo que pudiera dar el sentido de la producción, de la venta, de las operaciones de descuento y de las compras. Era imposible encontrar un organigrama, una concordancia icónica precisa. Acaso el único modo de representar la economía en su trayectoria era intuir lo que dejaba atrás, seguir su reguero, las partes que, como escamas de piel muerta, iba dejando caer mientras consumía su trayecto.

Los vertederos eran el emblema más concreto de todo ciclo económico. Amontonan todo lo que ha sido, son la verdadera estela del consumo, algo más que la huella que todo producto deja en la corteza terrestre. El sur de Italia es la terminal de todos los residuos tóxicos, los restos inútiles, la escoria de la producción. Si los desechos que escapan al control oficial —según estimaciones de la asociación ecologista Legambiente — se unieran en un solo montón, su conjunto formaría una cordillera de catorce millones de toneladas: prácticamente como una montaña de 14.600 metros de altura con una base de tres hectáreas. Piénsese que el Mont Blanc tiene 4.810 metros y el Everest, 8.844, de modo que esa montaña de residuos que han escapado a los registros oficiales sería la mayor existente en toda la tierra. Es así como he imaginado el ADN de la economía, sus operaciones comerciales, las restas y sumas de los asesores fiscales, los dividendos de los beneficios: en la forma de esta enorme montaña. Una enorme cordillera que —como si se la hubiera hecho explotar— se ha dispersado por la mayor parte del sur de Italia, en las cuatro regiones con mayor número de delitos ecológicos: la Campania, Sicilia, Calabria y Apulia. La misma lista que surge cuando se habla de los territorios con las mayores organizaciones criminales, con la mayor tasa de paro y con la participación más alta en las convocatorias de voluntarios para el ejército y las fuerzas de policía. Una lista siempre igual, permanente, inmutable. La provincia de Caserta, la tierra del clan Mazzoni, entre el río Garellano y el lago Patria, durante treinta años ha absorbido toneladas de residuos, tanto tóxicos como ordinarios.

La zona más golpeada por el cáncer del tráfico de venenos se encuentra entre los municipios de Grazzanise, Cancello Amone, Santa Maria La Fossa, Castelvolturno, Casal di Principe —casi trescientos kilómetros cuadrados de extensión— y en el perímetro napolitano de Giugliano, Qualiano,Villaricca, Nola, Acerra y Marigliano. Ningún otro territorio del mundo occidental ha tenido una carga mayor de residuos, tóxicos y no tóxicos, vertidos ilegalmente. Gracias a este negocio, la facturación que ha caído en los bolsillos del clan y de sus intermediarios ha alcanzado en cuatro años la cifra de 44.000 millones de euros. Un mercado que ha experimentado en los últimos tiempos un incremento global del 29,8 por ciento, equiparable únicamente a la expansión del mercado de la cocaína. Desde finales de la década de 1990, los clanes camorristas se han convertido en los líderes continentales del vertido de residuos.Ya en el informe realizado en 2002 por el ministro del Interior para el Parlamento italiano se hablaba claramente del paso de la recogida de residuos a un pacto empresarial con algunos de los responsables de las obras, para acabar ejerciendo un control total sobre el ciclo entero. El clan de los Casalesi, en sus dos vertientes, una dirigida por Schiavone Sandokan y la otra por Francesco Bidognetti, alias «Cicciotto di Mezzanotte», se reparte este gran negocio, un mercado tan enorme que —pese a haber constantes tensiones— no les ha llevado nunca a un choque frontal. Pero los Casalesi no están solos en esto. Está también el clan Mallardo de Giugliano, un cártel habilísimo a la hora de recolocar de manera rápida las ganancias del propio tráfico, y capaz de vehicular en su territorio una cantidad inmensa de residuos. En la zona de Giugliano se ha descubierto una antigua cantera abandonada rebosante de residuos. Se estima que la cantidad allí vertida equivale a unos 28.000 camiones TIR, un volumen que uno se puede representar imaginando una fila de camiones, cada uno de ellos pegado al parachoques del otro, que llegaría desde Caserta hasta Milán.

Los boss no han tenido el menor escrúpulo en recubrir de veneno sus propios pueblos, dejando pudrirse las tierras que rodeaban sus propias villas y sus propios dominios. La vida de un boss es breve; el poder de un clan, entre guerras internas, arrestos, matanzas y cadenas perpetuas, no puede durar mucho. Ahogar en residuos tóxicos un territorio, rodear los propios pueblos de montañas de veneno puede resultar un problema solo para quien posee una dimensión de poder a largo plazo y dotada de una responsabilidad social. En la inmediatez del negocio, en cambio, no hay más que un elevado margen de beneficios y la ausencia de cualquier contraindicación. La parte más consistente del tráfico de residuos tóxicos tiene un vector único: el vector norte-sur. Desde finales de la década de 1990 se han vertido entre Nápoles y Caserta 18.000 toneladas de residuos tóxicos procedentes de Brescia, mientras que en el plazo de cuatro años un millón de toneladas han acabado en Santa Maria Capua Vetere. Desde el norte, los residuos tratados en las instalaciones de Milán, Pavía y Pisa se enviaban después a la Campania. La Fiscalía de Nápoles y la de Santa Maria Capua Vetere descubrieron, en enero de 2003, y gracias a las investigaciones coordinadas por el fiscal Donato Ceglie, que en cuarenta días habían llegado más de 6.500 toneladas de residuos de Lombardia a Trentola Ducenta, cerca de Caserta.

Los campos de las provincias de Nápoles y de Caserta son auténticos mapamundis de basura, papeles de tornasol de la producción industrial italiana .Visitando vertederos y canteras es posible ver el destino de decenios enteros de productos industriales italianos. Siempre me ha gustado dar vueltas con laVespa por los caminos que bordean los vertederos. Es como andar sobre residuos de civilizaciones, sobre estratos de operaciones comerciales; como flanquear pirámides de producción, trazas de kilómetros consumidos. Pistas forestales a menudo muy mal asfaltadas para facilitar el acceso de los camiones. Territorios donde la geografía de los objetos se halla integrada por un mosaico variado y múltiple. Todo resto de producción y de actividad tiene su ciudadanía en estas tierras. En cierta ocasión, un campesino estaba arando un campo que acababa de comprar, exactamente en el límite entre las provincias de Nápoles y de Caserta. El motor del tractor se calaba; era como si aquella tierra fuese especialmente compacta. De pronto empezaron a asomar trozos de papel por ambos lados de la reja. Era dinero. Miles y miles de billetes de banco; cientos de miles. El campesino bajó de un salto del tractor y empezó a recoger frenéticamente todos los fragmentos de dinero, como un botín oculto por quién sabe qué bandido, fruto de quién sabe qué inmenso robo. Era solo dinero desmenuzado y descolorido; billetes de banco triturados procedentes del Banco de Italia, toneladas de fardos de dinero ya desechado y fuera de curso legal. El templo de la lira había acabado bajo tierra; los restos del viejo papel moneda liberaban su plomo en un campo de coliflores.

Cerca de Villaricca, los carabineros descubrieron un terreno donde se habían acumulado los papeles utilizados para limpiar las ubres de las vacas procedentes de centeneras de granjas de las regiones del Véneto, Emilia y Lombardia. Las ubres de las vacas se limpian constantemente, dos, tres, cuatro veces al día; cada vez que hay que ponerles las ventosas de los ordeñadores automáticos, los mozos de cuadra tienen que limpiarlas. A menudo las vacas enferman de mastitis y otras patologías similares, y empiezan a segregar pus y sangre; pero en ningún momento se les prescribe reposo: simplemente hay que limpiarlas cada media hora, ya que, de lo contrario, el pus y la sangre terminan en la leche, estropeando barriles enteros. Cuando pasé junto a las montañas de papel de ubre sentí un fuerte hedor a leche agria. Acaso era pura sugestión, y tal vez aquel color amarillento de los papeles amontonados deformaba incluso los sentidos. Pero lo cierto es que estos residuos, acumulados a lo largo de decenios, han reestructurado los horizontes, creado nuevos olores, hecho surgir siluetas de colinas inexistentes; las montañas devoradas por las canteras de repente han recuperado la masa perdida. Pasear por el interior de la Campania es como absorber los olores de todo lo que producen las industrias. Al ver mezclada en la tierra la sangre arterial y venosa de las fábricas de todo el territorio, viene a la mente algo parecido a las bolas de plastilina modeladas por los niños con todos los colores disponibles. Cerca de Grazzanise se había acumulado toda la tierra de desecho de la ciudad de Milán. Durante decenios, toda la basura recogida en los cubos de los barrenderos milaneses, el producto de sus escobazos matutinos, se había agrupado y expedido hacia esa zona. Cada día, 800 toneladas de residuos de la provincia de Milán acaban en Alemania; sin embargo, la producción total de la ciudad es de 1.300 toneladas diarias: faltan, pues, otras 500, que no se sabe dónde van a parar. Es muy probable que estos residuos fantasma se dispersen por todo el sur de Italia. Incluso hay tóner de impresoras contaminando la tierra, tal como ha puesto al descubierto la operación de 2006 «Madre Tierra», coordinada por la Fiscalía de Santa Maria Capua Vetere. Entre Villa Literno, Castelvolturno y San Tammaro, el tóner de todas las impresoras de oficina de la Toscana y Lombardia se vertía de noche desde camiones que oficialmente transportaban compost, un tipo de fertilizante. Su olor era ácido y fuerte, y afloraba cada vez que llovía. Las tierras estaban llenas de cromo hexavalente. Si se inhala, este se fija en los glóbulos rojos y en los cabellos y provoca úlceras, dificultades respiratorias, problemas renales y cáncer de pulmón. Cada metro de tierra lleva su carga peculiar de residuos. En cierta ocasión, un amigo mío dentista me explicaba que algunos muchachos le habían llevado calaveras. Auténticas calaveras, de seres humanos, para que les limpiara los dientes. Como pequeños Hamlets, en una mano llevaban el cráneo y en la otra un fajo de billetes para pagar la limpieza de boca. El dentista les echó de la consulta y luego me telefoneó nervioso:

—Pero ¿de dónde coño sacan esos cráneos? ¿Dónde van a buscarlos?

El se imaginaba escenas apocalípticas, ritos satánicos, chiquillos iniciados en el verbo de Belcebú.Yo sonreía. No era difícil saber de dónde venían. En cierta ocasión, pasando cerca de Santa Maria Capua Vetere con mi Vespa, se me había pinchado una rueda. El neumático se había rajado al pasar por encima de una especie de bastón afilado que yo creí un fémur de búfalo. Pero era demasiado pequeño para ser de búfalo: era un fémur humano. En los cementerios se realizan exhumaciones periódicas: sacan a los que los sepultureros más jóvenes llaman «los archimuertos», los que llevan más de cuarenta años bajo tierra. En teoría, estos restos habrían de tratarse, junto a los ataúdes y demás material del cementerio, mediante la gestión de empresas especializadas. El coste de este tratamiento resulta muy elevado, de modo que los directores de los cementerios dan dinero a los sepultureros para que excaven y luego lo echen todo en un camión: tierra, ataúdes podridos y huesos. Así, tatarabuelos, bisabuelos, abuelos de quién sabe qué ciudad se amontonaban en los campos de Caserta. Se llegaron a verter tantos —como descubriría el NAS de Caserta en febrero de 2006— que la gente, cuando pasaba cerca, se persignaba, como si se tratara de un cementerio. Los chiquillos les mangaban los guantes de cocina a sus madres, y, excavando con manos y cucharas, buscaban los cráneos y las cajas torácicas que estuvieran intactos. Los vendedores de los rastros llegaban a comprar un cráneo con los dientes blanqueados hasta por cien euros; y por una caja torácica intacta, con todas las costillas, podían pagarse hasta trescientos. Las tibias, fémures y brazos no tienen salida. Las manos sí, pero sus trozos se pierden fácilmente entre la tierra. Una calavera con los dientes negros vale cincuenta euros, pero estas no tienen un gran mercado: parece que a la clientela no le repugna tanto la idea de la muerte como el hecho de que el esmalte de los dientes empiece poco a poco a pudrirse.

De norte a sur, los clanes consiguen drenar de todo. El obispo de Nola definió el sur de Italia como el vertedero ilegal de la Italia rica e industrializada. Las escorias derivadas de la metalurgia térmica del aluminio, los peligrosos polvos de extracción de humos, en particular los producidos en la industria siderúrgica, las centrales termoeléctricas y las incineradoras; los residuos de los barnices, los líquidos renuentes contaminados de metales pesados, el amianto, las tierras contaminadas procedentes de actividades de saneamiento, que van a contaminar terrenos que aún no lo están; y también residuos producidos por empresas o instalaciones peligrosas de petroquímicas históricas como la antigua Enichem de Priolo, los fangos de curtido de la zona de Santa Croce sull’Arno, o los fangos de las depuradoras de Venecia y de Forli, propiedad de sociedades mayoritariamente de capital público.

El mecanismo del vertido ilícito parte de empresarios de grandes compañías, o incluso de pequeñas, que quieren eliminar a precios irrisorios sus residuos, el material de desecho del que ya no es posible extraer nada sin coste alguno. En la segunda fase se hallan los titulares de centros de almacenaje que emplean una técnica consistente en recoger los residuos tóxicos y en muchos casos mezclarlos con residuos ordinarios, de modo que diluyen su concentración tóxica y de ese modo eluden su clasificación, de acuerdo con el CER (el Catálogo Europeo de Residuos), como residuos tóxicos.

Los químicos son fundamentales para reclasificar un cargamento de residuos tóxicos como basura inocua. Muchos de ellos entregan un formulario de identificación falso con códigos de análisis engañosos. Después están los transportistas que recorren el país para llegar hasta el sitio prescrito para los vertidos, y finalmente, los responsables de dichos vertidos. Estos pueden ser gestores de vertederos autorizados o de instalaciones de compostaje en donde se cultivan los residuos para hacer abono, pero pueden ser también propietarios de canteras abandonadas o de terrenos agrícolas que se utilizan para vertidos ilegales. Allí donde haya un espacio con un propietario puede haber un vertedero. También son elementos necesarios para el funcionamiento de todo el mecanismo los funcionarios y empleados públicos que no controlan ni verifican las diversas operaciones, o conceden la gestión de canteras y vertederos a personas claramente integradas en organizaciones criminales. Los clanes no tienen que hacer pactos de sangre con los políticos, ni aliarse con partidos enteros. Basta con un funcionario, un técnico, un empleado, con cualquiera que desee aumentar su sueldo, y para ello, con extremada flexibilidad y silenciosa discreción, se las arregle para que el negocio salga adelante en provecho de todas las partes implicadas. Los verdaderos artífices de la mediación son, sin embargo, los que se conocen como «stakeholders»; son ellos los auténticos genios criminales del empresariado del vertido ilegal de residuos peligrosos. En este territorio, entre Nápoles, Salerno y Caserta, se forjan los mejores stakeholders de toda Italia. Por stakeholder (que en inglés significa «interesado» o «depositario») se entiende, en la jerga empresarial, aquella figura de la empresa que participa en el proyecto económico y que, asimismo, se halla en disposición de influir con su actividad, directa o indirectamente, en sus resultados. En Italia, los stakeholders de los residuos tóxicos se habían convertido en una auténtica clase dirigente. Y durante los desesperantes períodos de paro de mi vida no era raro que alguien me dijera:

—Eres licenciado y tienes cualidades, ¿por qué no te metes a stakeholder?

Para los licenciados del sur que no tenían un padre abogado o notario, esa era una vía segura hacia el enriquecimiento y la satisfacción profesional. Los licenciados con buena presencia se convertían en intermediarios después de pasar algunos años en Estados Unidos o en Inglaterra especializándose en políticas medioambientales.Yo he conocido a uno de ellos. Uno de los primeros, y uno de los mejores. Antes de escucharle, antes de observar su trabajo, no tenía ni idea del filón que representaban los residuos. Se llamaba Franco, y le conocí en el tren, volviendo de Milán. Obviamente, se había licenciado en la milanesa Universidad Bocconi, y en Alemania se había especializado en políticas de recuperación medioambiental. Una de las mayores habilidades de los stakeholders es la de saberse de memoria el CER y comprender cómo manejarse con él. Eso les permitía saber cómo tratar los residuos tóxicos, cómo eludir las normas, cómo ofrecer a la comunidad empresarial atajos clandestinos. Franco, originario de Villa Literno, quería atraerme a su profesión. Había empezado a hablarme de su trabajo partiendo del aspecto exterior. Normas y obstáculos para el éxito de un stakeholder. Si tenías entradas o te clareaba la coronilla, habías de evitar taxativamente emparrados y peluquines. Para mantener la imagen de triunfador, estaba prohibido llevar el cabello largo a ambos lados de la cabeza para tapar los espacios vacíos causados por la calvicie. El cráneo debía estar rapado, o como máximo con una rala pelusa de cabellos cortos. Según Franco, si el stakeholder era invitado a una fiesta, debía acudir siempre acompañado de una mujer y evitar hacer el triste papel de ir detrás de todas las faldas presentes. Si no tenía novia o no tenía una que estuviera a la altura de las circunstancias, tenía que pagarse a una señorita de compañía de lujo, de las más elegantes. Los stakeholders de los residuos se presentan ante los propietarios de empresas químicas, de curtidurías, de fábricas de plásticos, y les ofrecen sus listas de precios.

El tratamiento de residuos representa un coste que ningún empresario italiano considera necesario. Los stakeholders repiten siempre la misma metáfora:

—Para ellos es más útil la mierda que cagan que los residuos, para cuyo tratamiento tienen que desembolsar montones de dinero.

Sin embargo, jamás han de dar la impresión de estar ofreciendo una actividad delictiva. Los stakeholders ponen en contacto a las industrias con los responsables de los vertederos de los clanes, y, aunque a cierta distancia, controlan todos los pasos de la eliminación de los residuos.

Existen dos clases de productores de residuos. Por una parte, los que no tienen otro objetivo que ahorrar en el precio del servicio, sin que les importe la fiabilidad de las empresas con las que subcontratan la eliminación de sus residuos. Son los que consideran que su responsabilidad termina en el momento en que los barriles de veneno salen del perímetro de sus empresas. Y luego están los directamente implicados en las operaciones ilegales, que se encargan ellos mismos de eliminar sus residuos de manera ilícita. En ambos casos, la mediación del stakeholder es necesaria para garantizar los servicios de transporte y la indicación del lugar del vertido, así como su ayuda a la hora de dirigirse a quien corresponda para la desclasificación de un cargamento. La oficina del stakeholder es su coche. Con un teléfono y un ordenador portátil mueven cientos de miles de toneladas de residuos. Sus ganancias van a comisión sobre los contratos con las empresas y en relación a los kilos de residuos contratados para su eliminación. Los stakeholders tienen una lista de precios variable. Los diluyentes, que, por ejemplo, un stakeholder ligado a los clanes puede eliminar sin dificultad, van de los 10 a los 30 céntimos el kilo; el pentasulfuro de fósforo, a un euro el kilo; las tierras removidas de las carreteras, a 55 céntimos el kilo; los embalajes con restos de residuos peligrosos, a 1,40 euros; las tierras contaminadas, hasta 2,30 euros; los materiales de desecho de los cementerios, a 15 céntimos; las partes no metálicas de los automóviles, a 1,85 euros el kilo, transporte incluido. Los precios propuestos, obviamente, tienen en cuenta las exigencias de los clientes y las dificultades del transporte. Las cantidades gestionadas por los stakeholders son enormes, y sus márgenes de beneficio exorbitantes.

La denominada «Operación Houdini» de 2004 ha demostrado que una sola instalación industrial del Véneto gestionaba ilegalmente cerca de doscientas mil toneladas de residuos al año. El coste de mercado para gestionar correctamente los residuos tóxicos impone precios que van de los 21 a los 62 céntimos el kilo; los clanes proporcionan el mismo servicio a 9 o 10 céntimos el kilo. En 2004, los stakeholders de la Campania llegaron a garantizar que ochocientas toneladas de tierras contaminadas de hidrocarburos, propiedad de una empresa química, se trataran al precio de 25 céntimos el kilo, transporte incluido; un ahorro del 80 por ciento sobre los precios normales.

La verdadera fuerza de los intermediarios, de los stakeholders que trabajan con la Camorra, es su capacidad de garantizar un servicio en todas y cada una de sus fases, mientras que los intermediarios de las empresas legales ofrecen precios más altos y que no incluyen el transporte. Sin embargo, los propios stakeholders casi nunca son afiliados de los clanes. No hace falta. La no afiliación constituye una ventaja para ambas partes. Los stakeholders pueden trabajar para distintas familias, como agentes libres, sin tener que asumir obligaciones militares o imposiciones concretas, y sin tener que convertirse en peones de guerra. En todas las operaciones de la magistratura italiana cogen siempre a unos cuantos, pero las condenas nunca son muy duras, puesto que resulta difícil demostrar su responsabilidad directa, dado que oficialmente no toman parte en ninguno de los pasos de la cadena de la eliminación delictiva de recursos.

Con el tiempo he aprendido a ver con los ojos del stakeholder; una mirada distinta de la del constructor. Un constructor ve el espacio vacío como algo que hay que llenar, trata de convertir en lleno el vacío; el stakeholder piensa, en cambio, en cómo hallar el vacío en lo lleno.

Franco, cuando caminaba, no observaba el paisaje, sino que pensaba en cómo poder meter algo dentro. Era como ver todo lo existente a manera de una gran alfombra y buscar en las montañas, en los lados de los campos, el borde que hay que levantar para barrer debajo todo lo posible. En cierta ocasión, mientras caminábamos, Franco observó el emplazamiento abandonado de un surtidor de gasolina, y pensó de inmediato en que los depósitos subterráneos podrían albergar decenas de pequeños barriles de residuos químicos. Una tumba perfecta. Así era su vida, una continua búsqueda del vacío. Más tarde, Franco dejó de hacer de stakeholder, de recorrer kilómetros y kilómetros con su coche, de ofrecerse a los empresarios del nordeste del país y de ser contratado por media Italia. Montó un curso de formación profesional. Sus principales alumnos eran chinos, llegados de Hong Kong. Los stakeholders orientales habían aprendido de los italianos a tratar con las empresas de toda Europa, a ofrecer precios y soluciones rápidas. Cuando en Inglaterra aumentaron los costes de la eliminación de residuos, se presentaron los stakeholders chinos discípulos de los de la Campania. En Rotterdam, la policía portuaria holandesa descubrió en marzo de 2005, justo cuando partían hacia China, mil toneladas de residuos urbanos ingleses expedidos oficialmente como papel para maceración destinado al reciclaje. Un millón de toneladas de residuos de las empresas de alta tecnología parten cada año de Europa para ser vertidos en China. Los stakeholders los llevan a Guiyu, al nordeste de Hong Kong; sepultados, aplastados bajo tierra, sumergidos en lagos artificiales. Como en Casería. Debido a ello, han contaminado Guiyu con tal velocidad que los estratos acuíferos se hallan ahora totalmente comprometidos, hasta el punto de verse obligados a importar el agua potable de las provincias vecinas. El sueño de los stakeholders de Hong Kong es hacer de Nápoles el puerto de enlace de los residuos europeos, un centro de recogida flotante donde poder estibar en contenedores el oro de la basura que acabará sepultada en las tierras de China.

Los stakeholders de la Campania eran los mejores; habían batido a la competencia de los calabreses, los apulianos y los romanos debido a que, gracias a los clanes, habían convertido los vertederos de la Campania en un enorme almacén de rebajas, sin solución de continuidad. En treinta años de tráfico han llegado a apoderarse de todo, a gestionar la eliminación de cualquier cosa con un único objetivo: abaratar los costes y aumentar las cantidades que eliminar. La investigación denominada «Rey Midas», de 2003, que toma su nombre de una llamada telefónica interceptada de un traficante —«Y nosotros, en cuanto tocamos la basura, hacemos que se convierta en oro»—, mostraba que todas y cada una de las fases del ciclo de los residuos recibía su parte de beneficios.

Cuando iba en el coche con Franco tenía ocasión de escuchar sus llamadas telefónicas. Daba asesoramiento inmediato acerca de cómo y dónde había que verter los residuos tóxicos. Hablaba de cobre, arsénico, mercurio, cadmio, plomo, cromo, níquel, cobalto o molibdeno; pasaba de los residuos de curtiduría a los hospitalarios, de los desechos urbanos a los neumáticos; explicaba cómo tratarlos, sabía de memoria listas enteras de personas y lugares de vertido a los que dirigirse. Yo pensaba en los venenos mezclados con compost, pensaba en las tumbas para barriles de alta toxicidad excavadas en las entrañas de los campos.Y me ponía pálido. Franco se daba cuenta de ello.

—¿Te da asco este oficio? Pero, Roberto, ¿sabes que los stakeholders han hecho entrar en Europa a este país de mierda? ¿Lo sabes o no? ¿Y sabes cuántos obreros han podido salvar el culo gracias a que yo he hecho que sus empresas no se gasten un carajo?

Franco había nacido en un lugar que le había entrenado bien, ya desde niño. Sabía que en los negocios o se ganaba o se perdía —no había espacio para nada más—, y él no quería perder, ni hacer perder a aquellos para los que trabajaba. Lo que él se decía a sí mismo y me decía a mí, las excusas que se explicaba, eran, no obstante, datos feroces, una lectura inversa respecto a cómo yo había visto hasta entonces la eliminación de residuos tóxicos. Uniendo todos los datos derivados de las investigaciones realizadas por la Fiscalía de Nápoles y la Fiscalía de Santa Maria Capua Vetere desde finales de la década de 1990 hasta hoy, es posible calcular que la ventaja económica para las empresas que se dirigen a gestores de residuos de la Camorra puede cuantifícarse en quinientos millones de euros. Yo era consciente de que las investigaciones judiciales habían descubierto solo una parte de las infracciones, y, debido a ello, me entró una especie de vértigo. Muchas empresas del norte habían podido crecer, contratar, hacer competitivo todo el tejido industrial del país hasta el punto de poderlo impulsar hacia Europa, gracias a haberse liberado del lastre representado por el coste de los residuos, que los clanes napolitanos y casertanos les habían aligerado. Schiavone, Mallardo, Moccia, Bidognetti, La Torre y todas las demás familias habían ofrecido un servicio criminal capaz de relanzar la economía y hacerla competitiva. La operación «Casiopea», en 2003, demostró que cada semana partían del norte hacia el sur de Italia cuarenta camiones TIR cargados de residuos, y, según la reconstrucción de los investigadores, se vertía, sepultaba, arrojaba y enterraba cadmio, cinc, restos de barniz, fangos de depuradoras, plásticos varios, arsénico, desechos de las acererías y plomo. La línea directriz norte-sur era la vía privilegiada por los traficantes. Muchas empresas vénetas y lombardas, a través de los stakeholders, habían adoptado su propio territorio en Nápoles o en Caserta, transformándolo en un enorme vertedero. Se calcula que en los últimos cinco años, en la Campania, se han vertido ilegalmente cerca de tres millones de toneladas de residuos de todo tipo, de las que un millón han ido a parar a la provincia de Caserta; una provincia que en el «plan urbanístico» de los clanes ha sido asignada al enterramiento de residuos.

Un papel relevante en la geografía del tráfico ilícito lo desempeña la región de la Toscana, la más ecologista de Italia. Aquí se concentran diversas clases de tráficos ilegales, de la producción a la mediación, todas ellas sacadas a la luz en al menos tres investigaciones: la operación «Rey Midas», la operación «Mosca» y la operación denominada «Agricultura Biológica», de 2004.

De la Toscana no llegan solo ingentes cantidades de residuos gestionados ilegalmente. La región se ha convertido en una verdadera base operativa fundamental para toda una serie de sujetos dedicados a estas actividades delictivas: desde los stakeholders hasta los químicos conniventes, pasando por los propietarios de las instalaciones de compostaje que permiten realizar las mezclas. Pero el territorio de reciclaje de los residuos tóxicos está aumentando su perímetro. Otras investigaciones han revelado la implicación de regiones que parecían inmunes, como Umbría y Molise. Aquí, gracias a la operación «Mosca», coordinada por la Fiscalía de Larino en 2004, se ha descubierto el vertido ilícito de 120 toneladas de residuos especiales procedentes de industrias metalúrgicas y siderúrgicas. Los clanes habían logrado triturar 320 toneladas de asfalto desechado con una altísima densidad de alquitrán, y habían identificado una instalación de compostaje disponible para mezclarlo con tierra, y, por tanto, ocultarlo en la campiña de Umbría.

El reciclado llega a metamorfosis capaces de ganancias exorbitantes en cada una de sus fases. No bastaba con ocultar los residuos tóxicos: además, se podían transformar en fertilizantes, recibiendo así dinero por vender los venenos. Cuatro hectáreas de terreno al abrigo del litoral de Molise se cultivaron con abono extraído de los residuos de las curtidurías. Se encontraron nueve toneladas de cereal que contenían una elevadísima concentración de cromo. Los traficantes habían elegido el litoral de Molise —concretamente, el tramo entre Termoli y Campomarino— para verter abusivamente residuos especiales y peligrosos procedentes de diversas empresas del norte de Italia. Sin embargo, según las investigaciones coordinadas en los últimos años por la Fiscalía de Santa Maria Capua Vetere, elVéneto es el verdadero centro de almacenaje, que desde hace años alimenta los tráficos ilegales en todo el territorio italiano. Las fundiciones septentrionales hacen eliminar sus escorias sin tomar precauciones, mezclándolas en el compost utilizado para abonar centenares de campos de cultivo.

Los stakeholders de la Campania utilizan a menudo las rutas del narcotráfico que los clanes ponen a su disposición para encontrar nuevos terrenos que excavar, nuevas tumbas que llenar. Ya en la investigación «Rey Midas», diversos traficantes estaban entablando relaciones para organizar el tráfico de residuos en Albania y en Costa Rica. Pero hoy cualquier canal es posible: tráfico hacia el Este, hacia Rumania, donde los Casalesi tienen cientos y cientos de hectáreas de terreno; o en los países africanos: Mozambique, Somalia y Nigeria. Todos ellos países donde los clanes tienen apoyos y contactos desde siempre. Una de las cosas que más me alteró fue ver los rostros de los colegas de Franco, las caras tensas y preocupadas de los stakeholders de la Campania, el día del tsunami. En cuanto observaban las imágenes del desastre en la televisión, se ponían pálidos. Era como si todos ellos tuviesen mujeres, amantes e hijos en peligro. Pero, en realidad, el peligro afectaba a algo más preciado: sus negocios. En efecto, a causa de la ola provocada por el maremoto se encontraron en las playas de Somalia, entre Obbia y Warsheik, cientos de barriles llenos hasta arriba de residuos peligrosos y radiactivos enterrados en las décadas de 1980 y 1990. Ahora la atención de los medios podría bloquear sus nuevos tráficos, las nuevas válvulas de escape. Pero ese riesgo pronto quedó conjurado. Las campañas de beneficencia para los refugiados desviaron la atención de aquellos bidones de veneno surgidos de la tierra que flotaban junto a los cadáveres. El propio mar se estaba convirtiendo en territorio de constantes vertidos. Cada vez más traficantes llenaban de residuos las bodegas de barcos que luego, simulando un accidente, echaban a pique. La ganancia era doble: la aseguradora pagaba por el accidente, y los residuos se hundían en el mar hasta el fondo.

Mientras los clanes encontraban en todas partes espacio para los residuos, la administración de la región de Campania, después de diez años de intervención por infiltración camorrista, ya no lograba encontrar el modo de eliminar su propia basura. En la Campania terminaban ilegalmente los residuos de todas partes de Italia, mientras que la propia basura de la región, en las situaciones de emergencia, se enviaba a Alemania, a un precio de eliminación cincuenta veces superior al que la Camorra ofrecía a sus clientes. Las investigaciones señalaron que solo en la región de Nápoles, de dieciocho empresas de recogida de residuos, quince están directamente ligadas a los clanes camorristas.

El territorio está ahogado en basura, y parece imposible encontrar una solución. Durante años, los residuos de la Campania se han ido amontonando en forma de las denominadas «ecobalas», enormes balas cúbicas de basura triturada y embalada con bandas blancas. Solo para eliminar las acumuladas hasta ahora harían falta cincuenta y seis años. La única solución que parece proponerse es la de las incineradoras. Como en Acerra, donde se han generado revueltas y protestas feroces que han criticado incluso la mera idea de construir una posible incineradora en la zona. Con respecto a las incineradoras, los clanes tienen una actitud ambivalente. Por un lado están en contra, puesto que les gustaría seguir viviendo de vertederos y hogueras, y además la actual situación de emergencia permite especular con los terrenos de vertido de las ecobalas, unos terrenos que ellos mismos arriendan. Sin embargo, en el caso de que se construyera la incineradora están listos para optar a las subcontratas de su construcción, y, posteriormente, de su gestión. Pero allí donde las investigaciones judiciales no han llegado todavía, sí ha llegado ya la población. Aterrorizada, nerviosa, inquieta. La gente teme que la incineradora pueda convertirse en el horno permanente de los residuos de media Italia a disposición de los clanes; y que, en ese caso, todas las garantías sobre la seguridad ecológica de la incineradora acabaran por desvanecerse frente a los venenos cuya quema vendría impuesta por los clanes. Asimismo, miles de personas se ponen en estado de alerta cada vez que se dispone la reapertura de un vertedero agotado. Temen que puedan llegar de todas partes residuos tóxicos camuflados como desechos ordinarios, y, en consecuencia, resisten hasta el final antes que arriesgarse a convertir su propia tierra en un depósito incontrolado de nuevos desechos. En Basso dell'Olmo, cerca de Salerno, cuando el comisario regional, en febrero de 2005, trató de reabrir el vertedero, empezaron a formarse espontáneamente piquetes de ciudadanos que impedían la llegada de los camiones y su acceso a dicho vertedero Una vigilancia continua, constante, a cualquier precio. Carmine Iuorio, de treinta y cuatro años, murió congelado mientras hacía su turno de vigilancia durante una noche terriblemente fría. Por la mañana, cuando fueron a despertarle, tenía los pelos de la barba helados y los labios lívidos. Llevaba muerto al menos tres horas.

La imagen de un vertedero, de un barranco, de una cantera, se hacen cada vez más sinónimos concretos y visibles de un peligro mortal para quien vive en sus alrededores. Cuando los vertederos están a punto de agotarse, se prende fuego a los residuos. Hay una zona en la región de Nápoles que hoy ha pasado a conocerse como la «tierra de los fuegos»: el triángulo Giugliano-Villaricca-Qualiano. Cuenta con 39 vertederos, de los que 27 contienen residuos peligrosos. Un territorio en el que los desechos aumentan en un 30 por ciento anual. La técnica funciona, y se pone en práctica a un ritmo constante. Los más hábiles a la hora de provocar los fuegos son los muchachos gitanos. Los clanes les dan cincuenta euros por cada montón quemado. Se trata de una técnica sencilla. Circunscriben cada uno de los enormes montones de residuos con cinta de vídeo, luego echan alcohol y gasolina sobre todos los residuos, y, convirtiendo la cinta en una enorme mecha, se alejan. Con un mechero prenden fuego a la cinta, y en pocos segundos todos se convierte en un bosque de llamas, como si hubiesen lanzado bombas de napalm. Luego echan al fuego restos de fundiciones, pegamentos y heces de nafta. El negrísimo humo y el fuego contaminan de dioxinas cada centímetro de tierra. La agricultura de estos lugares, que exportaba verdura y fruta hasta Escandinavia, ha caído en picado. La fruta crece enferma, la tierra se vuelve infértil. Pero la rabia de los campesinos y la ruina económica se convierten en el enésimo elemento ventajoso, puesto que los propietarios de tierras desesperados venden sus propios campos de cultivo, y de ese modo los clanes adquieren nuevas tierras, nuevos vertederos, a un precio, más que bajo, bajísimo. Mientras tanto, continuamente se producen muertes debidas a tumores. Una matanza silenciosa, lenta, difícil de controlar, puesto que se da un auténtico éxodo hacia los hospitales del norte por parte de quienes desean vivir lo máximo posible. El Instituto Superior de Sanidad italiano ha informado de que la mortalidad por cáncer en la Campania, en las ciudades próximas a los grandes vertidos de residuos tóxicos, ha aumentado en un 21 por ciento en los últimos años. Bronquios que se consumen, tráqueas que empiezan a enrojecer, y luego los TAC en los hospitales y las manchas negras que delatan la presencia del tumor. Al preguntar el lugar de procedencia de los enfermos de la Campania, a menudo sale a la luz toda la trayectoria de los residuos tóxicos.

En cierta ocasión decidí atravesar a pie la tierra de los fuegos. Me tapé la nariz y la boca con un pañuelo atado a la cara, tal como hacían también los muchachos gitanos cuando iban a quemar los residuos. Parecíamos bandas de cowboys caminando entre desiertos de basura quemada. Caminaba entre las tierras devoradas por las dioxinas, llenadas por los camiones y vaciadas por el fuego a fin de que el agujero nunca se tapara del todo.

El humo que atravesaba no era denso; era más bien como una pátina pegajosa que se posaba sobre la piel dejando una sensación de mojado. No lejos de los fuegos había una serie de chalets que descansaban todos ellos sobre una enorme «X» de cemento armado. Eran casas construidas sobre vertederos clausurados.Vertederos ilegales que, después de haber sido utilizados hasta los topes, después de haber quemado todo lo que podía quemarse, se habían agotado, llenos hasta estar a punto de explotar. Pero los clanes habían logrado reconvertirlos en terrenos edificables, aunque, por lo demás, oficialmente seguían siendo zonas de pasto y cultivo. Y así habían construido encima atractivos conjuntos de chalets. El terreno, sin embargo, no era fiable: habrían podido producirse desprendimientos o abrirse barrancos de improviso, de modo que una serie de armaduras de cemento armado estructuradas en forma de resistentes «X» de refuerzo hacían seguras las viviendas. Los chalets se habían vendido, a bajo precio, aunque todos sabían que se alzaban sobre toneladas de residuos. Empleados, pensionistas y obreros, ante la posibilidad de tener un chalet, no iban a poner pegas por el terreno sobre el que se asentaban los pilares de sus casas.

El paisaje de la tierra de los fuegos tenía el aspecto de un apocalipsis continuo y repetido, rutinario, como si en su disgusto hecho de percolado y neumático ya no hubiera nada de lo que asombrarse. En las investigaciones se identificaba un método para proteger el vertido de material tóxico de la interferencia de policías y agentes forestales, un método antiguo, utilizado por los guerrilleros, por los partisanos, en todas partes del mundo. Empleaban a pastores como vigilantes. Pastoreaban ovejas, cabras y algunas vacas. Se contrataba a los mejores pastores en activo para vigilar a los intrusos en lugar de a los montones de corderos. Apenas veían algún automóvil sospechoso, avisaban. La vista y el teléfono móvil eran armas invencibles. A menudo los veía dando vueltas con sus rebaños resecos y obedientes a los perros pastores. En cierta ocasión me acerqué a ellos: quería ver las carreteras por donde los pequeños gestores de vertederos aprendían a conducir camiones, ya que ahora los camioneros no querían llevar sus cargamentos hasta el lugar del vertido. La investigación «Eldorado», de 2003, había revelado que cada vez más se utilizaba a menores para estas operaciones. Los camioneros recelaban de entrar en contacto con los residuos tóxicos. Por lo demás, había sido precisamente un camionero el que había desencadenado la primera investigación importante sobre el tráfico de residuos en 1991. Mario Tamburrino había acudido al hospital con los ojos hinchados; las órbitas parecían yemas de huevo que los párpados eran ya incapaces de contener. Estaba completamente cegado, sus manos habían perdido la primera capa de epidermis, y le ardían como si hubiese quemado gasolina en las palmas. Se le había abierto un barril tóxico cerca de la cara, y con eso solo había bastado para cegarle y casi quemarle vivo; para quemarle en seco, sin llamas. Después de aquel episodio los camioneros pidieron que los barriles se transportaran en trailers, manteniéndolos a distancia en los remolques y sin llegar siquiera a rozarlos. Los más peligrosos eran los camiones que transportaban el compost adulterado, fertilizantes mezclados con venenos. Solo con inhalarlos habría podido dañarles para siempre el aparato respiratorio. El último paso, cuando los TIR habían de descargar los barriles en alguna furgoneta que los transportaría directamente al foso del vertido, era el más arriesgado. Nadie quería llevarlos. En las furgonetas, los barriles se cargaban unos encima de otros, y a menudo se golpeaban, provocando emanaciones de su contenido. De modo que, cuando llegaban los trailers, los camioneros ni siquiera se bajaban. Esperaban a que los descargaran. Luego, unos muchachos llevaban la carga hasta su destino. Un pastor me indicó una carretera que hacía bajada, donde se ejercitaban en la conducción hasta que llegaba el cargamento. En la pendiente les enseñaban a frenar, con dos cojines bajo las posaderas para que llegaran a los pedales. Tenían catorce, quince o dieciséis años. A doscientos cincuenta euros el viaje. Los reclutaban en un bar; el propietario lo sabía y no se atrevía siquiera a rebelarse, aunque sí daba su opinión sobre los hechos a cualquiera que tuviera delante de los capuchinos y los cafés que servía.

—Esa ropa que les hacen llevar, cuanto más se la echen al cuerpo y la respiren, antes les hará reventar. A esos los mandan a morir, no a conducir.

Los pequeños conductores, cuanto más oían decir que la suya era una actividad peligrosa, mortal, más se sentían a la altura de una importante misión. Sacaban pecho y adoptaban una mirada desdeñosa detrás de sus gafas de sol. Se sentían bien; mejor dicho, cada vez mejor; ninguno de ellos podía imaginarse, ni siquiera por un instante, que al cabo de diez años estaría haciendo quimioterapia, vomitando bilis, con el estómago, el hígado y las tripas deshechos.

Seguía lloviendo. En muy poco tiempo el agua empapó la tierra que ahora ya no lograba absorber nada más. Los pastores, impasibles, fueron a sentarse como tres santones demacrados bajo una especie de marquesina construida con planchas metálicas. Seguían vigilando la carretera mientras las ovejas se ponían a cubierto, amontonándose sobre una colina de basura. Uno de los pastores llevaba un bastón que empujaba contra la marquesina, inclinándola para evitar que se llenase de agua y se derrumbase sobre sus cabezas .Yo estaba completamente empapado, pero toda el agua que me caía encima no bastaba para sofocar una especie de picor que me salía del estómago y se extendía hasta la nuca. Trataba de comprender si los sentimientos humanos podían llegar a enfrentarse a una maquinaria de poder tan enorme, si era posible llegar a actuar de una manera, de alguna posible manera, que permitiera protegerse de los negocios, que permitiera vivir al margen de las dinámicas del poder. Me atormentaba tratando de entender si era posible intentar comprender, descubrir, saber, sin ser devorado, triturado. O si la elección era entre conocer y comprometerse, o ignorar, y, de ese modo, poder vivir tranquilamente. Acaso solo quedaba olvidar, no ver. Escuchar la versión oficial de las cosas, intuir solo de manera distraída y reaccionar con un lamento. Me preguntaba si podía existir algo que fuese capaz de posibilitar una vida feliz, o acaso había de limitarme a renunciar a los sueños de emancipación y de libertades anárquicas, y lanzarme a la arena, meterme una semiautomática en los calzoncillos y empezar a hacer negocios, negocios de los de verdad. Convencerme de que formo parte del tejido conectivo de mi tiempo, y jugármelo todo, mandar y ser mandado, convertirse en una bestia del beneficio, un rapaz de las finanzas, un samurai de los clanes; y hacer de mi vida un campo de batalla donde no se pueda sobrevivir, sino solo reventar después de haber mandado y luchado.

He nacido en tierras de la Camorra, en el lugar con más muertos por asesinato de Europa, en el territorio donde la crueldad se halla ligada a los negocios, donde nada tiene valor si no genera poder; donde todo tiene el sabor de una batalla final. Parecía imposible tener un momento de paz, no vivir siempre en el seno de una guerra donde todo gesto puede convertirse en una concesión, donde toda necesidad se transforma en debilidad, donde todo debes conquistarlo arrancando la carne al hueso. En tierras de la Camorra, combatir a los clanes no es lucha de clases, afirmación del derecho, reapropiación de la ciudadanía. No es la toma de conciencia del propio honor, la defensa del propio orgullo. Es algo más esencial, ferozmente carnal. En tierras de la Camorra, conocer los mecanismos de afirmación de los clanes, sus cinéticas de extracción, sus inversiones, significa comprender cómo funciona el propio tiempo en toda su proporción, y no solo en el perímetro geográfico de la propia tierra. Ponerse en contra de los clanes se convierte en una guerra por la supervivencia, como si la propia existencia, la comida que comes, los labios que besas, la música que escuchas, las páginas que lees, no lograran darte el sentido de la vida, sino solo el de la supervivencia. Y así, conocer ya no es un indicio de compromiso moral. Saber, entender, se convierte en una necesidad. La única posible para considerarse aún hombres dignos de respirar.

Hola Gatopardo, gracias por el blog.

De todas formas, te escribo para ver si me puedes ayudar a contactar a Luis Merida, para pedirle permiso para usar precioso dibujo de Julio Caro Baroja que reproduces en tu blog.

Me gustaría usarlo para la portada de un libro que estoy maquetando en inglés, de trabajos escogidos de Julio Caro para el centro de estudios vascos de la universidad de Reno, Nevada.

Me encantaría usarlo y podría pagarle unos pocos euros.

Te pido, pues, por favor, que me respondas por email para que pueda contactar con él.

Muchas gracias,

Jose Luis

PS: Terrorífico el panorama de Italia. Mi novia que vivió años en Cerdeña se quedó espantada al ver la película basada en el libro de Saviano. No he tenido "tripas" para leer el libro.

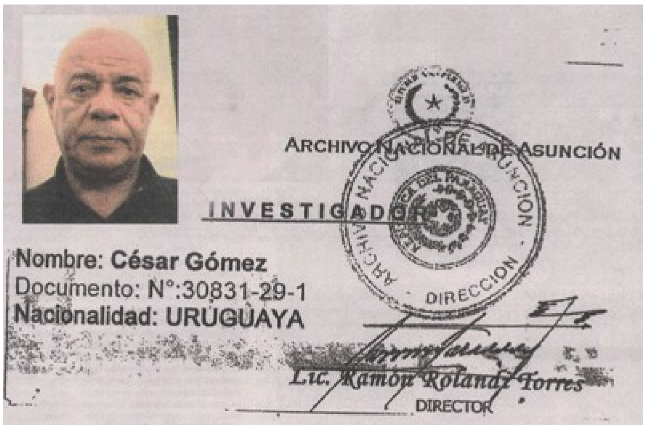
EL MANGANTE CÉSAR GÓMEZ RIVERO Y LOS SANDIOS HONORIS CAUSA EN EL NEGOCIADO DE CULTURA



I. La Geographice hyphegesis, Geographia o Cosmographia de Ptolomeo Claudio.

La Cosmografía de Ptolomeo, (escrita hacia 160 dC) es el tratado científico sobre geografía que impera en la cultura europea durante quince siglos. Ptolomeo aporta a la historia de la cartografía el concepto y técnicas de la proyección , coordenadas y listas topográficas. Su concepción del mundo es la que preside las obras de Bocaccio, Chaucer o Alfonso X o la aventura de Colón, de la misma manera que su concepción del universo, expresada en la Megale Syntaxis tes Astronomias o Almagesto, prevaleció hasta Copérnico y Kepler.

Ptolomeo escribió en griego la Geographice hyphegesis (que fue llamada Geographia o Cosmographia en sus traducciones al latín). La obra consta de ocho partes o "libros" cada uno de los cuales dedica a un tema (construcción de mapas, las partes del mundo conocido, etc.). La obra, se dice, iba acompañada de 27 mapas y un mapamundi, que son los que forman el "canon de mapas ptolomaico".

Los manuscritos griegos sufren los avatares de los ultimos tiempos de los Paleologo y del Imperio Bizantino. Es un filólogo bizantino, Manuel Crisolora, que cambió este nombre por el de Máximo Planudes, quien trae un ejemplar a Florencia hacia 1297, cuando es llamado por Palla Strozzi para que enseñe griego. Planudes, ya entonces, se queja del enorme esfuerzo y dificultad que había supuesto encontrar este manuscrito y, para celebrar el hallazgo, compone unos hexámetros. Por los comentarios de Planudes a este manuscrito (conservado hoy en la Biblioteca Vaticana, Vat. gr. 177) sabemos que este ejemplar no tenía mapas y Planudes adjuntó un rudimentario mapamundi, que confeccionó siguiendo las indicaciones de la obra ptolomaica.

Por ello, hoy se alberga serias dudas de que el conjunto de mapas incluidos en los manuscritos y ediciones posteriores sean copias derivadas de los mapas ptolomaicos "originales". Más parecen mapas que aplican las técnicas cartográficas y topográficas de la Cosmographia. La traducción del manuscrito griego fue llevada a cabo, hacia 1406, por un discípulo de Crisolora: Jacopo Angelo da Scarperia. A partir de aquí, se hallan manuscritos de esta obra en todas las cortes y reinos europeos, unos con mapas y otros sin ellos..

II Incunables de la Cosmographia de Ptolomeo.

Se llama "incunables" a aquellos libros compuestos entre 1453 (invención de la imprenta) y 1500. Durante estos 47 años de "infancia" los libros conservan unos rasgos heredados de la composición del códice humanista y renacentista (por ejemplo, abreviaturas, colofón, ornamentación artesanal...) y van incorporando innovaciones como la ilustración xilográfica, los grabados, la simplificación de las letras y las marcas tipográficas y editoriales. Cada edición representa una concepción distinta de la obra y una firma de la labor artesana y artística del impresor/editor. De ahí la importancia de describir todos los elementos que caracterizan cada edición.

Los incunables de la Cosmographia se distribuyen en 5 ediciones, cuatro italianas y una alemana. Todas, menos la de 1475, tienen mapas. La edición alemana de Ulm tiene una técnica de elaborar los mapas diferente a la italiana: en Ulm se prefiere la xilografia (o grabado en madera); en Roma se opta por una técnica relativamente novedosa, el grabado en cobre a punta seca

- Edición de 13 de septiembre de 1475. Vicenza: Hermannus Liechenstein, interprete Iacobo Angelo (esto es : impreso en la ciudad de Vicenza por Hermann Liechenstein con traducción al latín de Jacobo Angelo).
- Edición de 1477. Bologna, Dominicus de Lapis. Interprete Jacobo Angelo . Tiene 1 mapamundi y 26 regionales a doble hoja.
- Edición de 1478. Roma, Arnoldus Buckinck. Interprete Jacobo Angelo, ex emendatione Domiti Calderini. Contiene un mapamundi y 26 mapas: 10 de Europa, 4 de Africa y 12 de Asia. Las mismas planchas de los mapas se emplearon para las ediciones de 1490, 1507 y 1508. Que se sepa, hay sólo 38 ejemplares en el mundo., uno en la Academia de la Historia, en Madrid.
-1482 Ulm, Lienhart Holle, Además de la técnica de la xilografia, esta edición se singulariza por tener un mayor número de mapas (38) y porque el mapamundi, grabado y firmado por Johannes Schnitzer de Armsheim, aunque sigue el modelo ptolomaico, añade tierras del norte de Europa (Groenlandia y Escandinavia), cuyos mapas se añaden al "canon" original. Marca característica del grabador es que invierte las enes para reconocer la autenticidad de las copias. Hubo reediciones de esta obra en 1482 y en 1486. Esta considerada, por la belleza de sus tipos y la de sus mapas, como uno de los libros más hermosos jamás impresos. Se supone que quedan unos 120 ejemplares en todo el mundo.
-1490 Roma, Petrus de Turre, 1490 . En esta edición se utilizó, para imprimir los mapas, las mismas planchas que la edición romana de 1478, cuya precisión y belleza eran muy superiores a la edición de 1477. Característico y único de estos mapas son los tipos romanos, de gran belleza, que se consiguieron, no grabándolos con buril, sino agujereando la placa con punzón

Es decir, desde el siglo II hasta que aterrizan en el Ministerio de Cultura Carmen Calvo y, en la Biblioteca Nacional, Rosa Regas, la Cosmographia de Ptolomeo es un pilar de la historia de la cultura occidental y sus códices, manuscritos, incunables y ediciones representan un valiosísimo legado de la historia del arte. Esta pareja de ignorantes se han permitido derivar los presupuestos destinados a conservar tesoros artísticos como éstos para parties y mamarrachadas.

III. La Cosmographia de Ptolomeo Claudio (Ptolomaeus Claudius). Ejemplares que existen en la Biblioteca Nacional de España.

1. Edición de 1475

De esta edición existe un ejemplar con signatura: Inc/1337. (Signatura es una combinación alfanumérica que indica la "matrícula" o colocación del ejemplar. En este caso, Incunable, nº 1337).

2. Edición de 12 julio de 1482.

De esta edición hay un ejemplar con signatura Res/255 (es decir Reservado, nº 255. Teóricamente este ejemplar requeriría la autorización del Director de la Biblioteca para ser consultado).

El Res/255, según consta en la pagina web de la BNE, contiene,"en el libro VIII, 27 mapas a doble página y a página entera coloreada" y un total de 38 estampas. Entre ellas un mapamundi grabado por Johannes Schnitzer de Armsheim (es decir, Johannes, tallista de Armsheim, ciudad alemana en Renania-Palatinado).

El nombre del insigne grabador de mapas, retratado por Schongauer, se ha transformado, en manos del analfabeto responsable de la ficha bibliográfica de la Biblioteca Nacional en Johannes von Armszheim. Esta luminaria de la biblioteconomía dice: "El mapa mundi lleva la inscripción: Insculptum est per Johannê Schnitzer de Armszheim". Si miran esta inscripción, en la parte superior centrar del mapamundi, verán que dice "Armβheim", o sea la grafía alemana para s sorda. No contento con la burrada paleográfica, traduce al alemán el nombre: "Johannes von Armszheim" y así se ha catalogado; cuando lo correcto sería: Johannes Schnitzer aus Armβheim o Armsheim. La gracia ha hecho desaparecer de los ficheros y catálogos de la Biblioteca Nacional a un artista de fama universal. O sea, que si les interesa este grabador, acudan a cualquier sitio que no sea la Biblioteca insignia de la nación, porque, en ese negociado, no se le conoce.

Edición de 16 de julio de 1482.

De esta edición existen dos ejemplares en la BNE: el Inc/116 y el Inc/1475. Según la farragosa descripción accesible en la página web, cada uno de estos ejemplares tiene 38 "estampas" y la principal diferencia entre ellos es que al Inc/116 le falta el grabado de la inicial N

Las 38 iluminaciones de cada uno de los tres códices de 1482 los desglosan en la BN:

2 iniciales grabadas
4 diagramas astronómicos
32 mapas: 1 mapamundi y 31 mapas representando las partes del mundo.

Edición de 4 de noviembre de 1490.

Hay dos ejemplares en la BNE: el Inc/756 y el Inc/1105. De estos incunables no se da ninguna información ni se dice si tienen mapas o no. Los tienen los ejemplares de la misma fecha e impresor de la Biblioteca Panizzi (Reggio Emilia), la Biblioteca del Polesine (Rovigo) y de la Biblioteca Seminario di Milano, pero, en la BNE no se le considera lo bastante importante para detallar y describir sus mapas. La valoración de un solo mapa de esta edición, de los 27 o más que debe de tener, varía de 10.000 a 150.000 euros.Tampoco se tiene en cuenta que esta edición se caracteriza por tener un grabado de Ptolomeo, también presa altamente cotizada en el mercado de coleccionistas.

Los mapas de Ptolomeo y el mercado internacional de arte robado.- La historia de la cartografía va fatidicamente unida a la historia de los robos de mapas. Durante la Edad Media y el Renacimiento, poseer mapas o las técnicas para confeccionarlos significaba detentar un poder, que afectaba al comercio, a las rutas de navegación, o a la descripción de posibles territorios de conquista. Las grandes escuelas cartográficas se hallan en ciudades representativas de las sucesivas potencias europeas:, Mallorca, Venecia, Florencia, Sagres (punto de partida de la expansión marítima portuguesa desde la principios del siglo XIV) y las condenas por robar o sacar mapas de un territorio mapas podían llegar a la pena de muerte.

Con el nacimiento de la imprenta y el descubrimiento de América, los mapas que se valoran son aquellos que incorporen los nuevos territorios , la que antes se llamaba "terra ignota" y reflejen una imagen de la tierra, según las nuevas leyes de la física y la cosmografía científica. Waldseemüller, por ejemplo, intentó incorporar al mapa ptolomaico las observaciones y descubrimientos de Americo Vespucio. El único mapa existente de Waldseemüller, que llama, por primera vez, "America" a estos territorios, está hoy en la Library of Congress de Washington. En 2001 el gobierno alemán permitió al principe Waldburg-Wolfegg que vendiera a la Biblioteca americana por diez millones de dólares este mapa, catalogado como parte del tesoro artístico alemán.

Esta transacción, reconocida por muchos como "robo moral", es el mejor (o, al menos, más legal) escenario en el que se desarrolla hoy el mercado de mapas.

Efectivamente, durante el siglo XIX y primera mitad del XX, los colectores de mapas se limitaban a un reducido número de bibliófilos o especialistas sin gran poder económico. Los mapas robados eran pocos y se pagaba poco por ellos. Debemos a una nefasta figura llamada Graham Arader el que exista un mercado creciente y sin escrúpulos de mapas antiguos. A este marchante norteamericano se le ocurrió la feliz idea de convertir los mapas en objetos de adorno, para complementar la decoración de la oficina de un banquero o la consulta de un dentista. Lo que interesaba era el mapa y, por tanto, se mutilaba sin contemplaciones el manuscrito, códice, incunable o ejemplar en el que estaban insertos. Esta salvajada la amplió a los grabados de botánica o fauna. Los grabados o pinturas pueden centuplicar el valor de la obra en la que están. Y el robo es más fácil. Un ladrón no tiene que preocuparse en esconder un manuscrito o libro. Se limita a saber ocultar y manejar con discreción una cuchilla y los mapas o grabados robados se esconden fácilmente entre folios o entre la ropa. Miles Harvey, en su libro "La Isla de los mapas perdidos" (obra entretenida si uno tiene el sentido común de irse a tomar una copa cuando el autor hace conatos de estilo), describe a Graham Arader con la fascinación plebeya de un típico papanatas, encandilado por el prepotencia del dinero. Precisamente hay un capítulo en que cuenta cómo se subasta en Sotheby`s una Cosmographia de Ptolomeo, de 1482, que Arader adquiere por 1.150.000 $. El último dueño de la Cosmographia que Sotheby`s hace público se remonta al siglo XVIII. A partir de aquí se acoge al derecho de confidencialidad. Un mes antes, la casa de subastas Christie´s fue pillada en renuncio intentando vender otra Cosmographia de Ptolomeo (la edición de 1477), que había sido robada a la Biblioteca Nacional de Francia... Si uno piensa que sólo el mapamundi de la obra vale hoy dos millones de euros, y que la obra tiene de 27 a 38 mapas, el precio pagado era una buena inversión.

Todo esto es posible por la coexistencia de distintos tipos de corrupción y negligencia criminal. Los mapas se roban y las instituciones no denuncian los robos para ocultar el escándalo. En treinta años, se han robado miles de mapas y, por tanto, se han mutilado miles de libros valiosísimos, en las bibliotecas de Estados Unidos, Francia, Reino Unido, Finlandia, Países Bajos. En la mayoría de los casos, ha sido la policía la que ha tenido que ir preguntando a las bibliotecas si los mapas encontrados entre el botín de algún ladron, les pertenecían. Arader decía que los bibliotecarios eran una partida de gandules e incompetentes y tenía razón. En Madrid, el 30 de junio de 2001 se celebró un congreso de la International Society of the Curators of Early Maps (ISCEM), donde se habló por extenso de la plaga de robos de mapas que habían ocurrido en los últimos diez años en las mejores bibliotecas del mundo. Supongo que las autoridades de nuestra Biblioteca Nacional estaban ocupadas eligiendo el color de la formica de la espectacular remodelación actual. La Interpol y el FBI han colapsado los correos electrónicos advirtiendo de los delitos a todas las Bibliotecas del mundo que custodiaban mapas antiguos. Cientos de páginas web de bibliotecarios con algo de ética y vergüenza han estado enviando descripciones de ladrones, transmitiendo información sobre los últimos dos apresados: Gilbert Bland y Forbes Smiley, los seudónimos utilizados, las bibliotecas visitadas por ellos, etc, etc. La Biblioteca Nacional de España no se ha dado por enterada de que, desde hace más de veinte años, los mapas antiguos son uno de los objetos más valorados en el mercado de arte mundial. No se ha molestado en describir con un mínimo de profesionalidad su fondo cartográfico, no ha comprobado si hay mutilaciones, ni ha hecho una sola consulta ni un solo estudio de normas de seguridad a expertos.

A fecha de hoy no sabemos (y estoy seguro que Regàs se ha ido sin saberlo, ni falta que le ha hecho) que édiciones y obras han destruido en la Nacional. Tampoco han explicado por qué y cómo han permitido el acceso al incunable Res/255, cuando existía de éste copia digital. Y, con el número tan ridículo de fondo antiguo digitalizado, no creo que se les olvidara su existencia.

Más información:

- La cara del ladrón de la Biblioteca Nacional
- Identificado el autor del robo de dos mapamundis en la Biblioteca Nacional. Es César Gómez Rivero, de 60 años, español de origen uruguayo y residente en Argentina
- Procesado en Argentina el supuesto ladrón de los mapamundis de la B.N.

El País, Uruguay:

Organización robaba identidad de uruguayos para poder delinquir

Cecilia S. nunca perdió la cédula pero sus datos coinciden con los del documento que usa una mujer vinculada al "ladrón de mapas" procesado en Argentina. Identidades fraguadas por la organización que robaba documentos históricos.

Luego de hacerse pasar por investigador para extirpar grabados de libros incunables del siglo XV de la Biblioteca Nacional de España, confesar el robo y devolverlos, el uruguayo Carlos Gómez Rivero (61) fue procesado sin prisión en Argentina por fraude en grado de tentativa, por intentar vender documentos robados. Con él, cayeron Daniel Guido Pastore, uno de los libreros anticuarios más reconocidos del vecino país, dueño de la librería "Imago Mundi" y Washington Luis Pereira, también uruguayo.

Sin embargo, el affaire de los mapamundis robados en España fue sólo el detonante de una denuncia que no culminó con los procesamientos. También quedaron en evidencia una serie de robos similares ocurridos en las bibliotecas públicas y nacionales de Montevideo, Colonia, Salto, Buenos Aires y Mendoza, así como en algunos de los más importantes museos de Uruguay. En el Archivo Nacional de Asunción, el uruguayo fue investigado por la mutilación de los libros de actas del Cabildo de 1595.

En una de las acreditaciones utilizadas por Gómez Rivero figuraba una cédula de identidad paraguaya, cuya numeración no correspondía con los documentos de ese país, según confirmó la agregada cultural de esa embajada en Montevideo.

César Ovilio Gómez Rivero nació el 22 de mayo de 1947 en Canelones. Su Cédula de Identidad es la 1.119.436-1 y su domicilio, según acreditó en algunos registros, San José 1044. Sin embargo, esa dirección no existe.

En una denuncia policial de diciembre de 2003 a la que tuvo acceso El País, también figura una dirección en Avenida de los Molinos N° 6 esquina Concepción del Uruguay, también inexistente. Además, declaró un domicilio en Punta del Este: Gorlero 429 apartamento 002, el cual tampoco es real.

Pero la dirección más insólita que aportó como "investigador" para llevarse los incunables de la biblioteca española fue Serrano 52, Madrid, donde se encuentra "El Corte Inglés". Algo así como declarar que vive en el Shopping de Punta Carretas.

También utilizó esta habilidad para falsear su propia identidad, utilizando en algunas ocasiones el apellido Bullrich. E incluso para cambiar su imagen: siendo totalmente calvo en las últimas fotografías que se le conocen, algunos testigos dicen haberlo visto con un pelo negro enrulado, tipo África look.

Gómez Rivero no dudó tampoco en utilizar su DNI 92.147.663 para ingresar al país procedente de Buenos Aires en compañía de una mujer boliviana. Según el oficio N° 3890 de la Dirección de Investigaciones de Montevideo, el uruguayo tenía antecedentes por hurto, apropiación indebida, estafa y rapiña.

CÉDULAS. Una de las cédulas de identidad presentada en Uruguay por una mujer que acompañaba a Gómez Rivero pertenece a Cecilia S.. de 34 años, de nacionalidad uruguaya y nacida en Montevideo.

El País ubicó a la verdadera propietaria de esa cédula de identidad, quien dijo que en los últimos 20 años, "jamás perdió su documento". Lo más sorprendente, es que la acompañante de Gómez Rivero también aportó los nombres de sus padres, los cuales coinciden con los de la damnificada.

El hecho de que la verdadera propietaria jamás haya perdido el documento, deja en evidencia que existe una cédula idéntica que estaba siendo utilizada por esta organización.

"Me sorprende que figure el nombre de mi padre, quien falleció hace 14 años. Esos datos tienen que haber salido de una partida de nacimiento", manifestó Cecilia S.

El director Nacional de Identificación Civil, Rubén Amato, dijo a El País que la partida de nacimiento "es un documento público muy fácil de obtener", aunque no descartó que la información pueda haber sido tomada de otro banco de datos.

Amato indicó, sin embargo, que "es muy difícil falsificar una cédula", puesto que los documentos uruguayos tienen un sistema de seguridad para la fotografía, el plastificado y el papel, que en caso de ser fotocopiado, "sale de otro color". Como ejemplo, dijo que la plancha de prueba para falsificar cédulas que fue hallada recientemente en una imprenta era "muy burda" y estaba "muy lejos del color que debe tener".

CONEXIÓN EUROPEA.

En un informe publicado por El País el 19 de diciembre de 2007 se señalaba que hace algunos años, coincidiendo con los robos a los que se lo vincula a Gómez Rivero, un grupo de personas se presentó en la Biblioteca Nacional de Montevideo como "enviados de la Biblioteca del Vaticano". Al parecer, esas personas integrarían una organización internacional dedicada al robo de documentos históricos, a la cual se vincularía también una conocida librería ubicada en Verona, Italia.

A Gómez Rivero se lo señala como el "brazo ejecutor", o el "chasque", en algunos casos. De hecho, sus otros dos apodos, "La Mula" y "El Maletero", parecerían confirmarlo.

Fuentes de Interpol Uruguay informaron a El País que luego de su procesamiento en Argentina, se "dio de baja" al pedido de captura internacional.

Cuando César Gómez Rivero comenzó a dejar sus huellas en los archivos históricos más importantes del país se elaboró un Photokit con su rostro que fue rápidamente difundido y reconocido por muchos funcionarios y guardias de seguridad de los distintos acervos.

En el Museo Giró, de Cerrito 586, la funcionaria Beatriz Pórfido vio como un día el hombre se colocó en un extremo de la sala de consulta, como buscando un lugar para no ser visto. El "investigador" sacó algunos planos antiguos de Montevideo que ocultó del lado izquierdo de su campera de cuero color marrón. Cuando la mujer notó el hecho, le dijo "¿Qué está haciendo?". Entonces, el hombre golpeó sus manos sobre la mesa y le dijo "¿Sos hincha de Peñarol?". Y la amenazó diciéndole que no dijera nada de lo que había visto. Como dejó los materiales, no fue detenido.

De su paso por el Museo Giró y la Casa de Lavalleja, Gómez Rivero habría recogido varios frutos.

Faltaban, entre otros materiales, una carta de José Fructuoso Rivera (líder del Partido Colorado y primer presidente constitucional) a José Rondeau (militar y político argentino) fechada en 1835 y dos cartas del pintor uruguayo Juan Manuel Blanes al doctor Ángel Carranza de Buenos Aires, en 1872.

PROCESADOS EN ARGENTINA

Daniel Guido Pastorem Librero argentino, titular de la librería "Imago Mundi", ubicada en el exclusivo barrio porteño de Recoleta, que en su página de Internet se promociona como una casa vendedora de "libros del siglo XVI al XIX" e "incunables".

El juez federal Ariel Lijo lo procesó como presunto coautor del delito de defraudación en grado de tentativa, por haber querido vender varias piezas robadas en España.

César Gómez Rivero, uruguayo, "El Negro", ya tenía antecedentes por hurto, apropiación indebida, estafa y rapiña. Se lo vincula a robos de documentos históricos en España, Uruguay, Paraguay y Argentina. Para ello, utilizó varias acreditaciones falsas de "investigador" y dejó direcciones personales que no existen. Fue procesado el mes pasado en Argentina, donde reside.

Peligroso con navaja en mano

El escándalo desatado en Madrid por el robo de los mapas le costó el cargo a la ex directora de la Biblioteca Nacional de Madrid, la escritora Rosa Regás, quien renunció tras enfrentarse con el ministro de Cultura, César Antonio Molina. En definitiva, se cortó por el lado más fino. Quién sí sabía dónde cortar era Gómez Rivero, quien utilizaba navajas para apoderarse de los documentos.

El 13 de octubre de 2001, un funcionario de la Sala de Materiales Especiales de la Biblioteca Nacional encontró que un "investigador" había dejado allí un estuche de lentes. Adentro no había gafas sino navajas de afeitar. Dos años después, el 7 de noviembre de 2003, el director de la biblioteca, Raúl Vallarino, presentó una denuncia ante la Policía por haber constatado la desaparición de libros y álbumes de fotos antiguas. Se presume que esas navajas podrían pertenecer a Gómez Rivero, quien cortó con un elemento similar los mapamundis incunables en España.

ROMANCE DE GERINELDO

25 GERINELDO

—Gerineldo, Gerineldo,
    Gerineldito pulido,
¡quién te tuviera esta noche tres horas a mi albedrío,
y después de las tres horas hasta ver amanecido!
—Como soy vuestro criado,
    señora, burláis conmigo.
—No me burlo, Gerineldo,
    que de veras te lo digo.
—¿A qué hora, mi señora,
    cumpliréis lo prometido?
—A eso de la media noche,
    cuando el rey esté dormido,
ven con zapatos de seda,
    porque no seas sentido.—
—¡Oh malhaya, Gerineldo, quien amor puso contigo,
la media noche es pasada
    y tú no habías venido!—
Tres vueltas le dio al palacio
    y otras tantas al castillo;
a la puerta de la infanta Gerineldo dio un suspiro.

—¿Quién habrá sido el osado, quién será el atrevido
que, a deshoras de la noche,
    a mi puerta da un suspiro?
—Soy Gerineldo, señora, que vengo a lo prometido.—
Salto diera de la cama,
    le abrió puertas y postigos.
—Con un postigo que abras
    cabe mi cuerpo pulido.
—¿Quieres comer o beber
    o descansar, dueño mío?
—Quiero acostarme en la cama, que vengo de amor rendido.—
Se pusieron a luchar
    como mujer y marido;
en el medio de la lucha
    los dos se quedan dormidos.
Después del amanecer,
    tres horas el sol salido,
el rey se quiere vestir,
    no hay quien le alcance el vestido;
ha llamado a Gerineldo
    y nadie le ha respondido.
El rey se viste y se calza
    y al cuarto la infanta ha ido.
Los ha encontrado durmiendo,
    como mujer y marido.
—Yo, si mato a la infantita,
    queda mi reino perdido;
y si mato a Gerineldo,
    ¡le crié tan de chiquito!—
Les puso la espada en medio, por que sirva de testigo.
Con el frío de la espada,
    la infanta se ha resentido:
—¿Oh, qué es esto, Gerineldo, traes armas para conmigo?
—Yo no traigo ningún arma,
    sino con las que he nacido.
—¿A dónde me iré, señora?, ¿a dónde me iré, Dios mío?
—Vete por esos jardines, cogiendo rosas y lirios. —
El rey, que estaba en acecho,
    al encuentro le ha salido:
—¿Dónde vienes, Gerineldo,
    pálido y descolorido?
—Vengo del jardín, señor,
    que está muy florido y lindo, la fragancia de una rosa
    todo el color me ha comido.
—¡Mientes, mientes, Gerineldo,

tú con la infanta has dormido!
—Mateisme, señor, mateisme, que lo tengo merecido.
—El castigo que mereces
ya lo tengo prometido:
antes que llegue la noche,
seréis mujer y marido.

Así, con espléndida desnudez narrativa, esta historia del triunfo de la pasión sobre las barreras sociales ha vivido en la tradición desde los orígenes del Romancero hasta el siglo XX, cantada por todas partes, y aún bailada en el famoso "baile de tres" (de un hombre con dos mujeres), baile de viejísimo abolengo, conservado en Las Navas del Marqués (un pueblo serrano de la Transierra de Ávila, hoy en peligro de explotación urbanística desaforada), a donde acudieron, en 1905, Ramón Menéndez Pidal y Manuel Manrique de Lara a oirlo, verlo y documentarlo (en su texto, música y coreografía), invitados por el Conde de las Navas.

El gentil cuerpo de Gerineldo (o Reginaldo, en versiones portuguesas; quizá Eghinardo) alcanzó tal fama que vino a ser recordado proverbialmente entre nuestros clásicos en la comparación "más gentil que Gerineldos...". Sin embargo, el romancero impreso de los siglos XVI y siguientes sólo lo recogió en dos versiones muy poco representativas: una, procedente de un pliego suelto, que conocemos en impresión de 1537, deja truncada la historia en el momento en que la infanta descubre que su padre ha puesto la espada entre ambos amantes; la otra, divulgada en un pliego suelto más tardío, traslada la acción a Turquía y hasta inventa una huida de los amantes a Tartaria.

Entre el millar de versiones de la tradición oral de los siglos XIX y XX (todas distintas, aunque similares), que del romance se hallan atesoradas en el "Archivo del Romancero", son minoritarias las que, en el Norte de España y en Portugal y entre los judíos sefardíes de Marruecos y de Oriente y en Nuevo México, visten esa desnudez narrativa con motivos o fórmulas ornamentales (la mayor parte de procedencia muy antigua, otras de creación moderna), como en el siguiente ejemplo:

¡Quién tuviera la fortuna para ganar lo perdido, como tuvo Gerineldo
la mañana de un domingo, estando limpiando sedas
para al buen rey dar vestido!
—Gerineldo, Gerineldo,
paje del rey más querido, ¡cuántas damas y doncellas
desean dormir contigo!
Bien pudieras, Gerineldo
tratar de amores conmigo.
—Como soy criado vuestro,
os queréis burlar conmigo.
—No te lo digo de burlas,
yo de verdad te lo digo.
—¿A qué horas vendré, señora,
a qué horas vendré al castillo?

—A horas de la media noche, cuando cante el gallo primo,
a esas horas de la noche
el rey estará dormido.
Ven a sombra de tejados,
para no ser conocido.
Aún no eran las doce dadas, Gerineldo en el camino,
los zapatos en la mano,
a fin de no ser sentido.
Halló una escala al balcón,
por ella subió al castillo.
Cada escalón que subía
le costaba un suspirillo,
y en el último escalón
la infanta le había sentido.
—¡Oh, quién ronda mi palacio, quién es ese atrevido?
—Gerineldo soy, señora,
que vengo a lo prometido.
—Si tú fueras Gerineldo
dieras señas del castillo.
—A los pies de vuestra cama
hay un limón muy florido.
Ya lo agarra de la mano
para dentro lo ha metido, lo lavó en agua de rosas
para acostarlo consigo;
tantos son besos y abrazos
el sueño los ha vencido Despertara el rey gritando
de un sueño despavorido:
“ O me duermen con la infanta
o me roban el castillo” Llamó el rey a Gerineldo,
su pajecillo querido,
que le trajese las armas,
que le trajese el vestido.
Y le contesta otro paje,
de Gerineldo enemigo:
—Se ha ido a jugar a los dados con las damas al castillo. — Pronto se pone de pie,
más pronto coge el vestido,
puso la espada en el cinto
y se fue para el castillo.
Topólos boca con boca,
como mujer con marido:
—Si mato a mi hija, la infanta, ¿quién ha de heredar lo mío?
y, si mato a Gerineldo,
lo he criado desde niño;
pondré mi espada entre medias que me sirva de testigo. —

—¡Válgame Dios, Gerineldo, qué buen sueño hemos tenido!, la espada del rey mi padre
entre los dos ha dormido.
—No se asuste, la infantita,
que yo la traje conmigo.
—Mientes, mientes, Gerineldo,
que yo bien la he conocido,
que la de mi padre es de oro,
la tuya de acero fino. —
Se levanta Gerineldo
y hacia palacio se ha ido.
—¿Dónde vienes, Gerineldo,
que vienes descolorido?
—Vengo de cazar la garza,
de las orillas del río.
—Esa garza, Gerineldo,
la crié yo con mi trigo.
Tómala tú por mujer
y ella a ti por marido.

Es de notar, que ciertos transmisores del romance (tanto mujeres como hombres) han reaccionado contra este triunfo de la pasión y ven con malos ojos a la “caprichosa” doncella de estatus superior: en un grupo de versiones asturianas y de la montaña de León, se concibe el casamiento como un castigo para la infanta:

—Con todo lo que yo tengo, no hay para ella un vestido.
—Cómpraselo de sayal,
que ella así lo ha merecido.;

y, desde Andalucía, se ha propagado a múltiples versiones la respuesta machista del criado:

—Tengo juramento hecho
a la Virgen de la Estrella, mujer que ha sido mi dama
de no casarme con ella,
que, como se entregó a mí,
se entregará a otro cualquiera.

Este desplante ha traído consigo el que, en la tradición andaluza, se haya adosado al romance de “Gerineldo” una segunda parte, constituida por el romance de “La Condesita”, para que la infanta pecadora muestre su fidelidad, cuestionada por el reticente criado. Este contubernio temático ha gozado de enorme éxito, propagándose, vía Aragón, hasta el Pirineo y, por Occidente hasta la montaña astur-leonesa.

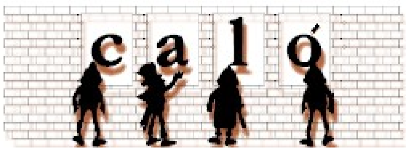
DE LA FORMACIÓN DE LAS PALABRAS EN CALÓ



DE LA FORMACIÓN DE LAS PALABRAS

71. En todos los idiomas hay un cierto número de partículas que, antepuestas o pospuestas a las palabras primitivas o raices, constituyen otras palabras de significación modificada o diferente. Cada una de esas partículas expresa una idea accesoria, y conocida esta idea, es fácil descubrir la nueva forma que adquiere la raíz original.

72. Las partículas prefijas o iniciales del caló pueden reducirse a tres principales, bien caracterizadas: es, ne, pas.

73. Es, des o de, expresa privación, separación, dispersion; corresponde en un todo a su análoga en castellano:

Pandar, atar; espandar, desatar.
Terelar, tener; deterelar, detener.

74. Ne indica oposición, negación:

Abelar, poseer; nabelar, carecer.
Baró, grande; nebaró, reducido, pequeño.

75. Pas significa reducción, inferioridad en la cualidad ó manera de ser; es la contracción de la palabra paque, que quiere decir medio, mitad:

Batú, padre; pasbatú, padrastro.
Beschí, isla; pasbeschí, península.
Chibé, día; paschibé, mediodía.
Pilé, borracho; paspilé, achispado.

76. Las partículas finales o terminaciones son aún más definidas y generales que las prefijas, y ellas constituyen, por decirlo así, la clave del lenguaje, puesto que sirven para formar todas las palabras derivadas de cada raíz primera. Sin las modificaciones de pronunciación se reducen propiamente á cinco: ró, arí, oy, ipen, clar.

77. Ró expresa el agente, la persona que ejecuta una acción; así sirve para convertir en sustantivos, no sólo los verbos, sino los nombres de cosas inanimadas o abstractas, y corresponde alas terminaciones castellanas or, ero, ante:

VERBOS HECHOS SUSTANTIVOS.

Chanar, saber; chanaró, sabedor.
Chingarar, guerrear; chingararó, guerrero.
Guiyabar, cantar; guiyabaró, cantor.
Libanar, escribir; libanaró, escritor.
Piyar, beber; piyaró, bebedor.
Randiñar, trabajar; randiñaró, trabajador.

SUSTANTIVOS DE OTROS SUSTANTIVOS.

Berdó, barco; berdoró, barquero.
Cascarobó, caldero; cascaroberó, calderero.
Cibo, milagro; ciboró, milagrero.

78. Nó es la misma partícula que ró modificada por la pronunciación, y corresponde las más veces á la terminación ante castellana:

VERBOS HECHOS SUSTANTIVOS.

Araquerar, parlar; araqueranó, parlante.
Cholarar, cazar; cholaranó, cazador.
Dicabelar, vigilar; dicabelanó, vigilante.

SUSTANTIVOS DE OTROS SUSTANTIVOS.

Bajirina, canasta; bajirinanó, canastero.
Boquí, hambre; boquinó, hambriento.

79. Or, ero, son las mismas terminaciones castellanas de las palabras derivadas o formadas a imitación del castellano, equivalentes a las del caló ró, nó:

Parbarar, criar; parbaraor, criador.
Chon, barba; choncro, barbero.

Deben preferirse las terminaciones genuinas en ró o en nó.

80. Arí denota acción, movimiento o manera de obrar; convierte al verbo en sustantivo, y equivale principalmente á las terminaciones castellanas cion, miento.

VERBOS HECHOS SUSTANTIVOS.

Aspasar, saludar; aspasarí, salutación.
Caquerar, escarnecer; *caquerarí,*escarnecimiento.
Mangar, pedir; mangarí, petición.

Najabar, perder; najabarí, perdición.
Parabelar, romper; parabelarí, rompimiento.
Plastañar, seguir; plastañarí, seguimiento.

81. Añí es la misma partícula que arí modificada por la pronunciación, y preferible por lo general:

Asparabar, partir; asparabañi, partición.
Pajabar, tocar; pajabañí, tocamiento.
Quirindar, propender; quirindañi, propensión.

82. Oy indica aptitud, tendencia, similitud respecto a la cualidad ó manera de ser; asi, no sólo sirve para convertir en adjetivos muchos sustantivos, sino otros adjetivos también y los verbos en general; equivale a las terminaciones en oso, ivo, ble, rio del castellano:

SUSTANTIVOS HECHOS ADJETIVOS

Discandí, vista; discandoy, vistoso.
Dut, luz; dutoy, luminoso.
Flacha, ceniza; flachoy, cenizoso.

ADJETIVOS DE OTROS ADJETIVOS

Bardry, verde; bardroy, verdoso.
Nasaló, enfermo; nasaloy, enfermizo.

VERBOS HECHOS ADJETIVOS

Darañar, temer; darañoy, temeroso.
Jabillar, comprender; jabilloy, comprensible.
Penchabar, pensar; penchaboy, pensativo.
Saplelar, condenar; sapleloy, condenatorio.

83. Hay muchos sustantivos acabados en oy, cuya terminación indica ya que por lo general significan similitud o tendencia al objeto de un verbo:

Chindar, parir; chindoy, parto.
Jinglar, oler; jingloy, olfato.
Pajabar, tocar; pajaboy, tacto.

84. Ipen significa carácter, cualidad o manera de ser; es terminación propia de muchos sustantivos primitivos, y convierte también los adjetivos en sustantivos; equivale generalmente á las terminaciones castellanas dad, tad, anza, encia, eza:

ADJETIVOS HECHOS SUSTANTIVOS

Balbaló, rico; balbalipen, riqueza.
Chorré, perverso; chorripen, perversidad.
Jindó, inmundo; jindipen, inmundicia.
Lachó, bueno; lachipen, bondad.
Majaró, bienaventurado; majaripen, bienaventuranza.

85. Iben es la misma partícula que ipen modificada por la pronunciación:

Fronsaperar, esperar; fronsaperiben, esperanza.

86. Elar es terminación propia de los verbos, y sirve para corroborar, para dar energía especial a la acción que expresan. Ya hemos hecho mencion de esta partícula al hablar del verbo (36).

87. Los verbos formados del castellano se distinguen generalmente por la terminación isarar o isarelar:

Ayunisarar, ayunar.
Sirvisarelar, servir.

88. Además de las partículas con que se forman las voces derivadas, hay varias palabras que en composición cambian la acepción primitiva, como baro, querar, ficar, jañar.

89. Baró, grande, es de un uso muy general, creando palabras enteramente diferentes:

Barolacró, grande siervo; mayordomo.
Barojil, grande fresco; frio.
Chinobaró, corte grande, gran cortador; barrachel.
Eraipebaró, clérigo grande; canónigo.
Pañibaró, agua grande; océano.

90. Querar significa hacer, y añadido a los nombres forma verbos activos:

Chimoquerar, chico hacer; achicar.
Planoquerar, hermano hacer; hermanar.

91. Ficar, tomado del castellano, es lo mismo que querar:
Chimuclanificar, glorificar.

92. Jañar significa originar, producir: Orsojañar, fuerza originar, forzar; acometer.

93. Igualmente se forman muchas palabras compuestas, combinando juntas dos radicales, de las cuales una califica a la otra, precediendo aquella a ésta, la palabra calificadora a la calificada:

Eraipe-julañí, cura-ama; ama de cura.
Jorpoi-chuquel, lana-perro; perro de lanas.
Jaquestaró-siscundé, cenicero-miércoles; miércoles de ceniza.
Molchibé, vino dia, dia de beber; fiesta de Navidad.

94. Para complemento demostrativo de la manera como se derivan las palabras de su raíz respectiva, terminamos este Epítome gramatical con la siguiente

CLAVE PARA LA FORMACIÓN DE LAS VOCES DERIVADAS

	RAIZ	jin	cifra, número
A	COSA	jina	cuenta
O		jino	cuento
AR	VERBO	jinar	contar, numerar
ARÓ	AGENTE	jinaró	contador, numerador
AÑÍ	ACCIÓN	jinañí	numeración
OY	APTITUD	jinoy	contable, numeroso
IPEN	CARÁCTER	jinipen	cantidad
		jinoyipen	contabilidad
ELAR	ENERGÍA	jinelar	recontar

95. Si se agregan a las reglas anteriores las que hemos dado respecto al género y número de los nombres (5 a 20), conjugación del verbo (35 a 44), y construcción del adverbio (49 y 50), se tendrá el cuadro completo de la formación de las palabras derivadas en caló.

MILENIO: LOS ÚLTIMOS DÍAS DEL REINO DE MARCIAL MACIEL (VIDEO)

Les recomiendo ver el video realizado por Milenio sobre el final de Marcial Maciel, fundador de la secta destructiva "Legionarios de Cristo", que obtuvo la complicidad e impunidad para su impostura, sus negocios sucios con el narcotráfico y las redes de pederastia, a lo largo de sesenta años, de los sucesivos papas —incluyendo a Juan Pablo II—, piezas claves en la red mafiosa que lo aupó y protegió, y, cómo no, de la beatífica imbecilidad de sus seguidores, gente desprovista de cerebro, discernimiento y juicio; capaces de las mayores bajezas por pertenecer a un grupo "selecto", y de las mayores vilezas contra quienes estamos fuera, y no creemos en sus patrañas.

A los fieles de la legión de Cristo y adyacentes, los conoceréis por esa mirada esquinada, por su espiritualísimo digno de un Cotolengo, y su gélida amabilidad. Sus manos, que suelen tener cruzadas sobre sus partes pudendas cuando no aletean en un intento de elocuencia gestual, tienen la consistencia vizcosa de un rescatado por ahogamiento en fase de saponificación, a juego con la sonrisa perenne del rigor ridens cadavérico.

Y esas mujeres... He visto hienas más sensibles y deseables como compañía.

Los Legionarios de Cristo pueden enorgullecerse, sin embargo, de haber emulado con rara perfección al Opus Dei, y a las demas sectas católico-apostólico-romanas en una cosa: son tan repulsivos sus fundadores como sus seguidores.

DE LA PREPOSICIÓN, LA CONJUNCIÓN Y LA INTERJECCIÓN EN CALÓ

DE LA PREPOSICIÓN

60. La preposición se rige lo mismo que en castellano; las preposiciones en caló son las siguientes:

a, a andiar, según anglal, ante
bi, sin disde, hasta
e, de, desde enré, entre mamuí, contra on, andré, en opré, sobre
palal, hacia, tras
pre, por sat, sar, con
somia, para

61. En buen caló, cuando la preposición e marca el ablativo, se reemplaza siempre con otra que indique el mismo sentido: Perelaló sat mol, harto (con) de vino.

DE LA CONJUNCIÓN

62. Las conjunciones copulativas son:

y, o ta, y
na, o ne, ni
sos, que

63. Las disyuntivas son:

o, o acana, ya, ora.

64. Las adversativas son:

tami, pero, mas
pur, cuando
ansos, aunque.

65. Son las condicionales:

unga, si
unga na, si no
sata, como

66. Son las causales:

presas, porque
sosque, puesto que

67. Las continuativas son:

mirinda, mientras
andiar sos, así que

68. Las comparativas son:

andiar, así
andiar sata, así como sata, como

69. Las finales o motívales son:

somia sos, para que
presas, porque

DE LA INTERJECCIÓN

70. Las interjecciones principales son:

isna, ay, guay [1]
orí, hola
meclí, vaya
bullati, cáspita

Hay otras muchas interjecciones o frases exclamatorias que no pueden encontrar cabida en este Epítome.

"Epítome de Gramática gitana", de don Francisco Quindalé, sección del libro "El gitanismo. Historia, costumbres y dialecto de los gitanos", escrito por Don Francisco de Sales Mayo, año 1870. Recopilado por Gabriel Veraldi-Pasquale.

Nota del editor:

1 según el DRAE 1869, y posteriores, hasta que los doctos académicos actuales decidieron mutilar y desvirtuar los significados, y añadir el idiotismo "guay" con significado de estupendo, su significado era y es

GUAY: interj. ant. Ay ‖TENER MUCHOS GUAYES. fr. con que se expresa que uno padece grandes achaques o muchos contratiempos de fortuna.

GUAYA. f. El lloro y lamento por alguna desgracia o contratiempo. ‖HACER LA GUAYA. fr. Ponderar los trabajos y miserias que se padecen, o fingirlas para mover a compasión.

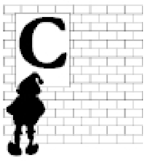
DEL VERBO EN CALÓ



DEL VERBO

34. El verbo ha sufrido en el caló de España una modificación notable. Se ha asimilado por completo á la forma castellana en todos sus modos, tiempos, voces, números y personas.

35. Pero sólo ha adoptado la conjugación en ar, y esto de una manera absolutamente regular, salvo en el habla vulgar, en que por causa de pronunciacion o rudeza los verbos han llegado a ser defectivos en modos y tiempos.

36. Sin embargo, de su origen oriental ha preservado un accidente que constituye una de las bellezas del dialecto. Todos los verbos admiten la derivación elar por ar para expresar con mayor energía la acción que comprenden.

Así, chinar es cortar, y chinelar es segar; querar es simplemente hacer, y querelar es ejercer, obrar; chibar es poner, posar, echar, y chibelar es aposar, meter, incluir.

37. En el lenguaje espurio de los seudo-eruditos no gitanos se hace uso de diferentes formas de verbos auxiliares que no deben ocupar lugar en una gramática seria. Los auxiliares propiamente genuinos son:

sinar o sinelar, ser, estar;
terelar o aisnar, haber.

38. En caló, como en muchos idiomas europeos, no hay diferencia entre ser y estar. Cuando estar significa acción por si, se traduce por socabar o socabelar, permanecer, existir.

39. Terelar es también verbo activo, en cuyo caso significa tener, poseer.

40. Aisnar se usa poco, y regularmente en la forma interrogativa, pues indica mas bien que la acción a que alude no está todavía ejecutada: ¿Presás ne aisnas chalao? ¿Por qué no has ido?

41. Aunque en rigor no es necesario dar al lector que sabe castellano el modelo de conjugación, le daremos sin embargo por ser único en caló, y perfectamente regular, tanto en los verbos auxiliares, como en los activos, neutros y recíprocos (35). -

MODELO DE CONJUGACIÓN.

42. En el anterior modelo el participio tiene la terminación en ao en vez de ado, que es la propia del castellano. En efecto, algunos pocos gitanos pronuncian la d en el participio; pero esto, que debería constituir la regla, es hoy día una mera excepción.

43. De tal suerte la manera de pronunciar tía ido alterando el carácter del verbo (35), que se hace á veces muy difícil comprender el habla familiar; por lo que damos el siguiente modelo de la conjugación vulgar, que recuerda por su sencillez el verbo regular trilítero de la lengua vulgar arábiga.

CONJUGACIÓN VULGAR

INFINITIVO

Presente: pen-ar, hablar

Pen-ao, hablaban, hablaron, hablasen.

IMPERATIVO.

Pen, habla, hablad.

41. En el verbo auxiliar sinar el presente de indicativo vulgar es como sigue:

Sis, soy,
Sisle eres.
Sin, es.
Simo, somos.
Sai, sois
Sen, son.

45. Hay tres modismos o palabras verbales que vienen a ser una especie de verbos impersonales:

jomte, es menester;
astis, se puede;
nastis, es imposible.

46. El impersonal hay, había, no existe en caló. Se traduce según la forma regular: Unga terela buchí, Si hay algo; sata terelaban butrés, Como había muchos.

47. Los verbos más usuales, todos perfectamente regulares (41), son los siguientes:

abillar, venir

alachar, hallar

anacar, acontecer

ardiñar, subir

asaselar, alegrar

asparabar, romper

aspasar saludar

DEL PRONOMBRE EN CALÓ

DEL PRONOMBRE.

24. El pronombre en caló ha conservado una forma muy irregular. Los personales en el caso directo son como sigue:

SINGULAR:

menda, man, yo*;*
tucue, tute, tue, tú*;*
ó (con acento), él;
siró, ella.

PLURAL.

amangue, mu, nosotros, nosotras;
sangue, vosotros, vosotras;
junós, ellos;
sirás, ellas.

a. Ademas de amangue y de mu, hay jaberés, nosotros, jaberías, nosotras, que expresan más particularmente la primera persona del plural.

b. En el lenguaje espurio hay bros, vos.

25. Los pronombres personales en el caso oblicuo son:

SINGULAR.

mangue, nu, me; a mangue, me, a mí;
tucue, tute, tue; a tucue, te, a ti;
o, a ó, le; a él;
a, a siró, la, a ella.

PLURAL.

amangue, mu; a amangue, nos, a nosotros-tras, sangue, a sangue, os, a vosotros-tras.

as, a junós, les, los, a ellos.

as, a sirás, las, a ellas.

La forma primitiva, esto es, el pronombre con preposición, es la que debe usarse de preferencia después del participio: terelo dicao a ó; le he visto.

26. El pronombre recíproco sólo existe en caló bajo la forma castellana. Fuera del uso familiar, es preferible la forma primitiva. He aquí ambas:

se, a ó matejo, se, a sí (mismo);
se, a siró mateja, se, a sí (misma);
se, a junós matejos, se, a sí (mismos);
se, a sirás matejas, se, a sí (mismas).

27. Los posesivos permanecen inalterables antes como después del nombre, y en ambas circunstancias concuerdan con él en número y género:

minrió, minrí, mi, mio, mia;
minrés, minrías, mis, mios, mias;
tiró, tirí, tu, tuyo, tuya;
tirés, tirías, tus, tuyos, tuyas;
desqueró, desquerí, su, suyo, suya;
desquerés, desquerías, sus, suyos, suyas;
amaró, amarí, nuestro, nuestra;
amarés, amarías, nuestros, nuestras;
jiré, jiri, vuestro vuestra;
jirés, jirías o jiresías, vuestros, vuestras.

Ejemplo: Desquerés jayeres, on buter e sinar desquerés, sinelan jirés y minrés: sus bienes, a más de ser suyos, son vuestros y míos.

En el lenguaje espurio hay también:

nonrio, nonria, nuestro, nuestra;
nonrios, nonrias, nuestros, nuestras;
bos, vuestro, vuestros;
bruas, vuestra, vuestras.

28. El uso ha introducido, derivándolos del castellano, los posesivos siguientes:

Men, mi;
tun, tu;
sun, su.

Lo mismo que en castellano, sólo preceden al nombre: men dadá, mi padre; tun chindai, tu madre; sun chaboró, su hijo.

29. Los demostrativos son los siguientes:

ocona, este, esta;
oconas, estos, estas;
ocono, esto;
ocola, aquel, aquella;
ocolas, aquellos, aquellas;
ocolo, aquello.

a. Según el sentido se emplea indistintamente ocona u ocola para el pronombre intermedio castellano, ese, esa.

b. El pronombre neutro lo castellano se expresa frecuentemente en caló con el demostrativo ocono: ¿Sáta pincharé ocono? ¿Cómo lo conoceré?

30. Son también pronombres demostrativos :

caba, andoba, tal, aqueste, aquesta;
andobas, andobales, tales, aquestos, aquestas*;*
asirió, asirí, aquel, aquella*;*
asiriós, asirías, aquellos, aquellas.

31. En algunas composiciones espurias se encuentran los demostrativos que siguen, con formas silábicas más ó menos variadas:

ondolé, él, esotro*;*
ondoleya, andoya, ella, esotra*;*
ondoleyes, andayos, ellos, esotros*;*
ondoleyas, andoyas, ellas, esotras*;*
andalló, ello, eso.

32. Los relativos son:

coin, coines, quien, quienes;
sos, que, cual, cuales;
ma, lo que, lo cual.

El relativo coin se aplica con más especialidad a las personas, raramente a las cosas.

35. Los nombres que tienen carácter de pronombres indefinidos son:

yeque,	uno, alguno
ondola,	una, alguna
necauté, necautí,	ninguno, ninguna
caique,	nadie
aver, averí,	otro, otra
cata,	cada
andoba,	tal
buchí,	algo
frimé, frimí,	poco, poca
butré, butrí,	mucho, mucha
saró, sarí,	todo, toda
chi,	nada

NO DIGO NADA POR HOY

Tal es de males la suma que nos cerca y nos abruma que cuando cojo la pluma
no sé por donde empezar.

Porque hay tanta extravagancia,
tanto error, tanta ignorancia,
que ya la misma abundancia quita el humor de escribir.

Decir que esto se desquicia en parte por mi impericia,
y en parte por gran malicia...
mil veces lo he dicho ya.

Declamar contra el gobierno decir que no vale un cuerno, que la España es un infierno,
fuera una repetición.

Que la gran necesidad
es pureza y probidad,
en rigor y actividad,
también fuera repetir.

Decir que esto no se entiende, que por fuerza hay algún duende,
que acaso la patria vende,
fuera cansar y moler.

De los pueblos y lugares
vienen quejas a millares,
y entrar en particulares
es cuento de no acabar.

Hablar de nuestra miseria, ponderar nuestra lacería,
es una cosa tan seria
que a nadie le hará reír.

Que tenemos empleados
una porción de malvados.

DEL ADJETIVO EN CALÓ

12. El adjetivo sigue en todo las mismas reglas que el sustantivo.

13. Las voces de origen índico o formadas por analogía, cuyo masculino termina en consonante o en las vocales acentuadas á, é, ó, ú, y el femenino en í (5), sufren las modificaciones siguientes:

a. La c, la g, la l, la n, antepuestas a la vocal final del masculino, y la n final, afirman su sonido en el femenino, convirtiéndose en qu, gu, ll, ñ:

MASCULINO.		FEMENINO.
jucó	delgado	juquí
langó	cojo	languí
barlú	maniaco	barllí
oruné	oscuro	oruñí
segriton	último	segritoñí

Por excepción rara cualcan, cualquiera, es común de dos.

b. Todos los demás adjetivos masculinos terminados en consonante se convierten en femeninos agregando la vocal í acentuada: choror, pobre, chororí.

c. Si la consonante final del masculino es y griega precedida de o, esta o se convierte en a para el femenino: dutoy, luminoso, dutayí.

d. Pero si la y griega va precedida de otra consonante, el adjetivo no cambia, es común de dos: moscaby, embelesado, embelesada.

e. Otro tanto se observa si la final del masculino es l. Como en castellano, la terminación del femenino es la misma: jil, fresco, fresca.

13. Todos los adjetivos derivados o formados del castellano siguen las mismas reglas de su origen: los acabados en e no acentuada son comunes de dos, y los que tienen el masculino en o sin acento terminan su femenino en a:

MASCULINO		FEMENINO
pernique	inteligente	pernique
superbio	soberbio	superbia

majarao	bendito	majaráa

14. Algunos adjetivos en ao convierten el femenino en añí; pero son raras excepciones que suponen más bien la terminación masculina anó contraída en ao: pandelao, oprimido, pandelañí.

15. Los plurales de los adjetivos terminan exactamente como los de los sustantivos (7 a 11).

16. En caló no hay comparativos, superlativos ni aumentativos propios.

17. Los comparativos se forman con el adverbio bus o buter, más:

lachó, bueno; bus lachó, mejor.
chorré, malo; bus o buter chorré, peor.
baró, grande; buter baró, mayor.
chinorré, pequeño; buter chinorré, menor.

18. Los superlativos se forman usando el adverbio but, muy, antes del adjetivo, o el adverbio baribú, mucho, a continuación, que es mas expresivo:

lachó, bueno; but lachó o lachó baribú, buenísimo.

En lenguaje espurio o estilo vulgar, el uso ha introducido para muchas palabras la terminación castellana *ísimo, ísima: fendísimo,*excelentísimo.

19. Los aumentativos se forman con el adjetivo baró u otros que expresen grandeza: manú baró, hombron.

20. Los diminutivos, tanto sustantivos como adjetivos, son los únicos que algunas veces puede considerárselos con la terminación propia en lé para el masculino y llí para el femenino: chabolé, chicuelo; cachilli, mujercilla.

21. También en estilo vulgar se usan los diminutivos castellanos ito, ita, ico, ica: sacaito, ojito; batico, padrecico.

22. Los numerales en caló son los siguientes:

yequé,	uno	bin y yequé, veintiuno.
dui,	dos.	bin y dui, etc.
trin,	tres.	trianda, treinta.
ostar,	cuatro.	ostardí, cuarenta.
panche,	cinco	panchardi, cincuenta.
jobe, zoy,	seis	jobeṇta, sesenta.
ester, eftá,	siete	esterdí, setenta.
otor,	ocho.	otordé, otorenta, ochenta.

nebel, esnia,	nueve.	esnete,	noventa.
deque, esden,	diez.	greste,	ciento.
yesdeque,	once.	duigrés,	doscientos.
duideque,	doce.	tringrés,	etc.
trindeque,	trece, etc.	nebegrés,	novecientos.
nebedeque,	diecinueve.	milé, jazaré,	mil.
bin,	veinte.	tarquino,	millón.

23. Los ordinales son los siguientes:

brotobo,	primero.	esnetó,	noveno.
duisquero,	segundo.	esdentó,	décimo.
trincheró,	tercero.	or yesdeque,	undécimo.
ostaró,	cuarto.	or duideque,	duodécimo.
pancheró,	quinto.	or bin,	vigésimo.
zobio,	sexto.	or trianda,	trigésimo.
esteró,	sétimo.	or greste,	centesimo.
otoró,	octavo.	or jazaré,	milésimo.

DEL ARTÍCULO Y EL SUSTANTIVO EN CALÓ

PRELIMINAR.

En cada país el idioma primitivo que trajeron los gitanos de la India ha venido conservándose en la memoria de las generaciones sucesivas, sin haber sido nunca un lenguaje escrito.

Por eso las modificaciones, que necesariamente había de sufrir aquel idioma, hubieron de atemperarse al general de cada pueblo donde esas generaciones de gitanos han vivido.

En España, pues, a las peculiaridades gramaticales de la lengua original, han sustituido las reglas de la gramática castellana, tanto en sintaxis como en la conjugación de los verbos y declinación de los nombres; pero dominando los vicios de pronunciación o incorrección que distinguen especialmente a los habitantes de Andalucía, a más de otros barbarismos de cierto lenguaje espurio arreglado por seudo-literatos no gitanos.

Asi el dialecto romanó, el caló, o sea el lenguaje familiar de los gitanos españoles, tiene la misma escritura, alfabeto, ortografía y demás estructura gramatical que el castellano, salvas las diferencias que vamos á señalar en este Epítome.

Las reglas de gramática —general o castellana— que ignorare el lector, deberá éste aprenderlas en otros Tratados dispuestos para la edad infantil.

DEL ARTICULO.

1. El artículo, lo mismo que en castellano, es masculino y femenino, tiene singular y plural; pero, efecto de las diversas inflexiones de pronunciación en cada provincia, se expresa en caló de más de una manera:

Singular masculino	or, o (sin acento)	el
Plural masculino	os, ler	los
Singular femenino	a (sin acento)	la
Plural femenino	as, ar	las

2. La contracción del artículo con la preposición de es común a ambos géneros y números:

Singular masculino	ye	del
Plural masculino	es	de los
Singular femenino	ya	de la
Plural femenino	yas	de las

3. El llamado artículo neutro lo no existe en gitano. Le suple el masculino:

O baró, lo grande.
Or amaró, lo nuestro.

DEL SUSTANTIVO.

4. El género del nombre sustantivo aparece en caló con dos caracteres distintos: uno conservado de su origen índico, y otro adquirido del castellano.

5. Los nombres primitivos indostanes, o formados por analogía, terminan su singular masculino en consonante o vocal acentuada, excepto la í, también acentuada, que es la vocal distintiva que constituye el femenino:

SUSTANTIVOS MASCULINOS.

bear	viento	consonante
Crally	rey	consonante
jeriá	pierna	vocal á
coloré	pedazo	vocal é
chirrichó	pájaro	vocal ó

manú hombre vocal ú

SUSTANTIVOS FEMENINOS

pañí	agua	Vocal í
rachí	noche	Vocal í

6. Los nombres derivados o formados del castellano guardan la misma estructura, esto es, son del género masculino cuando su singular termina en consonante o en las vocales no acentuadas e, o, u,, y son del femenino cuando termina en las vocales no acentuadas a, i:

SUSTANTIVOS MASCULINOS.

inerin	enero	consonante
aljor	yeso	consonante
bruje	real	Vocal e
ampio	aceite	Vocal o
beou	higo	Vocal u

Hay alguna rara excepción,como baste, mano, que es femenino.

SUSTANTIVOS FEMENINOS.

cornicha	cesta	vocal a
begai	vez	vocal i

7. Todos los nombres, cualquiera que sea el género a que pertenezcan, si terminan en vocal no acentuada o en á, é con acento, forman el plural tomando una s:

SINGULAR.		PLURAL.
aricata	parte	aricatas
gole,	voz	goles
dai	madre	dais
nao,	nombre	naos
beou	higo	beous
romá	esposo	romás

gresé tiempo gresés

a. De las rarísimas voces, que en caló terminan con u sin acento, gau (lugar) forma su plural en es: gaues.

b. Alguno que otro nombre, cuyo singular termina en é acentuada, por razón de su origen etimológico forma irregularmente el plural: chibé, día; chibeses, dias.

8. Todos los nombres terminados en la vocal í con acento forman su plural con as:

SINGULAR		PLURAL
buchí	cosa	buchías
tatí	fiebre	tatías

a. El uso admite que, para evitar la cacofonía de muchas aes seguidas, sobre todo en poesía, el plural de í se forme también con s sólo: puñí, pena, puñís.

b. Por razón del origen, algunos nombres en i tienen plural irregular: lirí, ley, lirises.

c. Todos los nombres que terminan en la vocal acentuada o tienen el plural en és:

SINGULAR		PLURAL
chaboró	niño	chaborés
quiribó	vecino	quiribés

10. Los nombres que terminan en la vocal acentuada ú, o en consonante, no siendo y griega, forman su plural con es:

SINGULAR		PLURAL
burú	buey	burúes
chuquel	perro	chuqueles
carlochin	corazón	carlochines
jundunar	soldado	jundunares

a. Algunos nombres en ú por razón de estilo sólo toman una s en el plural:

orquidú, ánima, orquidús.

b. Otros por su origen etimológico tienen el plural en ces: batú, padre, batuces.

c. Y por razón contraria, la de corruptela, baras es el plural irregular de bar, piedra.

11. Los nombres terminados en y griega precedida de consonante tienen el plural en ís: bajaly, profeta, bajalís.

Por razón del origen se cuenta alguna excepción: crally, rey, crallises.

a. Si terminan en ay, el plural es áes: arajay, fraile, arajáes.

b. Si en oy, el plural es ayes: mancloy, príncipe, manclayes.

c. Si en uy, el plural es úes: ardujuy, asesino, ardujúes.

¿Por qué le llama dialecto?

Fecha: 18/09/2011 13:55.

Autor: Gatopardo

Porque es "una de las posibles variedades de una lengua" (del romaní, concretamente, de la misma manera que el español, y el francés son dialectos del latín.

Y si no, habla caló con los gitanos rumanos, búlgaros, franceses, e, incluso, catalanes...

Aquí la definición de dialecto:

UN DÍA CUALQUIERA EN MÉXICO: LO QUE NO CUENTAN LAS AGENCIAS DE VIAJES

EJECUTAN A PRESUNTOS "TUITEROS" QUE ALERTABAN SOBRE VIOLENCIA

Publicado en Revista Proceso.com.mx, 13 de septiembre de 2011.

MEXICO, D.F.- En una de las jornadas más violentas registradas en las últimas semanas, al menos 24 personas perdieron la vida en nueve entidades del país en hechos presuntamente vinculados al crimen organizado.

En Nuevo Laredo, Tamaulipas, esta madrugada aparecieron dos cuerpos colgados del puente peatonal de Los Mayas. Uno de ellos, un hombre que pendía de sus brazos, tenía unos 25 años, así como el de una mujer, de unos 28. A simple vista se apreciaba que antes de ser asesinados, ambos fueron torturados.

A un lado de los cuerpos sus verdugos dejaron dos cartulinas, donde acusan a las víctimas de utilizar las redes sociales para comentar situaciones de riesgo en esta ciudad.

Los mensajes también fueron dirigidos a las páginas de Internet Al rojo vivo y Blog del Narco, con una "Z" como firma. El hallazgo de los cuerpos ocurrió cerca de las tres de la mañana de este martes.

Mientras en Juárez, Chihuahua, seis personas fueron ejecutadas la noche del lunes 12 en diversos sectores de esta ciudad fronteriza, según informaron autoridades locales.

En una tienda de abarrotes, pistoleros mataron a un hombre e hirieron a otro, en la colonia Vicente Guerrero.

Mientras otros dos hombres, de entre 25 y 30 años, fueron asesinados en la colonia Azteca, donde se localizaron 28 casquillos percutidos de calibre 9 y .223 milímetros.

Trascendió que uno de los ultimados era empleado de la Junta Municipal de Agua y Saneamiento.

En tanto que un hombre de unos 25 años fue asesinado a balazos sobre la avenida del Charro, cuando viajaba en un vehículo, el cual en la huida impactó contra otro que era conducido por una estudiante de la Universidad Autónoma de Ciudad Juárez (UACJ), quien resultó ilesa. En el lugar se localizaron 86 casquillos percutidos de calibres 7.62 x 39, así como .223 milímetros. También fue hallada un arma de fuego calibre 9 milímetros.

También fue ejecutado un hombre de unos 40 años dentro de un vehículo en las calles Valle del Sol y Hacienda San Miguel, en el fraccionamiento Hacienda La Cantera, donde se impactó contra un poste de electricidad.

Y un joven más, Saúl Antúnez Santana, de 19 años, murió por disparos de arma de fuego en la colonia Manuel Valdez.

Mientras tanto, en Cuernavaca, Morelos, dos jóvenes murieron y cuatro más resultaron heridos luego de ser atacados la noche del lunes por un grupo armado que viajaba a bordo de dos vehículos en la colonia La Lagunilla, informó la policía local.

Los hechos ocurrieron sobre la calle Mariano Matamoros cuando los jóvenes fueron sorprendidos por los sicarios que viajaban a bordo de dos vehículos, que después de lograr su objetivo huyeron del lugar. En el lugar se observaron al menos una decena de cartuchos percutidos.

De igual forma, tres jóvenes heridos fueron trasladados a distintos nosocomios de la ciudad para su atención, luego de recibir diversos disparos de arma de fuego en el lugar.

En Acapulco, Guerrero, un hombre fue muerto y tres más heridos, entre ellos un escolta adscrito al Gobierno del Distrito Federal (GDF), durante el enfrentamiento entre sicarios y guardias oficiales.

Por otra parte, en la capital de la República fue reportado el hallazgo del cuerpo sin vida de Homobono Vázquez García, actuario regional del Tribunal Electoral del Poder Judicial de la Federación (TEPJF), dentro de una camioneta abandonada en calles de la delegación Tláhuac.

El funcionario tenía huellas de haber sido estrangulado y su cadáver estaba en el asiento del copiloto de una camioneta Jeep Patriot color vino, con matrícula 908 VLR, la cual estaba estacionada en la esquina de la avenida La Turba y calle Tiburón, en la colonia Del Mar.

En Sonora, hombres armados asesinaron esta madrugada al subdirector de la policía de Nogales y a un mando de la corporación estatal investigadora, confirmó la Procuraduría local.

El reporte señala que el subdirector Raúl Suárez Gabriel y el jefe de la Base Fátima de la Policía Estatal Investigadora, Gil Castelo, fueron asesinados a balazos, hechos que ya están siendo investigados.

En Hermosillo, el gobernador sonorense Guillermo Padrés confirmó las dos bajas y dijo que ya se detuvo a siete personas involucradas en las ejecuciones.

De acuerdo con las primeras investigaciones, el vehículo de uno de los dos jefes policiacos fue incinerado, aunque la PGJE aún no da detalles de la forma en que ocurrieron los hechos.

En la capital de Jalisco, autoridades policiales informaron del asesinato de un chofer de un autobús de la ruta Guadalajara-Tala.

En un comunicado, se dio a conocer que los agentes policiales acudieron a la carretera Guadalajara-Nogales a la altura de Venta del Astillero, en Zapopan, donde se localiza el acceso del club de la Universidad de Guadalajara (UdeG).

En el lugar se encontraba el autobús de pasajeros de la ruta Guadalajara-Tala, placas 577-HX3, en el cual fue hallado, en el asiento del conductor, el cuerpo del chofer, de unos 36 años.

Testigos señalaron que dos sujetos abordaron el automotor en la terminal nueva, la que se ubica en el cruce de avenida Aviación y carretera a Nogales, colonia Parque Industrial El Camichín, en Zapopan.

Posteriormente lo detuvieron y uno de los sujetos sacó de entre sus ropas un arma de fuego y abrió fuego contra el conductor.

En el Estado de México, tres policías federales murieron al intentar detener a presuntos sicarios de La Familia michoacana que pretendían cobrar un "derecho de piso" al propietario de una maderería de la colonia Tlapacoyac, municipio de Ixtapaluca.

De acuerdo con la Agencia de Seguridad Estatal (ASE), se registró un enfrentamiento en el interior del establecimiento con razón social Narro, ubicado en la avenida Cuauhtémoc, lugar en el que la Policía Federal realizó un operativo para capturar a los presuntos extorsionadores.

Sin embargo, los delincuentes, que viajaban en varios vehículos y una motocicleta, resistieron la captura y abrieron fuego contra los agentes, con el saldo arriba señalado.

Y en Zacatecas, autoridades policiales reportaron el hallazgo de los restos de dos policías federales, quienes fueron levantados hace una semana en la carretera a Aguascalientes.
Las víctimas fueron localizadas esta mañana en un paraje del municipio Villa de González Ortega, en el sureste del estado, a medio kilómetro de donde fueron dejados otros cuatro cuerpos, todos atados y con tiros en la cabeza.

Los agentes Mario Alberto Adame Villalba y Jorge Waldo Reyes fueron atacados por un comando de presuntos integrantes de Los Zetas hace una semana, en la carretera de Aguascalientes a Zacatecas, a la altura del municipio de Luis Moya, y desde entonces se encontraban desaparecidos.

Ambos policías se encontraron con el grupo armado, el cual les disparó y los sacó de la patrulla en la que viajaban, la número 10185, misma que quedó abandonada en la vialidad, con numerosos disparos.

Ese día se desplegó una fuerte movilización militar y policiaca en la zona, la cual derivó en un enfrentamiento con los presuntos responsables del secuestro en la carretera al municipio de Villanueva.

En esa refriega murieron dos agentes de la PF y siete de los sicarios. Además, otros cuatro policías resultaron heridos.

Este día la PGJE informó del hallazgo de los cuerpos de Adame Villalba y Waldo Reyes, los cuales aún vestían sus uniformes de la PF. Los cadáveres fueron localizados en un camino a la comunidad Estancia de Ánimas, en Villa de González Ortega.

A medio kilómetro de distancia se encontraron otros cuatro cuerpos masculinos, que hasta el momento no habían sido identificados.

ASALTO, PERSECUCIÓN Y ENFRENTAMIENTOS DEJAN 26 MUERTOS.
Publicado en revista Proceso.com.mx, 14 de septiembre de 2011.

MÉXICO, D.F.- Por segundo día consecutivo se registró una jornada marcada por la violencia, que dejó un saldo de 26 personas muertas en hechos presuntamente vinculados al crimen organizado.

En el municipio mexiquense de Chalco, cuatro personas perdieron la vida, entre ellas tres presuntos delincuentes y un pasajero, durante una balacera que se registró a bordo de un autobús de pasajeros sobre el kilómetro 6,300 de la carretera federal México-Cuautla, a la altura de la colonia La Bomba, cerca de la base de la Policía Federal (PF).

Según testigos y reportes policiacos, el enfrentamiento se produjo al interior de una unidad de transporte de la línea Cardenales, con número económico 148 y placas de circulación 746 HX1, que se dirigía del Distrito Federal a la comunidad de San Rafael, en Tlalmanalco.

Tres hombres se subieron al camión cerca de la caseta de cobro de Chalco y metros más adelante sacaron sus armas para amagar a los nueve usuarios que iban a bordo, a quienes exigieron sus pertenencias.

Un hombre, al parecer militar, quien viajaba en el camión de pasajeros, enfrentó a los ladrones. Sacó una pistola y abrió fuego contra los delincuentes.

Dentro de la unidad quedaron dos cuerpos de los supuestos delincuentes que también realizaron disparos. Un tercer asaltante intentó escapar, pero una de las balas lo alcanzó y cayó sobre la carretera México-Cuautla.

Un testigo contó que el hombre, con apariencia de militar, le disparó al ladrón a la cabeza cuando estaba tendido y huyó del sitio.

La policía encontró en el interior del autobús a uno de los pasajeros que también murió alcanzado por una bala. Fue identificado como Ricardo Rendón Adame, de 40 años, quien vivía en San Juan de Aragón e iba acompañado de su pareja, quien resultó ilesa.

En el lugar se encontraron dos armas 9 nueve milímetros y una pistola calibre 38.

En la misma entidad, tres cadáveres fueron encontrados esta mañana en el paraje Miranda, en Santa María Cahuacán.

Los cuerpos fueron hallados apilados cerca de la carretera Nicolás Romero-Villa del Carbón, y en el lugar fueron ubicados dos cartuchos útiles y uno percutido calibre 38.

Hasta el momento las autoridades no han podido identificar los cuerpos.

Mientras tanto, en Michoacán, cuatro presuntos delincuentes murieron la madrugada de este miércoles en un enfrentamiento con policías federales en el oriente de la entidad, mientras que en Morelia fue detenido un supuesto extorsionador por el Grupo Antisecuestros, durante un tiroteo frente al hospital del IMSS.

El primer enfrentamiento ocurrió en la carretera estatal Irimbo-Aporo, en la región oriente, cercana a Ciudad Hidalgo.

En ese lugar, un convoy de la Policía Federal (PF) sostuvo un enfrentamiento a tiros contra delincuentes de una célula de la delincuencia organizada.

En los hechos resultaron muertos cuatro supuestos gatilleros y lesionado un efectivo policial, según las primeras informaciones.

En otro hecho, en Morelia, poco después de las 11:00 horas se registró un enfrentamiento sobre la avenida Camelinas, en el que participaron policías adscritos al

Grupo Antisecuestros de la Procuraduría General de Justicia del Estado (PGJE).

En ese lugar, se sabe que fue detenido un presunto extorsionador, mientras que un policía resultó lesionado.

En Nuevo León, seis hombres fueron asesinados cuando se encontraban afuera de dos domicilios ubicados en dos colonias populares del municipio conurbado de San Nicolás de los Garza, a unos 10 kilómetros de la capital del estado.

El primer reporte se registró poco después del mediodía, cuando vecinos de la colonia Fidel Velázquez denunciaron detonaciones de armas de fuego y una persecución sobre las calles Revolución y Democracia.

Según los vecinos, hombres armados perseguían a dos jóvenes por las calles mencionadas; tras correr aproximadamente 50 metros, las víctimas fueron asesinadas mientras los hombres armados se dieron a la fuga.

Minutos más tarde, se reportó otro enfrentamiento en la colonia Constituyentes de Querétaro, segundo sector, en las calles Diputado Fernando Gómez Palacio y Amilcar Aguilar, donde cuatro jóvenes que se encontraban platicando frente a un domicilio fueron sorprendidos.

Habitantes del sector aseguraron que el comando viajaba a bordo de un camión repartidor de frituras y, al ver a los jóvenes, los pistoleros descendieron de la unidad y abrieron fuego, asesinando a cuatro de ellos.

Más tarde, trascendió que un pistolero asesinó a balazos en su domicilio a los padres y un hermano del policía estatal Miguel Ángel Barraza Escamilla, detenido por su relación en el incendio del Casino Royale, donde murieron asfixiadas 52 personas.

En Sinaloa, el cadáver de un joven fue localizado envuelto en una cobija frente a las instalaciones educativas del Conalep, ubicado en la colonia 5 de Febrero, municipio de Navolato.

La Policía Ministerial del Estado reportó que el cuerpo, que se encontraba atado de pies y manos y con los ojos vendados, fue encontrado esta mañana poco antes del inicio de clases, por lo que aún se investiga la identidad de la víctima, que presentaba impactos de bala.

En Guerrero, tres jóvenes fueron ejecutados en menos de una hora en distintos puntos de Acapulco, según reportes oficiales.

El primer hecho se registró a las 13:00 horas de este miércoles al interior del mercado de la colonia Jardín Azteca, ubicada al poniente de este destino de playa, donde fue acribillado un hombre identificado como Jaime Vargas, de 30 años, señala un parte de la policía porteña.

El lugar fue desalojado por las autoridades, luego del terror y zozobra que desató este ataque armado entre comerciantes y ciudadanos.

Luego, 50 minutos después, se reportó otra balacera en un andador de la colonia Jardín Palmas, que se ubica en la misma zona poniente.

En el lugar, las autoridades localizaron los cuerpos de dos jóvenes asesinados a tiros que estaban tirados sobre la calle y hasta el momento se encuentran en calidad de desconocidos, señala el parte oficial.

En Colima, un hombre fue ejecutado en presencia de su hijo y un sobrino en el municipio de Tecomán, en tanto que anoche un empresario fue “levantado” al salir de un centro comercial de Manzanillo y, hasta la noche de este miércoles, se ignoraba su paradero.

La PGJE informó que Teodoro Mendoza Parra, de 46 años, fue asesinado por disparos de arma de fuego, en la carretera de cuota Tecomán-Manzanillo a la altura del kilómetro 44, donde se encontraba esperando a un trabajador para dirigirse a realizar tareas agrícolas.

Según las primeras investigaciones, Mendoza estaba a bordo de su camioneta frente a la colonia Antonio Salazar, 200 metros antes del crucero a Santa Rosa, cuando un vehículo detuvo su marcha para preguntarle en cuánto vendía su vehículo, al mismo tiempo que sacaban armas de fuego y lo acribillaron.

Los peritos de la PGJE encontraron en el lugar del crimen siete casquillos calibre 9 milímetros y aseguraron la camioneta de la víctima, marca Ford Lobo, de color gris con negro, de procedencia extranjera y sin placas de circulación.

En tanto, según reportes extraoficiales un empresario fue “levantado” la noche del martes 13 en el estacionamiento del centro comercial Wal Mart de la ciudad de Manzanillo.

Aunque la PGJE no informó sobre el suceso, trascendió que se realizó un operativo policiaco-militar en la colonia Valle Paraíso de ese puerto, en el que presuntamente fue detenida una persona implicada en los hechos, aunque se ignora la suerte del “levantado”.

De acuerdo con las versiones, la víctima es un importante directivo de una agencia aduanal, pero por razones de seguridad las fuentes pidieron no dar a conocer los datos que lo identifican.

Mientras tanto, en Coahuila, dos hombres fueron ejecutados a balazos en Torreón por desconocidos en una colonia cercana al aeropuerto internacional, informó la Fiscalía General del Estado (FGE).

Al encontrarse en un área verde de la colonia Aviación, al nororiente de Torreón, fueron atacados con disparos de arma de fuego, según el reporte de la Delegación Laguna 1 de la FGE.

A las 15:35 se reportó a las autoridades que había detonaciones en esta colonia que está situada en las inmediaciones del Aeropuerto Internacional de Torreón.

El primer cuerpo quedó en la calle Bolivia y fue identificado como Francisco Javier Campa Rodríguez, de 23 años, quien presentaba múltiples heridas producidas por proyectil de grueso calibre.

Al percatarse de la agresión, el acompañante corrió, pero fue alcanzado por las balas, quedando su cuerpo en la entrada de una carpintería, localizada en la calle República de Chile, según el reporte policial.

El segundo cuerpo fue identificado como Francisco Javier Cano Aguilar, de 33 años.

Con estos dos crímenes suman ya 487 personas que han perdido la vida de una manera violenta del 1 de enero a la fecha, en la ciudad de Torreón.

ALGUNOS AROMAS BÁSICOS EN PERFUMERÍA (1)

El enlace incluido en el nombre de la planta en español remite a la serie de los monográficos (en proceso de redacción) que iremos publicando aquí, en el tema "PERFUMES" si las autoridades no lo impiden y el tiempo lo permite.

ABEDUL BLANCO

(Betula Alba) Se extrae de las hojas del árbol. Su perfume es balsámico y leñoso.

ABELMOSCO

(Hibiscus Abelmoschus), con esta denominación se suelen clasificar aquellas sustancias obtenidas de glándulas de animales, mamíferos en general, y que estos segregan para marcar sus territorios o en sus rituales de apareamiento (algalia, civeta…) El aceite esencial de Abelmosco se extrae de las semillas de la planta conocida como hibisco, abelmosco, almizclillo, algalia, abuinchillo, ambarilla, de aroma almizclado.

AJEDREA

(Satureia Montana) Se extrae de la planta entera, con aroma fresco, herbáceo y picante. Es irritante y no puede aplicarse directamente sobre la piel.

ALBAHACA

(Ocimum Basilicum) De origen asiático la fragancia se obtiene de la planta florida y de las hojas. De aroma fresco, penetrante, dulce y balsámico.

ALCANFOR

(Camphora) De origen asiático (China y Japón) es un ingrediente muy utilizado en perfumería. Se obtiene de la corteza y las ramas y su aroma es penetrante y agrio. Es tóxico a dosis altas y el aceite esencial no está recomendado durante el embarazo.

ALCARAVEA

(Carum Carvi) De origen europeo mediterráneo, asiático y norteafricano. El aceite esencial se extrae de los frutos o semillas enteros, que tienen sabor picante, con un aroma anisado con reververaciones de humus. Contienen principalmente dihidrocarvona, carveol, dihidrocarveol, y limoneno.

ALGALIA

Almizcle obtenido del gato de algalia, también denominado civeta. Actualmente obtenida sintéticamente.

ALMIZCLE

Con esta denominación se suelen clasificar aquellas sustancias obtenidas de glándulas de animales, mamíferos en general, y que estos segregan para marcar sus territorios o en sus rituales de apareamiento (como el gato de Algalia). Originariamente es la sustancia obtenida de una glándula excretora de feromonas del ciervo almizclero macho, de Asia Central, y de la rata almizclera. Fue tradicionalmente considerado por sus efectos afrodisíacos, como muchas sustancias cosméticas que contienen almizcle. En las fragancias proporciona tonos suaves, amargos, y penetrantes. Actualmente se obtiene sintéticamente.

ÁMBAR (Ambra)

Resina fósil obtenida del abeto. Se utiliza en estado viscoso y proporciona notas ahumadas y alquitranadas: ingrediente básico de las fragancias clasificadas como cuero.

ÁMBAR GRIS

(Ambra Gris) Conocido en la antigüedad como el oro negro del mar. Sustancia cerosa y pegajosa que se encontraba flotando sobre las aguas de los Océanos Tropicales. Se origina en los residuos indigestibles del estómago de los cachalotes, actualmente se fabrica sintéticamente.

ANGÉLICA

(Angelica Archangelica) Aceite de la raíz del árbol Angélica. Se cultiva en Europa. Es almizclado, picante y "verde especiado".

ANÍS

(Pimpinella Anisum) Obtenido de las semillas (anís verde) y ramas de la planta aromática del mismo nombre.

(Styrax Benzoin) Arbusto aromático del que se obtienen tres aceites aromáticos: de los frutos el especiado-alcanforado; de las hojas, similar a la lavanda; y de la resina, un aceite esencial cremoso de aroma balsámico e intenso.

BERGAMOTA

(Citrus Aurantium) Aceite extraído de la piel de este fruto por presión. La bergamota es el resultado del injerto de un limonero y un naranjo amargo. El aroma es fresco, cítrico, afrutado y dulce. En perfumería, se usa como nota de salida, como en Eau Sauvage, de Dior, y en Shalimar, de Guerlain. El aroma es fresco, cítrico, afrutado y dulce. Su aplicación sobre la piel antes de tomar el sol está desaconsejada porque contiene sustancias de acción fototóxica que pueden provocar irritación.

(Calendula Officinalis) De hojas lanceoladas y flores amarillas y anaranjadas. Esencia herbácea y especiada.

CAMOMILA

(Matricaria Chamomilla) Extracto de camomila (manzanilla). Su aroma es suave con nota frutal, calmante y limpia.

CANELA

(Cinnamomum Zeylanicum). Procedente de Sri Lanka, Madagascar y la India. Obtenida de la corteza del canelo de aroma cálido, especiado, seco y dulce, usualmente mezclado con naranja y clavo de olor

CARDAMOMO

(Elettaria Cardamomum) Obtenida del aceite destilado de las semillas secas del Elettaria cardamomum. Aroma dulce, cálido y especiado, con notas florales. Es una de las especias más caras.

CASIA, ACEITE DE

(Cinnamonun Cassia) De las hojas de un árbol de originario de la India, es parecido a la canela. Es componente aromático de las bebidas actuales de cola.

CASIS (GROSELLA NEGRA)
(Ribes Nigrum) Extraído del arbusto del que se obtienen las grosellas negras. Notas ácidas y afrutadas.

CASTÓREO
Antiguamente obtenido del castor, actualmente se fabrica sintéticamente. De olor fuerte y persistente.

CEDRO (ACEITE DE)
(Cedrus) Del tallo de los Cedros de América, Marruecos y Argelia. Su aroma cálido, intenso, balsámico, leñoso y dulce es base de las fragancias masculinas clasificadas como amaderadas. Se utiliza a menudo como repelente de polillas en los armarios roperos.

CIDRONELA
(Melissa Officinalis) De origen indio, es una planta de flor blanca o amarilla, a menudo con pintas rosas conocida también como Melisa. De las hojas se obtiene el aceite con aroma fresco, parecido al limón.

CILANTRO
(Coriandrum Sativum) Aceite obtenido de las semillas de la hierba aromática y ramosa, con forma de abanico, del tamaño y de la familia del perejil. Es uno de los aromas típicos de Canarias.

CIPRÉS
(Cupressus Sempervirens) Obtenido de los frutos de estas coníferas de la cuenca mediterránea, su aroma es refrescante, balsámico y dulce.

(Juniperus Communis) La esencia se extrae del fruto del arbusto. Tiene un aroma agradable, especiado y aromático.

ESPINILLO BLANCO
(Acacia farnesiana) Originaria de las zonas de clima tropical y subtropical de América. Se cultiva en la mayor parte de la India, Pakistán, Birmania, Marruecos, Israel, Jordania, y zonas tropicales y subtropicales del mundo. El aceite esencial se obtiene de las flores por “enfleurage” en manteca de cacao, contiene componentes fenílicos anizaldehído, alcohol y aldehido benzoico, para-cresol, éster metílico del ácido salicílico y eugenol, y su aroma recuerda a la violeta.

ESTRAGON
(Artemisia Dracunculus) Las flores verdosas y las hojas finas del arbusto estragón proporciona una roma agridulce, picante y con ligeras notas de anís.

EUCALIPTOS
(Eucalyptus Globulus) Aceite de las hojas del eucalipto, deja una impresión alcanforada fuertemente herbal. Oriundo de Tasmania, crece en los bosques de España, Portugal y Australia.

G

GALBANO

(Ferula Galbaniflua) De color amarillo tostado esta resina se obtiene de las raíces del arbusto que crece en Siria y Turquía. De aroma frondoso, verde, suave y balsámico

GARDENIA

(Gardenia Jasminoides) De la familia de las rubiáceas, introducida en Europa en 1763 desde China. De las flores se obtiene un aroma dulzón, cálido, intenso y floral

GERANIO

(Geranium) El aceite obtenido de cualquier parte de esta planta es muy usado en perfumería. Se cultiva en España, Francia, Rusia, Norte de Africa y Egipto. Esparce un olor dulcemente fresco, floral, con algunas notas parecidas a la menta, y combina con notas orientales.

GOMORRESINA

Resinas segregados por plantas, generalmente arbustos. Se usan como fijadores de aroma.

H

HELIOTROPO

(Heliotropium Peruvianum) La esencia se extrae del arbusto del mismo nombre. El aroma es floral conteniendo notas almendradas.

HINOJO

(Foeniculum Vulgare) Cultivado en la cuenca mediterránea de sus semillas se obtiene un aroma dulce que recuerda al anís, muy penetrante.

HISOPO

(Hyssopus Officinalis) De las puntas floridas de este arbusto cultivado en toda la cuenca mediterránea se obtiene un aroma dulce, especiado y herbáceo.

I

Resina obtenida del arbusto olibano cultivado en la región del mar Rojo. Hecho a partir de gomas y resinas, produce un aroma especiado cuando se quema.

J

JACINTO

(Hyacinthus Orientalis) Flores blancas, azules, rosadas o púrpuras que crecen silvestres en los olivares de Grasse. Miembro de la familia de las liliáceas, la flor del jacinto despide una delicada fragancia desde que empieza a eclosionar. El aceite de jacinto, cuando se diluye, tiene un aroma suave dulce y poderoso.

JARA

del árabe Xara (mata) (Cistus de Tournefort, Cistáceas, Erythtocistus y Letonia). La resina aromática de las hojas y ramas se usa con el nombre de Ládano (véase).

JAZMÍN

(Jasminum Officinale) De la delicada flor blanca se extrae este aceite cuya cotización se sigue diariamente en el mercado. Con más de 200 especies distintas de Jazmín oriundo de Egipto, Argelia e Italia, debe recolectarse al amanecer manualmente para que no se pierda su fragancia. Hace falta 7.000.000 de flores de jazmín para extraer un Kg. de esencia. Se suele sustituir por acetato de bencilo, C6H5COOC2H5, cien veces más barato.

JENGIBRE

(Zingiber Officinale) Aroma cálido, especiado, aromático y leñoso extraído de las raíces frescas del Zingiber officinale. Originario de India y China.

(Labdanum) Resina segregada por distintas especies de jaras mediterráneas, oleosa amarga, oscura y aromática confiere notas de cuero.

LAVANDA

(Lavandula Officinalis) De la destilación de las flores de este arbusto mediterráneo se extrae un aceite fresco, penetrante y floral.

LEMONGRASS

(Cymbopogon Citratus) Una hierba originaria de la India y Madagascar. La destilación de sus hojas proporciona un aroma intenso, dulce, fresco y limonáceo.

LILA

(Syringa S. Vulgaris) La esencia que se extrae de las plantas y flores de las lilas no producen su aroma, se simula con jazmín, ylang-ylang, nerolí y vainilla.

LIMÓN (ACEITE DE)

(Citrus Lemon) Aceite exptraido de la piel del limón. Es refrescante, cítrico y ligeramente penetrante.

LIRIO DE FLORENCIA (IRIS)

(Iriaceae) El aceite esencial se extrae de los bulbos desecados y machacados. Su precio es elevado. Aroma aceitoso y amaderado con notas afrutadas y florales.

LIRIO DEL VALLE (MUGUET)

(Convallaria Maialis) El aroma de esta flor blanca ha sido utilizada desde siglos atrás. Aroma especiado y amaderado y dulce.

LYCHEE

(Litchi Chinensis) De las semillas del fruto del lychee, de China. Esencia dulce y afrutada.

M

MADERA

El aroma de este nombre es en realidad obtenido con la mezcla de esencias de sándalo y vetiver.

MADRESELVA

(Lonicera Implexa) Enredadera de pequeñas flores olorosas. La esencia se obtiene de mezclas de otras esencias o artificialmente.

MAGNOLIA

(Magnoliaceae) Se crea su esencia mezclando rosa, jazmín, nerolí, ylang-ylang con aromas químicos, por la dificultad de obtenerla de la planta.

MANDARINA

(Citrus Reticulata Deliciosa) De la piel de la mandarina originaria de China, se obtiene una esencia fresca, dulce y ácida, base de los perfumes cítricos.

MANGO

(Mangifera Indica) El olor aromático, suave, afrutado y almizclado del fruto fresco del mango es una creación de los perfumistas en el laboratorio.

MEJORANA

(Origanum Maiorana) De la planta florida se obtiene un aroma cálido y especiado.

MELALEUCA

(Leptspermum Ericoides) Planta de la familia de las mirtáceas originaria de Australia y Nueva Caledonia. Sus hojas y ramas jóvenes proporcionan un aroma dulce, fresco y ligeramente alcanforado.

MELISA

(Melissa Officinalis) De la planta florida de la familia de las labiadas, cultivada en la cuenca mediterránea, de aroma fresco, parecido al limón.

En estos tiempos revueltos, se agradece este reposo. Yo puedo salir de casa con harapos, pero siempre perfumada. Aunque no creo aquello que decía Coco Chanel. Al contrario, nunca llegaré a nada, a Dios gracias. Será un atrevimiento por mi parte, pero sugiero que nos metamos en camisas de once varas y que se opine sobre perfumes concretos.
Por ejemplo, ¿alguien sabe distinguir el perfume "Parfum" de Hermès, nunca distribuido en España, del perfume "Rouge" de Herrmès de más reciente creación y gran distribución? ¿Acaso son el mismo? Lo parecen pero tengo mis dudas.
Yo creo que este debate nos relajará del abismo que se abre a nuestros pies y de las posibles intervenciones del país. Pero tampoco estaría mal debatir sobre la diferencia entre una crisis económica y un ataque del capitalismo ¿o acaso son lo mismo?
Será mejor que no me conteste don Alimaña a quien,a pesar de todo, echo mucho de menos. Yo creo que le regalaría "Habit rouge" de Guerlain si no fuera tan conciliador.El Espía, por supuesto, no debe perfumarse, dejaría rastro.

Debo estar mal informada, porque creía que "Parfum", de Hermès, era el perfume creado por la gran "nez" perfumista de Hermès, Akiko Kamei hace casi 30 años, y que fue renombrado como "Rouge" de Hermès cuando al comienzo del S/XXI Kamei decidió darle mayor énfasis a las notas de fondo con mirra y ládano contrastando con el ambarado floral (iris, rosa e ylang ylang en las notas de tête, que hay que tener valor...).

Sin el perfume no digo yo que no se pueda sobrevivir, ¡pero a qué precio!

Sólo lo suntuario es imprescindible para vivir.

Ya veo que estás muy bien informada. Me confirmas mis sospechas. No son el mismo perfume pero se parecen mucho. A mí me gustaba más el primero que nunca logré encontrar por aquí. Y me temo que lo habrán retirado ya del mercado en Francia aunque hace 3 ó 4 años todavía pude encontrar los dos en la misma tienda. Si fue "renombrado" serían entonces restos de serie de "Parfum".

Valiosísima información. Esto de ser de provincias es un lastre muy grande.
Ya sé que... pero gracias de todas formas.

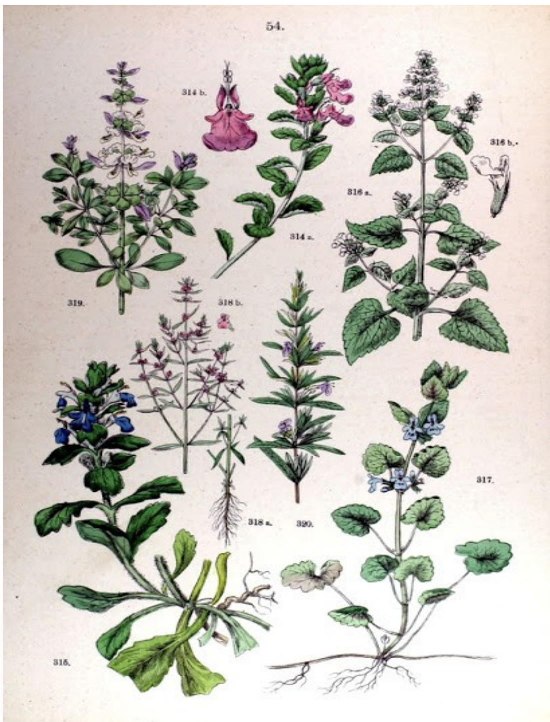
ALBAHACA



La albahaca, alhábega, alfábega, basílico, hierba real, hierba de los reyes, alfavaca, albahaca de limón, albahaca francesa, albahaca moruna, son algunos de los nombres comunes del Ocimum basilicum, una hierba aromática de la familia de las Labiadas.

Es una hierba anual, silvestre, y cultivada por semillas a principios de la primavera. La plante florece de mayo a septiembre. Necesita suelos húmedos y permeables, y sol. La Albahaca florece en espigas con flores tubulares blancas con tonos violáceos.

El aceite esencial se obtiene mediante la destilación al vapor de agua de las hojas y de las extremidades en flor. La calidad y el rendimiento en la destilación, es mayor en climas soleados.

Componentes del aceite asencial de albahaca: metilchavicol (del 40 a 50 %), linalol, triterpeno (ácido ursólico), eugenol, cariofileno, flavonoides (apigenina, luteolina), triterpeno (ácido ursólico); pineno y alcanfor. El secreto de su aroma, con reminiscencias de clavo y canela, y de sus propiedades analgésicas y antimicrobianas, reside en una enzima denominada sintetasa eugenol.

En perfumería, refuerza el carácter cítrico de las colonias frescas. Se emplea también en los perfumes de tipo Chypre afrutado. Combina bien con bergamota, citronella, incienso, geranio, ylang-ylang, vetiver, y neroli.

El perfume Ô de Lancôme tiene, entre sus principales componentes, la albahaca, combinada con romero, cilantro, bergamota, limón, mandarina, jazmín y madreselva, sándalo y vetiver. En Drakkar Noir, de Guy Laroche. Una de las grandes creaciones del perfumista Antoine Lie, 1881 Fairplay,de Cerruti, tiene en sus notas de salida, limón, pimienta blanca y cilantro, y en las notas de coeur, albahaca, romero y nuez moscada, que combinan con pachulí, sándalo y haba tonka.; en Eau de parfum, de Francis Montesinos, se combinan elementos cítricos, con jazmín, azahar, lavanda, salvia y albahaca; en el perfume Urban Spice, se ha combinado la fragancia de la albahaca con las de madera, almizcle, lavanda, y sándalo. Emporio Armani Remix tiene en las notas de salida, la albahaca, que combina con la madera de regaliz en las notas de fondo; en Baïmé Eau de Toilette, la albahaca, se combina con lavanda y tomillo; en el perfume Diorella de Christian Dior se mezcla el aroma de albahaca con cítricos, madreselva, melocotón y vetiver.

Variedades y cocina.

Existen varios tipos de albahaca, pero la más común es la que tiene hojas grandes, un poco arrugadas y carnosas, es la llamada ocynum basilicum crispum, muy usada para sazonar platos de cocina típicamente mediterráneos, como las sopas de pescado y los arroces marineros.

Otro tipo de albahaca es la ocymum basilucm simple, que presenta unas hojas más pequeñas, y algo rugosas y que se utilizan para hacer vinagres aromáticos, para realzar el aroma y el sabor de las salsas de tomate, y por sus propiedades digestivas.

Una salsa para acompañar pastas, patatas asadas, patatas cocidas con la piel, o la ensalada de tomate y queso fresco: se maja en el mortero un puñado de piñones o nueces peladas, sal, un cuarto de diente de ajo, pimienta molida, y unas hojas de albahaca fresca, y se le va añadiendo aceite poco a poco, hasta que tenga la consistencia apetecida. A esta salsa se le puede añadir anchoas cortadas en trozos pequeños, aceitunas negras y tápenas.

Uso tradicional de la Albahaca.

En horticultura, un remedio tradicional olvidado era plantar albahaca entre los cultivos que se querían proteger del hongo mildiu.

Se ha utilizado para ahuyentar los insectos, en macetas colocadas en el alféizar de las ventanas.

La albahaca fue utilizada en baños y masaje del cuerpo en la antigua Grecia; los egipcios utilizaron su fragancia aromática en las ofrendas a los dioses y también la mezclaron con las esencias de mirra y de incienso para embalsamar cuerpos. En la India se cree que sirve para ofrecer la protección al alma, porque es el perfume sagrado de Krishna y Vishnú.

Uso medicinal:

Reduce el nivel de glucosa en la sangre. Igualmente se utiliza para regular la hipertensión, previene úlceras pépticas, ayuda a disminuir los gases intestinales. En gárgaras, y enjuagues bucales, combate la halitosis y la faringitis; y, en vahos, sirve de alivio para el asma. También se usa para aliviar las náuseas, la tos, los resfriados y la congestión nasal.

Para aliviar erosiones de plantas vesicantes y las picaduras de insectos, se maja en el mortero un puñado de hojas de albahaca, y se usa en cataplasma tópica.

Para el dolor de cabeza (cefalalgia), se toma en infusión: 30 gramos en un litro de agua, y se bebe en varias tomas a lo largo del día.

Para las digestiones pesadas: cocción de 10 gramos de hojas de albahaca en un cuarto de litro de agua durante dos o tres minutos, se deja enfriar, y se añaden dos cucharadas soperas de aceite de oliva. Se toma una cucharada antes de las comidas.

Esa misma cocción también sirve para aliviar la otitis, humedeciendo en ella un algodón, para taponarse los oídos.

Y, además, de servir para todo eso, la albahaca sirve como sustituto del dinero de bolsillo: no alivia la crísis económica; pero evita las polillas, y huele bien.

CAMPAÑA CONTRA LA IMPUNIDAD DE LOS POLICÍAS MALTRATADORES

He visto publicado en "El gato en el balcón" el vídeo de la actuación violenta de la policía contra una joven y un fotógrafo. En el grupo de facebook "Identificar y difundir al policía de la agresión a la joven" se intenta que no quede impune la actuación de los policías violentos.

Ahora bien, la consigna, en el Foro de la policía —donde llaman "perroflautas"* a los que se manifiestan contra la financiación del viaje del Papa y la celebración de la Jornada Mundial de la Juventud en Madrid, que ha costado 50 millones € al erario público— es freir a denuncias ante los juzgados y la brigada de delitos informáticos a quienes publiquen estas informaciones "por poner en peligro al compañero" al publicar su imagen. Se puede ver el tono general de los policías "en apoyo del compañero" en http://www.foropolicia.es/foros/

Pueden conseguir una orden judicial en un pis pas y cerrarlos.

Les recuerdo que en España no está prohibido fotografiar a un miembro de las fuerzas de seguridad en la calle, en el ejercicio de sus funciones. Que la policía sólo puede requisar una cámara de fotos o pedir que se borren las imágenes realizadas por un ciudadano, con una orden judicial; y que la policía que crea que un transeunte comete un delito o altera el orden público, ha de detenerlo y presentarlo ante un juez, jamás golpearlo ni usar una fuerza desproporcionada.

Sería bueno que se encontraran con una campaña viral que multiplicara en todos los blogs posibles las fotos que quieren impedir que sigan viéndose en facebook.

En Periodismo Humano, recomiendo el artículo con el testimonio de Daniel Nuovo, el fotoperiodista apaleado.

Publica en tu blog o reenvía esta información y las fotos a todos los que creas conveniente, en España y fuera de España, que tome nota Amnistía Internacional, y que se identifique y se juzgue a esos policías, y se sancione su conducta.

 Perroflauta se supone que describe a quien se gana la vida tocando la flauta en la calle, y se acompaña con su perro. En justa reciprocidad, "perroporra" se supone que describe a quien se gana la vida dando porrazos a los ciudadanos sin ton ni son, y no tiene perro que le ladre.

 Recomiendo el artículo: "¿Puedo hacer esa fotografía?"

AUTO DE LA AUDIENCIA NACIONAL DE 18 DE AGOSTO DE 2011 SOBRE JOSÉ ALVANO PÉREZ BAUTISTA

DILIGENCIAS PREVIAS NUM.: 147/2.011*. Pieza de situación de* D. José Alvano PÉREZ BAUTISTA

AUTO En Madrid a dieciocho de agosto del año dos mil once

I.-HECHOS.

PRIMERO.- El pasado día 9 de agosto, a través de la colaboración ciudadana, la Comisaría General de Información tuvo conocimiento de que, a través de el diario digital "LA VOZ LIBRE", en la dirección de Internet www.lavozlibre.com. en la sección de comentarios sobre la noticia referida a la convocatoria de actos de rechazo de la visita del Papa a Madrid, una persona que utilizaba el "nick" de "BAGMAN69", había incluido, a las 13:51 y a las 15:35 horas los siguientes mensajes:

"Esta es mi lucha
A matar maricones y cualquier aberración antihumana durante sus manifestaciones en contra de la Iglesia Católica
Soy trabajador de una importante industria farmacéutica en Madrid y puedo hacerme de suficientes sustancias peligrosas para boicotear las protestas antipapa
El que se me quiera unir contacteme f_cogelon69@hotmail.com Atentamente yo
Posdata que se vallan a chingar a su madre todos los putos maricones de mierda, asquerosas abominaciones, desechos de vida, errores de Dios."

"Gracias a aquellos que han enviado mail solicitando reclutarse a mi lucha, les adelanto, tengo disponible 20 litros de ácido clorhídrico y unas 50 botellas de bromuro de bencilo, con esto podemos hacer una buena mezcla asfixiante, pero necesito más gente para distribuir contenedores de medio litro entre esas porquerías desechos de vida que se manifestarán en contra de la iglesia, y espero esta noche poder extraer del almacén unos cuantos kilos de gas cloro para esparcirlo en ampolletas de 100 mililitros. Ánimo tenemos menos de 8 días para organizamos.

A matar maricones y en nombre de Dios"

Realizadas las gestiones pertinentes en aras a determinar el autor de dichos mensajes, se vino a conocer que la dirección IP desde la que se habrían enviado se corresponde a una titularidad del Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas.

Por su parte, remitido un mensaje a la dirección de correo f_cogelon69@hotmail.com _el mismo es respondido desde una máquina conectada desde una IP cuyo rango de direcciones corresponde a la compañía JAZZ TELECOM SA.

El día 10 de agosto, a las 23:58 horas, en la misma sección del diario digital LA VOZ LIBRE, el usuario con nick BAGMAN69 emite un nuevo mensaje del siguiente tenor:

"Ánimo compañeros, ya casi estamos listos, las molotov ya están listas, quien será el valiente que arrojará una sobre la espalda de un maricón de mierda antipapa"

En dicho mensaje, su autor remite a los lectores a una página web que contiene instrucciones sobre la confección artesanal de artefactos explosivos, a partir de elementos de fácil acceso.

Realizadas las gestiones oportunas con el Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas a fin de lograr identificar a la persona que habría utilizado la dirección IP a través de la que se remitieron los mensajes con el nick BAGMAN69, se determina que dicha IP está asignada al Instituto de Química Orgánica General, sito en la calle Juan de la Cierva núm. 3 de Madrid, y que el usuario de la única máquina que tiene asignada dicha dirección es José Alvano PÉREZ BAUTISTA, nacido el 17/07/1987 en Quecholac-Puebla (Mexico), hijo de José Gumersindo y Reina Elizabeth, titular del NIE Y-1373973J, domiciliado en la calle Velazquez núm. 71, interior, 6º centro derecha de Madrid, quien se encuentra en España en situación de estancia por estudios.

Por la compañía JAZZ TELECOM SA se informa que la dirección IP antes referida está instalada en el mismo domicilio en el que vive José Alvano PÉREZ BAUTISTA.

El día 11 de agosto, a las 00:05 horas, BAGMAN 69 volvió a escribir el siguiente mensaje:

"Ánimo compañeros, nos falta un poco de fertilizante, les repito no queremos dineros, solo traigan fertilizante, nafta, pólvora o cerillo o un mechero también sirve, el único fin es matar a esos perros maricones, en su marcha antipapa es buen momento para agarrarlos a todos juntos y empalarlos y después quemarlos por maricones"

A la vista de todos estos datos, y dada la inminencia de la celebración de la manifestación referida en los mensajes que dieron lugar al inicio de la investigación, el día 16 de agosto, a las 12:50 h. se procede a la detención de José Alvano PÉREZ BAUTISTA, cuando se encontraba en los exteriores de un pabellón de IFEMA en Madrid.

SEGUNDO.- En el día de hoy ha sido puesto a disposición de este Juzgado citado detenido, a quien se le ha informado de los hechos que se le imputan y, previa información de sus derechos se le ha recibido declaración sobre los mismos.

Celebrada la comparecencia prevista en el artículo 505 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal, el ministerio Fiscal interesó

Por su parte, el letrado que ostenta la defensa del detenido

II.-RAZONAMIENTOS JURÍDICOS.

PRIMERO.- Los hechos que se imputan a D. José Alvano PÉREZ BAUTISTA podrían ser constitutivo de un delito de amenazas, previsto y penado en el artículo 170 del Código Penal, que castiga a quien profiriese amenazas de un mal que constituyere delito dirigidas a atemorizar a los habitantes de una población, grupo étnico, cultural o religioso, o colectivo social o profesional, o a cualquier otro grupo de personas, y tuvieran la gravedad necesaria para conseguirlo.

De forma que este delito requiere los elementos siguientes:

1º Amenazar, es decir, atemorizar, intimidar, amedrentar a otros a la vista de algún mal que se le anuncia.

2º El mal con el que se amenaza ha de constituir un delito. No uno de los delitos que se enumeran en la larga lista del artículo anterior, sino cualquier clase de delito.

3º La amenaza ha de dirigirse a "los habitantes de una población, grupo étnico, cultural o religioso o colectivo social o profesional, o a cualquier otro grupo de personas". Es decir, el sujeto pasivo ha de ser un colectivo, esto es, miembros integrantes de un determinado grupo, no una persona individual (o varias personas individualizadas).

4º Las amenazas han de tener la gravedad necesaria para conseguir esa finalidad de atemorizar al grupo de personas de que se trate, esto es, ha de concurrir el requisito de la idoneidad o aptitud para atemorizar. Queremos decir que este delito, como cualquier otro de amenazas, ha de realizarse con seriedad, firmeza y determinación (o concreción del mal).

TERCERO.- Y ello es así por cuanto en el presente caso, los mensajes emitidos en el diario digital "La Voz Libre" por parte de José Alvano PÉREZ BAUTISTA, quien ha reconocido ser su autor, reúnen todos los elementos para poder enmarcar, al menos indiciariamente, su conducta como constitutiva de dicho ilícito, y así:

a) En cuanto a los requisitos 1º y 2º, es claro que hay unas amenazas de males graves constitutivos de delito expresados con frases como "Esta es mi lucha. A matar maricones y cualquier aberración antihumana durante sus manifestaciones en contra de la Iglesia Católica"..."necesito más gente para distribuir contenedores de medio litro entre esas porquerías desechos de vida que se manifestarán en contra de la Iglesia..."a matar maricones en nombre de Dios"..."las molotov ya están listas, quien será el valiente que arrojará una sobre la espalda de un maricón de mierda antipapa"..."el único fin es matar a esos perros maricones en su marcha antipapa, es buen momento para agarrarlos a todos juntos y empalarlos y después quemarlos por maricones"

b) Por el contexto de los escrito, esas frases amenazantes irían dirigidas a aquellas personas que, en el ejercicio del libre derecho de manifestación, pretendieran ejercitar el mismo en la convocatoria que se celebró en Madrid en el día de ayer en contra de el empleo de fondos públicos para financiar la visita del Papa. En su declaración José Alvano PÉREZ BAUTISTA reconoce que si decidió escribir esos mensajes, que el detenido considera una "broma", lo fue considerando que "así lograría frenar las adhesiones a la manifestación y los comentarios favorables a la misma", lo que supondría coartar, bajo la amenazas, los derechos de manifestación y expresión de los ciudadanos que pretendiera acudir a la convocatoria de manifestación o expresasr libremente sus ideas sobre este particular.

c) Y en cuanto al punto 4º, los mensajes que aquí se valoran, por su propio contenido y contundencia, la firmeza y reiteración con que son emitidos y la dureza de sus términos, que genera un discurso de odio y desprecio, junto a la utilización de términos químicos que denotan un conocimiento de lo que se está hablando, generando así una racional sensación de veracidad en la amenaza y su posible cumplimiento, nos encontramos ante unos términos que hay que calificar de amenaza grave e idónea para atemorizar a todos aquellos que tuvieran acceso a tales mensajes, máximo cuando los mismos se publican en un periódico digital, accesible para cualquier persona que se conecte a la red de internet. Ese temor fue el que llevó a los ciudadanos que leyeron los mensajes a dirigirse a la policía, y a esta y a este Juzgado a intervenir, pues se daban circunstancias concretas que suponían indicios suficientes de que quien esos mensajes había escrito podía llevar a cabo sus amenazas. Por otro lado, hay que tener en cuenta que estos delitos de amenazas no requieren para su consumación que se produzca realmente el temor en los sujetos pasivos. Basta su llegada al conocimiento de los destinatarios. No son delitos de resultado, sino de mera actividad y de peligro (STS de 19.9.94, las que en ésta se citan, y las 1391/2000 de 14 de septiembre y 662/2002 de 18).

Junto a ello, se deberá valorar más adelante, en el curso del proceso, y a la vista de todos los elementos que en este momento se están analizando, si dichas amenazas deben ser consideradas como aquellas que, dentro de los delitos de terrorismo, describe el artículo 577 del Código Penal, esto es, las cometidas por los que sin pertenecer a banda armada, organización o grupo terrorista, se realizan con la finalidad de subvertir el orden constitucional o de alterar gravemente la paz pública, o la de contribuir a estos fines atemorizando a los habitantes de una población o a los miembros de un colectivo social, policito o profesional.

CUARTO.- Es por todo ello que, tal y como informó el Ministerio Fiscal, deberán adoptarse las medidas preventivas necesarias para asegurar la presencia del inculpado en el juicio que finalmente se celebre, y para ello, y dado el escaso arraigo que presenta en nuestro país, deberá constituirse "apud acta" en la Comisaría del Distrito de su domicilio mañana y tarde de cada día, con prohibición de abandonar territorio nacional, debiendo designar domicilio y teléfono en el que estará permanentemente localizable para este Juzgado.

III.- PARTE DISPOSITIVA.

S.Sª. ILTMA. ACUERDA: SE DECRETA LA LIBERTAD PROVISIONAL DE D. JOSÉ ALVANO PÉREZ BAUTISTA, con la obligación apud-acta de comparecer TODOS LOS DÍAS, mañana y tarde, en la Comisaría del distrito de su domicilio, así como cuantas veces sea llamado ante este Juzgado, y en su día ante el Tribunal que conozca de la causa, debiendo fijar domicilio y teléfono y comunicar los cambios del mismo que pueda hacer. Se prohibe expresamente que abandone territorio español, debiendo depositar ante este Juzgado su pasaporte.

El incumplimiento de tales medidas podrá llevar aparejada la revocación de la presente libertad, acordándose nuevamente la prisión provisional del citado.

Notifíquesele esta resolución con instrucción de sus derechos y recursos que pueden ejercitar, y póngase en conocimiento del Ministerio Fiscal.

Esta resolución no es firme y frente a ella cabe interponer recurso de reforma ante este Juzgado en el término de tres días.

Así lo acuerda, manda y firma el Iltmo. Sr. Don Fernando Andreu Merelles, Magistrado-Juez en funciones del Juzgado Central de Instrucción número DOS de la Audiencia Nacional, con sede en Madrid; doy fe.

E/

DILIGENCIA: Seguidamente se cumplió lo acordado; doy fe.-

POR CARIDAD, QUE ALGUIEN LE DIGA AL PAPA...

...que deje lo de protegerse las partes pudendas para cuando le chuten un penalty, que con Juan Carlos y Sofía... ¡un poquito de por favor!

Y por los clavos de Cristo, que alguien le diga ya que es daltónico, que lo de los zapatos rojos, vestido de blanco pureza...

¡Eso no se le ocurre ni a Paco Clavel!

ROMANCE DE GRIFOS LOMBARDO

24 GRIFOS LOMBARDO

Preso le llevan al conde,
preso y bien encadenado;
no por robos que haya hecho,
ni por hombres que ha matado, por forzar una doncella
en camino de Santiago.
La romera era de casta,
al rey se había querellado:
—¡Justicia, señor, justicia,
por hacer condes villanos!—
Como era hija de un duque, sobrina del Padre Santo,
como era de alto linaje,
con un gran emparentado,
sin hacer apelación,
a muerte le sentenciaron.
Le llevan a cárcel honda,

donde cristiano no ha entrado,
allí le cargan de grillos,
con esposas a las manos,
una cadena al pescuezo que cierran siete candados, el cabo de la cadena
en la cama del rey Carlos;
de día le guardan veinte hombres
y de noche veinticuatro.
Con el peso de los grillos,
se iba el conde meneando:
—¡Si tuviera aquí mis armas
y mi ligero caballo
y a mi sobrino don Golfo,
mi sobrino y mi regalo,
se me diera de vosotros
lo que huella mi zapato!
¡En estas noches de luna,
no duermas, Golfo, confiado!—
A eso de la media noche,
ya lo sacan al tablado;
por calles de su sobrino,
grandes voces iba dando:
—¡Váledme, sobrino mío,
por el pan que vos he dado;
si de ésta no me valéis,
mañana estaré ahorcado!—
Don Golfo estaba dormido, con doña Sancha a su lado;
anillo de sueño tiene,
su mujer se lo ha echado.
—¿Que es esto, la mi mujer, estas voces que oigo dando?
—Dormíos, señor, dormíos,
perros son que van ladrando.—
De media noche hacia el día, don Golfo se ha despertado.
—Has de saber, mujer mía,
que yo mal sueño he soñado, que a mi tío don Leonardo a la horca lo han llevado.
—Es cierto, dueño querido,
es cierto, dueño adorado, que a la cantada del gallo
por aquí pasó gritando, las voces que por ti daba
al cielo iban aclamando.
—¿Ahora me lo dices, perra,
¿cómo no me has despertado?—
Se levantó de la cama,
de puñaladas le ha dado.
Sin poner pie en el estribo,
ya se puso de a caballo;

las herraduras dan lumbre,
   las piedras quedan temblando;
cuando va por tierra llana,
   nadie le va divisando;
cuando subía los tesos,
   corre que parece un galgo.
Cuando llegó al terrero,
   ha visto el tablero armado;
al llegar junto a la horca,
   halló a su tío ahorcado:
—Los pies te beso, mi tío,
   por que a las manos no alcanzo,
que quien te besa los pies,
   mejor te besa la mano;
de aquí te hago la venia
   de encima de mi caballo,
de aquí te hago la venia
   porque a tu rostro no alcanzo.
Antes que sea de día,
   mi tío, seréis vengado.—
Con la punta de la espada,
   los cordeles ha cortado,
ha bajado de allí el cuerpo
   y a la iglesia lo ha llevado:
—Tomad, frailes, este cuerpo
   y dadle sepulcro honrado, que, aunque lo veáis así,
   era de grandes hidalgos.—
En el medio del camino,
   siete condes ha encontrado
—¿A dónde van, los señores,
   a dónde van tan armados?
— Vamos todos a la fiesta,
   vamos a ver el ahorcado.—
—¡Vengan carneros lanudos, para irlos trasquilando!—
Se iba metiendo por ellos
   como segador por prado, iba cortando cabezas
   como manzanas en árbol.
El rey desde su castillo
   todo lo estaba mirando:
—¡Oh, don Golfo, oh, don Golfo,
   no hagas tantos estragos:
matásteme siete condes,
   lo mejor de mi reinado!
—¡Baja de ahí, rey cornudo,
   baja de ahí, rey malvado,
baja de ahí, rey cornudo
   y contigo haré otro tanto;
como estás a la ventana,
   hablas como un papagayo!
De una hija que tenías,

yo me he ya bien vengado, por haber sido traidora
y no haberme despertado.—
El rey se le presentó,
con la corona en la mano:
¡La paz tengamos, don Golfo, don Golfo, la paz tengamos;
los muertos están allá
y los vivos aquí estamos!.

Según el benedictino fray Francisco Sota, en sus días (1681), este romance lo cantaba “la jubentud de Asturias de Santillana, en sus vayles y dançás”, con el comienzo “Preso le llevan al conde / preso y mal encadenado”. Con ese comienzo, lo recogimos aún en 1948 Álvaro Galmés y yo en las mismas “Asturias de Santillana”.

La documentación antigua del tema es muy deficitaria. Un Pliego Suelto de los primeros decenios del siglo XVI divulgó, en forma impresa, un texto trunco, inhabilmente rematado con un final “feliz”, en que se da cuenta de que el forzador se va a casar con la exdoncella. Y ése es el texto que conocieron y reprodujeron los cancioneros de romances. Otra versión, igualmente fragmentaria, se canta, como alusiva a las desdichas del protagonista, en la comedia histórica “La romera de Santiago”, representada en 1622 o 1623 en el cuarto de su majestad la reina. La comedia parece ser de Luis Vélez de Guevara. Los dos textos fragmentarios, el del Pliego Suelto “para tañer con vihuela”, en que se cuenta la prisión y condena del conde Griffo Lombardo, impreso en el s. XVI, y el cantado sobre las tablas, con acompañamiento de guitarra, en 1622/23, sobre la prisión y condena del conde don Lisuardo, no tienen en común sino un solo dieciseisílabo: “porque forzó una donzella camino de Santiago” / “porque forzó una romera camino de Santïago”. Sin embargo, la tradición oral de Canarias, de los gitanos de Andalucía, de Portugal, de Galicia, de Asturias, de León, de Cantabria y de los judíos sefardíes de Marruecos nos asegura, con su unánime testimonio, que los dos textos son dos variantes de un mismo romance y que los motivos que constituyen uno y otro relato formaron parte de la misma narración.

El sistema de códigos y valores en que el romance se fundamenta, junto con la onomástica de sus principales personajes (Griffon y Wulf, en castellano “Golfo”) nos sitúa a sus antecesores en el mundo épico-feudal transpirenaico, más bien que en el “histórico” peninsular, como creía Sota.

Aunque, como acabo de decir, el romance, en esta su forma original, conservaba en pleno siglo XX una amplia difusión geográfica, su vida tradicional era ya, en todas partes, un tanto precaria, pues pertenecía sólo al repertorio romancístico de muy contados cantores.

En un área compacta, que se extiende desde Lugo hasta Cantabria, el romance ha tendido a ser reemplazado por una refundición del tema (“El conde Miguel de Prado”) influida por los romances modernos de “guapos”; en esa refundición, el “sobrino” del conde preso es reemplazado por un primo, llamado Bernardo, quien está jugando a los naipes con el rey cuando se entera de que están ajusticiando a su primo y acude a tiempo para llegar a descabezar al verdugo, dar una patada a la horca y salvar al forzador.

¿QUIÉN ES EL MONSTRUO DE FLORENCIA? (4)

6 de junio de 1981: asesinato de Giovanni Foggi y Carmela Di Nuccio

Los cadáveres de Giovanni Foggi, de 30 años, empleado de la compañía eléctrica Enel, y de su novia, Carmela De Nuccio, de 21 años, empleada en una marroquinería, fueron encontrados el 7 de junio de 1981, en un olivar en los alrededores de Scandicci Mosciano.

Eran novios desde hacía pocos meses, y pensaban casarse pronto. La tarde de su asesinato, un sábado, comieron en casa de los padres de Carmela, después salieron a dar un paseo, y pararon el coche, un Fiat Ritmo, color cobre, en un camino de tierra apartado, bajo las colinas de Roveta, no lejos de la discoteca "Anastasia", en una zona frecuentada por parejas y mirones.

Giovanni fue alcanzado por cinco disparos a través de la ventanilla delantera izquierda del coche. Otras tres balas alcanzaron a Carmela. Luego, el asesino sacó del coche a la muchacha, y la arrastró hasta una zanja cercana. Allí, cortó los pantalones vaqueros y las bragas, y de tres tajos en el bajo vientre extrajo el pubis, y acuchilló repetidamente el cadaver. Luego, antes de irse, acuchilló el cadáver del muchacho en el cuello y el pecho.

Los cuerpos de los jóvenes se encontraron a la mañana siguiente. El cadaver de Giovanni estaba sentado en el coche, como en el asesinato de 1974; y también en este, se ha utilizado la Beretta 22 y el cuchillo, y se ensañó con los cadáveres, especialmente con el de la mujer. Y también esta vez, como en los crímenes anteriores, el asesino ha abierto el bolso de la muchacha, y ha esparcido su contenido cerca de su cadaver. Y como burla siniestra, la ha dejado con los brazos y las piernas abiertas, y le ha puesto entre los dientes el collar de perlas que la joven llevaba.

Las coincidencias en los crímenes del Monstruo de Florencia no se limitan al tipo de víctimas, los medios utilizados y el modus operandi de los asesinatos, también concurren las mismas circunstancias: lugares solitarios, caminos de tierra, ocultos, frecuentados por parejas jóvenes, el Monstruo ataca en noches de luna nueva, o con el cielo cubierto, casi siempre en verano, y durante los fines de semana. Siempre ha utilizado una pistola Beretta 22, serie 70, comercializada en los años cincuenta, cargada con balas Winchester serie H (procedentes de dos cajas de 50 cartuchos).

En cuatro de los ocho homicidios dobles, el asesino había extraído el pubis y el seno de las mujeres asesinadas.

Todo esto induce a pensar que el asesino conocía bien el terreno, eligió y acechó a sus víctimas, y no actuó aleatoriamente. No dejó huellas físicas que pudieran ayudar a identificarlo. Se tomó su tiempo después para eliminar cualquier rastro, y, seguramente, para cambiar sus ropas manchadas de sangre.

El profesor Mauro Maurri, jefe del servicio de Anatomía Patológica de Florencia informó que la mutilación de Carmela de Nuccio: "... indica la acción de una persona con conocimientos absolutamente excepcionales"... Creen que el asesino ha de ser un cazador por su conocimiento del campo, carnicero o cirujano.

Sin embargo, no son los crímenes de un cazador, un carnicero, o un cirujano que exprese su sadismo haciendo sufrir a sus víctimas. Mata de forma rápida y expeditiva, pero se recrea manipulando y mutilando los cadáveres de las mujeres que mata. Su ensañamiento se corresponde con el de un hombre frustrado por su irrelevancia personal -y por lo tanto, también profesional-. Son más bien los crímenes de un forense sin los atributos del respeto social que este título comporta; un simple auxiliar de Anatomía Patológica, que sólo se ocupa de las tareas más desagradables y menos importantes.

Su conocimiento de la naturaleza, su percepción del terreno, los ruidos y las sombras en medio de la noche, que le permiten interpretar y valorar el peligro y no verse sorprendido por los cientos de mirones que merodean en busca de parejas, indica que está familiarizado con el campo, pero su pantalla para resultar un personaje familiar e inofensivo no podría ser la de un cazador nocturno, furtivo, sobre el que recaería la vigilancia de los guardabosques y los "carabinieri", sino el de un aficionado a la herboristería, que recolectara las plantas de madrugada, según las ancestrales enseñanzas de los curanderos.

Como, por ejemplo, quien se autotitulaba "Cavallier" y "Doctor": Pietro N., auxiliar de Anatomía Patologica en Arezzo, al que le gustaba salir de su entorno en cuanto podía, viajar a la vecina Florencia, y contar a los desconocidos que dirigía el departamento de Oncología del principal Hospital de Arezzo, que curaba el cáncer mediante plantas que él mismo recolectaba, sin cirugía ni técnicas agresivas, y que había sido requerido para tratar a los principales mandatarios del mundo...

Pietro N. estaba muy lejos del metro ochenta cms. de altura, de los cuarenta años, del físico poderoso y de la excepcional inteligencia que los expertos habían dado como perfil del "Monstruo de Florencia". Era uno de tantos incapaces de estar a la altura de las expectativas de una familia en la que abundan los médicos y profesores, con accesos de cólera y el caracter vidrioso y borde de todos los fracasados.

La policía italiana se ensañó en los detalles procaces del cómo y por qué la pareja asesinada había buscado un lugar apartado. Y la investigación se centró en Antonio Leone, el ex-novio de Carmela de Nuccio, y en los mirones que espían a las parejas, "los índios"; y acusaron formalmente del doble crímen a Carlo Tommasi guarda forestal de Montelupo y a Enzo Spalletti, al que se había visto en la zona con su amigo Fosco Fabbri. La noche del asesinato se habían encontrado en la "Taberna del Diablo", en Roveta, y luego se habían ido a acechar parejas. Fosco, estaba cansado y se marchó antes de la medianoche; pero Spalletti se quedó, y cuando volvió a su casa a las dos de la madrugada, le dijo a su mujer, como antes a los parroquianos del bar que frecuentaba, que había visto dos cadáveres.

Mientras Spalletti estuvo en la cárcel, acusado del doble asesinato, su máximo temor era que "el verdadero culpable" creyera que había visto algo y se pudiera ir de la lengua. Más o menos como el resto de los italianos que tuvieron el triste privilegio de haber sido interrogados como testigos o sospechosos, en relación con alguno de los más de cuatro mil asesinatos que hubo en Italia en la época en que actuaba el Monstruo de Florencia.

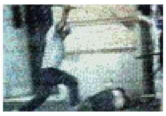
DIGAMOS QUE SE LLAMABA JUAN



Juan era un curita obrero lleno de brío, que bajaba de la obra donde trabajaba como encofrador, y acudía al lado de un moribundo con el Viático para recibir una buena rociada de la familia, que esperaba a un cura como Dios manda y se encontraba a un hombre oliendo a sudor, con el polvo de cemento incrustado en cada pliegue de la piel y una mirada de insomne maniaco. Luego, a las tantas, después de atender a su parroquia, llegaba en su vespino de segunda mano a la reunión con sus curtidos compañeros de la izquierda, en la sacristía que teníamos a nuestra disposición.

Desentonaba entre nosotros por esa untuosa prosodia que sólo se aprende en el Seminario, y que nos divertía casi tanto como nos irritaba su manía de introducir tacos que sonaban artificiales. Siempre se podía contar con él para aportar la "vietnamita" que usaba en la parroquia, aquél trasto donde se imprimía de una en una las octavillas, y que habría sido una prueba de convicción para la policía, si la hubiera encontrado en la casa de cualquiera que no fuera él.

Dábamos mil rodeos para comprobar que no nos seguían, cambiábamos de dirección en el metro, bajábamos del autobús tres paradas antes, y fingíamos ir a comprar verdura en la frutería que había al lado de la Iglesia para comprobar que no había policía en los alrededores, o, si era de noche, íbamos hasta la farmacia de la esquina como si consultáramos cuál estaba de guardia. Después de una jornada interminable de trabajo, aquellas precauciones eran rituales que nos tranquilizaban poco y nos hacían ver extrañas coincidencias en cualquiera que fuera en la misma dirección o se cruzara con nuestra mirada por el mero hecho de estar ahí. Juan nos iba haciendo pasar con una sonrisa tensa, con aquella intensa alegría que irradiaba siempre, y que no nos reconfortaba, como si nos fuera a anunciar que Franco había aterrizado en Portugal y había pedido asilo a Salazar. Ahora eso suena risible, pero hubo un momento en que creímos que había ocurrido: Radio Tirana o alguna por el estilo en sus tremebundas emisiones para España lo había dicho, y la noticia corrió, en 1969, entre todos los grupos de izquierdas. Sin embargo, fue Radio Nacional quien dijo la verdad: se había decretado el "Estado de excepción" a raíz de las movilizaciones estudiantiles y obreras que tuvo como detonante la muerte de Enrique Ruano. Luego, muchos años después se supo sobre aquel asesinato explicado como suicidio:

"El 17 de enero de 1969, Enrique Ruano, estudiante y miembro del Frente de Liberación Popular, fue detenido por agentes de la Brigada Político-Social por haber repartido propaganda contra el régimen franquista. Dos días después, el 19 de enero, fue trasladado, por los agentes ahora definitivamente absueltos, a un piso situado en la séptima planta de un edificio de la calle Príncipe de Vergara, antes General Mola, desde el que fue precipitado a un patio inferior, falleciendo en el acto.*

La versión oficial, mantenida en el juicio por los procesados, pretendió que Ruano se había suicidado, sorprendiendo a los agentes que le custodiaban cuando le quitaron las esposas y arrojándose por la ventana. Esta versión fue la admitida por los Tribunales que archivaron la causa. Cuando en 1991 se logró la reapertura del sumario, los forenses descubrieron que personas desconocidas habían serrado un trozo de la clavícula de Enrique Ruano y este trozo de hueso había desaparecido. Esta pieza se correspondía con un orificio de entrada que presentaba el cadáver de Enrique Ruano y nunca apareció.

La versión de la familia del fallecido es que Enrique murió a consecuencia del disparo efectuado por uno de los agentes mientras le interrogaba esposado, tras lo cual le arrojaron por la ventana."

Durante el estado de excepción se multiplicaron las detenciones y las palizas indiscriminadas a los detenidos al alba, a veces por el mero hecho de haber sido detenido otras veces, otras por sospechas policiales sin fundamento. Quien podía, desaparecía de su domicilio e incluso de su trabajo. De todos nosotros, Paco y Sebas eran los únicos que habían pasado por la cárcel: tenían cerca de cuarenta años, pero aparentaban diez más, y trabajaban en la obra con nuestro cura, al que trataban siempre con una ternura abrupta que no usaban con nosotros, que éramos vapuleados como "izquierdistas de salón", aunque era obvio que ninguno de nosotros hubiera podido brillar en los salones.

En aquella última reunión a la que acudí, aún estaba vigente el "estado de excepción", Juan no nos esperaba con su mejor sonrisa, sino con un gesto severo. Apenas nos sentamos, nos contó lo que resumo sin entrecomillar, porque hace demasiado tiempo para recordar las palabras exactas: había sido convocado por su superior jerárquico y le había leído de pe a pa sus andanzas como militante en la clandestinidad, le había dado un somero retrato de cada uno de nosotros, obviamente facilitados por la policía, y, a continuación, le había ordenado cesar todos los contactos y las reuniones. Juan, heroicamente le espetó que esa misma noche tenía una asamblea y que seguiría con ella, y si su superior quería que abandonara, sólo tenía que avisarle a la policía para que lo detuvieran.

Paco estaba pálido y con la vista clavada en el suelo sin poder reaccionar. Sebas le preguntó porqué no había suspendido aquella reunión, por qué no había avisado de esto y había decidido jugar a los héroes poniéndonos a todos en peligro...

Juan dijo algo así como "sangre de mártires, semilla de cristianos", y algunos, poco proclives al masoquismo, no nos quedamos para escuchar la continuación, y nos dispersamos en todas las direcciones. Yo bajaba por las escaleras del metro más próximo cuando escuché las sirenas y la megafonía pidiendo a los congregados en la iglesia que salieran con las manos en alto.

Detuvieron, junto al cura, a Paco y a Sebas, los únicos que se habían quedado a discutir, y Juan se comportó con una serenidad que no tuvieron los demás, según me contaron Paco y Sebas tres años después, a los pocos días de salir de la cárcel.

En la comisaría, Juan fue tratado con una obsequiosa deferencia y le llamaron en todo momento "Padre" y de usted. A veces, llevaban a los otros detenidos para que comprobaran a través de una ventanilla disfrazada de espejo, como el Padre Juan estaba defendiendo sus puntos de vista y su ideario con un comisario que lo escuchaba, le daba la razón, y le decía que estaba de acuerdo, pero que su posición era muy difícil porque aun admirando a los que detenía, había de aplicar las órdenes injustas y arbitrarias... Ante ellos las tazas de café, los cigarrillos y las galletas completaban la escena.

Paco graznó una de sus características carcajadas:

— "Mientras, a Sebas lo tuvieron que llevar al segundo día al hospital para extirparle el bazo, que le habían reventado a palizas; y a mí me habían dejado este ojo ciego a base de golpes —ahora sólo veo sombras con él—, y los gomazos en las plantas de los pies me dejaron dieciséis huesos fracturados que han soldado mal. Cada vez que doy un paso cojeando o tengo que dar media vuelta para ver algo, me acuerdo de la puta que parió a todos los cristianos... ¡Con las broncas que te eché porque no te fiabas de ninguno de ellos!..."

A Juan lo encontré años más tarde, siendo auxiliar de un obispo muy bien considerado por los demócratas y que se movía con gracia en las camarillas del poder. Me dijo que la gente como nosotros no teníamos conciencia ni humanidad, y me confesó que se sentía muy dolido con los izquierdistas, porque lo habíamos utilizado como "compañero de viaje", y jamás habíamos visto en él un ser humano sino una herramienta para nuestros propósitos.

Y a veces lo recuerdo como era en aquellos lejanos tiempos, con sus camisas de cuadros, su flequillo sobre los ojos, su calidez y su convicción férrea, y sonrío enternecida cuando veo sus fotos en los periódicos, siempre al lado de los jerarcas y de los torturadores.

Siempre me arrepentiré de la hostiacina que no le di cuando pude.

Gatopardo

 El 19 de julio la Sección Segunda de la Audiencia Provincial absolvió a tres comisarios de Policía, FRANCISCO LUIS COLINO HERNANZ, JESÚS SIMÓN CRISTÓBAL y CELSO GALVÁN ABASCAL, acusados del asesinato de ENRIQUE RUANO CASANOVA el 17 de enero de 1969, cuando eran inspectores de la Brigada Político-Social del franquismo.

La absolución se basó en la falta de pruebas contra los procesados, si bien indicaba que no es posible admitir sin dudas razonables la versión oficial del suicidio. Uno de los magistrados del Tribunal, María José de la Vega Llanes, emitió un voto particular en el que estimaba que Ruano fue asesinado de un disparo (versión de la acusación), pero al no haberse podido establecerse cual de los procesados fue autor del mismo, estimaba que debían ser absueltos los tres. Durante la vista del juicio oral, el Fiscal y el abogado del Estado solicitaron la absolución de los procesados, por no ser los hechos enjuiciados constitutivos de delito y, alternativamente, solicitaban, para el caso de una posible condena, la aplicación de la Amnistía decretada en 1997. Finalmente, la sentencia fue confirmada por el Tribunal Supremo en todos sus aspectos.

SHANG WENJIE: À LA CLAIRE FONTAINE

 Versión en francés de Shang Wenjie, de la canción "À la claire fontaine": descargar mp3:

À la claire fontaine
M'en allant promener
J'ai trouvé l'eau si belle Que je m'y suis baigné

Il y a longtemps que je t'aime,
Jamais je ne t'oublierai.

Sous les feuilles d'un chêne,
Je me suis fait sécher.
Sur la plus haute branche,
Le rossignol chantait.

Il y a longtemps que je t'aime,
Jamais je ne t'oublierai.

Chante, rossignol, chante,
Toi qui as le cœur gai.
Tu as le cœur à rire…
Moi je l'ai à pleurer.

Il y a longtemps que je t'aime,
Jamais je ne t'oublierai.

J'ai perdu mon amie
Sans l'avoir mérité.
Pour un bouquet de roses
Que je lui refusais…

Il y a longtemps que je t'aime,
Jamais je ne t'oublierais

Je voudrais que la rose
Fût encore au rosier,

Et que ma douce amie
Fût encor à m'aimer.

Il y a longtemps que je t'aime,
Jamais je ne t'oublierai

Tres jolie chanson! J'aime avec passion la France! Et aussi en même temps je la hais et la méprise de tout mon coeur. Je ne peux pas lui pardonner certains crimes qiu souillent et endommagent tout ce que j'ai aimé si passionément.

Je te embrasse.

Ou comme Victor Hugo, dans son poème "À la France" on pourra dire:

"Condamne à la rougeur de t'avouer pour mère.
Tu ne peux pas mourir, c'est le regret qu'on a.
Tu penches dans la nuit ton front qui rayonna ;
L'aigle de l'ombre est là qui te mange le foie ;
C'est à qui reniera la vaincue ; et la joie
Des rois pillards, pareils aux bandits des Adrets, Charme l'Europe et plaît au monde... - Ah ! je voudrais,
Je voudrais n'être pas Français pour pouvoir dire
Que je te choisis, France, et que, dans ton martyre,
Je te proclame, toi que ronge le vautour,
Ma patrie et ma gloire et mon unique amour !"

Je t'embrasse, moi aussi.

Il m'a fallu du temps pour comprendre le sens du poème. Il s'agit de Prométhée, le voleur du feu, condamné par les dieux jaloux, qui sont la représentation des « rois pillards ». Personne ne pourrait mieux le dire, je n'ajouterais rien aux mots de Victor Hugo. Je choisis de leur rendre hommage en silence respectueux. Tu es une vraie professeur pour moi, je ne cesse de t'admirer et de m'étonner de ton savoir en lissant tes posts bien que je ne suis pas toujours de ton avis. J'ai peur de ton humeur sarcastique. Je te réitère encore mon affection d'élève reconnaissant.

Ah, que tu est gentil, fiston!

Mais, à mon age, il faut que je lise Rodrigo Cota, parce qu'on loue tous ma sagesse, mais personne loue mes nichons:

"O vejez mala de malo.
Alma biua en seco palo,
biua muerte y muerta vida.
Deprauado y obstinado
desseoso de pecar.
Mira, malauenturado, que te dexa a ti el pecado
y tú nol quieres dexar."

Alors, mon humeur devient de plus en plus caustique.

Il faut pas me prendre au seriéux!

Je t'embrasse!

Nous tous, hommes et femmes, nous usons de la ménace, de la prière pour cacher notre desarroi...

Notre détresse -celle des hommes et des femmes- peut-être ne nous font pas dignes du mérit, et non plus du mépris, mais de la pitié.

Bénits soit-ils les hommes et les femmes non emasculées, qui peuvent jouir sans rémords.

Ah, non. Je n'exclus pas que les femmes soient aussi mauvais que les hommes, chacun à sa manière. On considère les relations amoureuses du point de vue psychologique, individuel, et c'est une chose. Ou nous pouvons examiner les relations du point de vue social ou politique, et c'est tout autre chose.

Les femmes et les hommes diffèrent peu dans nos sociétés d'abondance, dans le centre de l'empire, pour ainsi dire. Les contradictions sont rares ici. Mais tenez compte que la violence dans les situations de guerre et l'exploitation économique, si commune dans les pays sous-développés, affectent la plupart des femmes sur la planète. Il ya d'autres priorités que l'angoisse "existentielle" ou la libération sexuelle pour eux. Prêcher à ces femmes que la solution est d'ouvrir les jambes rend le jeu de l'impérialisme et le patriarcat, qui ne sont pas la même chose, mais se renforcent mutuellement.

Je pense que la société occidentale est saturée de pornographie. Les incitations ne manquent pas, sont partout.

Les "femmes libres", et les hommes, de notre monde bénéficient de cela aussi. Je veux dire que les femmes et les hommes occidentaux ont plus de temps libre et les ressources financières nécessaires pour jouir d'une vie sexuelle satisfaisante. Merci à l'exploitation des femmes pauvres dans le Tiers Monde. Les "sœurs" des pays pauvres sont les victimes oubliées de notre "libération".

Sincèrement.

Se vanter de la "liberté sexuelle" dans un monde comme celui-ci, il me semble insultant pour ceux qui n'ont aucune liberté.

ECODIARIO-EL ECONOMISTA EMBISTE AL IDIOMA ESPAÑOL

La noticia es de la Agencia EFE, otra de esas sociedades del "sector público estatal", tan descuidado por quienes investigan el destino de los presupuestos generales del Estado, cuya estructura legal, contable, fiscal y presupuestaria está más liada que la pata de un romano*; pero la entradilla en portada de http://ecodiario.eleconomista.es, en la sección de "Las caras de la política", diciendo que Bibiana Aído ha sido "embestida" como doctor honoris causa, no tiene padre conocido, por lo que requerimos a la autoridad competente para que investigue y descubra al responsable, y lo presente ante este Tribunal de Faltas, como reo de la pena de mitones hasta el codo, sin acceso a tiza, lápiz, pluma, bolígrafo, procesador de textos, o cualquier objeto que pudiera servirle para seguir embistiendo al idioma.

Como pena accesoria se le condena a memorizar y repetir en voz alta mil veces que "investir" es conferir una dignidad o cargo importante, y "embestir" es arrojarse con ímpetu contra una persona o cosa; acometer, atacar violentamente.

Otrosí, han de ser procesados sus profesores por fraude contractual y mala praxis profesional, y el Ministerio de Educación como responsable civil subsidiario por haberles causado esta grave incapacidad para   redactar con propiedad.

LOS YESTERDAY: LA POLICÍA SE HA MOSQUEADO CON LOS NIÑATOS

* Para escuchar y descargar

Cuplé, dedicado de nuestras partes
a los sucesivos ministros de Interior.

La policía se ha mosqueado con los niñatos
y ha conseguido que se denuncie por desacato a todo aquel que le hable mal o haga malos gestos.
A mi me importa un carajo
porque yo hablo pa' tos mis muertos.

Anoche me dijo un guardia con esa forma tan dulce que les caracteriza:
—A ver, documentación, documentación,
aligera, cojones, que tengo prisa.
Y le dije fisnamente:
—Si procede me detiene,
pero DNI no llevo,
sólo llevo el ADN;
la cartera me la robaron
mientras que usted se rascaba el pene.

Estribillo

Come on, baby, come on, baby,
sexo, drogas y rock&roll,
no hagas la guerra y haz el amor.

TOMÁS HARRIS O LOS PELIGROS DE INVOCAR A LOS ESPÍRITUS

El mago Jasper Maskelyne tenía la especialidad de crear realidades inexistentes. Los Harris tienen el arte de desaparecer. A su estilo, modo y manera también constituyen un Magic Gang.

Los fenómenos casi paranormales comenzaron con los objetos: se evanescían los historiales de procedencia y propiedad de obras de arte con las que mercadeaban. Aparecía un cuadro, tapiz o forja en un museo, procedente de la Spanish Art Gallery o de Don Lionel o de Don Tomás, y nadie sabía explicar a quién ni cuándo ni qué permisos de exportación avalaban la transacción, y hasta las musas de varias toneladas que fotografiaba*. Los escépticos han hablado de expolio. Nosotros, que nos hemos encariñado con los Harris y su Magic Gang, hablaremos de teletransportación o un caso más del irrefutable Experimento Filadelfia.

No sabemos en qué fecha exacta se esfuman los primeros Harris: hay Harris que se evaporan, a finales del siglo XIX, de Africa traficando con diamantes, otros, a mitad del siglo XX, se traslumbran en los Países Bajos persiguiendo comunistas... Tenemos un caso documentado, gracias a la pertinaz contumacia de su descendiente, en William Harris, que transmigró sin abandonar su alma mortal, en plena Segunda Guerra Mundial, dejando viuda y tres hijos, y se encarnó, varios años e hijos después, en un anticuario de Gales. Sus hermanos, acostumbrados a estos prodigios familiares, mantuvieron la relación sin mostrar asombro alguno. Previendo la incomprensión de una sociedad burocrática y materialista, los Harris, que siempre andan unidos, en este mundo o en su/s paralelo/s, suelen redactar testamentos declarando beneficiarios a cualquier paisano que no sea un Harris, que puede haber transmigrado antes de acudir al notario.

No se trata de casos de fantasmogénesis, que también se dan en la familia, aunque tangencialmente. Tomás Harris escribió su opus magna sobre *Garbo después de su paso al Oriente Eterno. Y lo hizo tan bien que nadie notaría la mano del Security Service en esa trepidante prosa de funcionario con delirios de Trevanian. Un caso de auténtico fantasma sería el de Juan Pujol, en cuya biografía los agentes ficticios sería la menor de sus invenciones, pero eso es otra historia.

Cuando Tomás decidió transustanciarse y trasladar su cuerpo astral a otros pagos, su familia y sus íntimos quedaron tan poco sorprendidos que se olvidaron de comprobar si el envoltorio físico, depositado en un nicho, correspondía al héroe. Y, puestos a ser olvidadizos, no se encarnaron en el entierro. Sobre esta historia hay dos corrientes de pensamiento: la escuela inductiva, que sostiene que no hubo forense porque no hubo autopsia y no hubo autopsia porque no habia Harris y la escuela deductiva, según la cual no hubo Harris, porque no hubo autopsia y no hubo autopsia porque no hubo forense. Sin embargo, yo, según demuestro en mi tesis doctoral sobre la lógica formal de las estructuras sintagmáticas de apócrifos necrológicos, puedo afirmar que se trata de un razonamiento viciado, una petición de principios. La corriente antropológico social sostendrá que se trata de una variante tradicional del tema de El Muerto Vivo, y la escuela antropológico-forense exigirá análisis de ADN antes de emitir su veredicto. No hay tal. Tomás, como buen Harris, se limitó a desaparecer.

Estos días acaba de desaparecer de la red el contenido anterior de dos páginas web de la bella Anita Harris, que tuvo la mala bají de fuchiquear dónde andaba el resto de la familia. Y el resultado de sus pesquisas fue espectacular. A los Harris compadres y comadres, fueron sumándose los hijos, nietos y circunvecinos de los espías amigos de tío Tomás, en una entrañable corrala de los servicios de inteligencia británicos, que, aunque anden escasos de ella, no les ha debido hacer gracia las inquietudes genealógicas de la sobrina nieta de Tommy Harris.

Andaba Anita contenta como la Reina del Tropicana jaleando confidencias, recuerdos, homenajes y exposiciones sobre tío Tomás y recibió mi humilde contribución a la figura del héroe del Dia D con auténtico entusiasmo, entusiasmo que atribuí a ese pronto racial y mediterraneo de los Harris y, sobre todo, a una lectura algo apresurada y somera del texto , que, además, había sido víctima de las jugarretas del Google Translate. La traducción automática, que amablemente me envió para mi conformidad, había recargado algo las tintas en la adjetivación del original, ya de por si contundente, y había añadido algún adjetivo como “chulo de putas”, que el pobre Tommy, cualesquiera hubieran sido sus pecados, no se merecía.

En algún trance de sensatez Anita decidió no incluir el enlace a mi artículo, que habría deslucido algo la capillita funeraria tan primorosamente confeccionada. Así que, como decía la doncella de Miss Marple cuando aparecía una taza rota: “Yo no he sido”.

Sin embargo, ha habido otro impertinente lector de la magnífica página web hoy desaparecida, cuyo intervención traduzco y someto a lector:

"Trabajo en la National Gallery of Victoria in Melbourne, Australia. Nuestro museo adquirió una serie de obras de Tomás Harris en la primera mitad del siglo XX. Estoy interesado en indagar más sobre su propia colección y sobre sus transacciones como marchante. ¿Puede decirme si existe un archivo personal/profesional y dónde se conserva para que pueda localizar los libros de contabilidad"

Y fue mentar los libros de cuentas, la bicha de la procedencia, y otro Harris que ha chapado el chiringuito.

Como dice la canción "ichanela la pregunta que le hizo el caló!"

PS: Pecando de impacientes:

- ¿Para cuándo la documentada y definitiva obra sobre Tomás Harris de Andreu Jaume, el Apologeta?
- ¿Nigel Glendinning anda también missing?

EN INGLÉS:

TOMAS HARRIS OR HOW DANGEROUS IS INVOKING SOME SPIRITS

The magician Jasper Maskelyne had the specialty of creating non-existent realities. The Harrises have the art of disappearing. In their own style, ways and means, they also constitute a Magic Gang.

The almost paranormal phenomena began with the objects: the records of provenance and ownership of art works they dealt evanesced . There was a table, tapestry or forge piece in a museum, from the Spanish Art Gallery or from Don Lionel or Don Tomás, and nobody knew explain how where or when were the export permits endorsing the transactions, and even the muses of several tons faded away after being photographied. The sceptics have spoken about looting and spoliation. Whereas we have grown fond of Harrises and their Magic Gang, we will talk about teleporting or one more case of the irrefutable Philadelphia experiment.

We do not know in what exact date vanished into thin air the first Harris: there are one Harris evaporated, at the end of the 19th century, in Africa smuggling diamonds, other one, half of the 20th century, vanished in dutch fog pursuing communists… We have a documented case (thanks to the stubborn persistence of his descendant), in William Harris, who transmigrated without abandoning previously his mortal flesh, in the Second World War, having left behind widow and three children, and he reincarnated, after several years and children, as an antiques dealer in Wales. His siblings, who were accustomed to these hereditary wonders, kept it to themselves without displaying any emotion or astonishment.

In anticipation of the incomprehension by a bureaucratic and materialistic society, the Harrises, who always walk together in this world or parallels, often draft wills declaring beneficiaries to any fellow countryman who is not a Harris, perhaps because any Harris may transmigrate before going to the notary or sollicitor. It is not about a case of ghostly phenomena, which also occur in the family, although tangentially. Tomás Harris wrote his opus magna on Garbo  after his final step to the Eternal Orient. And he did it so well that no one would notice the hand of the Security Service in that trepidant paced prose of civil servant with delusions of Trevanian. A case of genuine ghost would be Juan Pujol, in whose biography the fictitious agents would be the lesser of his inventions, but that is another story.

When Thomas decided to transustance and move his astral body to other pagus, his family and friends were so little surprised that they forgot to check if the physical wrapping, deposited in a nicho, was the hero's. And they became so forgetful to the point not to be present (materially, of course) in the burial.

On this history, there are two schools of thought: the school inductive, which maintains that there was no forensic expert witness because there was no autopsy, and there was no autopsy because there was no Harris and deductive school, according to which there was no Harris, because there was no autopsy and there was no autopsy because there was no forensic expert witness.

However, as I show in my doctoral thesis on formal logic structures of sintagmatic necrologic apocrypha, I am able to say that this is a logical fallacy, a petitio principii, The new social anthropological school persuasively argue that it is a variant of the traditional theme of the dead alive, and the anthropological forensic school will require ADN analysis before issuing its verdict. There is no such. Thomas, as a good Harris, simply disappeared.

These days have just disappeared from the network the previous contents of two web pages of the beautiful Anita Harris, who had the mala baji or bad luck of nosing around the family history. And the result of her investigations was spectacular.

The children, grandchildren, nieces, uncles and surrounding holotypes of the spies friends of Uncle Tommy turned to help the industrious genealogist, forming a lovely "Ask your Agony Aunt" Club about british intelligence services, which, although they don´t have a great amount of it , should not find any joke in the genealogical concerns of the grand-niece of Tommy Harris.

As Anita was happy as the Queen of the Tropicana reciving confidences, memories, and tributes and presentations on Uncle Thomas ,received my humble contribution  to the figure of the hero of the D-Day with genuine enthusiasm, enthusiasm that we attach to that racial and mediterranean quickness of the Harrises and, above all, to a reading something hasty and shallow of the text, which, in addition, had been the victim of the shenanigans of the Google Translate.

The automatic translation, that she kindly sent me to my acceptance, had put some heavy adjectives in the original, already blunt, and had added some adjective as "pimp" that poor Tommy, whatever his sins, didn't deserve. In some trance of wisdom Anita decided not to include the link to my article, which would have put a lackluster flower in the little funeral chapel so wonderfully drawn up.

So, as the Miss Marple's housemaid said when a cup was found broken : "I am not guilty".

However, there has been another impertinent reader of the magnific web page today disappeared, whose intervention you can read here:

I work at the National Gallery of Victoria in Melbourne, Australia. Our Gallery acquired a number of objects from Tomas Harris in early to mid 20th century. I am interested in finding out more about his own collection and of his dealership. Can you tell me if an archive (business/personal) exists and where it is kept so that I can track down the account books?

The NGV have purchased works from Tomas Harris and he also made several gifts of artworks, presumably from the stockroom of his Gallery, rather than from his own personal collection. I'm trying to ascertain where and/or from whom he obtained these objects.

And the miracle came: The inquiries about account books is a omen to the Harrises. Another member of this singular family has closed the shop.

As the gypsy song says "¡chanela la pregunta que le hizo el caló!" (Attention to the question made by the guy!)

JORGE LUIS PEÑA REYES: BREVE HISTORIA DEL MOSQUITO ACCIDENTADO

Un día de mar estático sobre la arena muy pálida, soplaba una brisa cálida
que trajo a un mosquito errático.
Pasó un cangrejo lunático
ensimismado y atlético.
Lo vio el mosquito esquelético
y se lanzó el muy tiránico...
Quedó del impacto estrábico y ahora de colmo es anémico, con problemas ortopédicos
y tratamiento psiquiátrico.

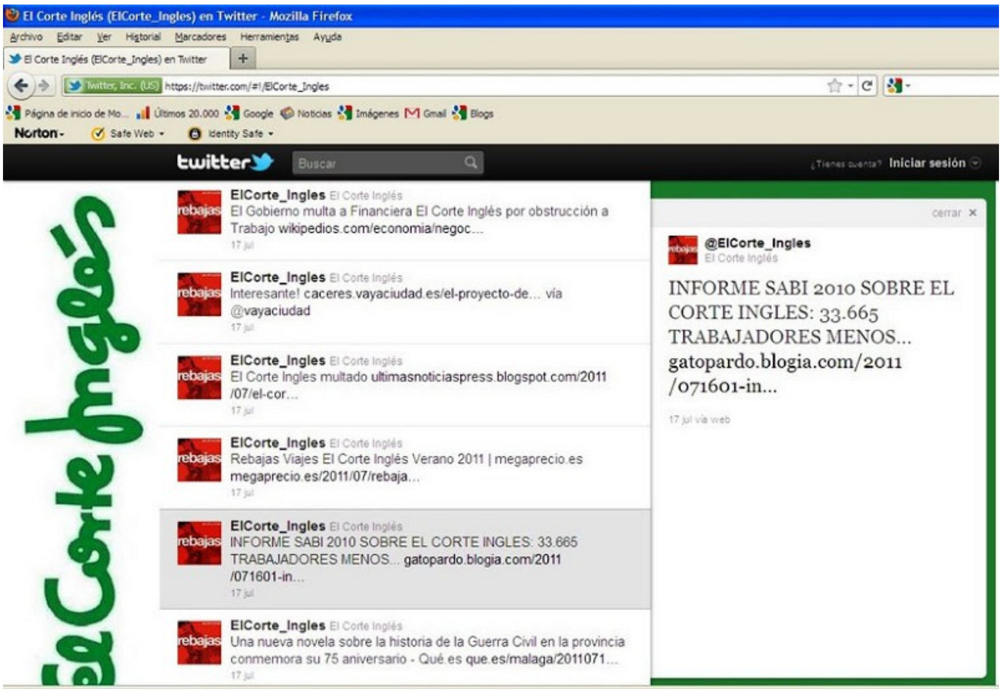
[SADO-MASO EN EL CORTE INGLÉS: NOS PUBLICITA EN SU TWITTER]



El Corte Inglés está poniéndose al día a trancas y barrancas: y están pasando del fax y del Amstrad-464 a eso de las redes sociales sin quitarse la boina: la penúltima ha sido ponerse un Twitter como un sol por el bonito sistema de copiar las alertas de Google sobre El Corte Inglés. Y la cosa ha quedado [así]: en uno de sus twits recomienda el artículo del espía publicado [aquí], dándoles acibar y pescozones, como es de rigor en esta casa, y en otros publicitan la multa de 150.000 € a la Financiera El Corte Inglés por obstruir la Inspección del Trabajo.

A Isidoro Álvarez le va la marcha: no hay más que ver lo que le aguanta [a su sastre]. Cualquier día de estos invita a el espía que surgió del frío con su chupa de motero todo-cuero y a l'aguela dominatrix al Ambigú Cultural de El Corte Inglés para una sesión sado-maso.

Y si no, al tiempo...

¿No os da vergüenza hacer méritos con El Corte Inglés echándole la culpa al "community manager", que es un "script", y dejando caer que esa cuenta de twitter es apócrifa?

¿Os creeis que os van a dar trabajo para sustituir al "script", so trepas?

¿No podéis iros a cascárosla en otro sitio?

NOTITIA CRIMINIS: CASTILLA LA MANCHA EN QUIEBRA. NO ES MALA GESTIÓN, ES PILLAJE

Lo viene explicando pormenorizadamente, desde hace años, "Notitia criminis". Y hoy en su artículo "Castilla La Mancha en quiebra. No es mala gestión, es pillaje" resume el saqueo y la mangancia institucionalizada:

"Ya es un hecho consumado. Según informa hoy el diario Expansión, el Gobierno regional, a 30 de junio, tenía un saldo disponible en cuentas bancarias de 36,8 millones de euros y unos pagos pendientes de 2.606,7 millones. La situación, por tanto, es de quiebra y salvo que el Estado se haga cargo de tales pagos, ni médicos, ni maestros, ni profesores de instituto, ni enfermeras, ni barrenderos ni nadie podrá cobrar sus nóminas de funcionarios en el próximo mes."

Y termina diciendo:

"Y sobre todo esto, la Fiscalía ha venido callando y los Tribunales inhibiéndose. Sin embargo, a matacaballo y sin entrar en detalles técnicos, se me vienen a la cabeza unos cuantos tipos penales que pueden y deben ser aplicados: Malversación propia e impropia, falsedad en documento público, falsedad contable, negociaciones prohibidas a funcionarios, prevaricación, cohecho, inhibición del deber de perseguir delitos… y todo ello aderezado con los correspondientes fraudes de ley y abusos de derecho.

Es falso que el Código Penal no disponga de instrumentos para hacer frente a tales delitos, tan falso como la impostura de llamar a esto “mala gestión” o “despilfarro”. Aquí no se ha despilfarrado, se ha robado, se ha robado en una escala desconocida hasta ahora y las víctimas son unos ciudadanos que, sin darse cuenta, hace tiempo que devinieron en súbditos, si es que no en siervos y en pecheros, unos ciudadanos a los que hay que preguntar sin van a hacer algo al respecto o si, por el contrario, son idiotas."

No pierdan el tiempo: lean "Notitia criminis" si quieren informarse con todos los datos de los pufos, aletazos, embaimientos, engañifas, fraudes, estafas, mangancias, timos y trapacerías de nuestros gobernantes en Castilla La Mancha, y sus secuaces, con sus nombres y apellidos, gracias a la ayuda inestimable del Gobierno y toda la recua de ineptos y corruptos socaliñas que hemos elegido o nos han impuesto.

Y si después aún tienen cuerpo de jota, relean aquí:

MOHATRAS, ADROLLAS, SOCALIÑAS Y ALETAZOS DEL GOBIERNO DE ARAGÓN Y OTROS PECHARDINOS DE MANGA

EN ARAGÓN Y EN ESPAÑA, PUFOS CIENTO, Y EN AUMENTO ...

De nada, ya saben que me gusta ser útil.

¿Desde cuando la situación de quiebra se determina restando las deudas al saldo en cuentas bancarias? Hacerlo así sólo se explica por puras ganas de engañar, pues supongo la suficiente inteligencia en el redactor de la noticia como para ser consciente de algo tan trivial.
El déficit no es la diferencia entre los pagos y el "saldo en caja", sino la diferencia entre las obligaciones de pago y los derechos de cobro: hay que tener en cuenta también cuánto dinero TIENE QUE COBRAR la comunidad autónoma (del estado, de la UE, de sus impuestos directos, etc.).

Fecha: 20/07/2011 04:20.

Autor: Gatopardo

De "deficit" habla usted. No el autor de artículo. Y la "quiebra" se produce cuando la persona física o jurídica no puede pagar las deudas pendientes por falta de activos.

Díganos qué cobros tiene pendientes la Comunidad expoliada: del Gobierno Central, de Europa y del fielato de Casas Ibáñez para ilustrar lo que defiende.
Para pagar no hay. Para pipas, si les fía el autónomo de la chuches.

Para conocer el estado real de las cuentas, primero deberíamos saber el vencimiento de los pagos pendientes y la previsión de entradas.
Personalmente no sé si una deuda de 2.606,7 millones, es excesiva para la comunidad de la que hablamos.

Si lees Notitia Criminis te enterarás de todo eso.

Si no hay dinero para pagar a los funcionarios, ni a los empresarios a los que les deben, a los que condenan a cerrar su empresa, tú me dirás cuándo empieza a ser excesiva una deuda en una comunidad autónoma, que en buena ley debería ceñirse a los presupuestos aprobados sin excederse ni un euro. Como en cualquier empresa.

INFORME SABI 2010 SOBRE EL CORTE INGLES: 33.665 TRABAJADORES MENOS...

"zakhreinu"

Según el Informe SABI (Sistema de Análisis de Balances Ibéricos) 2010, el Corte Inglés ha declarado tener 61.507 empleados.

Según el mismo informe de referencia, en 2007, que citábamos en EL CORTE INGLÉS: INFORME SABI AÑO 2008: MÁS DE 7.800 DESPIDOS EN UN AÑO, El Corte Inglés tenía 105.172 trabajadores.

La enormidad de la cifra, 33.665 trabajadores menos, viene acompañada de las siguientes anomalías, irregularidades o milagros contables:

El informe Sabi 2010 ha cambiado todas las cifras del número de empleados del Corte Inglés desde el año 2000. En su intento por agradar, la curva ascendente de contratación que se refleja ha resultado un absoluto dislate por las siguientes razones:

1. Existe copia del informe original Sabi, porque, en esta casa, no se tira nada
2. Existen miles de referencias en la red y en hemerotecas, que no se pueden borrar
3. Existen las declaraciones oficiales de la Empresa, que no ha tenido empacho en decir el nº de empleados que tenía:

Manosear cifras es un deporte de alto riesgo, sobre todo, si ello afecta a pagos a la Seguridad Social, Hacienda o al reparto de beneficios entre los accionistas.

Si las alteraciones las crea una empresa (SABI) del Bureau Van Dijk, sin declarar cuáles son las fuentes y razones que le han llevado a modificar datos, esta conducta levanta sospechas sobre su grado de fiabilidad como banco de datos financieros al que remitirse los analistas de empresas.

Adelanto que no todo funambulismo contable es achacable al NPGC (Nuevo Plan General Contable). Ese truco ya está viejo.

La política de embrollar con los números, de tanta solera en el Corte Inglés, parece que ha liado hasta a SABI. A continuación les presento las cifras que da El Corte Inglés en sus Informes y cartas de presentación internacionales sobre el número de empleados.

En 2007:

109.800 “empleados en plantilla”, : Fuente: El Corte Inglés. Informe anual 2007, p. 68.

(Según el Informe Sabi,versión 2008 :105,172

Según el Informe SABI, versión 2010: 64.490 empleados)

En 2009:

101.552 “personas” Fuente: El Corte Inglés. Informe de responsabilidad social empresarial, 2009, p. 76 (en gris muy pálido para pasar desapercibido o por si hay que pasar el mocho)

(Según el Informe SABI ,versión 2010: 61.507 empleados)

Según los datos aportados por El Corte Inglés mismo a la Fundación Global Compact de la O. N. U, la empresa tiene 75.000 empleados.

Las preguntas que surgen son :

¿Cuántos trabajadores ha declarado el Corte Inglés a la Seguridad Social en los últimos 5 años?

¿Cuál es el estado de cuentas del Corte Inglés con la Seguridad Social?

¿Cuáles son las cifras que ha declarado a la Agencia Tributaria en los últimos 5 años?

También aconsejaría:

Darse una vuelta por la contabilidad de Financiera El Corte Inglés, no vaya a ser que sea otra entidad de esas de la Champion League, que tanto nos envidian en Zambia.

La multa de 150.000 euros a El Corte Inglés por no facilitar la documentación solicitada por los inspectores de Trabajo, no es nada si se compara con lo que puede salir con que haya una inspección de Hacienda, de verdad y a fondo.

El espía que surgió del frío

Las personas que integran la plantilla del Grupo son, por su esfuerzo y compromiso constante, una de las claves del éxito de nuestro proyecto empresarial y la mejor apuesta para mantenerlo en el tiempo. Esto es así porque valores como el servicio al cliente, el trabajo en equipo y la iniciativa individual forman parte de nuestra cultura corporativa y están presentes de forma permanente en el desempeño diario de todos los empleados.

109.800

EMPLEADOS EN PLANTILLA
Al cierre del presente ejercicio

Al cierre del ejercicio, la plantilla estaba compuesta por más de 109.800 personas, unas 4.800 más que en el ejercicio anterior. Este importante incremento se debe a la política de crecimiento y expansión que ha desarrollado el Grupo durante 2007 y que se ha materializado en la inauguración de cinco grandes complejos comerciales (grandes almacenes y/o hipermercados) además de la apertura de otros muchos establecimientos de formatos más pequeños.

De estas cinco grandes inauguraciones, cuatro se concentraron en los últimos meses del año y se realizaron, además, en un período de tiempo de solo seis semanas. Esto puso a prueba la maquinaria organizativa del Grupo y su capacidad de gestión, ya que en ese período se incorporaron a los nuevos centros comerciales más de 4.300 personas, que previamente habían realizado cursos de formación y prácticas acordes con el puesto de trabajo que iban a desempeñar.

Al haberse concentrado gran parte de las aperturas en el último trimestre del año, el incremento porcentual de la plantilla media a jornada completa fue del 0,5% respecto al ejercicio anterior. No obstante, este incremento nos consolida como uno de los grandes grupos generadores de empleo en España, con una plantilla media a jornada completa de 97.328.

QUETA CLAVER: EL SABIO SALOMÓN

Dedicado a Teddy Bautista, de nuestras partes.

Salomón
decía con tesón:
Las cosas se arreglan solas;
es cuestión
de hacerse el remolón
y no sufrir sin ton ni son.

Si ser feliz quieres,
ríe que ríe,
y echa las penas
del corazón...

¡Hay que vivir, niño, con alegría
y sin ninguna preocupación!...

Coro:

Salomón, el sabio Salomón, tenía toda la razón.
No hay que sufrir porque un amante te abandone,
ni padecer porque un negocio te fracase, ni protestar porque un amigo te traicione que en este mundo todo tiene solución.

Coro:

Y si en amor das con mujeres caprichosas
que burlarán tu corazón de enamorado, cuando al final te desesperen ciertas cosas,
acuérdate de lo que dijo Salomón.

¡Las cosas se arreglan solas!
Salomón, el sabio Salomón,
tenía toda la razón.
Y si en amor das con mujeres caprichosas
que burlarán tu corazón de enamorado, aunque al final se pongan mal, muy mal las cosas,
se arreglan solas, como dijo Salomón.

El sabio Salomón", del sainete musical en dos actos "La chacha, Rodríguez y su padre" (1956) música de José Padilla; libreto de José Muñoz Román; estrenada con Queta Claver, Carmen Esbrí, Rafael López Somoza, José Álvarez, "Lepe", Luis Heredia, etc.

INSISTIMOS: MINISTERIO DE CULTURA: ¿QUÉ HA HECHO EL PROTECTORADO DE FUNDACIONES CON LA DENUNCIA PRESENTADA POR DIEGO CATALÁN CONTRA LA FUNDACIÓN RAMÓN ARECES?

No es mal truco eso de dejar que los corruptos campen por sus respetos durante décadas, y presentarlos ante las cámaras de televisión y ante la justicia cuando ya se han forrado la andorga a modo y a algún juez le conviene darle un revoque a la fachada del sistema.

Y como, en España, la mala memoria de los responsables de los organismos competentes —y encargados de velar por la legalidad—, nos han hecho campeones de la desinformación, la corruptela, el fraude, y la inopia, mientras los caciques y los bandarras se forran sin rubor, queremos facilitar a los cargos electos y a los funcionarios competentes del Protectorado de Fundaciones, dependiente del Ministerio de Cultura, la oportunidad de no cometer "delito de fraudes y exacciones ilegales realizadas por funcionarios", "delito de infidelidad en custodia de documentos oficiales", "delito de negociaciones y actividades prohibidas a los funcionarios", "delito de prevaricación", y ganarse el sueldo honradamente: miren a ver adónde han traspapelado la denuncia de Diego Catalán contra la Fundación Ramón Areces ante el Protectorado de Fundaciones [1], porque mis cuates y yo tenemos la puñetera costumbre de insistir y no reblar ni soltar presa, y no queremos tener que verlos esposados y sin cinturón por haberle hecho ustedes un favor a cuatro mangantes.

A la atención de la Subsecretaria General Técnica. División del Protectorado de Fundaciones *:

Madrid, 27 de julio de 2007

La Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal (NIF G-78519451 y con nº 121 en el Registro de Fundaciones del Ministerio de Educación y Ciencia) expone ante el Protectorado de Fundaciones los siguientes hechos, cuya gravedad ruega se tenga en consideración a la hora de tramitar su denuncia:

Antecedentes: Desde su constitución, en 1984, la Fundación Ramón Menéndez

Pidal firmó un Convenio con la Fundación Ramón Areces, según el cual ambas Fundaciones se comprometían a velar por la conservación de la Casa Menéndez Pidal, sede de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal y propiedad de la Fundación Ramón Areces, por la continuidad de la labor de investigación histórica y filológica , por la conservación de sus valiosísimos archivos (propiedad de Diego Catalán Menéndez Pidal) y por la preservación y acrecentamiento de su biblioteca (propiedad de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal).

Las relaciones entre ambas Fundaciones se hallan formalizadas preceptiva y estatutariamente por un Consejo Mixto de Patronos, cuya presidencia y poder de convocatoria recae en el Presidente de la Fundación Ramón Areces, Don Isidoro Álvarez Álvarez (o, en su ausencia, uno de los patronos vocales de la Fundación Ramón Areces). En este Consejo se supervisa el cumplimiento de las obligaciones que las dos Fundaciones han contraído por la conservación de la Casa Menendez Pidal y el patrimonio cultural que alberga.

Hasta febrero de 2004, estas relaciones fueron correctas y de acuerdo a la normativa legal. Pero, a partir de ese año, en que la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal inicia las gestiones, ante las autoridades competentes, para solicitar de éstas el mayor grado de protección urbanística a la casa y jardín y la consideración del conjunto como Bien Cultural (protección concedida por el Ayuntamiento de Madrid, con número de expediente 713/2005/000337, que ha declarado el Olivar de Chamartín espacio protegido), la Fundación Ramón Areces no sólo ha incumplido todas y cada una de sus obligaciones como firmante del Convenio de 9 de mayo de 1984, sino que ha iniciado una escalada de acosos a la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal , llegando incluso a asaltar la sede, invalidando el cierre de la puerta y manipulándola para una posterior intrusión, lo que ha obligado a la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal a interponer dos denuncias el día 12, una en Comisaría de Chamartín, (nº atestado 14.764) y otra el mismo día en el Juzgado Decano de Madrid) y a hacer público los continuos atropellos que está sufriendo:

1. La Fundación Ramón Areces ha dejado de cumplir hasta las más elementales obligaciones de conservación y mantenimiento de la Casa Menéndez Pidal y de su Jardín Catalogado, durante siete semestres, en los años 2004, 2005, 2006 y 2007. Ha incumplido la obligación de convocar el Consejo Mixto de Patronos, en la reunión preceptiva semestral, a pesar de las peticiones formales de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, y no ha contestado a ninguna de sus cartas en que se le informaba de problemas graves relativos a esta cuestión.

2. Si la voluntaria y meditada política de abandono del cuidado del perímetro tapiado, el sistema de calefacción, el jardín histórico, muros, bajantes y aleros y tejados de la casa (repetidamente denunciada en las cartas y actas de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal), que, si aún no ha afectado gravemente a la conservación de este enclave natural e histórico se debe, exclusivamente, a que la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal ha asumido, durante todos estos años, la onerosa carga del mantenimiento de una finca y casa que corresponde a la Fundación Ramón Areces, y al hecho de que su Presidente, así como otras personas de bien con vergüenza civica, han colaborado mediante su desinteresado trabajo y su dinero personal para que este valiosísimo patrimonio cultural no se deteriorara o sucumbiera, porque, hay que subrayar que esta dejación de responsabilidades por parte de la Fundación Ramón Areces se refiere a una propiedad que tiene la máxima protección urbanística y `por lo tanto debe ser mantenida en perfecto estado, siendo punible contribuir por acción u omisión a su deterioro,.

3. Pese a esos desvelos, ante la imposibilidad legal de realizar en su sede obras estructurales, que no le competen, el Patrimonio de la Fundación Ramón Menendez Pidal ha sufrido daños irreparables en su Biblioteca (secciones Moderna e Hispanoamericana) y en su prestigio institucional al haber tenido que mantener inaccesibles a los investigadores durante todos estos años sus valiosos fondos hispanoamericanos.

4. La Fundación Ramón Areces ha dejado de pagar las partidas presupuestarias correspondientes a esos siete semestres, tanto las referentes a suministros, comunicaciones, conservación de la propiedad y seguridad, como las destinadas a Mantenimiento, restauración e incremento del patrimonio y sede, como aquellas destinadas a la investigación filológica, conservación y catalogación de los fondos documentales y publicaciones. El montante de esta deuda asciende a más de 600.000 euros.

5. Un hecho aún más grave es que la Fundación Ramón Areces ha publicado en su Memoria oficial de Actividades de 2004-2005 que sigue subvencionando, en virtud del citado Convenio, a la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal y los trabajos de investigación que en ella dirige el profesor D. Diego Catalán Menéndez-Pidal, y cita, en concreto entre los libros publicados con su mecenazgo la Historia de la Lengua Española, obra póstuma de Ramón Menéndez Pidal. Llegando incluso a presentarse fraudulentamente como mecenas ante el público y la prensa en la ceremonia de su presentación en la Real Academia Española, cuando lo cierto es que la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal no ha recibido ni un euro de la Fundación Ramón Areces ni en 2004, ni en 2005, ni después (y se ha visto obligada a desmentir oficialmente en la 2ª edición de la citada obra el haber sido subvencionada por ella). La gravedad de este hecho, sobre el que Diego Catalán, presidente de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, llamó la atención al presidente de la Fundación Ramón Areces, don Isidoro Álvarez, y demás Patronos de la misma, sin que respondieran a las cartas, no es de índole protocolaria sino de transparencia fiscal.

Si, con posterioridad al año 2003, la Fundación Ramón Areces ha hecho una declaración en el Protectorado de Fundaciones y en el Ministerio de Hacienda en este sentido, la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal solicita su rectificación inmediata y pide, además, una auditoría de la inspección fiscal del Ministerio de Hacienda, y del Protectorado de Fundaciones sobre la contabilidad de la Fundación Ramón Areces, independientemente de las acciones legales que solicitemos de organismos internacionales.

Firmado: Diego Catalán.
Presidente de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal

Señores "periodistas de la prensa seria", señores jueces, señores auditores, señores políticos con mando en plaza que han acallado esta y otras denuncias: esa jeta de capones y manfloritas que les ha dejado la corrupción no tiene cura, pero tiene tratamiento: hagan algo ético: no sigan tapando las vergüenzas de Isidoro Álvarez y sus compinches en la Fundación Ramón Areces/El Corte Inglés.

O hagan algo estético, embellezcan el mundo descerrajándose un tiro entre ceja y ceja.

INSISTIMOS: ¿QUÉ HA HECHO LA AGENCIA TRIBUTARIA CON LA DENUNCIA PRESENTADA POR DIEGO CATALÁN CONTRA LA FUNDACIÓN RAMÓN ARECES?

Ya hemos hablado aquí del fraude fiscal que existe en España, gracias a una legislación que ha sido diseñada para permitir que las Fundaciones y las Sociedades de Inversión de Capital Variable (SICAV), donde desgravan las grandes fortunas, sean una isla de corrupción, descontrol fiscal e impunidad que nos han hecho acreedores de la denominación de Estado fallido.

Y, hemos hablado del desparpajo casi temerario de Isidoro Álvarez, presidente de la Fundación Ramón Areces y de El Corte Inglés en sus enjuagues con la Hacienda Pública:

"Cualquier empresario que no sea él, sabe que si quiere ahorrar con Hacienda no basta con decir que ha comprado doce millones de bonos del Tesoro austriaco , y que los ha vendido, a continuación, con casi cuatro millones de pérdida; pero no ha guardado los justificantes de la compra-venta ni ninguna otra documentación, "sólo apuntes bancarios". Y que hagan el favor de desgravarle esa pérdida patrimonial o se mete en pleitos. "Rufufú" Álvarez lleva mareando la perdiz en los tribunales contra Hacienda desde el año 1991. En 2007 el Tribunal Supremo da la razón a la Administración General del Estado al reclamárle 3.970.000 euros." ******

Y, en 2007, Diego Catalán, denuncia a la Fundación Ramón Areces ante el Protectorado de Fundaciones y la Agencia Tributaria:

TEXTO DE LA DENUNCIA:

Es copia literal:

A la atención de la Agencia Tributaria. Delegación de Madrid
Madrid, a 30 de julio de 2007

Estimados sres:

La Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal solicita se investiguen las posibles irregularidades fiscales que, a continuación, se detallan:

La Fundación Ramón Areces ha declarado en su Memoria Oficial de Actividades

2004-2005:

1. Que financió la publicación de la Historia de la Lengua Española, de Ramón Menéndez Pidal, publicada y editada por esta Fundación.

2. Que financió las investigaciones de su presidente, Diego Catalán Menéndez Pidal durante este período.

La Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal hace constar que, ni en esos años ni después, ha recibido subvención, ayuda, ni cantidad alguna en ningún concepto, como pueden comprobar en la declaración fiscal de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, en sus Libros de Cuentas y en el Libro de Actas que están a disposición de sus Inspectores Fiscales. Como tampoco ha recibido subvención, ayuda ni cantidad alguna Diego Catalán Menéndez-Pidal en las fechas indicadas.

El 18 de diciembre de 2006 la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal hizo una comunicación formal a la Fundación Areces y a todos y cada uno de sus patronos, solicitando rectificaran el error contable y fiscal, ya que tales afirmaciones por su parte exigían nuestra complicidad en esa irregularidad, cosa que no estábamos dispuestos a consentir.

Al no recibir respuesta ni haber obtenido rectificación, rogamos tengan a bien tomar buena nota de esta solicitud y de nuestra absoluta transparencia en lo referente a nuestros deberes con la Hacienda Pública.

Por si hubiera facturas o recibos presentadas a ese organismo de control tributario que así lo justificaran, solicitamos y nos ponemos a su disposición para un examen pericial que pueda dictaminar sobre la autenticidad de las firmas, ya que la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal hacer constar que tales afirmaciones no se corresponden con la realidad.

Atentamente,

Diego Catalán
Presidente de la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal

En cualquier país civilizado, los interventores del Ministerio de Hacienda, la Inspección de la Agencia Tributaria, y el Protectorado de Fundaciones, habrían levantado libros y habrían hecho una auditoría a fondo.

En este país de mangantes, los periodistas de la "prensa seria", fieles a la omertá mafiosa, los responsables políticos, los jueces y los funcionarios que no han investigado y perseguido el delito, enfrentados con su deshonra, pública y notoria, no han tenido la decencia de suicidarse.

Memoria de la Fundación Ramón Areces 2004-2005 donde detallan sus inversiones desgravables, completamente falsas:

La Real Academia de la Historia ha concedido su Medalla de Oro al Excmo. Sr. D. Isidoro Álvarez Álvarez, presidente de la Fundación Ramón Areces, en testimonio de agradecimiento al eficaz apoyo que viene prestando la Fundación a las actividades de la Real Academia. Se hizo entrega de la Medalla en sesión académica celebrada el día 17 de diciembre de 2004.

De otra parte, la Real Academia Española y la Fundación han firmado un Convenio para la financiación de los trabajos de revisión del léxico económico del Diccionario de la Lengua Española.

Acto de la firma del Convenio con el director de la Real Academia Española, D. Víctor García de la Concha.

- CONVENIO CON LA FUNDACIÓN RAMÓN MENÉNDEZ PIDAL.

En 1984 la Fundación Ramón Areces adquirió el inmueble donde vivió y trabajó hasta su muerte el ilustre historiador y filólogo, D. Ramón Menéndez Pidal. Mediante un convenio suscrito con la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, se le concedió a ésta la ocupación y uso del inmueble, con el fin de que sirviera como sede y centro de trabajo de dicha Fundación. En esta casa se conserva la biblioteca y el archivo documental de D. Ramón Menéndez Pidal.

Asimismo, la Fundación Ramón Areces presta una Ayuda destinada a los trabajos de investigación que dirige el profesor D. Diego Catalán Menéndez-Pidal, habiéndose publicado diversos trabajos como fruto de su labor investigadora. Entre estos trabajos cabe destacar "El Archivo del Romancero" y, muy recientemente, "Historia de la Lengua española", obra póstuma de D. Ramón Menéndez Pidal, ordenada y concluida por el Profesor Catalán.

Durante este tiempo la Fundación Ramón Areces ha organizado conferencias, simposios, cursos... que han constituido, por la notoriedad de los ponentes, acontecimientos académicos y científicos de gran relieve. Ha colaborado con Reales Academias y otras fundaciones e instituciones, entre ellas, el Centro de Biología Molecular Severo Ochoa, la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal, la Fundación COTEC, la Universidad de Navarra, etc. Finalmente, sus publicaciones constituyen un fondo documental de indudable interés científico, histórico y cultural.

Falso

En este breve recuerdo, no puedo olvidar el honor que representó para la Fundación contar con el Premio Nobel D. Severo Ochoa -sobresaliente en tantas facetas, empezando por la humana- que presidió el Consejo Científico hasta su fallecimiento en noviembre de 1993, y que permanece como símbolo de la calidad y rigor que la Fundación Ramón Areces se esfuerza en representar.

de los capítulos del trabajo de la Fundación en este período, que ha venido cumpliendo con los objetivos enunciados anteriormente.

Al dejar constancia de ello, quiero agradecer la iniciativa, la dedicación y la aportación de saber a los miembros del Patronato, Consejos Científico y de Ciencias Sociales. Su labor de asesoría, sus sólidos criterios, su rigor intelectual y el magisterio de su alta autoridad han sido fundamentales para el éxito de los proyectos que venimos acometiendo.

Nuestro objetivo es continuar en la misma línea de impulso a la investigación y promoción de nuevos talentos. De su formación y su trabajo se beneficiará toda la Sociedad.

Prefacio a la 2ª edición de la Historia de la Lengua Española de Ramón Menéndez Pidal , con PS donde se denuncia la falsedad contable y fiscal de la Fundación Ramón Areces

PALABRAS PRELIMINARES

La presente obra consta de dos volúmenes. En el primero se halla, desnuda de cualquier aditamento, la Historia de la lengua española de Ramón Menéndez Pidal en primera edición póstuma. Completa, hasta donde llegó a escribirla. Auténtica, en cuanto que su contenido es totalmente menéndez-pidalino. Fruto de toda una vida casi centenaria, fue largamente deseada por cuantos conocieron a Ramón Menéndez Pidal y apreciaron su magisterio. Cosas de la vida la dejaron inconclusa y encajonada. Ha sido tarea compleja, larga y azarosa ponerla en la forma en que ahora puede leerse.

Quien quiera saber más acerca de ella acuda al volumen segundo. Allí se explica, de mano de Menéndez Pidal, sobre qué bases conceptuales fue concebida y, de la mía, cómo y en qué tiempos y circunstancias se construyó (desde sus cimientos, hasta los últimos retoques en la fachada). También detallo con qué originales he contado para editar cada parte, capítulo o apartado y cómo han sido utilizados. Índices varios ayudarán al lector apresurado o interesado en acceder sólo a ciertos temas o detalles a bucear en el millar largo de páginas escritas por Menéndez Pidal.

D. C.

P.S. La segunda edición mejora a la primera en la corrección de una serie de errores, en general tipográficos, y respecto al infundado reconocimiento de haber contado con el apoyo de entidades ajenas a la Fundación Ramón Menéndez Pidal.

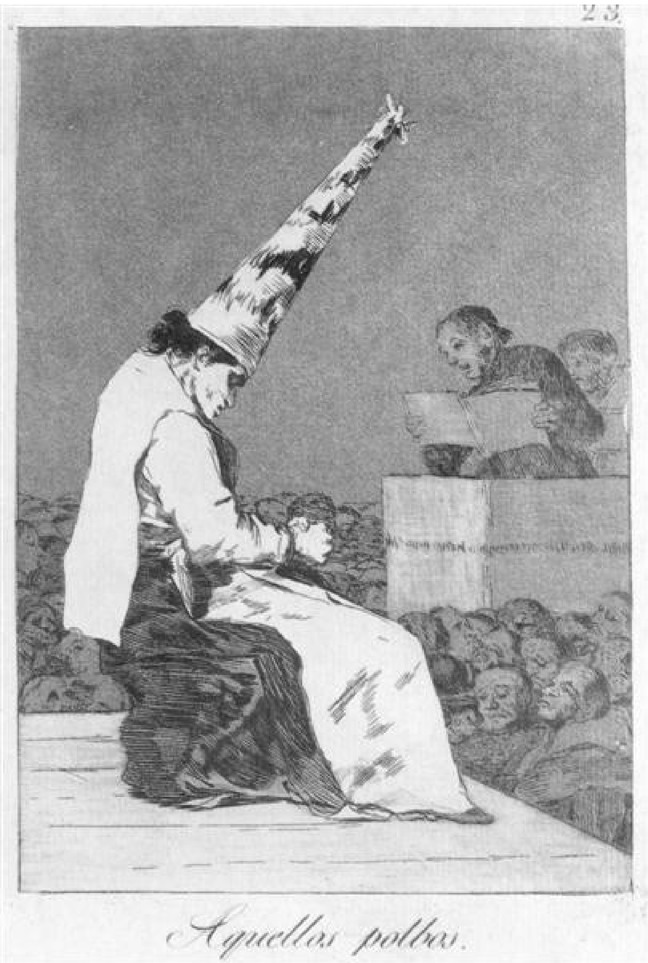
AUTO DE LA AUDIENCIA NACIONAL SOBRE LA SGAE DE 4 DE JULIO 2011



JUZGADO CENTRAL DE INSTRUCCIÓN N° 5 AUDIENCIA NACIONAL. MADRID
D. Previas 90/2010 D

AUTO

En Madrid, a cuatro de julio de dos mil once.

PRIMERO.- Las presentes Diligencias Previas n° 90/10 fueron incoadas por Auto de fecha 17.03.10, como consecuencia de la asignación por Decanato, por turno de reparto, de la denuncia interpuesta por la Fiscalía Especial contra la Corrupción y la Criminalidad Organizada con entrada en fecha 15.03.10, presentada a raíz de la denuncia previamente formulada ante dicha Fiscalía Especial en fecha 19.11.07 y que dio lugar a las Diligencias de Investigación n° 4/09, finalmente incorporadas a las presentes actuaciones. La denuncia interpuesta por la Fiscalía Especial aparecía dirigida, sin perjuicio de anunciar la posible implicación ulterior de personas no citadas en la misma, contra José Luis Rodríguez Neri, Maria Antonia García Pombo, Rafael Ramos Díaz, Elena Vázquez Serrano, Eva García Pombo, Juana Cristina Rodríguez Neri; Sociedad Digital de Autores y Editores S.L.; Microgénesis S.A , Ribera de Mayorga S.L., Hipotálamo S.L., Micromega Consultores S.L., Servicios Informáticos Ciberneto S.L., Microgénesis Producciones S.L., Canalmicro S.L., Res Cognita S.L. , Portal Latino S.L., por presuntos delitos de apropiación indebida, delito continuado de estafa de especial gravedad y delito de administración fraudulenta, relacionada con la actividad desarrollada por dichas personas a través de estas entidades y vinculadas a la Sociedad General de Autores (SGAE) en la forma descrita en la denuncia.

Posteriormente, por Auto de 25.03.10 se acordó el secreto de las actuaciones para todas las partes personadas salvo el Ministerio Fiscal, medida prorrogada al presente estadio procesal, teniéndose en dicha resolución por imputados a los particulares referidos en la denuncia, y como responsables a efectos civiles a las mercantiles también identificadas en el escrito de denuncia, acordándose igualmente la práctica de determinadas diligencias que han venido resultando pertinentes a lo largo de la presente instrucción. Siendo encomendada la investigación a la Unidad Central Operativa (UCO) de la Guardia Civil adscrita a la Fiscalía Especial contra la Corrupción y la Criminalidad Organizada.

Por la Fuerza Actuante mediante oficio de fecha 30 de junio de 2011 se solicita del Juzgado la práctica de determinadas diligencias en relación a las personas imputadas, consistentes en entradas y registros en domicilios de particulares y personas jurídicas (finalmente en número de catorce), medidas cautelares de naturaleza real a fin de asegurar las eventuales responsabilidades pecuniarias que procediera declarar en la causa (bloqueos de cuentas, mandamientos y anotaciones de prohibición de disponer de propiedades mobiliarias e inmobiliarias de determinados imputados) y oficios y mandamientos a organismos públicos y privados en solicitud de información. Medidas todas ellas que fueron acordadas por resoluciones dictadas en fechas 1 y 2 de julio de 2011, practicándose con el resultado que obra en las actuaciones, estando el mismo pendiente del correspondiente análisis en cuanto a los efectos incautados, dando además lugar a la detención, por parte de la Fuerza Actuante, de nueve personas.

SEGUNDO.- Como se mencionaba en anteriores resoluciones dictadas en la causa, a raíz de la denuncia interpuesta por la Fiscalía Anticorrupción, el curso de la presente investigación ha tenido principalmente por objeto el esclarecimiento de la presunta vinculación existente entre diversas entidades mercantiles y algunas personas físicas que actúan en el entorno a la SOCIEDAD GENERAL DE AUTORES Y EDITORES (SGAE). En este sentido, se han venido practicando determinadas diligencias a través de la fuerza actuante y a raíz de la denuncia y diligencias interesadas por la Fiscalía Especial Anticorrupción, al objeto de comprobar si algunas de las personas investigadas sostienen vínculos comerciales o de otra índole con empresas o mercantiles que estarían percibiendo fondos de la mentada Entidad de gestión de derechos de propiedad intelectual, o si bien, con sus actuaciones se favorecería de forma indiciaria que empresas dirigidas por ellos mismos, su entorno familiar más próximo o incluso amigos y socios, se estén lucrando de modo significativo, en base a servicios contratados desde la mentada SGAE o sus empresas y asociaciones satélites.

De la instrucción practicada hasta la fecha presente se ha podido constatar indiciariamente la existencia de un entramado empresarial creado entorno a JOSÉ LUIS RODRÍGUEZ NERI, Director General y consejero de la SDAE (Sociedad Digital de Autores y Editores), Director de Gestión de la Información de la SGAE y que también ejerce cargos sociales en PORTAL LATINO SL (ahora denominada SERVICIOS AUTORALES SL), en la que aparece como consejero, apoderado y administrador solidario. Dicho entramado o línea de empresas, encabezado por la mercantil MICROGENESIS S.A., aparece creado en torno al denominado Grupo SGAE, de forma tal que aprovechando la posición preeminente y privilegiada mantenida a lo largo del tiempo por el investigado JOSE LUIS RODRIGUEZ NERI dentro del referido Grupo —quien habría simultaneado en su persona el ejercicio de funciones profesionales y la correspondiente percepción de importantes contraprestaciones económicas, tanto en entidades del Grupo SGAE como en otras empresas pertenecientes a la trama empresarial investigada—, las mercantiles investigadas se habrían venido beneficiando de una exclusiva contratación con algunas de las entidades del Grupo SGAE, fundamentalmente las mencionadas SDAE, PORTAL LATINO y también la propia entidad de gestión de derechos de autor SGAE, constituyendo casi en forma exclusiva su principal fuente de ingresos, si bien la percepción de los mismos, según se desprende indiciariamente de lo actuado, se habría venido amparando en contratos firmados por las diversas partes implicadas al objeto de simular un tráfico mercantil normal y ajustado a derecho.

La investigación desarrollada permite constatar asimismo cómo en el entramado societario analizado participarían de forma directa diversos miembros del entorno familiar y de amistad más cercano a NERI, a saber, su hija LETICIA RODRÍGUEZ ÁLVAREZ, su compañera sentimental, Mª ANTONIA GARCÍA POMBO, la hermana de ésta PILAR EVA GARCÍA POMBO e incluso una hermana del propio NERI, JUANA CRISTINA RODRÍGUEZ NERI. En este entramado empresarial además de los familiares del Sr. NERI, también tendrían un papel relevante la pareja formada por RAFAEL RAMOS DÍAZ y su compañera sentimental, ELENA VÁZQUEZ SERRANO, quienes mantienen vinculaciones societarias en varias mercantiles con NERI, pudiendo también haber sido beneficiaria de dicha actividad la hija de los anteriores, SARA RAMOS VÁZQUEZ (quien aparece como donataria en 2008 del 50% de la vivienda propiedad de su progenitor sita en la calle Zurbarán de Madrid, ya interpuesta la denuncia ante la Fiscalía Especial Anticorrupción).

Más en concreto, y según se desprende del contenido de lo actuado, tal y como se recoge en el INFORME de resultado de las investigaciones practicadas con n° de salida 177/11, presentado por la Unidad actuante en fecha 30 de junio de 2011, pueden establecerse al presente estadio, en forma indiciaria, las siguientes conclusiones:

1°.- Conclusiones indiciarías en torno a la SOCIEDAD DIGITAL DE AUTORES Y EDITORES S.L. (SDAE) y a PORTAL LATINO S.L..

La investigación en curso ha permitido constatar cómo la SDAE es una entidad concebida para el desarrollo de nuevas tecnologías por el grupo SGAE. No obstante para el desarrollo de su actividad social no ha contado nunca con trabajadores sino que habría tenido que recurrir a la subcontratación, y esta se ha producido fundamentalmente con la empresa MICROGENESIS S.A.

A tenor de lo actuado se extraen las siguientes conclusiones en lo relativo a la rentabilidad de la actividad mercantil de la SDAE durante el periodo temporal objeto de investigación:

1) Su actividad se financia con cargo exclusivo a los fondos que le aporta la SGAE;

2) Ha mantenido una exclusiva contratación con la mercantil MICROGENESIS SA, íntimamente vinculada a los intereses económicos de José Luis RODRIGUEZ NERI, Director General de la SDAE desde 2001 y que ha dado pie a ingresos de importante cuantía a MICROGENESIS en el período 2003-2010, así como a otras empresas pertenecientes a la trama empresarial investigada (en concreto, Neri ocupa el cargo de presidente de MICROGENESIS hasta enero de 2003, si bien sigue ligado "de hecho" a dicha sociedad hasta marzo de 2005, fecha en la que formalmente la entidad pasa al control de sus amigos y socios en otras empresas Rafael Ramos y su pareja Elena Vázquez, así como la cuñada de Neri, Pilar Eva García Pombo; mientras que Neri sigue siendo usuario de una tarjeta de crédito con cargo a MICROGENESIS y que emplea para su uso personal, que no es cancelada hasta el 08.11.07, a raíz presuntamente de la aparición en los medios de comunicación de la próxima interposición de la interposición de la denuncia ante la Fiscalía Especial, y que presenta elevados gastos siendo muestra el importe global de 40.018, 45 € por 12 meses entre 2005 y 2006; derivándose igualmente de las observaciones telefónicas decretadas en la causa que Neri seguía encargado de la gestión de diversos aspectos relacionados con la mercantil MICROGENESIS de forma conjunta con Ramos hasta la presente fecha);

3) José Luis RODRIGUEZ NERI ha venido obteniendo un importante sobresueldo, al margen de su retribución de la SDAE y la SGAE, que se justificaría y ocultaría facturando por hipotéticos servicios de consultaría a las sociedades de su propiedad HIPOTALAMO SL y MICROMEGA CONSULTORES SL, en la cuantía que posteriormente se dirá; 4) La SDAE habría sido objeto reciente de un proceso de liquidación o disolución puesto en marcha durante los últimos meses y a ejecutar con antelación al 30.06.11, coincidiendo con la celebración de las elecciones en la SGAE, proceso que en forma indiciaria permitiría cuestionar la viabilidad y el desarrollo alcanzado de los proyectos de carácter tecnológico por la SDAE, en particular el proyecto TESEO, así como los importantes fondos canalizados por esta sociedad para su desarrollo, que además han sido dirigidos en buena medida hacia las sociedades investigadas y que habrían causado un perjuicio patrimonial a la propia SGAE, ello sin perjuicio de las ulteriores diligencias de carácter pericial que proceda practicar al respecto.

En el desarrollo y aprobación de esta operativa seguida por la SDAE y que ha sido financiada exclusivamente por la SGAE, y pese a la preeminencia de NERI en ambas entidades, cabe presumir el conocimiento y, cuanto menos, asunción tácita de la actividad presuntamente delictiva investigada por parte de otros componentes del Consejo de Administración de la SDAE, especialmente por aquéllos que también conforman el cuadro directivo de la SGAE, en relación a cuestiones tales como las siguientes, puestas de manifiesto durante la presente instrucción:

1) La creación de la estructura societaria encabezada por MICROGENESIS SA, sociedad íntimamente ligada a los intereses económicos del Sr. NERI y a su pareja MARIA ANTONIA;

2) Los pagos en concepto de consultoría que se han venido realizando a MICROMEGA CONSULTORES SL y a HIPOTÁLAMO SL, sociedades ambas que aparecen como destinatarias de importantes ingresos facturados directamente por la SDAE y que se encuentran solidamente vinculadas a NERI;

3) El coste que ha supuesto para el grupo SGAE el desarrollo de proyectos tecnológicos, de cuya viabilidad y buenos resultados no se ha tenido constancia durante la presente investigación, ello sin perjuicio de las diligencias ulteriores que proceda adoptar para la constatación de tales extremos.

Dentro de este conjunto de personas, integrantes del directorio ejecutivo o profesional de la SGAE, la investigación practicada permite inferir, con suficiente solidez indiciaria al presente estadio procesal, que al menos EDUARDO GARCIA BAUTISTA (actual presidente del Consejo de Dirección de la SGAE, presidente y apoderado de la SDAE, y presidente y consejero de PORTAL LATINO S.L. entre abril de 2004 y julio de 2010, junto con otros cargos en distintas entidades del grupo SGAE), ENRIQUE LORAS GARCIA (actual director general de la SGAE, consejero y apoderado de la SDAE) y RICARDO AZCOAGA QUINCOCES (actual director económico y financiero de la SGAE y apoderado de la SDAE desde su constitución), habrían tenido suficiente conocimiento de las vinculaciones existentes entre NERI y MICROGENESIS e HIPOTALAMO, no sólo merced a la publicidad dada a la denuncia interpuesta en la Fiscalía especial, sino también a consecuencia de los debates habidos en la Asamblea General de socios de la SGAE del año 2007. De esta forma, la creación de la SDAE y de su filial PORTAL LATINO SL, así como su actividad posterior y hasta la fecha se puede atribuir a un proyecto que habría sido ideado probablemente por NERI, y asimismo autorizado, consentido y también impulsado por el Presidente del Consejo de Dirección, el Sr. BAUTISTA. Habiendo invertido la SGAE importantes sumas de dinero sin obtener a cambio la esperada rentabilidad para sus asociados, resultando especialmente significativo que al presente estadio procesal, las entidades PORTAL LATINO SL y SDAE han tenido el siguiente devenir:

a) La entidad PORTAL LATINO SL ha visto notablemente reducida su actividad e incluso ha cambiado su denominación por la de SERVICIOS AUTORALES SL. Así, en lo que respecta a la operación de creación de la mercantil PORTAL LATINO SL y su posterior venta a la SDAE, a tenor de lo actuado se concluye por la Fuerza actuante que tal decisión fue tomada y patrocinada desde el seno de la SGAE, que por medio de su filial SDAE, financió desde antes de su constitución las actividades de PORTAL LATINO SL, efectuando ampliaciones de capital social de la SDAE cuyo objeto era supuestamente financiar la actividad de la incipiente sociedad. Los directivos del grupo SGAE/SDAE que aparecen con una participación más activa en la ideación de esta operación son José Luis RODRIGUEZ NERI y Eduardo BAUTISTA GARCIA.

La operación de creación y puesta en marcha de PORTAL LATINO se llevó a cabo mediante la mercantil MICROGENESIS, cuya vinculación a los intereses económicos del Sr. NERI queda patente en las actuaciones, evidenciándose de forma indiciaria cómo NERI simultanea cargos sociales en MICROGENESIS, PORTAL LATINO y la SDAE.

Para justificar las ampliaciones de capital efectuadas por la SDAE, cuyo objeto último consistía en financiar la actividad de PORTAL LATINO, se recurrió a la consultora ARTHUR D LITTLE SL, supuestamente independiente, para valorar los activos que se trasfirieron a PORTAL LATINO desde la SDAE y MICROGENESIS; evidenciándose sin embargo la falta de independencia u objetividad en la elección de dicha consultora, ante la vinculación previamente existente entre su director general y Consejero delegado —Eulogio NAZ CRESPO— y las personas de NERI y Rafael RAMOS, habiendo compartido todos ellos cargos sociales en otras entidades con anterioridad (tal fue aparentemente el caso de SISTEMAS EXPERTOS SL, sociedad creada por Neri entre los años 1988 y 1992). A esta vinculación personal y societaria de Eulogio NAZ, hay que sumar que ARTHUR D LITTLE también ha percibido ingresos de la SDAE por el desarrollo del proyecto TESEO, concretamente en el año 2004 fueron más de 400.000 €, de forma que sus intereses económicos realmente coincidían con los de MICROGENESIS SA y los de la SDAE, en que PORTAL LATINO SL fuese viable al menos en aquellos momentos iniciales. También se han recogido datos que muestran como otras sociedades vinculadas a EULOGIO NAZ —Agora Sistems SA y EON 98 SL— han estado también facturando a MICROGENESIS SA si bien por importes menos destacables.

Por último y en relación con el cambio de denominación de PORTAL LATINO SL a SERVICIOS AUTORALES SL, parece desprenderse de lo actuado que desde la misma sociedad, participada plenamente por la SDAE, y ésta a su vez por la SGAE, se reconoce tácitamente "la devaluación" de la marca Portal Latino y de otros productos que ofrecía la entidad como La Central Digital.

b) Por su parte la SDAE S.L., tras distintas fases en que sus finanzas eran precarias durante todos los ejercicios económicos, se trata en los últimos meses de hacer desaparecer por parte del principal investigado NERI, en connivencia con otros imputados como Eduardo BAUTISTA, Ricardo AZCOAGA o Enrique LORAS, a través de un proceso de disolución y absorción por parte de la SGAE, y que tal y como evidencian las intervenciones telefónicas adoptadas en la causa, se está intentando efectuar con la mayor celeridad (antes del 30 de junio de 2011, fecha de celebración de proceso electoral en la SGAE) y opacidad posible.

En este sentido merecen ser destacadas las siguientes conversaciones intervenidas con ocasión de la observación telefónica decretada sobre el teléfono móvil del que resultaba usuario el Sr. Neri:

—Conversación telefónica de fecha 30.05.11 entre Neri y Patricia (quien ejerce labores de contabilidad entre SDAE y PORTAL LATINO) en la que el primero reconoce haber estado hablando con Ricardo Azcoaga y con Colman (vinculado a la Asesoría Jurídica de SGAE) sobre el procedimiento de llevar a cabo la integración de la SDAE en la SGAE, aludiendo a un proyecto de fusión y a los trámites para hacerlo efectivo, indicando Neri "que a él y al Presidente —el Sr. Bautista— les gustaría que antes del 30, antes de las elecciones, esté terminado el asunto éste", y pidiéndole a Patricia "dime de quien tendrías que tirar o podrías tirar si conoces a alguien que te ayude que me da igual que me diga que me cuesta ahora tu vas y lo redoblas el asuntó', aludiendo a la desconfianza que tiene en Ricardo y Colman ("como si lo tuviéramos que hacer nosotros, como que éstos no existieran").

—Conversación telefónica de fecha 09.06.11 entre Neri y su pareja María Antonia en la que ambos hablan de una reunión previamente mantenida por Neri en la SGAE para tratar el tema de la supuesta fusión o integración de la SDAE en la SGAE. En dicha conversación Neri trasmite a su compañera que les ha dicho a las personas presentes en dicha reunión (según identificó el propio Neri se trataría de Ricardo Azcoaga y del abogado Colman): "Queréis montar ésto de esta manera que estás obligado a hacer una publicación en prensa o comunicárselo a todos los acreedores y tú, no sé si lo sabes, pero tienes de acreedor, por casi dos millones de euros al Ministerio de Industria, que lo que van a recibir en el peor momento, porque están histéricos ahora mismo, van a recibir una carta que les dice que toda la pasta que han estado metiendo en la SDAE era una puta mentira", MARIA ANTONIA añade "y que es para la SGAE", NERI dice "exactamente", posteriormente NERI le comenta que lo que dicen es que siempre les va a interesar porque van a cobrar y que NERI les ha dicho "que el Ministerio de Industria no es un banco, esto no lo está haciendo como un tema financiero, lo está haciendo de política, es una política", MARIA ANTONIA le dice que ciertamente es complicado, NERI le responde que eso sólo se puede hacer escondiéndolo, que ya les ha dicho NERI cómo se hace, les ha dicho: "si hacemos la fusión, tienes la ventaja de que no tienes que hacerlo con anticipación pero lo tienes que publicar después, pero ¿cuándo lo públicas? el 1 de agosto.. .primero hecho y después el 1 de agosto, cuando están todos de vacaciones y después , además, decides que (...) el 1 de enero del 12 y mientras tanto empiezas a hablar con unos, con otros y cuando convoquen las elecciones vas y le dices al Ministerio , bueno que a partir de ahora te pago yo", Maria Antonia dice: "entre que son Funcionarios, entre que son el Ministerio de Cultura, que son idiotas, entre que están en elecciones, entre que están de vacaciones, pues es que imagínate", Neri dice: "que por eso hay que jugar con todo eso. Hoy la noticia es que las ratas comienza ya a abandonar el barco, en el Ministerio de Justicia, todos los Secretarios y Subsecretarios se han pirado", Mª Antonia dice: "Porque ya les han prometido cosas", Neri dice: "que en otro sitio, o sea, que se están descomponiendo".

Como se concluye por la Fuerza actuante a la vista de lo hasta ahora actuado, resulta indiciariamente acreditado que los intereses de los dos grupos familiares NERI-GARCÍA POMBO y RAMOS-VÁZQUEZ han coincidido en varias empresas de las que han resultado beneficiadas por la presunta facturación preferente con entidades del grupo SGAE. Las mercantiles en las que han confluido sus intereses son fundamentalmente MICROGENESIS SA, a la que hay que sumar MICROGENESIS PRODUCCIONES SL -ahora denominada CANALMICRO y aparentemente desvinculada ya de la trama- IMAGO MUNDI SL, y COQNET SL.

MICROGÉNESIS S.A. es la empresa que se podría situar en la cúspide de la trama empresarial "parasitaria" de la SGAE, dado que en ella coinciden los intereses económicos de los principales objetivos de la investigación, y por la cuantía de los pagos percibidos de entidades del grupo SGAE y su prolongación en el tiempo, de forma tal que MICROGENESIS SA ingresa en el período 2003-2009 aproximadamente 26,4 millones de euros procedentes del grupo SGAE. Sobre este extremo, y por lo que respecta al período 2003-2007, en el Informe n° 3 elaborado por la Unidad de Apoyo a la Fiscalía Anticorrupción de la Intervención General de la Administración del Estado (IGAE) en fecha 14/04/10, obrante en las actuaciones, se concluye, sin perjuicio de las recomendaciones que se contienen en el mismo respecto de la documentación adicional que restaría por analizar, en el siguiente sentido: "Vista la relación que existe entre los gestores de la SDAE y Portal Latino con los gestores de MICROGENESIS S.A. y del resto de las aquí mencionadas, visto el esquema general de ingresos y gastos que presentan, el tipo de servicios que se facturan, etc. resulta difícil afirmar que los 22,47 millones de euros que las empresas de los denunciados han recibido entre el 2003 y el 2007 del Grupo SGAE se corresponden a servicios prestados a precios de mercado. Incluso podríamos aventurar que Res Cognita SL, Micromega Consultores SL, Hipotálamo SL y Ribera de Mayorga SL no han prestado ningún servicio real y que han sido utilizadas por los denunciados para fijarse una retribución y pagar gastos personales" Y a continuación: "El resultado de una colaboración tan estrecha entre la SDAE y Portal Latino por un lado y Microgénesis y el resto de empresas de los denunciados y sus familiares por el otro, ha tenido diferente signo para una y otra parte. Las dos empresas del Grupo SGAE acumulan resultados negativos por más de 8,6 millones de euros desde el 2002 al 2007 mientras que las 9 revisadas en este informe muestran unos resultados positivos globales de 829.948 euros con arreglo a la información que ha podido ser analizada hasta el momento.

Continuando con el presente relato fáctico indiciario, en la mercantil MICROGENESIS SA se aprecia la vinculación conjunta de José Luis RODRIGUEZ NERI, su pareja María Antonia GARCIA POMBO, su hija Leticia RODRIGUEZ ALVAREZ y su cuñada Pilar Eva GARCIA POMBO; al mismo tiempo han coincidido también con los anteriores los investigados Rafael RAMOS DIAZ, su esposa Elena VAZQUEZ SERRANO y el hijo de ésta David VILLALONGA VAZQUEZ. Debiendo también destacarse la figura de CELEDONIO MARTÍN MATEOS empleado de IMAGO MUNDI SL desde 1998 y que parece ser la persona que desde MICROGENESIS SA, de la que actualmente es socio, controla las finanzas y contabilidad del entramado creado por los anteriormente citados (llevando la contabilidad de la propia MICROGENESIS, así como de SCIRALIA, HIPOTALAMO, MICROMEGA, LUNA NEGRA PRODUCCIONES, COQNET, RIBERA DE MAYORGA, PORTAL LATINO y también de la propia entidad SDAE).

Según se desprende de lo actuado, y se recoge en el Informe n° 177/11 de la Unidad actuante, MICROGENESIS SA se ha constituido en un importante y privilegiado proveedor de productos informáticos para la SDAE desde que NERI llegó a la SGAE y posteriormente a la SDAE. Ahora bien, esta beneficiosa y privilegiada relación comercial ha redundado beneficiosamente también en otras empresas de la trama que han estado facturando a MICROGENESIS por la supuesta prestación de distintos servicios todos ellos vinculados a los proyectos que para la SDAE y PORTAL LATINO desarrollaba presuntamente MICROGENESIS. Este es el caso de RIBERA DE MAYORGA, IMAGO MUNDI, SERVICIOS INFORMÁTICOS CIBERNETO y MICROMEGA CONSULTORES. De esta forma MICROGENESIS SA presuntamente se habría sostenido económicamente gracias a su privilegiada relación económica con la SDAE, PORTAL LATINO y la SGAE, presuntamente auspiciada por el Sr. NERI, tal y como el mismo reconoció ante la Asamblea General de socios de la SGAE del año 2007. De esta forma, puede concluirse en vía indiciaria que MICROGENESIS habría contado durante el período 2000-2010 de una fuente de financiación externa notablemente beneficiosa para desarrollar los proyectos que se le encargaban, sin tener que preocuparse de la rentabilidad de los resultados alcanzados, dado que los trabajos y herramientas desarrollados eran finalmente evaluados por la SDAE, a la sazón por el propio Neri. Los problemas económicos y financieros detectados en las últimas fechas en la mercantil MICROGENESIS, puestos de manifiesto a través de las observaciones telefónicas acordadas en la causa (conversaciones entre NERI y RAMOS relativas a los intentos de RAMOS de vender MICROGENESIS), evidenciarían la debilidad en el mercado de la referida mercantil sin el soporte económico del grupo SGAE, pese a la supuesta cualificación empresarial que había justificado su previa contratación por aquel grupo.

Por otra parte, los intereses económicos de José Luís RODRIGUEZ NERI, María Antonia GARCÍA POMBO, Rafael RAMOS DÍAZ y Elena VÁZQUEZ SERRANO de nuevo confluyen en la mercantil IMAGO MUNDI SL. Los datos aportados por la AEAT muestran como el sustento económico de IMAGO MUNDI en el período 2003-2008, depende fundamentalmente de los ingresos que obtiene directamente de entidades del grupo SGAE -bien sea de la propia entidad de gestión, bien de la SDAE o de PORTAL LATINO SL- y de los que -en última instancia también procedentes del grupo SGAE- obtiene a través de su facturación con otras empresas investigadas como son MICROGENESIS y SCIRALIA. De esta forma, los datos recabados durante la presente instrucción llevan a presumir, en forma indiciaria, que IMAGO MUNDI SL fue una sociedad que presuntamente no podría operar de forma autónoma, que dependería de MICROGENESIS SA, y que su existencia se basaría en razones de índole organizativa de sus administradores, que lo eran a su vez de MICROGENESIS SA, sociedad con la que compartía domicilio social y trabajadores.

Adicionalmente, se ha podido constatar cómo los intereses económicos de José Luis RODRÍGUEZ NERI y los de su pareja María Antonia GARCÍA POMBO, pasan por las sociedades HIPOTÁLAMO SL, MICROMEGA CONSULTORES SL, LUNA NEGRA PRODUCCIONES SL y asimismo RIBERA DE MAYORGA (esta última entidad vinculada a la pareja Ramos Elena Vázquez); detectándose la percepción en cuentas personales de la pareja

Rodríguez Neri-García Pombo en el periodo temporal analizado, entre 2002 y 2009, procedentes de las referidas mercantiles y de MICROGENESIS ingresos por importe superior a los tres millones de euros (3.000.000 euros). La creación y operativa de las anteriores sociedades respondería presunta y exclusivamente a los intereses de los referidos imputados, mientras que sus ingresos procederían directa o indirectamente con exclusividad de entidades del grupo SGAE.

Así, HIPOTÁLAMO SL tiene por objeto social la asesoría y consultoría, estando participada plenamente por José Luis RODRIGUEZ NERI, y los ingresos que percibe provienen en su totalidad de la facturación habida con el grupo SGAE.

Concretamente HIPOTÁLAMO ha ingresado en sus cuentas 1.227.851,84€ euros en el periodo de 2003/2010. Estos pagos percibidos en cuentas de HIPOTALAMO presentan las características de una nómina encubierta atribuible al Sr. NERI y se ampararían en facturas giradas por HIPOTALAMO a la SDAE, presuntamente todas ellas por el concepto de "consultoría". De lo anterior queda constancia muy significativamente a través de la conversación telefónica intervenida en el teléfono de NERI el pasado día 27 de junio de 2011, en la que el mismo habla con María Antonia GARCÍA reconociendo ambos que la percepción del salario de NERI se instrumentaliza a través de facturas giradas por HIPOTÁLAMO S.L. a la SDAE, por importe de 11.718 euros mensuales, hablando ambos que al multiplicar dicha cantidad por 12 (mensualidades), y tras adicionar los dos salarios brutos que NERI tiene de SGAE y SDAE, le ha salido un bruto de 234.600 euros, que posteriormente se concreta entre NERI y otra persona que responde al nombre de NATIVIDAD, en una llamada ulterior, en 313.000 euros brutos; destacando el interés de NERI por obtener la cifra correcta de su salario total, discriminando entre el bruto y el neto, ante la urgencia de "tenerlo claro porque mañana quiere decírselo a TEDDY", "para hablarlo mañana con el Presidente". Deduciéndose del contenido de tales conversaciones que resulta una práctica conocida y permitida por la SGAE y el propio Eduardo BAUTISTA, que NERI reciba una remuneración mensual de la SDAE a través de la sociedad instrumental HIPOTÁLAMO SL.

El anterior dato ha venido a ser igualmente confirmado a través del documento intervenido en el registro llevado a cabo en el despacho de Eduardo BAUTISTA, en el que se encontró un sobre abierto que iba remitido a "EDUARDO BAUTISTA" y en el que podía leer la palabra "confidencial". La remitente que consta en la parte trasera del sobre era "NATALIA GOMEZ DE ENTERRIA". En el interior del mismo se encontró un folio con un mensaje que NATALIA GOMEZ enviaba a EDUARDO BAUTISTA, en este mensaje NATALIA le expone el siguiente mensaje: "Te dejo los datos que puedo conocer de la retribución de JOSE NERI, en SDAE. Hasta el año 2008, la contabilidad la llevó directamente MICROGENESIS, y nadie, ni siquiera RICARDO, sabe los datos contables de años anteriores. La parte de nómina parece que ha ido teniendo los aumentos normales del Convenio, pero sin embargo se produce un cierto salto en el año 2008 en la facturación mercantil de HIPOTALAMO de 135.000 € a 181.000 €, que no podemos conocer quien autoriza...

Un saludo.

Natalia".

El segundo folio que se encontró en el sobre, es la impresión de un correo electrónico de fecha 29 de Julio de 2009, enviado por PATRICIA GARCIA GABALDON, la cual queda identificada en el membrete como perteneciente al departamento económico-financiero del grupo SDAE, siendo la receptora del mismo NATALIA GOMEZ DE ENTERRIA —ex Jefa de Personal—. Este documento desglosa lo que JOSE LUIS RODRIGUEZ NERI percibe en concepto de sueldos y salarios de la SDAE durante los periodos 2007, 2008 y 2009, y lo que la sociedad HIPOTALAMO recibe en concepto de "Gastos de Empresa Remuneración" durante estos ejercicios.

De esta forma, todos los indicios reunidos, —y según se confirma por el propio Sr. Rodríguez Neri en su declaración— conducen a inferir que HIPOTÁLAMO es una sociedad instrumental que no ejercería por si misma una actividad mercantil real, y que no sería más que un instrumento, al igual que MICROMEGA CONSULTORES SL y LUNA NEGRA SL para justificar la percepción de una serie de ingresos por parte de José Luis RODRÍGUEZ NERI. La sociedad HIPOTÁLAMO SL tendría presuntamente como única finalidad la de canalizar una importante fuente de ingresos para el patrimonio personal de José Luis RODRÍGUEZ NERI y de su pareja María Antonia GARCÍA POMBO, así como puntualmente atender pagos por gastos de carácter estrictamente personal de ambos o incluso de Leticia RODRÍGUEZ ALVAREZ, hija de NERI; de forma tal que el Sr. Rodríguez Neri, presuntamente con el amparo de la SGAE, se estaría retribuyendo a sí mismo por labores de "consultoría", al margen de las retribuciones que percibe por sus cargos tanto en la SGAE como en la SDAE, no habiéndose hasta el momento detectado la existencia real de los supuestos trabajos o servicios objeto de facturación por parte del Sr. Neri.

Por otra parte, MICROMEGA CONSULTORES SL es otra sociedad que teóricamente se dedicaría a labores de asesoría para empresas y que está controlada por la pareja formada por José Luis RODRÍGUEZ NERI y María Antonia GARCÍA POMBO, si bien la administración de hecho se podría presuntamente atribuir al Sr. NERI. Todos los indicios disponibles apuntan a que MICROMEGA carece de actividad mercantil real. MARÍA ANTONIA es la administradora de MICROMEGA y junto con NERI y su hija LETICIA, son las únicas personas que han percibido retribuciones de MICROMEGA, ascendiendo las retribuciones de MARIA ANTONIA en el período 2004-2008 a un importe aproximado de 340.000€. MARIA ANTONIA carece de titulación oficial conocida que la habilite para desempeñar actividades de asesoría para empresas, siendo su rutina diaria conocida ajena al desempeño de cualquier actividad profesional que se desempeñe en un horario laboral de mañana, según se desprende de la investigación practicada por la Fuerza actuante.

De igual forma que en el caso de otras mercantiles anteriormente analizadas, MICROMEGA CONSULTORES SL debe también su sustento económico a los ingresos procedentes de MICROGENESIS SA y RIBERA DE MAYORGA SL, siendo las tres sociedades controladas en definitiva por los dos núcleos familiares NERI-MARIA ANTONIA y RAMOS- VAZQUEZ. La facturación conocida de MICROMEGA con MICROGENESIS apunta a que los ingresos que percibe los justifica por la realización de trabajos de "consultoríd". Tanto MICROGENESIS como RIBERA DE MAYORGA han obtenido a su vez la mayor parte de sus ingresos de empresas y entidades del grupo SGAE; mientras que MICROMEGA CONSULTORES SL ha dejado de operar en la actualidad.

Similar operativa a la anteriormente descrita, con el detalle obrante en los informes emitidos por la UCO, Guardia Civil y que obran en las actuaciones se habría seguido por las mercantiles LUNA NEGRA PRODUCIONES y RIBERA DE MAYORGA. Así LUNA NEGRA PRODUCCIONES S.L. comparte domicilio social hasta el año 2007 con CIBERNETO, MICROMEGA CONSULTORES e IMAGO MUNDI, fecha en la que cambia su domicilio a la calle Villalar, siendo éste el domicilio de la pareja Neri-María Antonia, adquirido en 2005 por importe de 1.366.100 Euros; contando la misma pareja con otras propiedades inmobiliarias en las localidades de Barbate y Caños de Meca. Por lo que respecta a RIBERA DE MAYORGA S.L., que comparte domicilio social con MICROGENESIS, es titularizada por la esfera familiar de Rafael Ramos Díaz ostentado el cargo de administradora única desde su constitución su compañera Elena Vázquez Serrano, careciendo de trabajadores y de actividad mercantil alguna efectiva y real, y procediendo sus ingresos exclusivamente de su facturación a MICROGENESIS que a su vez debe la práctica totalidad de sus ingresos a entidades del grupo SGAE.

Otra de las personas que presuntamente se habría beneficiado de una facturación preferente con el grupo SGAE es la persona de JUANA CRISTINA RODRIGUEZ NERI, quien ya aparecía mencionada en la inicial denuncia, hermana del Sr. NERI y administradora de la entonces SERVICIOS INFORMATICOS CIBERNETO SL, que posteriormente cambia su denominación social por la de WELCOME TO MADRID SL.

Esta mercantil, desde su constitución en diciembre de 2002 y hasta el año 2009, ha recibido un porcentaje muy alto de sus ingresos provenientes directamente o indirectamente de empresas del grupo SGAE (SDAE y PORTAL LATINO SL), resultando indiciariamente acreditado, en mérito a lo previamente expuesto, que el sustento económico de CIBERNETO se pudo deber, presuntamente, a dicho lazo familiar, que habría asegurado a CIBERNETO la percepción de notables ingresos procedentes de MICROGENESIS y del grupo SGAE; siendo en este punto también notables las retribuciones declaradas por la administradora de CIBERNETO, Juana Cristina RODRIGUEZ NERI, que en el período 2004-2008 son superiores de media a los 55.000€ anuales.

3°.- Hechos puestos de manifiesto durante la investigación, relacionados con el proceso electoral de renovación de cargos de la Junta Directiva de la SGAE (a celebrar el 30.06.2011).

Sin perjuicio del detalle que obra en las actuaciones al respecto, debe resaltarse por su importancia cómo las observaciones telefónicas decretadas en la causa han permitido conocer una serie de cuestiones relativas al proceso electivo que se está viviendo en la SGAE, de renovación de cargos de la Junta Directiva de la entidad de gestión de derechos de autor, el cual ha tenido reflejo en las conversaciones mantenidas por José Luis RODRÍGUEZ NERI, del conjunto de las cuales se pueden extraer las siguientes conclusiones, que podrían estar en conexión o relación con el resto de hechos objeto de la presente instrucción:

a) Que por parte de José Luis RODRIGUEZ NERI, como miembro designado de la Comisión Electoral, pudiera haberse vulnerado la imparcialidad debida y que se le cabe presuponer en cuanto al desempeño de su función, realizándose supuestamente concretas gestiones y actuaciones a favor de una de las candidaturas concurrentes al proceso electoral, la candidatura denominada CPAC, que según la información obrante en la causa presenta un proyecto continuista con la gestión hasta ahora desarrollada por el equipo directivo de la SGAE.

En este sentido, según se revela de lo actuado, el Sr. RODRÍGUEZ NERI mantiene en los meses previos a las elecciones diversas reuniones con personas vinculadas a la referida candidatura CPAC al objeto de tratar temas relacionados con dicho proceso electivo, alguna de ellas a instancia del propio Eduardo BAUTISTA (así consta en conversación registrada entre ambos el 30.04.11), interviniendo NERI al margen de su cargo en la SGAE, y con la presunta pretensión según se extrae del contenido de tales conversaciones de que tales reuniones no fueran conocidas o se creyese que su objeto real consistía en abordar cuestiones ajenas a las elecciones, desvinculándolas de este proceso (así se deriva en conversaciones de fechas 30.04.11, ó 13.05.11).

b) Que por el contrario, por parte del Sr. RODRÍGUEZ NERI, de forma indiciaria y según se desprende de las observaciones telefónicas, se ha dificultado en lo posible el acceso al censo de avales a la candidatura DOM, que se ha mostrado abiertamente crítica con la gestión del equipo directivo actual. Esta actitud se habría materializado presuntamente en no permitir un acceso adecuado en tiempo y forma a las listas del censo de avales, hecho que podría haber perjudicado las posibilidades de obtener una mayor representación en la Junta Directiva entrante de la SGAE (así se deriva de conversación de fecha 4.05.11, o del contenido de mensajes de texto intervenidos y remitidos por NERI a otras personas con funciones o responsabilidad en el proceso electoral).

4°.- Actuaciones derivadas de la interposición de la denuncia ante la Fiscalía Especial en noviembre de 2007 y su difusión en medios de comunicación.

De la circunstancia derivada del conocimiento público de la interposición de la denuncia ante la Fiscalía Especial Anticorrupción que finalmente ha dado lugar a la incoación de las presentes diligencias, así como de las preguntas planteadas por un socio en la Asamblea General de socios de la SGAE celebrada en mayo de 2007, se observa a tenor de lo actuado un cambio de tendencias en la trama empresarial objeto de la investigación, presuntamente ejecutado por los investigados RAMOS, NERI y Pilar Eva GARCIA POMBO, con el objetivo de lograr un alejamiento o separación de las sociedades y operativa que ellos considerasen afectadas por la denuncia, y que se habría materializado de la siguiente forma:

— Algunas empresas de la trama han dejado de operar. Este es el caso claro de IMAGO MUNDI SL, RIBERA DE MAYORGA SL y de RES COGNITA SL.

— Otras empresas de la trama investigada han cesado en sus operaciones pero han sido sustituidas por otras. Este es el caso claro de MICROMEGA CONSULTORES SL, que recibía fondos de HIPOTÁLAMO SL, y que a partir del año 2008 cesa en sus operaciones y se activa la mercantil -hasta entonces inactiva- LUNA NEGRA PRODUCCIONES SL.

— Otras han cambiado su denominación social, como es el caso de PORTAL LATINO SL -ahora Servicios Autorales SL- y el de SERVICIOS INFORMATICOS CIBERNETO SL -ahora Welcome To Madrid SL-.

— MICROGENESIS SA en los ejercicio 2009 y 2010 parece haber ampliado su espectro de proveedores y clientes, si bien en este período de tiempo aún la SDAE ha seguido siendo su principal cliente, habiendo ingresado MICROGENESIS en el período 2008-2009 8,29M €. Esta desvinculación progresiva que se ha detectado entre MICROGENESIS y el grupo SGAE, fundamentalmente la SDAE, a tenor de las conversaciones telefónicas que mantienen PILAR EVA, RAMOS y NERI, estarían abocando a MICROGENESIS a una crítica situación financiera en el 2011. Esta situación, provocada sin duda por el recorte que habría sufrido MICROGENESIS en sus ingresos provenientes del grupo SGAE, podría ser también el motivo por el cual Rafael RAMOS está intentado conseguir la entrada de inversores para vender la empresa.

— No obstante, de entre todos estos movimientos, la operación más destacable y de la que recientemente se ha tenido conocimiento, a través de las observaciones telefónicas decretadas en la causa, es la planificación llevada a cabo para la desaparición de la SDAE. Las conversaciones mantenidas en las últimas semanas por NERI entre otras personas con Ricardo AZCOAGA QUINCOCES, muestran como NERI está interviniendo activamente en el diseño de un proceso de disolución o liquidación de la SDAE. En este proceso de diseño estaría procurando que sea lo menos visible posible y que no afecte a su puesto de trabajo actual como Director General de la SDAE. A su vez NERI estaría tratando de "blindar" o asegurar sus retribuciones procedentes del grupo SGAE (SGAE, SDAE e HIPOTÁLAMO según sus propias palabras) ante una eventual y próxima desvinculación de NERI; recordándose como el propio NERI cuantifica estas retribuciones en la actualidad en 234.600€ brutos en total.

TERCERO.- Una vez puestos a disposición judicial y oídos en declaración los detenidos JOSE LUIS RODRIGUEZ NERI, RAFAEL RAMOS DIAZ, PILAR EVA GARCIA POMBO y MARIA ANTONIA GARCIA POMBO, celebrada en el día de hoy la comparecencia prevista en el artículo 505 LECRIM, el Ministerio Fiscal ha informado respecto a la situación personal de los referidos detenidos, solicitando la prisión provisional eludible previa prestación de fianza para JOSE LUIS RODRÍGUEZ NERI y RAFAEL RAMOS DÍAZ en importes respectivos de 300.000 y 200.000 euros. Mientras que respecto de PILAR EVA GARCIA POMBO y MARIA ANTONIA GARCIA POMBO se ha informado en el sentido de no considerar procedente la adopción de ninguna medida restrictiva de su libertad, interesando únicamente la entrega de su pasaporte ante el Juzgado con autorización judicial para el caso de abandonar el territorio nacional.

Por la defensa letrada de los detenidos se vierten las alegaciones obrantes en la referida comparecencia.

RAZONAMIENTOS JURÍDICOS

PRIMERO.- La legitimidad constitucional de la prisión provisional atiende, con acogimiento expreso en la propia Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal (artículos 502 y siguientes, básicamente 502, 503 y 504), a que su configuración y su aplicación tengan, como presupuesto, la existencia de indicios racionales de comisión de una presunta actividad delictiva con una determinada previsión penológica ("que conste en la causa la existencia de uno o varios hechos que presenten caracteres de delito sancionado con pena cuyo máximo sea igual o superior a dos años de prisión, o bien con pena privativa de libertad de duración inferior si el imputado tuviere antecedentes penales no cancelados ni susceptibles de cancelación, derivados de condena por delito doloso") y su atribución a persona determinada ("que aparezcan en la causa motivos bastantes para creer responsable criminalmente del delito a la persona contra quien se haya de dictar el auto de prisión"); como objetivo, la consecución de fines constitucionalmente legítimos y congruentes con la naturaleza de la medida (deber estatal de perseguir eficazmente el delito - evitando la desaparición de las fuentes de prueba, impidiendo la huida o fuga del presunto responsable, haciendo inocua toda actividad que tienda a obstruir la actuación de la Justicia, evitando que el imputado pueda actuar contra bienes jurídicos de la víctima, impidiendo el riesgo de reiteración delictiva-, por un lado; y el deber estatal de asegurar el ámbito de la libertad del ciudadano, por otro); y, como objeto, que se la conciba, en su adopción, y en su mantenimiento, como una medida de aplicación excepcional, subsidiaria, provisional y proporcionada a la consecución de los fines antedichos.

El artículo 502 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal fija: "2. La prisión provisional sólo se adoptará cuando objetivamente sea necesaria, de conformidad con lo establecido en los artículos siguientes, y cuando no existan otras medidas menos gravosas para el derecho a la libertad a través de las cuales puedan alcanzarse los mismos fines que con la prisión provisional. 3. El juez o tribunal tendrá en cuenta para adoptar la prisión provisional la repercusión que esta medida pueda tener en el imputado, considerando sus circunstancias y las del hecho objeto de las actuaciones, así como la entidad de la pena que pudiera ser impuesta".

El artículo 504.1. de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal señala: "La prisión provisional durará el tiempo imprescindible para alcanzar cualquiera de los fines previstos en el artículo anterior y en tanto subsistan los motivos que justificaron la adopción". Y dichos fines se precisan en el apartado 3 del artículo 503 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal: "3°. Que mediante la prisión provisional se persiga alguno de los siguientes fines:

a) Asegurar la presencia del imputado en el proceso cuando pueda inferirse racionalmente un riesgo de fuga.

Para valorar la existencia de este peligro se atenderá conjuntamente a la naturaleza del hecho, a la gravedad de la pena que pudiera imponerse al imputado, a la situación familiar, laboral y económica de éste, así como a la inminencia de la celebración del juicio oral, en particular en aquellos supuestos en los que procede incoar el procedimiento para el enjuiciamiento rápido regulado en el título III del libro IV de esta ley.

Procederá acordar por esta causa la prisión provisional de la persona imputada cuando, a la vista de los antecedentes que resulten de las actuaciones, hubieran sido dictadas al menos dos requisitorias para su llamamiento y busca por cualquier órgano judicial en los dos años anteriores. En estos supuestos no será aplicable el límite que respecto de la pena establece el ordinal 1.° de este apartado.

b) Evitar la ocultación, alteración o destrucción de las fuentes de prueba relevantes para el enjuiciamiento en los casos en que exista un peligro fundado y concreto.

No procederá acordar la prisión provisional por esta causa cuando pretenda inferirse dicho peligro únicamente del ejercicio del derecho de defensa o de falta de colaboración del imputado en el curso de la investigación.

Para valorar la existencia de este peligro se atenderá a la capacidad del imputado para acceder por sí o a través de terceros a las fuentes de prueba o para influir sobre otros imputados, testigos o peritos o quienes pudieran serlo.

c) Evitar que el imputado pueda actuar contra bienes jurídicos de la víctima, especialmente cuando ésta sea alguna de las personas a las que se refiere el artículo 173.2 del Código Penal. En estos casos no será aplicable el límite que respecto de la pena establece el ordinal 1° de este apartado.

También podrá acordarse la prisión provisional, concurriendo los requisitos establecidos en los ordinales 1.° y 2.° del apartado anterior, para evitar el riesgo de que el imputado cometa otros hechos delictivos.

Para valorar la existencia de este riesgo se atenderá a las circunstancias del hecho, así como a la gravedad de los delitos que se pudieran cometer. Sólo podrá acordarse la prisión provisional por esta causa cuando el hecho delictivo imputado sea doloso. No obstante, el límite previsto en el ordinal 1.° del apartado anterior no será aplicable cuando de los antecedentes del imputado y demás datos o circunstancias que aporte la Policía Judicial o resulten de las actuaciones, pueda racionalmente inferirse que el imputado viene actuando concertadamente con otra u otras personas de forma organizada para la comisión de hechos delictivos o realiza sus actividades delictivas con habitualidad."

El artículo 506 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal, recoge: "1. Las resoluciones que se dicten sobre la situación personal del imputado adoptarán la forma de auto. El auto que acuerde la prisión provisional o disponga su prolongación expresará los motivos por los que la medida se considera necesaria y proporcionada respecto de los fines que justifican su adopción.

1. Si la causa hubiere sido declarado secreta, en el auto de prisión se expresarán los particulares del mismo que, para preservar la finalidad del secreto, hayan de ser omitidos de la copia que haya de notificarse. En ningún caso se omitirá en la notificación una sucinta descripción del hecho imputado y de cuál o cuáles de los fines previstos en el artículo 503 se pretende conseguir con la prisión. Cuando se alce el secreto del sumario, se notificará de inmediato el auto íntegro al imputado.
2. Los autos relativos a la situación personal del imputado se pondrán en conocimiento de los directamente ofendidos y perjudicados por el delito cuya seguridad pudiera verse afectada por la resolución."

SEGUNDO.- En el plano de legalidad, el Ministerio Fiscal interesa la prisión provisional eludible previa prestación de fianza para JOSE LUIS RODRÍGUEZ NERI y RAFAEL RAMOS DÍAZ en importes respectivos de 300.000 y 200.000 euros.

Efectuado el juicio de proporcionalidad y necesidad respecto de las medidas cautelares interesadas por el Ministerio Fiscal, estima este instructor que, al presente estadio procesal, concurren las circunstancias necesarias fijadas en el artículo 503 de la Ley de Enjuiciamiento Criminal para acordar la prisión provisional respecto de los referidos imputados, si bien con las salvedades que posteriormente se dirán:

En primer término, los hechos expuestos en los Antecedentes de la presente resolución, que la presente instrucción permite tener por indiciariamente acreditados respecto la totalidad de los imputados, revisten evidentes caracteres de graves delitos. En relación con los detenidos JOSE LUIS RODRIGUEZ NERI, RAFAEL RAMOS DIAZ, PILAR EVA GARCIA POMBO y MARIA ANTONIA GARCIA POMBO, cabe inferir, de acuerdo a los datos e indicios existentes en la causa al presente estadio procesal, y sin perjuicio de su ulterior concreción y calificación, su presunta participación en un delito continuado de apropiación indebida de especial gravedad, atendido el valor de la defraudación de los artículos 252, 250.5° y 6° y 74 del Código Penal —penado con hasta seis años de prisión—, así como en un delito de administración fraudulenta del artículo 295 C.P. —penado con hasta cuatro años de prisión—. Asimismo, respecto de RAFAEL RAMOS DIAZ, se presume su participación un delito de alzamiento de bienes- insolvencia punible del art. 257 del Código Penal —penado con hasta cuatro años de prisión—, mientras que respecto de JOSE LUIS RODRIGUEZ NERI, de forma igualmente indiciaria, en un presunto delito societario del art. 293 C. P. (negativa o impedimento a socios del ejercicio de los derechos de información y participación) —penado con hasta doce meses de multa—, respecto de los hechos consignados en el Apartado Tercero del Antecedente Segundo de la presente resolución (proceso electoral SGAE), y sin perjuicio de las ulteriores diligencias que deban ser practicadas a tal respecto, sin poder al presente estadio dilucidarse de forma definitiva en la significancia de las conductas atribuidas en este punto dentro de la esfera penal, o en su caso en otro ámbito del ordenamiento jurídico (civil o mercantil), lo que deberá concretarse a lo largo de la presente instrucción.

La participación de los encartados en las conductas imputadas se deduce del conjunto de indicios recopilados en la presente instrucción, estando conformado dicho patrimonio incriminatorio por el conjunto documental obrante en la causa, y los seguimientos y vigilancias policiales establecidos sobre su entorno, investigación y análisis de instrumentos financieros y observaciones telefónicas practicadas en las actuaciones; así como Informes emitidos por las Unidades administrativas de apoyo a la Fiscalía Especial contra la Corrupción y la Criminalidad Organizada que obran en la causa. Asimismo los indicios de criminalidad hasta el momento existentes sobre la totalidad de los imputados han venido en gran medida a ser confirmados, o en su caso a no poder ser rebatidos con una explicación lógica o racional, en las declaraciones hasta el momento practicadas ante este Juzgado, ello sin perjuicio del derecho de defensa que en plenitud asistirá a las partes en el momento en que se acuerde el levantamiento íntegro del secreto de las actuaciones.

En cuanto a las finalidades a conjurar con la prisión provisional (siguiendo la doctrina recogida, por todas, en Sentencia del Tribunal Constitucional 35/07 de 12 de febrero de 2007), este instructor aprecia que en una primera aproximación, y sin perjuicio de las matizaciones que posteriormente se razonarán, existe un riesgo fundado de posible y efectiva sustracción a la acción de la Justicia por parte de los imputados JOSE LUIS RODRÍGUEZ NERI y RAFAEL RAMOS DÍAZ.

Asimismo, la situación actual del procedimiento ante la falta de práctica de diligencias acordadas en el seno de la instrucción, podría agravar indiciariamente aún más la responsabilidad penal imputada. Esta circunstancia, unida a la gravedad objetiva de las conductas imputadas (tanto desde el punto de vista de la penalidad que llevan asociada, como en atención a la presunta existencia de múltiples perjudicados finales como consecuencia de los ilícitos provisionalmente imputados) determinan que el eventual riesgo de sustracción a la acción de la justicia deba ser neutralizado, siendo la única medida cautelar posible para alcanzar tal finalidad procesal, en los términos que fue solicitada por el Ministerio Fiscal, respecto de JOSE LUIS RODRIGUEZ NERI, RAFAEL RAMOS DIAZ, decretar su prisión provisional, si bien esta medida, en atención a las especiales circunstancias de arraigo familiar y social invocadas y acreditadas por la defensa de cada imputado en su comparecencia judicial, determina que los intereses en conflicto deban ser ponderados y equilibrados mediante la fijación de una fianza como condición para decretar su libertad provisional en la causa, la cual, atendiendo a lo dispuesto en el artículo 531 LECrim, se estima procedente fijar en las siguientes cantidades:

- Respecto de JOSE LUIS RODRIGUEZ NERI, la cantidad de 300.000 euros.
- Respecto de RAFAEL RAMOS DIAZ, la cantidad de 150.000 euros.

En ambos casos, de consignarse la fianza, los inculpados quedarán sometidos a las medidas aseguratorias que se fijen en el auto que declare bastante la fianza, que comprenderán en todo caso las siguientes: prohibición de salida del territorio español, con entrega del pasaporte en el plazo de tres días ante este Juzgado Central de Instrucción desde que alcanzase su libertad; presentación quincenal ante el Juzgado de Instrucción de su domicilio; fijación de un teléfono donde poder ser localizado inmediatamente en España; fijación de un domicilio en España (toda variación del mismo habrá de ser comunicada inmediatamente a este Juzgado); indicación de una persona (con domicilio de la misma y teléfono de contacto) para recibir cualquier tipo de notificación, citación o emplazamiento que se haga al imputado en libertad provisional.

TERCERO.- Por lo que respecta a las imputadas PILAR EVA GARCÍA POMBO y MARÍA ANTONIA GARCÍA POMBO, de conformidad con lo dispuesto en los artículos 505, 530 y 539 de la LECrim., procede decretar, conforme a lo interesado por el Ministerio Fiscal, su LIBERTAD PROVISIONAL, si bien, adoptando como medidas cautelares para garantizar su sujeción al procedimiento, al amparo del artículo 530 de la LECRim., por estimarse proporcionales, necesarias y suficientemente justificadas al presente estadio procesal, las consistentes en:

a) Prohibición de salida del territorio nacional y retirada de pasaporte (en 72 horas desde su libertad a consignar en este Juzgado).

b) Fijación de domicilio y teléfono a efectos de notificaciones.

CUARTO.- Teniendo en cuenta la adopción de la medida del secreto de las presentes diligencias, que se mantiene el tiempo imprescindible para evitar que pueda frustrarse el resultado de la investigación llevada a cabo, si bien a fin de dar cumplimiento a lo preceptuado en el art. 506.2 LECrim., procede alzar parcialmente sin mayor dilación la restricción que afecta a las partes decretada conforme al art. 302 de la LECrim y jurisprudencia constitucional que la interpreta, a los solos y únicos efectos que se dirán en la parte dispositiva de la presente resolución.

Vistos los artículos citados y demás de pertinente y general aplicación;

PARTE DISPOSITIVA

1. 1. —Decretar la prisión provisional comunicada de JOSE LUIS RODRIGUEZ NERI y RAFAEL RAMOS DIAZ, eludible previa prestación de fianza en las siguientes cuantías:

- Respecto de JOSE LUIS RODRIGUEZ NERI, la cantidad de 300.000 euros.
- Respecto de RAFAEL RAMOS DIAZ, la cantidad de 150.000 Euros.

En todos los casos, de consignarse la fianza, los inculpados quedarán sometidos a las medidas aseguratorias que se fijen en el auto que declare bastante la fianza, que comprenderán en todo caso las siguientes: prohibición de salida del territorio español, con entrega del pasaporte en el plazo de tres días ante este Juzgado Central de Instrucción desde que alcanzase su libertad; presentación quincenal ante el Juzgado de Instrucción de su domicilio; fijación de un teléfono donde poder ser localizado inmediatamente en España; fijación de un domicilio en España (toda variación del mismo habrá de ser comunicada inmediatamente a este Juzgado); indicación de una persona (con domicilio de la misma y teléfono de contacto) para recibir cualquier tipo de notificación, citación o emplazamiento que se haga al imputado en libertad provisional.

Expídanse los preceptivos mandamientos de ingreso en prisión de los imputados.

1. 2. — Decretar la libertad provisional de PILAR EVA GARCÍA POMBO y de MARÍA ANTONIA GARCÍA POMBO, con las siguientes obligaciones:

- Prohibición de salida del territorio nacional y retirada de pasaporte (en 72 horas desde su libertad a consignar en este Juzgado).
- Fijación de domicilio y teléfono a efectos de notificaciones.

Con apercibimiento de que en caso de incumplir alguna de las medidas indicadas podrán agravarse las medidas cautelares, pudiendo llegarse a decretar su prisión provisional.

Notifíquese la presente resolución al Ministerio Fiscal y a los imputados, así como a su defensa letrada, en su integridad, a fin de asegurar el derecho de defensa, levantándose parcialmente a tal efecto el secreto de las actuaciones. Efectúese igual notificación de la presente resolución a la Defensa letrada de los restantes imputados puestos a disposición judicial, para su conocimiento y efectos oportunos.

Contra este auto cabe recurso de reforma, en el plazo de tres días, ante este Juzgado Central de Instrucción, y/o, en su caso, recurso de apelación, en un solo efecto, para ante la Sala de lo Penal de la Audiencia Nacional.

Así lo acuerda, manda y firma D. Pablo Rafael Ruz Gutiérrez, Magistrado Juez del Juzgado Central de Instrucción número Cinco. Doy fe.

DILIGENCIA.- Seguidamente se cumple lo acordado. Doy fe.

NUEVA CREACIÓN DE HERNÁN CASCIARI: DANIEL ESTULIN DE UBRIQUE

Los exquisitos leen autores de culto, a los que no aguantan ni su madre, de esos que si usan una palabra anodina, le meten siete u ocho comparaciones a cual más rebuscada, dos o tres frases adosadas con su correspondiente adversativa, y no contentos, plantan un punto y coma y siguen hasta que el lector, ahíto, se va a buscar el siguiente punto y aparte. Y no suele haber.

Y para aligerar y dar vidilla, a la que te descuidas, se suicida alguien.

Uno suele cerrar el libro en la página 15 sin miaja de pena.

Yo leo a Hernán Casciari, Orsai y soy suscriptor de su revista: y a mucha honra.

Orsai creó los personajes de Don Juan Dámaso, vidente; Mirta Bertotti y su familia en el "Weblog de una mujer gorda"; el de Saúl Klikowsky, y edita la revista literaria "Orsai" sin publicidad de las editoriales y los escritores más vendidos.

Eso es lo que sabe cualquiera, lo dicen en todos los artículos que hablan de Orsai; lo que no se ha contado es que es el creador del personaje Daniel Estulin de Ubrique, un lituano que no nació en Bielefeld, ex-espía del KGB, descubridor de los entresijos del Club Bilderberg, y de Wikileaks, al que apadrina LaRouche.

La genialidad de Orsay consiste en construir un personaje inverosímil con parámetros literarios increíbles: Daniel Estulin de Ubrique es un ruso con modales de lunfardo, un espía, parlero y ruidoso como una cotorra de Kramer (Psittacula krameri) a la caza del Club Bildelberg, a la sazón tan peligroso como las Sociedades Pajariles de Castellón. La imagen que ha elegido es la un coqueto cuarentón con muchas horas de gimnasio y clembuterol, cruzado de brazos y —¡ojo al dato!— de piernas, y con perilla pubiana. Un hijo de la mamá de Brian, al que aún no se le ha olvidado el bromazo de la circuncisión.

Les adjunto intercambio epistolar de este servidor con Daniel Estulin de Ubrique, con los tics retóricos que Orsay ha bordado:

Sr. Estulin:

Su acento hablando español no coincide con sus orígenes declarados. Su inglés tampoco.

La cronología como "espía" del KGB tampoco. Repase sus lecciones de historia.

La palabra espía nunca es utilizada por un "agente" u "oficial".

Un agente no posa de monitor de gimnasio, ni cotorrea como un vendedor de alfombras.

Un respeto a la profesión.

Saludos cordiales

VIDA, AVENTURAS Y OPINIONES DEL CABALLERO VICTOR ROTHSCHILD

Si no pongo a Jerusalem en la cumbre de mis alegrías (Salmo 137)
(Tring, Hertfordshire, 28 de diciembre de 1933)

En el ritual de una boda judía, después de las siete bendiciones (Sheva Brachot), se coloca un vaso en el suelo que el novio (chatan) rompe de un taconazo, como símbolo de la la destrucción del Templo de Jerusalem y de la unión de los esposos con el destino del pueblo judío. Según algún descreído, significa que es la última vez que se permite al hombre judío dar la patada al tornajo. Y se recitan versos 5 y 6 del salmo 137 para no olvidar que por encima del mayor gozo existe el dolor de lo perdido.

Victor Rothschild se casó a los veintitrés años. Aunque siempre tuvo tendencia al "embonpoint"[1] (era "gordo", según sus detractores o "atlético" y "byroniano", según sus aduladores), en aquellá época era una joven "alto y delgado". Su fisonomía no-aria era descrita añadiendo al retrato "de nariz aguileña" o "de tez oscura", según el periodista anduviera más o menos fino con los prejuicios raciales. Ni tenía la nariz aguileña ni era moreno de verde luna. Y tampoco era creyente. Creo que lo que más le atraía del ser judío era la pertenencia a un club selecto y, dentro de él seguir sus propias normas, que a veces rozaban la herejía: "Soy Lord Rothschild y no como cerdo, así es que tráigame un sandwich de jamón". Se casó por segunda vez, en una ceremonia civil, con una dama no judía y se sorprendió mucho cuando un rabino le dijo que su hijo no era admitido en la ceremonia del Bar Mitzvah porque, en sentido estricto y ortodoxo, no era judío. El problema lo resolvió buscando, en Estados Unidos, a un rabino más liberal y reformista.[2]

Barbara Hutchinson fue su primera mujer[3]. Era una joven de las que Gerald

Durrell se lamentaba que pasaban con demasiada rapidez de ser rosas inglesas a caballos percherones [4]. Las fotos públicas muestran su mejor época, aunque tras su belleza asoman inquietantes rasgos de su madre, Mary Hutchinson, un ejemplar equino del selecto Círculo de Blommsbury, que nunca olvidaba preguntar a sus amantes cómo definirían el Arte o qué opinaban sobre el principio de sensación de la forma estética. Barbara no era tan tremebunda. Coincidía con su madre en saber a qué altura corporal se decidía la batalla contra la moral victoriana. Pero mientras que St. John Hutchinson nunca pareció molesto porque Mary ampliara su generosidad a Clive Bell, a los Huxley (marido y mujer)[5] y a cualquier otra alma desgraciada del Círculo de Bloomsbury, Victor llevó mal los cuernos y en eso se reveló su alma puritana y la huella que había dejado en su personalidad el matriarcado judío,. Recopiló metódicamente todos los nombres de los amantes de Barbara para espetárselos a la cara y Barbara se quedó pasmada: "Es muy rencoroso. Hasta me recordó a algunos que yo había ya olvidado" [6]. Formaron una pareja tormentosa y, según los recuerdos de sus amigos, resultaba bastante estomagante. Tenían una pertinaz afición a dirimir en público y a voces sus conflictos. Por más champagne, caviar o Château Mouton que dieran a sus invitados, éstos terminaban intentando escapar lo más discretamente posible del fragor de las trifulcas.

Barbara se convirtió al judaismo un mes antes de la boda, pero no llegó a calar en su alma aquello del "orgullo, honor y coraje" de la mujer que dictaba su nueva religión. Sin embargo, definió bien a su marido. Era rencoroso. Ni la perdonó jamás ni olvidó la posibilidad de un cuco entre sus polluelos. Cuarenta años después, en una conferencia de prensa que daba como presidente del Think Tank, un periodista le preguntó: "¿Cómo explica que su hijo Jacob sea tan buen financiero y de usted se dice que es muy malo?". Victor respondió sonriente: "Jacob es tan bueno en finanzas y yo soy tan malo que alguna gente sospecha sobre su legitimidad". La gracia la repitió ante el Press Club of London para escándalo de todos y bochorno de su primogénito, al que nunca tragó.[7]

Pero aquel 28 de diciembre de 1933, se casó el heredero de los Rothschild de Gran Bretaña con su "bright young thing" vestida de terciopelo blanco y en la mansión de Tring. Las medidas de seguridad sorprendieron por lo estrictas: "Cada invitado tenía un pase especial que era inspeccionado cuidadosamente por un policía. Cuando éste daba el visto bueno avisaba al guarda que abría las puertas desde dentro girando una rueda. A la servidumbre y a los jardineros se les hizo jurar absoluto secreto sobre los preparativos…" —cuenta admirativamente un periódico coetáneo [8]. Con semejantes fastos se cumplía el deber social y los deseos de Emma Rothschild, cabeza nonagenaria del matriarcado. En cualquier caso Victor habría hecho lo mismo. Existía una patológica inseguridad en su carácter que le hacía aferrarse a los formalismos, controlar y manipular a las personas y, sobre todo, venerar al Establishment. Nunca cometió un acto de rebeldía que no viniera avalado por el prestigio de un círculo, de un grupo o un apellido. Esto le ayudo a desarrollar una extraordinaria capacidad de análisis de los individuos y las situaciones y a relacionar informaciones aparentemente inconexas o dispares. Sin embargo, no le proporcionó lo más buscado: ni la seguridad ni el respeto de sus semejantes.

Lejos de ser un matrimonio atípico, resultado de una intensa atracción sexual entre la pareja, su unión con Barbara Hutchinson sigue el modelo de otros judíos integracionistas, que consideraban la "cuestión judía" como un asunto propio de sociedades incultas, una lacra de prejuicios por parte de los antisemitas y una remora de tradiciones absurdas por parte de los judiós, que impedían su integración en las sociedades avanzadas. Había que conseguir poder para que te toleraran, cultura para que te valoraran y demostrar espíritu patriótico con servicios al estado que los había acogido. Ese mecanismo de sobrevivencia era el que había dado los únicos resultados satisfactorios en la historia de Inglaterra. Los integracionistas en su mayoría procedían de clases adineradas, cultas y de tradición familiar ortodoxa[9].

El caso de Edwin Montagu y Venetia Stanley[10] es la foto en sepia del matrimonio Rothschild. Venetia Stanley representaba el modelo de socialite británica de principios de siglo: mujer de clase alta cuya principal misión era organizar y asistir a eventos de su grupo. Los eventos eran de lo más variado y requerían estar al tanto de modas, tendencias culturales o acontecimientos políticos y tener una moral lo bastante moldeable para no escandalizarse por las francachelas, orgías o drogas de los ratos de ocio. Si la dama carecía de recursos con los que mantener unas apariencias, debía saber cómo sonsacar dinero a sus amantes de una forma elegante y discreta o llegar a un acuerdo matrimonial provechoso. Por lo demás, eran antisufragistas y nunca se les pasó por la cabeza trabajar. Venetia pasó a la posteridad por su correspondencia con el primer ministro Asquith. De los miles de cartas sólo se conservan las del político y algunas de ella, porque Asquith rompió las de Venetia por discreción matrimonial. Las cartas de él reflejan al político, pero sobre todo a un hombre en plena decadencia física y en el cénit de su chochez mental. Las epístolas de Venetia no destacan por su coherencia sintáctica ni su contenido intelectual

Asquith tuvo siempre una debilidad rijosa por las jovencitas y se hacía rodear por las amigas de sus hijas, que lo acompañaban encantadas en ese coto de posibles maridos que eran los cercanos a un primer ministro. Todas se fueron casando pero a la bella Venetia se le pasó el arroz y tuvo que recurrir a volver a seducir a un antiguo admirador, despreciado sistemáticamente por ella: el judío Edwin Montagu: feo de solemnidad, sin gracias sociales, con mala salud, pero rico y con una brillante carrera política.

Montagu aceptó un matrimonio en los términos más humillantes con esta dama aria, a la que sólo pidió su conversión al judaísmo, por razones de exigencias testamentarias. Fue anfitrión de sus amantes y, cuando fortuna flaqueó por las extravagancias de su mujer, aceptó mansamente las invitaciones de Lord Beaverbrook, el nuevo protector de Venetia [11].

En 1933, Lord Beaverbrook alabaría, desde su periódico, el Sunday Express, a Hitler comparándolo con Roosevelt por su lucha contra el desempleo y por la protección social[12]. Montagu fue el líder del movimiento antisionista que combatió apasionadamente la Declaración Balfour, detestaba las tradiciones judías, y se pasó la mitad de su vida repitiendo a su familia que no le gustaban las mujeres judías. Mientras reivindicaba su ser británico, su novia seguía carteándose con Asquith y gastando bromas racistas sobre su prometido. Asquith guardó más las formas. De llamarle “El Asirio” pasó a llamarle Montagu.

La misma relación masoquista entre judío protector y aria insoportable y antisemita podemos verla en Leonard y Virginia Woolf. La dragonesa del Círculo de Bloomsbury era aficionada a todos los clichés racistas de la época: calificaba de quejicas a los refugiados de los pogroms europeos y hasta hablaba de una risa o una voz judía[13]. Sus defensores se esfuerzan por tapar las vergüenzas aduciendo modas retóricas de vanguardia. Lo cierto es que Virginia Woolf, que tenía el desabrimiento de una dama victoriana y la molicie de una señora eduardiana, no superó estilísticamente en sus textos antisemitas a los que podría haber escrito un tabernero de Munich. Virginia Woolf destilaba vinagre hablando de Victor y, en el fondo, aunque no podían resistirse a codearse con el heredero del imperio Rothschild y sus lujos, los Woolf dejaron muy claro que nunca fue uno de los suyos. Barbara le había presentado a muchos de los miembros del Círculo de Bloomsbury, (a otros ya los conocia porque eran integrantes de los Apostles), pero el grupo, con su logorrea teórica, su esteticismo y sus amaneramientos intelectuales no resultaron compañeros muy fieles para los nuevos tiempos.

Gracias a sus conexiones familiares con los Churchill [14], Venetia Montagu llegó a ser amiga de Victor, que la presentaba a sus conocidos como una joya del refinamiento social. En los años inmediatos que siguen a su matrimonio, Victor estrechó relaciones con Duff Cooper, amigo y amante de Venetia[15] y de los Churchill, Secretary of State for War de 1935–1937. Duff Cooper fue uno de sus pocos amigos y compañeros afines en sus intereses políticos, y una figura esencial en su trayectoria en los servicios de inteligencia.

Pero en 1933, celebrar una unión mixta no se reducía a un problema de complejo social, de grupo o clase. Era un desafío. En 1915, Asquith aceptó como algo perfectamente correcto, aunque triste, el matrimonio por dinero de Venetia, pero, cuando se enteró de que, en los pactos matrimoniales, se incluía su conversión al judaísmo, escribió horrorizado:

"Pienso lo que puede significar, incluso para una persona sin creencias dogmáticas, abjurar del Cristianismo y, además, sustituirlo por el judaísmo. Cuanto más lo pienso (y creo que lo hago de forma imparcial y objetiva) más repugnante y repulsivo me parece. En primer lugar (como Montagu admitió el otro día), tienes que declarar (expresa o implícitamente) que el Cristianismo es una impostura: en otras palabras tienes que dar la espalda a la mayor fuerza que ha creado Occidente, que ha remodelado y ha cambiado el mundo y nos ha hecho ser lo que somos. Y despues de ese "gran rifiuto" tienes que afirmar (y no ímplícitamente) que adoptas el credo de esa tribu estéril y cerril.." [16]

Esta opinión fue escrita por un liberal, nada dogmático, y sin especial inquina contra los judíos. En los años treinta casarse con una no judía, con conversión o no, era manchar sangre aria. La cuestión de la raza, la pureza de sangre y la necesidad de mantener la sangre aria libre de mezcla o de seres enfermos que la estaban debilitando no la inventa la ideología nazi sino que ésta echa mano de corrientes de pensamiento con profundas raíces en la sociedad británica y estadounidense. El racismo formaba parte de la ideología imperial de Gran Bretaña y alcanzaba a todas las clases sociales. Su formulación por políticos e intelectuales presentaba un razonamiento adaptable a las conciencias de cada público. En el caso de los judíos, al secular antisemitismo, se suman otras argumentaciones: la aristocracia, la nobleza y la clase alta inglesa están perdiendo su pureza de sangre por matrimonios mixtos con judíos, que se infiltran para acaparar los puestos de las clases dirigentes británicas. Empiezan a acopiarse "expedientes" genealógicos de familias "tintadas", que culminan, en 1940, con una suerte de "Tizón de la Nobleza", publicado por la B.U.F (British Union of Fascists), donde se exponen los cientos de apellidos y familias mezcladas con judíos. Victor Rothschild, claro está, aparece en él. La publicación hizo furor y fue presentada en la Camara de Representantes de Estados Unidos por el Hon. J. Thorkelson, de Montana, el 20 de agosto de 1940:

El espíritu maligno y conspirador de la grey mosaica toma su forma más peligrosa como instigadores de las peores revoluciones:

"Este movimiento entre los judíos no es nuevo: Desde la época de Spartacus-Weishaupt hasta la de Karl Marx, Trotsky (Rusia), Bela Kun (Hungría), Rosa Luxembourg (Alemania), and Emma Goldman (Estados Unidos)... esta conspiración mundial para destruir la civilización y crear una sociedad basada en detener la civilización, en la envidiosa malevolencia, y en la imposible igualdad, ha estado creciendo sin parar. Ha sido la fuente de todos los movimientos subversivos durante el siglo XIX. Y ahora, al final, esta banda de extraordinarias personalidades salidas del inframundo de las grandes ciudades de Europa y América, han agarrado al pueblo Ruso del pelo y se han convertido prácticamente en dueños indisputados de ese enorme imperio" Winston Churchill [17]

Es sabido que la familia Churchill mantenía relaciones comerciales, de amistad, etc. con los Rothschild. Veremos que Churchill recurre a Victor en la Segunda Guerra Mundial como hombre de confianza, pero, en 1947, durante la boda de su hija Mary con Christopher Soames, Victor fue ninguneado como invitado. Tampoco fue aceptado como miembro del club más exclusivo de Gran Bretaña: el White Club, a pesar de haber sido presentado por Lord Rosebery y Duff Cooper. El desprecio sin duda fue la respuesta del Establishment a la intervención de Rothschild en la House of Lords, hablando de la situación en Palestina después del atentado del Hotel Rey David en Jerusalem.

Meses después de casarse con Barbara, Victor fue expulsado de un restaurante en Londres por ser judío:

"Alto, delgado, y de nariz aguileña, Nathaniel Mayer Victor Rothschild, de 23 años, sobrino y heredero de Lionel Walter Rothschild, cabeza de la rama británica de esta gran dinastía de banqueros, entró con un grupo de amigos en un alegre restaurante conocido como el As de Espadas, y al poco salió sin comer. Los periodistas de Londres, que habían oido rumores, corrieron a su casa y le oyeron explicar con timidez: "En cuanto entré, el dueño se acercó y me preguntó si era judío. Mi físico es poco ario. Le confirmé que era judío y me contestó que sentía mucho no poder atenderme y que me marchara. Se parece a la Alemania Nazi ¿no?" [18]

Sin embargo, tendrían que pasar muchos años para que este inglés tuviera consciencia de que, fuera lo que fuera, siempre sería un judío en Inglaterra. Él mismo narra, en un estilo voluntariamente conciso y neutral, sus primeras experiencias de niño con el antisemitismo: "Me di cuenta dolorosamente de que era judío cuando, despues de llegar a Stanmore Park, un niño llamado Michael me dio una patada en las espinillas y me llamó "sucio judío". [19]

Victor, que era malo escribiendo porque lo que le apasionó nunca pudo contarlo y lo que contó nunca le interesó, solía recurrir al equívoco como broma que sólo él y algunos de sus pares en inteligencia eran capaces de entender. Un lector latino entendería la frase como el doloroso descubrimiento infantil de la discriminación. Un lector británico entiende que es la patada en las espinillas lo que hace calificar la experiencia como "dolorosa". Ese sentido del humor y la satisfacción que le producía saber utilizar el protocolo y lenguaje de una clase a la que despreciaba pero temía le ocasionó más de un problema. Kenneth Rose, su biógrafo "autorizado" malinterpreta el sarcasmo que encierra el discurso del año 38 en favor de los refugiados judíos:

"A pesar de nuestros sentimientos humanitarios, creo que estamos de acuerdo en que hay algo de "incómodo" en acoger a refugiados en la privacidad de nuestro país, incluso por períodos de tiempo relativamente cortos. Esta sensación también la comparten, por razones distintas, los mismos refugiados. Haber tenido que emigrar a un país extranjero, con diferentes costumbres, diferente idioma, diferente comida e incluso diferente clima y sentir que no se le quiere a uno en ningún sitio y sentir que dependes moral y materialmente de la caridad de los demás, es, creo, uno de las experiencias más humillantes que puede sufrir un ser humano.

Son por estas razones por las que los judíos se aferran con tanta tenacidad (demasiada, dirán ustedes) a la noción de Palestina, aunque creo que saben que, según dijo el Colonial Secretary hace unos días, semejante cantidad de judíos no puede entrar en un país tan pequeño".[20]

Cuando Victor Rothschild pronunció este discurso había donado una auténtica fortuna a favor de los refugiados judíos que habían huído a Gran Bretaña del exterminio nazi. Que lo hiciera discretamente y muchas veces de forma anónima es explicable porque, en la cultura judía, la ayuda o los actos de caridad han de ser anónimos. Existe, además otra constante en su conducta, y es la de omitir o trivializar aquellos episodios de su vida que lo hacían sentirse vulnerable. De sus experiencias con el antisemitismo, nunca habló de la más dolorosa: cuando un compañero de escuela se burló de la forma en que había muerto su padre, detalles que su familia había intentado ocultarle por su edad.

Charles Rothschild padecía encefalitis letárgica, al parecer una manifestación de una rara epidemia de encefalitis que padeció Europa y Estados Unidos durante la Primera Guerra Mundial y que sigue inexplicada. Los síntomás con los que cursaba esta enfermedad se trataron durante años como depresión, cefalea, trastornos alucinatorios, etc. Incapaz de soportar más los dolores, Charles se suicidó degollándose a los 45 años. Victor tenía 13. Su hermana Miriam [21] cuenta la tristeza con la que celebran el Bar Mitzvah de Victor, meses después, incapaces de sobreponerse a la muerte de Charles. Miriam habló de cómo le afectó este suicidio a su madre o a ella misma, pero Victor Rothschild jamás lo mencionó.

El silencio sobre la enfermedad de su padre se extendió al gran tabú de la enfermedad mental en los Rothschild. En él se juntaron las ideas “científicas” de la época, los prejuicios más burdos, una objetiva consaguineidad por matrimonios endogámicos y un peligro real: la posición de la sociedad de la época ante el enfermo mental. Miriam Rothschild lo explicó con gran sentido del humor:

“Los Rothschild son una familia verdaderamente incestuosa. Todo el mundo ha creído que se acordaban los matrimonios entre primos para mantener la fortuna familiar intacta, secreta y fácilmente a mano. Es indudable y obvio que había esta ventaja en tales uniones (en la familia se decía —no sin algo de verdad— que la dote de las mujeres consistía en acciones sin valor del Ferrocaril de Sudamérica de las que querían desprenderse los varones). Pero en general, la explicación era otra: los primos se enamoraban unos de otros. Los irreverentes sobrinos de Walter decían que sería un sabio el Rothschild que supiera quién era su padre…” [22]

Fue Miriam quien habló públicamente y con cariño de su hermana Elizabeth, “Liberty”, que estudió Bellas Artes y padecía esquizofrenia. En cambio, Victor no la mencionó jamás. El interdicto alcanzó al arbol genealógico de su biografía autorizada, donde los hijos de Charles y Rozsika se distribuyen en Miriam-Victor- 2 hijas más. El otro garbanzo negro es Pannonica, “Nica”, la “Baronesa Jazz”, que escandalizó a Europa y a Estados Unidos, pero, sobre todo, a su encorsetado hermano.

Evelyn de Rothschild en su homenaje a la muerte de Miriam dice a propósito de este tabú:

Estábamos unidos también por un asunto muy triste y que nos afectaba mucho a los dos. Miriam tenía una hermana, Liberty, que padecía esquizofrenia y yo tenía una hermana, Ana, que también era esquizofrénica. Era una época en la que no se hablaba de la esquizofrenia. Juntos creamos la Schizophrenia Research Fund y, como ha ocurrido con otras muchas enfermedades, sólo es ahora cuando la gente podemos hablar con más libertad de ella. Solíamos discutir cómo y cuándo podría hablarse publicamente de las enfermedades y de los problemas que las personas tenían que afrontar. Miriam trataba del tema de una manera muy directa, casi clínica. Yo creo que era porque tenía una mente científica” [23]

La fundación se creó en 1962. Ni siquiera entonces, Victor, que también tenía una mente científica, tuvo valor para mencionar a Liberty.

Además de estos casos de esquizofrenia de Liberty y Ana Rothschild, de los transtornos neurológicos de su padre, estaban los rasgos de personalidad extravagante de otros miembros de la familia, a los que, de no haber llevado el apellido Rothschild, se les habría llamado majaretas. En distinto grado, todos los varones Rothschild de la rama inglesa padecían una timidez patológica que les impedía relacionarse socialmente con un mínimo de desenvoltura. El bisabuelo de Victor, Lionel, que financió la compra de Canal de Suez y con ello consiguió ser el primer judío al que se le permitiera tener escaño en la House of Commons (Parlamento), se mantuvo callado los dieciseis años que ocupó el escaño, incapaz de superar el pánico escénico o los complejos de homo novus. Walter, el 2º barón Rothschild, gran zoologo y político, era incapaz de mirar a nadie a los ojos o de expresarse con un mínimo de aptitud. Walter fue incapaz de casarse por si enfadaba a su madre y pasó su vida angustiado escondiendo a las amantes de la temible anciana. El pavor que le provocaba el gineceo Rothschild le hizo víctima de un chantaje que casi lo llevó a la ruina. El hijo de Victor, Amschel, que terminó también suicidándose, padecía un apocamiento que le ocasionó muchos problemas escolares. Los síntomas obsesivo compulsivos, como el coleccionismo hasta grados absurdos, o las tendencias adictivas, toda vez que eran ricos y no tenían un rechazo social, no le preocuparon a Victor. Todo lo contrario, hablaba de un “gen coleccionista en los Rothschild” con fruición y sin detenerse a pensar en la posibilidad de que fuera algo enfermizo.

En una personalidad como la de Miriam, la tragedia de la enfermedad vergonzante era una injusticia contra la que había que luchar; en Victor era un peligro que te hacía vulnerable ante la sociedad. Miriam, al igual que sus hermanas, nunca fue a la escuela y su educación fue poco convencional. Su hermano pasó todo el calvario de escuelas e instituciones que le exigía su condición de heredero y aprendió a temer (y a respetar) los prejuicios de su clase.

Las teorías de una pseudociencia como la eugenesia son adoptadas, en las primeras décadas del siglo XX, por intelectuales e instituciones académicas, europeas y americanas, con entusiasmo La teoría eugenética casaba perfectamente con los prejuicios e intereses de una sociedad que no estaba dispuesta a cargar con individuos “no aptos” o poco productivos: enfermos mentales, minusválidos físicos, pobres o “degenerados” (homosexuales) y un conjunto heterogeneo de razas, pueblos y minorías. El arquetipo de raza mejorada era el ario. Los fines de estos benefactores son mejorar científica y racionalmente la raza humana para evitar enfermedades hereditarias, sufrimientos innecesarios y superpoblación. Winston Churchill, uno de sus grandes defensores, lo explicó de manera muy clara:

El rápido y antinatural crecimiento de las clases enfermas y débiles mentales, unido, como está, al constante control de natalidad de todos los grupos ahorradores, energéticos y superiores constituye un peligro para la nación y la raza que es imposible exagerar. Creo que la fuente de la que emana esta corriente de locura ha de ser cortada y sellada antes de que pase otro año (Churchill a Asquith, 1910, hablando sobre la necesidad de la esterilización forzosa).

En definitiva, como diría el mismo Churchill, en 1955, muy preocupado por la entrada de gente de color en Gran Bretaña: "Manten blanca a Inglaterra" [24]

De haber sido puesta en práctica las ideas de Churchill o de haber sido internados en algún centro psiquiátrico de US, Bélgica, Holanda o Suecia, los Rothschild habrían sido esterilizados a la fuerza, como lo fueron millones de enfermos antes de la llegada del nazismo. En sentido estricto, Churchill, cuyos transtornos bipolares y alcoholismo parecen hoy acreditados, tendría que haberse aplicado su propia terapia eugenésica. Supongo que los miembros de la familia Churchill que asistieron a la boda de Victor y Barbara en Tring tendrían sentimientos muy encontrados.

Desde el anarquismo hasta el conservadurismo, todas las ideologías consideraron la enfermedad mental como un estigma de estirpe, sangre o familia, que había que erradicar o exterminar de una sociedad o raza "sana". Y muchas veces, las víctimas o sus familiares no denunciaron los crímenes cometidos contra enfermos para no hacer públicos que su historial "genético" estaba manchado por la locura.

El caso de Vera Atkins, commander officer y preparadora de agentes del SOE, presenta muchas analogías, en este aspecto con el de Victor Rothschild. Vera May Atkins, que había cambiado (y anglizado) su nombre real, Vera Maria Rosenberg, para esconder sus orígenes judíos, ocultó que un familiar suyo había muerto en el Holocausto. Los Rosenberg también olvidaron a este pariente. Sesenta años después el tabú sobre "el primo loco", Hans Rosenberg, aún seguía vigente:

"Annie (antigua amiga de los Rosenberg) seguía mirando la fotografía. Creía que el gemelo Rosenberg que no conseguía identificar quizás era George. Hans, se acordaba en ese momento, había sufrido una enfermedad o una crisis nerviosa y había estado internado en algún hospital o manicomio. Creía que la crisis le había sobrevenido cuando estaba estudiando en Munich y nunca había llegado a recuperarse. No estaba segura de lo que había pasado con él, pero había oído que podría haber sido víctima de los programas de exterminio por eutanasia.

Le comenté que nunca había oído hablar de la historia de Hans. Nadie de la familia (Rosenberg) lo había mencionado. "No es sorprendente —dijo Annie—, la enfermedad mental era algo que había que ocultar. Para los Rosenberg ser judío era algo vergonzoso. Así que Hans era considerado una vergüenza doble. Los Rosenberg no querían que nadie supiera que había enfermedad mental en la familia o que eran judíos, así es que ocultaron que tenían víctimas del Holocausto" [25]

But in spite of all temptations
To belong to other nations,
He remains an Englishman!
(Sir William Schwenck Gilbert, HMS Pinafore)

Rozsika, la madre de Victor, decía que Inglaterra era el mejor sitio del mundo para ser judío. Hungara de nacimiento, se asimiló completamente a su nueva patria y luchó de forma inteligente y sin complejos a favor de su pueblo. Victor no se asimiló porque ya era inglés. Sólo a un inglés (no a un británico) se le ocurriría hablar de "the advantage to be accepted as an Englishman" (la ventaja de ser aceptado como un inglés). En palabras de Cecil Rhodes: "Pregúntale a cualquiera qué nacionalidad preferiría tener y el 99% te dirá que prefiere ser inglés". El convencimiento de pertenecer a un pueblo escogido (y superior) es idéntico al que sustenta al judaísmo y llega a provocar la misma perplejidad en foráneos y gentiles. El mismo apego al rito, a las tradiciones, a la insularidad y a su concepto de moral los aisla del resto y los cohesiona: "un inglés cree que es virtuoso cuando está incómodo" (Bernard Shaw); un judío cuando no olvida el dolor en sus momentos de mayor gozo. Incluso los descarriados siguen patrones análogos: el inglés o el judío errante.

De la misma forma que cumplió con todos los ritos vitales de su religión sin creer en Dios ni en el Diablo, Victor se propuso demostrar su "englishness" repitiendo la trayectoria vital y patriótica de un súbdito de su clase y época. En Harrow correspondía lucir en cricket y Victor se convirtió en un jugador estrella, entre otras razones, para que le permitieran avanzar intelectualmente:

"Hacia el final de mi estancia en Harrow me convertí en un jugador de cricket bueno, o mejor, difícil de ignorar: un pasaporte automático a la popularidad que, hasta entonces, me había sido esquiva. Se me permitió incluso dejar de releer una y otra vez la primera lección de nuestro manual de biología y pasar de la ameba a organismos más complejos. Hasta entonces no se me había permitido meter prisas porque mi amigo Pleydell-Bouverie tenía problemas con la ameba o no le gustaba y no se consideraba correcto que, si había dos estudiantes estudiando biología en el grado superior, uno fuera por delante del otro. Estaba claro que semejante cosa habría significado más trabajo para el profesor de Biología D.M. Reid (…). Pero, al entrar en el equipo XI de cricket (…) todo cambió y se me concedió el privilegio de abandonar a Pleydell-Bouverie con su ameba y pasar al paramecio." [26].

Para los continentales que caemos en un sopor ingobernable a los diez minutos de ver el juego, es tan difícil entender el significado como descubrir masculinidad en un torero, pero lo que el cricket simbolizaba en los años 30 era la pertenencia a una clase y la camaradería de los miembros de una elite que luchan y se sacrifican por el imperio: "The love that never falters, the love that pays the price,// The love that makes undaunted the final sacrifice."("El amor que nunca falla, el amor que paga el precio, el amor que arrostra impávido el sacrificio final" Sir Cecil Spring-Rice I Vow to Thee, My Country)

El cricket ha sido la quintaesencia de lo inglés blanco hasta tal punto que, en los años 90, cuando los equipos británicos tuvieron una mala racha, se publicó un artículo de Robert Henderson que causó un embarazoso malestar en la nación: "Is it in the blood?" (¿Se lleva en la sangre?). Su autor sostenía que la decadencia del cricket británico estribaba en la mezcla racial que había en los equipos, porque un indio, un negro, aunque hubieran nacido y se hubieran educado en Gran Bretaña, "no pueden sentir como un blanco" y por tanto no podían sentirse ingleses ni luchar con el mismo fervor por su país. La farfolla racista del artículo era políticamente incorrecta, pero reflejaba la opinión de una época de Gran Bretaña y de gran parte de su población blanca [27].

En Harrow, Victor aprendió los rituales iniciáticos de los cachorros de una clase que se vestían de una forma única (aunque iguales entre sí), hablaban una jerga exclusiva, perpetuaban ritos y ceremonias generación tras generación, eran clasistas, bebedores, matones y racistas. Harrow, que abolió el castigo corporal en 1980, se enorgullece de haber sido el mayor criadero de dirigentes políticos de Gran Bretaña[28].

Los judíos fueron admitidos sólo en mínimas cuotas a finales del siglo XIX y por razones económicas. El padre de Victor, Charles, recordaba sus días de Harrow como una auténtica pesadilla: "Si alguna vez tengo un hijo, aprenderá boxeo y ju-jitsu antes de entrar a una escuela, porque la caza de judíos tal y como yo las he vivido son una diversión unilateral y no puede decirse que haya gran simpatía entre los cazadores y el cazado". Pero dispuso que su hijo fuera a Harrow y éste aprendió cricket, el gusto de pertenecer: a un club selecto y algunos tics de altanería gratuita con el inferior, que veremos a lo largo de su vida, en los momentos de mayor inseguridad.

Pero su capacidad de adaptación a Harrow y a su englishness fracasó en cuestiones sexuales. Venía curtido de la escuela preparatoria de Stanmore Park, donde lo arrastraron sus padres casi a la fuerza cuando tenía nueve años:

"Stanmore Park, estoy convencido, era un infierno. El director Vernon Royle era llamado "el Reverendo" aunque no en Órdenes mayores. Era un famoso jugador de cricket (…) R.F.Reynolds era un soberbio lanzador de tiza cuando le molestaba algún niño. Nariz, mejilla y frente eran sus dianas preferidas, en ese orden. Nunca dio a un alumno en un ojo. Su clase estaba en el segundo piso y un día colgó por el pelo, desde la ventana, a un chico llamado Openshaw. Openshaw no gozaba de gran popularidad entre nosotros así es que nos divertimos. Otro profesor D.W. Carr, del que se decía que había inventado los googlies (jugada de cricket) antes que Bosanquet, se emborrachó una tarde e intento quitarle el apéndice con un cuchillo a un chico llamado Cremer. Cremer, que tenía otros problemas en Stanmore Park, se convirtió después en un gran poeta [29].

"Durante mi primer trimestre expulsaron a once chicos de mi "casa" de Harrow School. No supe la razón entonces, ya que no había recibido adoctrinamiento alguno sobre tales asuntos ni en casa ni en Stanmore. Sin embargo pronto se rellenó esta laguna en mi educación: se trataba simplemente de un hecho o forma de vida que obedecía a una inclinación o circunstancias particulares. Como fui intelectualmente precoz (y no hay dudo que desagradable también), me castigaban a menudo. El castigo solía materializarse en forma de palizas —a menudo me las daban los Schilizzis, que también habían llegado a Harrow desde Stanmore— por ser descarado o "tener morro" como se decía en aquella época en Harrow. Yo estaba asustado porque las palizas eran muy dolorosas. Un chico llamado Stilwell lo sabía y me amenazó con acusarme de descaro ante el head of the house a menos que consintiera en tener una relación homosexual con él. Me puso tan nervioso este chantaje que di el imperdonable paso de informar a mi house-master, C.G.Pope. Stilwell se metió en unos problemas terribles o lo pareció entonces. Hasta ese momento yo le había desagradado a Mr.Pope, pero después de mi asombroso comportamiento, llegué a ser uno de sus favoritos y a menudo me libraba de las odiosas clases de la mañana (…)

Uno de los muchos rasgos detestables de la vida de Harrow (que sin duda es ahora mucho más civilizada) eran los "Privilegios". Costaba tres años, el "privilegio" de poder llevar zapatillas. El suelo helado de piedra de nuestra "house" nos hacía sabañones muy dolorosos, que, según el ama de llaves se debían a la falta de calcio. Eran privilegios de tres años silbar (si es que alguien quería), bañarse con agua caliente, o cerrar la puerta del retrete. Como resultado, un chico llamado Usborne no fue al retrete durante un trimestre. Estábamos perplejos por esa hazaña de resistencia, pero yo sospechaba que se aliviaba en la Escuela de Música, que, por su construcción en forma de celdas, era también el cuartel general de actividades homosexuales. Un chico llamado Whidborne minor, que a mí me parecía especialmente guapo, se comportó muy malamente con Hewlett, otro chico mayor que él en la Escuela de Música. Whidborne le dijo a Hewlett que hiciera con él lo que le pareciera bien. Hewlett cumplió el cometido con entusiasmo e imaginación, por lo que Whidborne empezó a chillar y a gritar que había sido indecentemente violado. Al día siguiente Hewlett abandonó Harrow y se marchó en el tren a Londres de las 4 p.m. A partir de ese momento, por más bello que fuera, Whidborne minor fue tratado con cautela y precaución."[30]

Si Victor se permitió estas páginas contra Harrow no fue por una necesidad de denunciar, medio siglo después, el libertinaje de las public school, sino que contaba historietas ligeramente procaces para distraer al lector de otros puntos focales más conflictivos. Pocos años antes, la fama de Harrow ya había sido arrastrada por el lodo con el descubrimiento de los Diarios de John Addington Symonds por Phyllis Grosskurth, historiadora casada con un agente de inteligencia canadiense conocido de Rothschild, James Mavor Moore. Gracias a los diarios se descubrió las orgías pederastas del respetable académico, teólogo y clérigo Charles John Vaughan, headmaster de Harrow desde 1844 a 1859. Al parecer, a los alumnos más jóvenes de Harrow se les adjudicaba un mote femenino y se les convertía en esclavas sexuales de alumnos mayores y en "prostitutas" al servicio general del claustro docente. El padre de un alumno descubrió las "irrefrenables pasiones" del devoto director y le conminó a renunciar al cargo so pena de hacer público el escándalo. Vaughan así lo hizo y salvó su reputación durante más de un siglo. Curiosamente otro estudioso de Vaughan, Harrow y los colegios privados ingleses, Jonathan Gathorne-Hardy, fue, en su niñez, uno de los "favoritos" de otro pedófilo de fama, Benjamin Britten.

Rothschild no escribía, en este tema, para la clase alta, que sabía perfectamente lo que pasaba en Harrow o Eton, porque había pasado por sus aulas, conocía por experiencia lo que ocurría y, aun así, seguía enviando a sus hijos, generación tras generación. Escribía para una clase media y estas confidencias a lo Evelyn Waugh era un recurso de captatio benevolentiae exponiendo las vergüenzas de su propia élite. En Meditations, no habla, en cambio, de las funciones de guardaespaldas que desempeñaba su hermana Miriam, cuando Victor tenía que viajar con el equipo de Cricket de Harrow:

"Cuando iba de viaje con el equipo de cricket del condado, ella (Miriam) insistía en compartir su habitación de hotel porque creía que un compañero de su hermano albergaba propósitos hacía él" [31]

Oz v'hadar l'vushah vatischak l'yom acharon: Ella sonríe al futuro: la fortaleza y el honor son su ropaje.
Eshet Chayil (Una mujer de valor)

El Eshet Chayil es un himno que concluye los Proverbios de Salomón. Se canta los viernes por la tarde al volver de la Sinagoga, tras haber cantado el "Shalom Aleichem" y antes de la cena del Shabbat. El poema simboliza la alabanza del hombre judío a la mujer ideal: enérgica, capaz y justa.

Victor Rothschild fue criado por mujeres de valor. Al niño inglés de la clase alta o la aristocracia, siguiendo una costumbre que remonta a la edad media, se le separaba de su madre a los siete u ocho años y se le enviaba a un internado para evitar que su personalidad se debilitara o feminizara. En el caso de Victor no existía ese peligro y Stanmore o Harrow fueron árboles más altos desde los que lanzar al guájaro y probar su capacidad de sobrevivencia. Al parecer, las mujeres no detectaron ningún rasgo de debilidad caracterial que pusiera en peligro su estabilidad emocional o vital. El niño era muy inteligente, pero insolente y manipulador. Resolvía solo sus peleas o conflictos escolares con astucia o morro, según le dejaran, pero no corría a esconderse a las faldas de su madre o de su abuela, quienes, con toda seguridad le habrían dado una decidida coz de destete. De haber descubierto alguna anomalía debilitante, como las que afectaron a su padre o a su tío, Emma o Rozsika habrían tomado las riendas de su vida sin dudarlo un momento. A las mujeres Rothschild no se les permitía heredar la dirección del banco y a los varones no se les dejaba elegir su vocación en la vida. En el caso de las mujeres, la discriminación les permitió seguir sus intereses con más libertad. En el caso de los hombres, la presión para que se convirtieran en banqueros dignos de sus antepasados en el mejor de los casos fue una condena inútil, en el peor, como fue el de Charles, una tragedia personal y científica.

No sabemos qué enfermedad padecía desde niño Walter Rothschild. No se ha hecho ningún estudio científico sobre su dolencia. Miriam, que escribió una bellísima historia sobre él y su museo, habla de un estudio grafológico que le supone un daño cerebral en edad temprana. Es posible que padeciera una epilepsia neonatal con secuelas en el área de Broca y en el cortex motor, y ello explicaria que Emma hablara en sus cartas de las crisis de “irritabilidad” que dejaban débil y exhausto al niño. Los síntomas y el comportamiento que describe Miriam recuerdan al de un enfermo del síndrome de Landau-Kleffner. En cualquier caso, el tratamiento fue el peor posible. Su madre lo aisló y sobreprotegió toda su vida. Le financió su museo de historia natural en Tring y sus proyectos como una prolongación infinita de la infancia. Walter, que fue un gran zoologo, vivió ahogado por el cariño materno y la indignación iracunda que provocaba a su padre. Pasó años escapándose del banco o de su escaño en el Parlamento para ir a esconderse en su museo. Cuando murió Natty y heredó el título, se negó en redondo a asumir ninguna responsabiliad en el banco. Charles asumió todas las cargas de la dinastía y abandonó sus investigaciones y sus proyectos conservacionistas en los que fue pionero. En 1916 su enfermedad se agravó y permaneció internado en Suiza tres años. En 1921 tuvo otra recaída y volvió a Suiza otros seis meses. Pasó año y medio relativamente bien, pero en 1923 se suicidó. Es decir, desde los 6 a los 13 años, Victor sólo convivió —y parcialmente porque ya estaba interno en el colegio— dos años con su padre.

Por tanto, los modelos masculinos más cercanos a Victor eran un tío excéntrico que medía 1’90 y pesaba 140 kg, que hablaba a voces o se sumía en un mutismo absoluto sin razón aparente, y un padre, débil y enfermo que fue delegando paulatinamente sus responsabilidades en Rozsika y murió de forma deshonrosa. Victor rara vez habló de ellos. Para el lector de hoy, la obra de Walter o Charles, incluso sus personalidades, tienen la frescura y la generosidad de un entusiasmo genuino, sin estar bastardeado por engolamientos o pedanterías académicas. Hay una amplitud en sus concepciones científicas y un riesgo teórico que está ausente en los trabajos científicos de Victor, que es un investigador constreñido por el lenguaje, por el miedo a equivocarse (en público) , por la utilidad de su trabajo y por el provincianismo universitario. Estos defectos se agravan en su obra no científica. Su manía por la respetabilidad y el patriotismo, su suspicacia encorsetada nos evoca más a una señora victoriana defendiendo su virtud de miradas lascivas. De su infancia sólo presenta una postal típica de su clase:

“Mis padres, aunque eran liberales políticamente hablando, me parecían estrictos. Mirando atrás, no recuerdo nada de lo que uno esperaría en una casa Rothschild, si ha leído lo que se ha publicado recientemente sobre mi familia.

Eramos mimados y sometidos alternativamente a una rigurosa disciplina y teníamos poco contacto con nuestros padres. Eran como policías dirigiendo el tráfico: paren, sigan, desvíense. Pero también te podían permitir caprichos y lo hacían (…) Nuestro hogar parecía estar lleno de institutrices y tutores…” [32].

Pero algunos extractos del relato de Miriam nos dan una idea de la peculiar atmósfera familiar en la que se crió Victor:

“Mientras Walter estaba enfermo en Suiza, parecía natural que Rozsika y sus hijos se fueran a vivir una temporada con Emma en Tring. Pero, (una vez muerto Charles) aquello era como una terrible tragedia griega: sentarse a la mesa con Walter enfrente, dormir en alcobas contiguas… todos amontonados en una pesada jaula de oro. En cierto sentido la vida se había convertido en una locura macbethiana, inimaginable para la muchacha despreocupada y pobre que había sido en Hungría. El único sentido que podía darle a su vida era pensar que, en esas circunstancias, podía ayudar a Hungría a recuperarse de los desastres de la guerra y a ejecutar los deseos de Charles. Además estaban los niños.

Pensándolo ahora, me parece asombroso que Emma no le pidiera a Walter que cambiara el dormitorio que había ocupado desde su niñez (separado del apartamento de su madre sólo por unos escalones) por cualquiera de los veinte dormitorios vacíos que tenía Tring con cuarto de baño y despacho. O por qué Walter no había ocupado lo que se llamaba "el ala de soltero" del edificio, que era una especie de casita independiente, con salida al jardín y a la biblioteca comunal, donde leían Walter y Emma antes y después de las comidas. En cierta sentido, Emma vivía en el pasado y Walter —que se aferraba a las costumbres con tenacidad insuperable— se asía al confort tranquilizador y familiar de sus viejos cuarteles y le era indiferente el ruido que hacían los niños corriendo por los pasillos o el cuarto de baño que compartia con ellos y que tenían permanentemente inundado.

Sin embargo, en 1916, Emma decidió que, pasara lo que pasara, Walter tendría un lujoso cuarto de baño propio, equipado, por razones de seguridad, con una bañera gigante semienterrada en el suelo. A pesar de estas precauciones, un buen día Walter se escurrió y cayó sobre el borde. Presa del pánico tocó el timbre de alarma. Para cuando el valet descubrió a qué cuarto correspondía el timbre en el cuadro general y hubo bajado los tres pisos, Walter había recobrado la compostura (…)
—"¿Se encuentra bien, milord?
—"Perfectamente, Woods. Es que he perdido mi centro de gravedad en la bañera"
—"Muy bien, mi Lord –replicó respetuosamente Woods- me encargaré de buscarlo después"

(…) Pero, sin cuarto de baño o con él, Walter se agarró pertinaz a sus viejos cuarteles en el piso de los niños. Por si fuera poco, dormía con la puerta abierta y los tremendos ronquidos recorrían los corredores como las gigantescas olas de una playa atlántica, asombrando a los niños que apenas podían creer que una sola persona pudiera engendrar tan sobrecogedora tormenta de truenos. Les asustaba tanto Walter que sólo se atrevían a asomarse al cuarto cuando él ya había bajado [33].

Victor solía reírse de su tío, pero cuando intentaba tener una relación más cercana, discutiendo de asuntos científicos[34], era interceptado por su abuela o por su madre, que consideraban a Walter un mal ejemplo para el heredero:

"Rozsika tenía no poca culpa en la ausencia de comunicación entre Walter y los niños. Tenía una actitud ambivalente: por un lado consideraba que Walter podría ejercer una mala influencia en su hijo y disuadir a Victor de que trabajara en New Court (el Banco) (…); por otro lado, pensaba que Walter una responsabilidad suya, heredada de Charles y un hombre que necesitaba cuidados y apoyos y Rozsika disfrutaba ejerciendo la autoridad" [35].

Por tanto, hasta ahora, los testimonios fiables de estos años esbozan a un joven Victor, con inquietudes intelectuales algo definidas, sin un ápice de rebeldía, en un matriarcado un tanto asfixiante, sin amigos íntimos, y preocupado por abrirse paso en unos círculos de élite y en una sociedad donde el antisemitismo va creciendo exponencialmente. Ni en su autobiografía ni en el relato de Miriam vemos que al niño o al adolescente le despertaran simpatía, cariño o lástima los débiles, ni de su familia ni de su colegio. Tampoco hay signos de indignación ante la injusticia, ni la que pueda sufrir en carne propia ni la que observa en otros. La única vez que se subleva, cuando un alumno de Harrow le exige relaciones sexuales, lo hace denunciando y recurriendo a la autoridad superior.

Es una personalidad que acepta la estructura jerarquica de la sociedad de su tiempo y se valora a sí misma por su triunfo en ella. Este patrón de comportamiento lo repetirá a lo largo de su vida y en circunstancias muy diversas. Un ejemplo muy ilustrativo es su relación con Royal Society, que había despreciado sistemáticamente a su tío Walter por antisemitismo y porque consideraba heréticas su obra y su visión innovadora de las Ciencias Naturales. Charles, un carácter aparentemente más débil que el de Victor, no olvidó esta ofensa a su hermano y rechazó , años despues, el ofrecimiento que se le hizo para ingresar en ella. Victor, en cambio, no olvidó ocasión en la que poner las siglas FRS (Fellow Royal Society) al lado de su nombre y aceptó finchado y encantado el ingreso en un círculo que había insultado a su apellido. Esta vanidad, denota una debilidad grave en un agente de inteligencia y significa que el sujeto puede perder el control o romperse cuando ve en peligro su reputación o imagen social. Veamos en una cata biográfica algunos casos de este fallo:

El Director General del MI5 da una fiesta en Hayde Park Hotel para celebrar la condecoración de C.B.E que se ha otorgado a Guy Liddell:

"La mayoría de la gente estaba bastante bebida, en particular Tin Eye que puso una nota bastante siniestra en su discurso refiriéndose a cierta gente que, en contraste conmigo, iban dándose aires sin ser militares de verdad. Más tarde Victor lo interpeló y, en un instante, pareció que iba a empezar una pelea. Haciendo su característico gesto con las manos, Tin-eye le dijo: "Te voy a dar un guantazo" a lo que Víctor contesto que tuviera quietos los Palethorpes (salchichas). En ese momento, se arrimó el D-G evidentemente interesado en avivar el fuego. Tampoco ayudó mucho Horrocks que enumeró su hoja de servicios bélicos, pero la discusión se hizo tan incoherente que la fiesta se disolvió sin ningún incidente serio." [36].

Este incidente, aparentemente sin importancia, ocurre pocos días después de que Rothschild haya arriesgado su vida desactivando unas bombas trampa en Kettering. La misma persona capaz de demostrar una absoluta sangre fria en circunstancias extremas se deja provocar por el menosprecio de un colega borracho, colega con el que tiene que compartir y al que tiene que sonsacar información vital sobre interrogatorios a nazis.

Chaim Weizmann cuenta una anécdota que revela hasta qué punto vivía Victor pendiente de la opinión general: Una de las terribles noches del Blitz, Weizmann descubrió a Victor en los sótanos del Hotel Dorchester (considerados uno de los más seguros de Londres) intentando calmar a sus tres hijos, Sarah de 6 años, Jacob, de 4, y Miranda, de meses, del terror que les provocaba el bombardeo. Weizmann le pregúntó por qué no había enviado a los niños a Estados Unidos. Rothschild le contestó: "Por su puñetero apellido de diez letras. Si los enviara allí, el mundo entero diría que 7 millones de judíos son unos cobardes"[37]. Echó a las espaldas de tres niños la reputación de millones de correligionarios, de la misma forma que se desvivió por demostrar que él era la antítesis de la caricatura del judío: tacaño, cobarde y sin fortaleza física.

El miedo a ser tachado de antipatriota tenía sus antecedentes más inmediatos en la Primera Guerra Mundial. Aunque en ella lucharon, en el lado británico, 50.000 soldados judíos y cayeron 10.000, a pesar del papel decisivo que tuvo la Legión Judía en Palestina y Gallipoli, en 1916, con la ley del servicio militar obligatorio, que significaba el reclutamiento forzoso para la guerra, el contingente de judíos inmigrantes de Rusia o el Este empezó a suscitar una general hostilidad, ya que eran tachados por la población como una carga nacional, que no se sumaba al esfuerzo de la guerra, robaba puestos de trabajo a los nacionales y constituían un auténtico peligro para la seguridad nacional. A partir de junio de 1916, los judíos rusos que no se alistaran en el ejército británico podían ser repratriados sin posibilidad de retorno. Con la revolución rusa de octubre de 1917, todo judio ruso que viviera en territorio británico, si no estaba en el ejército, fuera cual fuera la razón, podía ser confinado en un campo de concentración, o deportado y era objeto constante de vigilancia por la policía y la población.

Al antisemitismo se sumó el odio al extranjero y por extranjero se entendía cualquier individuo que no pudiera acreditar orígenes británicos por varias generaciones. Una de las razones por la que la madre de Victor no acompañó a su padre a Suiza, a pesar de lo enfermo que se encontraba, fue el temor a no ser admitida de nuevo en Gran Bretaña, a pesar de que tenía la nacionalidad. El Council of Tring, que tenía a los Rothschild como miembros fundadores, aprovechó una ausencia forzosa de Walter y aprobó la moción de que todos los "extranjeros" (esto incluiría a la abuela y a la madre de Victor) tendrían que ser encarcelados o expulsados del país [38].

Por tanto, Victor ya sabía cómo las gastaban sus compatriotas en tiempos de guerra. A las más mínima señal de debilidad guerrera, él y su familia serían los judíos húngaros que infestaban el país. Si hay que ser ecuánimes, igual trato recibieron muchos niños pobres ingleses que, durante los bombardeos, fueron evacuados de Londres y acogidos por familias, que los maltrataron o los devolvieron porque llegaban en un estado poco presentable [39].

Es digno de notar que, interpelado por Wiezmann, Victor no alegó que quería dar ejemplo y ánimo a otros judíos que habían tenido que dejar a sus familias en Londres (entre otras razones porque nadie los quería acoger), de la misma manera que la reina había permanecido junto a sus súbditos durante los peores bombardeos. Era una elección clara: prefería ser cola de león a cabeza de ratón, optaba por su función de ejemplar "civil servant" del establishment a líder de la comunidad judía inglesa.

En sus intervenciones públicas en favor de los refugiados o de la suerte de los judíos en Palestina, Victor habló de la tragedia del régimen nazi o del Holocausto, pero nunca mencionó la realidad de la mayoría de sus compatriotas judíos. Hablaba de los Montefiore o de su parentesco con Lord Rosebery. El East End, con sus miles de judíos malnutridos, enfermos y malviviendo en la explotación, no estaba en la órbita de sus preocupaciones. Eran judíos sin asimilar, llegados en oleadas de Rusia y el Este, huyendo de pogroms, aferrados al yiddish, a sus tradiciones e incapaces de salir de la miseria. Su bisabuelo Lionel, su abuelo Natham consideraron un deber moral ineludible acoger y ayudar a estos desgraciados, al igual que, en Francia, su primo Henry dedicó su trabajo como médico y su fortuna a mejorar la salud de los habitantes de los barrios obreros y la nutrición infantil de los estratos más pobres. En los años 30, Rozsika o Miriam hospedaron refugiados, les proporcionaron médicos, medios, consejos. Victor dio en su favor espléndidos donativos, pero siempre tras el parapeto de su distanciamiento emocional.

El miedo al rechazo social le hizo cometer errores gravísimos en su vejez. En su momento analizaremos sus reacciones torpes, poco medidas y desatinadas ante el escándalo de los espías de Cambridge. Para cualquier persona en su posición y con su poder, el asunto se habría solucionado por puro agotamiento y falta de pruebas y por el simple método de dejarlo pasar. Pero Victor entró en pánico y, sin detenerse a analizar lo que fue una operación de contrainteligencia, copia de muchas en las que él había participado, intentó acallar las filtraciones y difamaciones con tal impericia que les dio una resonancia de la que habrían carecido, si se hubiera estado quieto.

Emma encendió la luz. Cuando estaba en cama, sin su tupé, sin su dentadura maravillosamente realista y envuelta , casi sumergida en un enorme y viejo camisón de franela, parecía muy avispada y frágil.
— A mí me parece que te encuentras remarcablemente bien, Walter, a no ser que hayas tenido una pesadilla.

Walter cayó en la trampa y contestó con un bramido y, con el calor de la discusión, empezó feliz a berrear una explicación didáctica. 38 Miriam (p.244) relata varios casos de cerrilismo patriótico que afectaron también a amigos de la familia Rothschild: la mujer del ornitólogo Ernst Hartert, de origen alemán, fue apedreada en la calle por extranjera, el mismo día en que recibió la noticia de que su hijo, inglés, soldado del ejército británico, había muerto en acción.

39 Testimonio de una niña judía británica:
"La mayoría de nuestros viajes al campo no eran agradables ni entretenidos. A la gente se les pagaba para que dieran alojamiento y comida a los evacuados de Londres, pero no les gustábamos. Iban a la estación de tren cuando llegábamos y elegían la familia que iban a acoger. No les gustaban los gordos por si comían mucho. No les gustaban los judíos por todas las cosas espantosas que se suponía que eran. Y nosotros éramos judías. Mi madre me había cosido un estrella de David pequeñita a mi camiseta para que me diera buena suerte y me mantuviera a salvo. Una noche, la dueña de la casa entró en la habitación mientras mi madre me bañaba y vio la estrella de David. Se puso histérica. Nos dijo que nos marcháramos de la casa, gritando que habíamos "contaminado" todo lo que habíamos tocado, sus platos, sus cuchillos, sus tenedores y el mismo aire (...) Pasamos la noche sentadas en un banco de la estación esperando el tren de la mañana para volver a Londres"

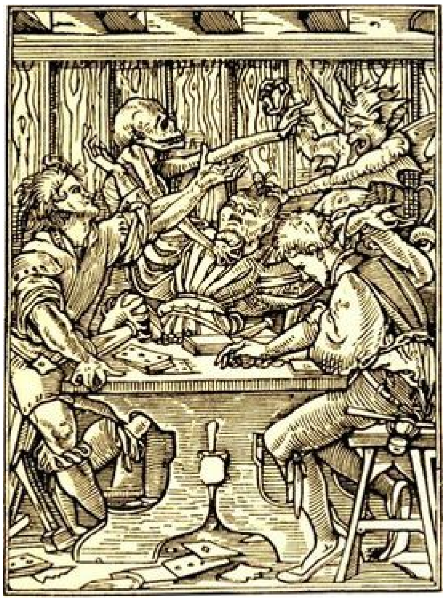
EL SILENCIO



Una de las cosas más difíciles es callar cuando no hay nada que decir, y uno sólo puede repetirse y plagiarse a sí mismo.

Los que podrían ser mis hijos y mis nietos andan en las plazas descubriendo el diálogo inter pares, como alternativa a la incomunicación y la verborragia que mantenemos habitualmente. Es una hermosa aventura aunque esté abocada al fracaso, porque los malvados contra los que luchan somos los mestizos de canalla y buena persona que los hemos criado, y los males que perpetramos suelen ser los inevitables cuando, a la vacuidad vital y la falta de fuste, añadimos la crueldad —esa impúdica necesidad de sobrevivir a cualquier precio— que nos constituye. Y ellos, mamaron y se nutrieron de nuestras patrañas pacifistas, de nuestra incongruencia, de nuestra pereza mental y de nuestra iniquidad. Son nuestros cachorros, e incapaces de ajusticiarnos, sólo pueden jugar a relevarnos.

A los viejos zorros irreverentes, con los colmillos astillados y el lomo cruzado de cicatrices, despojados de piedad desde la cuna, sólo nos queda despreciarlos y esperar a los bárbaros.

AYN RAND

"Cuando advierta que para producir necesita obtener autorización de quienes no producen nada; cuando compruebe que el dinero fluye hacia quienes trafican, no con bienes, sino con favores; cuando perciba que muchos se hacen ricos por el soborno y por influencias más que por el trabajo, y que las leyes no lo protegen contra ellos sino, por el contrario, son ellos los que están protegidos contra usted; cuando repare que la corrupción es recompensada y la honradez se convierte en un autosacrificio, entonces podrá, afirmar sin temor a equivocarse, que su sociedad está condenada."

Gracias por enviarme el enlace para estudiar el caso Alonso Puerta.
Y he aprovechado la entrada en tu blog para copiar las frases de la Ayn Rand y guardarlas en el WordPad.

Qué poca gente hay en España que conozca y admire a Ayn Rand. Yo he ensayado un homenaje a esta mujer en mi blog, pero tampoco he obtenido muchos comentarios

AMARO DEL ROSAL: EL TESORO DEL VITA. ES HORA DE RENDIR CUENTAS.

Desgarrón en el exilio español

"Entre los milagros que contabilizó el régimen franquista se encuentra la prodigiosa aparición de la Virgen de Covadonga, la Santina, al embajador José Félix de Lequerica, cuando acababa de hacerse cargo de la legación española en París.

Tras el desalojo republicano de la embajada, quedaron en ella montones de papeles y cartones, trastos múltiples y mobiliario. El embajador del régimen victorioso en la guerra civil ordenó limpieza general y la confección de un inventario. Entonces, ¡oh prodigio!, intacta y con todas sus joyas apareció la Santina.

La patrona de Asturias debería haber viajado en el yate Vita hasta tierras mexicanas. Pero regresó a su gruta de Covadonga, gracias seguramente a los buenos oficios de un devoto paisano que a última hora se ocupó de camuflarla.

Menos milagrosa resultó —según broma que gastaban en el exilio los asturianos a los valencianos— la Virgen de Requena, que desapareció iunto a su tesoro sin dejar rastro a manos de los incontrolados de la Columna de Hierro.

No es esta una historia de milagros ni apariciones, aunque auténtica aparición fue para Indalecio Prieto la llegada del Vita a Veracruz a finales de marzo de 1939, y milagrosa —por lo eficaz— la forma que encontró para desgarrar al exilio español y controlar a una parte de él con el tesoro del Vita.

La consigna del presidente del Gobierno republicano, Juan Negrín, de resistir a ultranza aun después de la pérdida de Cataluña estaba bien fundada, como se demostraría seis meses después de la conclusión de la guerra civil.

El estallido de la Segunda Guerra Mundial hubiera dado un giro sorprendente a la guerra española de haber continuado ésta cuando las tropas alemanas invadieron Polonia.

Sin embargo, el golpe casadista a comienzos de marzo de 1939 significó el fin de la esperanza. Si antes de esta traición la situación era muy difícil en las filas republicanas, tras ella la suerte de la guerra estaba decidida.

Así lo vio Negrín al dar un giro, el único posible, a su política: como la guerra mundial no tardaría en estallar y como al final habrían de imponerse las democracias frente a nazis y fascistas, la República española debería resistir en el exilio, mantener sus cuadros, proteger a sus ciudadanos, guardar a sus intelectuales, técnicos y científicos que tan necesarios serían para la reconstrucción nacional.

Dada la compleja situación en Francia, donde la República española seguía contando con simpatías y solidaridades, pero también con enemigos y con millares de españoles en los campos de concentración del sur del país, el Gobierno republicano buscó la salida americana.

Para ello montó su estrategia en dos vertientes, la política y la económica: negociaciones con los gobiernos amigos de América que pudieran acoger a los exiliados españoles y acopio de fondos para financiar la emigración al nuevo mundo.

La primera gestión se hizo con el presidente mexicano, general Lázaro Cárdenas, que admitió la entrada de 40.000 españoles siempre que no representasen una carga económica para el país. El Gobierno de Negrín debía garantizar las inversiones que absorbieran la mano de obra emigrante y que los contingentes de exiliados que llegaran al país estuvieran compuestos por intelectuales, profesores, científicos, médicos, técnicos, maestros, pescadores y campesinos... y por aquellas personalidades con significación política que corrieran peligro en Francia o en el norte de África.

Con Chile, gracias a la mediación y al tesón de Pablo Neruda, se negoció el envío de 3.000 exiliados[1] a condición de que el Gobierno republicano costeara los gastos de transporte.

El asentamiento en Santo Domingo también resultó posible, aunque un tanto caro. La República debía sufragar el transporte y realizar la inversión necesaria para que el asentamiento de los exiliados no fuera gravoso para el país. A ello debe añadirse la cuota de 50 dólares por emigrante, establecida por el embajador de Santo Domingo en Francia, el conocido play-boy internacional Porfirio Rubirosa, yerno del dictador Trujillo.

El presidente de la República Argentina, Hipólito Yrigoyen (◆), de origen vasco, aceptó acoger un contingente de emigrantes, siempre que fueran vascos y la República corriera con los gastos del pasaje.

Todos estos movimientos y otros más garantizarían la supervivencia de los exiliados, pero suponían unas cargas económicas que el Gobierno de Negrín afrontaba en condiciones muy complejas: no había concluido todavía la guerra civil y, aparte de esos compromisos económicos debía atender otros igualmente importantes: el sostenimiento del propio Gobierno, de los diputados, altos funcionarios, Gobierno de Cataluña y, en menor medida, de proporcionar ciertas ayudas al Gobierno vasco[2].

¿De dónde salían los recursos de la guerra, con el Gobierno ya en el exilio, perdida Cataluña y en pleno caos Madrid? El ministro de Hacienda del Gobierno republicano, Francisco Méndez Aspe, tuvo la misión fundamental de recuperar los valores que la República había depositado en el extranjero para adquirir armas, municiones, víveres, material sanitario, materias primas, etcétera, cuya importación, que siempre se pagaba al contado, aún estaba pendiente.

Para atender esas compras funcionaban oficinas en Checoslovaquia, Estados Unidos, México, Gran Bretaña y Francia, donde se encontraba la más importante. Todas estas oficinas de compras disponían de recursos y tenían numerosos contratos de suministros pendientes de entrega o en ruta hacia España.

Así, la misión de Méndez Aspe y de sus colaboradores fue recuperar los saldos existentes y negociar la reconversión en dinero de los materiales encargados; asimismo debieron luchar mucho, y no siempre con fortuna, para impedir que los efectos pedidos fueran incautados por el régimen franquista, que inició gestiones en esta dirección nada más concluir las hostilidades.

Estas fuentes de recursos eran independientes de los depósitos realizables y de los objetos de valor histórico depositados en Francia[3], en la embajada y otros lugares, que estaban bajo el control directo del ministro de Hacienda.

El plan de «Vita»

Como ya se ha apuntado, en Francia no todo eran simpatías a los exiliados españoles. Por eso, probablemente hacia mediados de febrero de 1939 se pensó que el centro del exilio, el Gobierno de la República, debería establecerse en otro lugar. Tras las negociaciones entre el Gobierno de Negrín y el de Cárdenas se determinó que México sería el país indicado. Así pues, a finales de febrero estaba decidido que cuantos recursos pudiera reunir el ministro Méndez Aspe serían concentrados en tierras aztecas.

Con ellos se realzarían las inversiones que asegurasen el trabajo de los exiliados españoles en México, se atenderían las inversiones negociadas en Santo Domingo, se suministraría ayuda a los exiliados españoles que permanecieran en Francia y norte de África, especialmente a la Liga de mutilados de guerra, que gozaba de un cierto respeto en Francia. También con estos fondos se deberían financiar las nuevas expediciones colectivas desde Francia o norte de África hacia el Nuevo Continente.

Para poner a buen recaudo tales recursos, el Gobierno republicano adquirió el yate

*Giralda, propiedad de Alfonso XIII. Fue intermediario en la compra el hispano-filipino Mario Gamboa. Una vez en poder del Gobierno republicano, el yate se denominó Vita. Fue nombrado capitán José Ordorica, que buscó la tripulación.

El golpe de Casado en Madrid movió al Gobierno republicano a poner en marcha la operación. En marzo de 1939 se creó en París, con el visto bueno del ministro del Interior francés, Sarraut, y bajo la protección de la embajada mexicana —representada por el licenciado Bassols—, el Servicio de Evacuación de los Refugiados Españoles (SERE). Este servicio fue presidido por Pablo Azcárate.

El SERE contó con una filial mexicana, el Comité Técnico de Ayuda a los Refugiados Españoles, que dirigieron José Puche —ex rector de la Universidad de Valencia— y Joaquín Lozano —funcionario del Ministerio de Hacienda—. Este organismo, radicado en México, fue destinatario de los fondos enviados desde Francia.

A comienzos de marzo, Méndez Aspe tenía todo dispuesto para que el Vita recibiera en sus bodegas el primer cargamento y lo condujera hasta el puerto mexicano de Veracruz. Dos funcionarios del Ministerio se encargaron de adquirir en París 120 maletas, donde colocaron los 110 bultos que formaban la expedición.

Su valor es aún misterioso, pero en grandes líneas puede decirse que se componía de objetos de arte, oro en barras, oro amonedado, plata en barras, alhajas y depósitos de diversos montes de Piedad, debidamente etiquetados y valorados con los nombres de sus propietarios, para ser reintegrados a España y devueltos a sus dueños si no estaban implicados en responsabilidades civiles.

También hacia México, vía Nueva York, salieron Joaquín Lozano y José Puche, que deberían llegar con la antelación suficiente para tener, listos los trámites de atraque y descarga del Vita, así como el lugar donde conducir su contenido.

El tesoro de la discordia

Con gran sigilo se movieron Méndez Aspe y sus colaboradores a la hora de cargar el Vita. Con algunas complicidades francesas, lograron que el yate abandonara Francia en total secreto, tanto que aún nos es imposible concretar la fecha, aunque debió ser hacia el 10 de marzo de 1939. Junto a la tripulación viajaban José Mª Sabater, funcionario de Hacienda que portaba la documentación e inventario del cargamento, y Enrique Puente, responsable de su vigilancía[4].

Con el tiempo bonancible y una velocidad medía superior a la prevista, el Vita surcó el Atlántico, mientras José Puche y Joaquín Lozano eran retenidos en Nueva York por una enfermedad.

Semanas antes, el 18 de febrero había llegado a México Indalecio Prieto, que ejercía como embajador plenipotenciario de la República. Meses antes había viajado a América para asistir a la toma de posesión del presidente chileno Pedro Aguirre Cerdá.

Tras algunas semanas en Chile, Prieto continuó viaje por otras naciones americanas representando a la República española, hasta llegar al país azteca el 18 de febrero de 1939.

A finales de marzo arribó al puerto de Veracruz el Vita. La presencia del yate con bandera republicana despertó todo tipo de especulaciones en la prensa mexicana, que hablaba también de la inminente conclusión de la guerra civil española.

La prensa más reaccionaria acogió la llegada del buque con todo tipo de reticencias e, incluso, con algunas muestras de hostilidad. Pero, en general, abundaron los comentarios fantásticos sobre la llegada en el buque del Gobierno republicano y los no tan fantásticos sobre un fabuloso tesoro.

Los responsables del yate no sabían qué hacer. Esperaban encontrar un comité de recepción y los trámites portuarios y aduaneros resueltos y, por el contrario, nadie les aguardaba allí, nada estaba resuelto y su llegada levantaba una alarmante polvareda.

¿Qué había ocurrido? Por un lado, la llegada a México de José Puche y Joaquín Lozano se retrasó a causa de una enfermedad, como ya se ha señalado. Por otro lado, con tiempo favorable, el Vita había llegado a Veracruz varias fechas antes de lo previsto.

Angustiados por la presión del ambiente y por la falta de noticias de la comisión, el capitán del barco José Ordorica y el responsable de la custodia del transporte, Enrique Puente, descendieron a tierra y viajaron a la capital, donde no pudieron entrevistarse con el presidente Cárdenas, que estaba ausente.

Allí, solicitaron la colaboración de Prieto, no sólo por la elevada consideración política que les ofrecía, como por las indudables simpatías de Puente hacia el dirigente socialista.

Prieto hizo las gestiones pertinentes y las cosas comenzaron a resolverse, tal como se refleja en esta nota oficiosa de la Secretaría de Gobernación mexicana:

(...) Carece de todo fundamento el rumor que recogen algunos periódicos de haber llegado a México el ex presidente del Consejo de Ministros de España, don Juan Negrín, y el ex ministro de Estado y ex embajador en México, don Julio Álvarez del Vayo, noticia basada en el arribo a Tampico del yate Vita*, cuya tripulación está casi totalmente formada por marinos españoles, en su mayor parte vascos.*

(...) El capitán del Vita*, don José Ordorica, y varios oficiales del buque vinieron a la capitanía a visitar al presidente, pero no habiendo logrado su propósito, por estar ausente el general Cárdenas, dispuso el general Núñez se trasladasen a Tampico para que expresasen al señor Ordorica los buenos deseos que animan al Gobierno mexicano en orden a la acogida de inmigrantes españoles que vengan a crear en nuestro territorio nuevas fuentes de riqueza, vigorizando la economía mexicana en vez de debilitarla, para lo cual el ciudadano presidente facilitará la relación entre los órganos administrativos y los comisionados que han venido en el* Vita*, como la hará con cualquiera otros representantes de españoles que, justificando su honradez y aptitud profesional, busquen aquí refugio para su desventura...*

En resumen, el Gobierno mexicano tranquilizaba a la opinión pública, tendía una cortina de humo sobre el contenido del Vita y enviaba al buque hasta el pequeño puerto petrolero de Tampico, adonde llegó el 30 de marzo. Allí, en la desembocadura del río Panuco, con gran discreción, se descargó el yate, cuyo contenido pasó a dos vagones de ferrocarril.

El convoy ferroviario salió de Tampico el 31 de marzo con dirección a Ciudad de México rodeado de grandes medidas de seguridad, hasta el punto de que el propio general José Manuel Núñez se puso al frente de la operación.

Una vez en la capital, el tesoro del Vita fue depositado en el chalet de José Mª Argüelles, viejo miembro de la colonia asturiana en México, republicano y vinculado al servicio diplomático de la República, pues había ejercido como asesor de la delegación diplomática española en la época de Félix Gordón Ordax.

Hasta aquí, aunque las cosas no hubieran salido conforme a lo planeado por el Gobierno republicano —que acababa oficialmente de perder la guerra, pues ya estamos a 1 de abril de 1939— nada irreparable había sucedido. Indalecio Prieto se mantenía fiel al Gobierno de Negrín y le enviaba a Francia el 7 de abril un telegrama:

Congratúlome poner incólume disposición dichas personas (Puche-Lozano) cuanto acaso éstas no habrían podido salvar aún habiendo llegado con oportunidad debida.

Efectivamente, para esa fecha los angustiados José Puche y Joaquín Lozano ya habían llegado a México y se encontraron sin el Vita y sin el tesoro. Una vez en contacto con Prieto, éste les autorizó a visitar el chalet de José Mª Arguelles. José Puche realizó la inspección. El antiguo rector de la Universidad de Valencia quedó lívido por el espectáculo que allí se le ofrecía.

Se encontraba todo—me decía hace algunos años en una larga entrevista— en un completo desorden, bultos por todas partes, maletas abiertas mostrando su contenido, en fin, aquello era un verdadero caos.

El asustado Puche se negó en redondo a hacerse cargo del cargamento hallado en aquel estado. Esa decisión, lógica en circunstancias normales, habría de ser nefasta para el exilio republicano.

Prieto, responsable directo de aquel caos, también se asustó. Tras meditar su situación fue, seguramente, cuando decidió huir hacia adelante.

Aparte del exilio debería asumir el deshonor y el desprestigio si se demostraba que allí faltaba algo. Ante él surgieron los sinsabores y decepciones sufridas en los años de guerra..., él, que pudo ser primer ministro, perdió incluso su cartera ministerial...

Hacerse con el control del tesoro del Vita le daría la ocasión de vengarse de sus rivales políticos; se convertiría en el arbitro del exilio y, además, no tendría que dar explicación alguna sobre el estado del cargamento... La guerra civil había terminado.

El Gobierno en el exilio carecía de armas legales para exigirle la entrega del tesoro. Incluso en aquellos días de angustia y miseria no sería difícil hallar los apoyos morales y jurídicos que, bien pagados, le entregasen la administración del tesoro del Vita con una aparente cobertura legal.

EL TESORO

En el Vita, entre otros objetos o valores que escapan a nuestros conocimientos venían los siguientes bultos, cajas y otros empaques.

Quedaban sin controlar los objetos empaquetados en cajas que eran el mayor volumen de la expedición. En el Vita fueron depositados cuadros de valor extraordinario. Asimismo fueron depositados objetos de culto que pertenecieron al «Papa Luna».

La legalidad republicana

Para que no quepan dudas sobre la administración de los bienes transportados por el Vita a México es necesario retroceder unas semanas. El 1 de febrero de 1939, a las 10.30 de la noche, cuando todo el frente catalán se desplomaba y docenas de millares de personas se dirigían a la frontera francesa, tuvo lugar en Figueras la última sesión de las Cortes republicanas en suelo español.

A la convocatoria asistieron 62 diputados, que tras los discursos del presidente de las Cortes, Martínez Barrio; del Gobierno, Juan Negrín, y de los jefes de las diferentes minorías, ratificaron su confianza en el Gabinete.

Según el Diario de Sesiones, Martínez Barrio hizo la pregunta de ritual: ¿Se ratifica al Gobierno que se sienta en el banco azul, presidido por el señor Negrín? (Voces: Sí, sí.)

El día 1 de abril concluía oficialmente la guerra civil española. Al día siguiente se reunía en París la Diputación de las Cortes Españolas. En esa sesión se acordó dar por terminadas las actividades de las Cortes, convirtiéndolas en Comisión Fiscalizadora que se dedique exclusivamente a la asistencia a los evacuados españoles y a su traslado a América, según informaba la agencia Havas Anta el 2 de abril. La misma agencia de prensa continuaba:

Se discutió ampliamente sobre el reconocimiento del Gobierno del doctor Juan Negrín, como el único legítimo de España y como depositario y administrador de los fondos españoles que se encuentran fuera del territorio español. Se llegó a un acuerdo, haciendo constar que la diputación permanente de las Cortes reconoce al doctor Negrín como el único Gobierno español para estos efectos. La comisión fiscalizadora está integrada por representantes de todos los partidos, y la presidirá el presidente de las Cortes, Martínez Barrio, pero como éste piensa marchar a América el próximo mes de mayo, quedará presidiéndola el vicepresidente de las Cortes. . Este acto ha sido el último con carácter oficial, aunque privado, que realizan las instituciones republicanas españolas.

Parece, pues, bien demostrado que el Gobierno de Juan Negrín ostentaba la legalidad republicana y que era el depositario y administrador de los fondos españoles que se encuentran fuera del territorio español, los del Vita entre ellos.

Prieto, como ya se vio antes, reconoció esa situación en su telegrama del 7 de abril a Negrín. Ahora bien, cuando decidió cambiar radicalmente de postura maniobró con suma habilidad para buscar el punto más vulnerable del montaje político republicano.

En México se hallaban algunas figuras políticas de gran relieve durante la República y que en aquel momento no tenían representación oficial alguna. Prieto eligió a cuatro: José Giral, Augusto Barcia, Sebastián Pozas y Félix Gordón Ordax[5], para contarles su versión sobre el Vita: el papel salvador del cargamento que hubo de jugar, para lo que recurrió a una alta autoridad —se está refiriendo al presidente Cárdenas— que puso una condición para que el cargamento desembarcase libremente: la de que yo fuese el único responsable de su custodia e inversión [6].

Sea por la contundencia de este argumento —tan falaz como pintoresco— sea por la conveniencia[7] o también por la angustia e incertidumbre de aquellos días, los cuatro veteranos republicanos aprueban una propuesta de Prieto para saltarse al Gobierno y poner todo lo desembarcado a disposición de la Diputación Permanente de las Cortes, que era, a nuestro juicio, la única autoridad subsistente del régimen derrocado, según palabras del propio Prieto.

Golpe de Estado

Curiosamente, y aunque nos estemos moviendo ante un aparato político en el exilio, Prieto acababa de dar un golpe de Estado: desconocía al Gobierno Negrín, reunía a cuatro notables y se investía de un poder arbitral.

Para reforzar su posición y dar consistencia al pretexto de que una alta autoridad había condicionado la entrada del tesoro del Vita a su administración, Prieto visita al presidente Cárdenas y le cuenta lo tratado.

Tenemos la versión de Prieto: A la alta jeraquía con quien traté le expuse lo acordado por nosotros cinco y le pedí su venia para proceder conforme a nuestra resolución, a la cual accedió por poner yo en la solicitud gran porfía.

Desgraciadamente no disponemos de la versión de Cárdenas, pero es lógico concluir que fue engañado por Prieto, porque ¿cómo iba el presidente mexicano a favorecer un auténtico golpe de Estado contra el Gobierno de Negrín cuando mantenía con éste cordiales relaciones diplomáticas, como demostró hasta el final de su mandato?

Cárdenas estaba dispuesto a creer en Prieto, que aún ostentaba el cargo de embajador plenipotenciario del Gobierno de Negrín, ¿por qué iba a sospechar en todo aquello una sucia traición?

Ha de tenerse en cuenta que los roces por la administración del Vita apenas si habían comenzado y todo se llevaba a niveles muy discretos. Negrín se disponía a viajar a América en mayo y confiaba en resolver el asunto en una entrevista personal con Prieto.

En mayo, Juan Negrín viaja a Nueva York. Desde allí escribe a Prieto una amistosa carta en la que sólo hay una referencia al tema del Vita:

Mi querido y buen amigo (...) Pronto tendré ocasión de exponerle verbalmente varias razones de mi viaje. Pero no es la menor y, desde luego, ha contribuido a anticiparlo, mi deseo de que en una entrevista se aclaren los equívocos y las malas inteligencias surgidas en los últimos meses. Puede haber habido errores, de una u otra parte y quizá de ambas, pero como nos ha guiado el mejor buen deseo y para mí su estimación y amistad están por encima de cualquier otra consideración, estoy seguro de que con pocas palabras se desvanecería cualquier enojo o molestia que usted sienta...

La respuesta de Prieto, fechada en México a 7 de junio, debió dejar sentado a Negrín:

Estimado correligionario (...) ..., nuestra amistad, ya muy quebrantada a partir de abril de 1938, la considero rota por completo desde abril de 1939. Consiguientemente, no debe verificarse la entrevista conmigo que proyecta usted a su llegada a esta capital (...).

Si, aparte de esa amistad ya muerta, tuviera usted algo que decirme, ruégole que lo haga por escrito para que sea también escrita mi respuesta. Así, ante palabras perdurables, se eliminarían los riesgos de interpretaciones equívocas...

Sigue una correspondencia breve: a los argumentos de Negrín opone Prieto salidas por la tangente; su argumento, la alta autoridad, cierra una discusión imposible.

Mientras la refriega epistolar cierra las puertas a todo posible entendimiento, negándose Prieto incluso a encabezar un organismo único para la administración de los recursos del Vita, llega a Veracruz el vapor Sinaia[8] con el primer contingente de refugiados, 1.600, incluido en los acuerdos entre los Gobiernos de México y la República.

Allí está Negrín a recibir a los inmigrantes, pero, curiosamente, no comparece Prieto... Dos años después diría: Traer refugiados es tirar dinero al mar.

A comienzos de julio de 1939 salen en el mismo barco hacia Francia las dos personalidades. En ningún momento de la travesía cruzan un saludo, ni una palabra. Negrín cavila cómo conseguir sus planes: Prieto piensa liquidarlos.

En cuanto Prieto llega a París inicia los trabajos para reunir una comisión de las Cortes. La fabrica a su medida, apoyándose en la minoría de los miembros de la Comisión Permanente Legal, como Araquistáin, De Francisco, Carlos Hernández y otros diputados que no formaban parte de la Comisión Permanente y que, en algunos casos, habían sido expulsados de su partido como desertores al no haber estado presentes en la reunión de las Cortes celebrada en Figueras el 1 de febrero.

En estas maniobras Prieto obtiene la decisiva colaboración de un inteligente y hábil diputado asturiano, Amador Fernández, que, entre otros menesteres, se ocupa de cursar espléndidos giros a favor de los diputados que, ausentes de París, figuraban en los planes de Prieto para tomar parte en la reunión. No podía fallar la picaresca política en aquellos momentos tan dramáticos.

Mientras tienen lugar estos trámites en París, julio de 1939, Prieto se encuentra con su amigo Eusebío Rodrigo, a quien detalla sus planes. Rodrigo queda asombrado y le pregunta:

—¿Se da usted cuenta de lo que le va a ocurrir asumiendo semejantes funciones?
—Sí—respondió Prieto—, llenarme de mierda.

Acuerdo

El 26 de julio se reúne en París la Comisión Permanente de las Cortes fabricada por Prieto con la ayuda de Amador Fernández. Esa Comisión acuerda la inexistencia del Gobierno Negrín y sólo ella se declara responsable de la administración de toda clase de bienes que la República tenga en el extranjero. Con tal decisión y acuerdos, Prieto legaliza su maniobra; ya puede iniciar la administración del tesoro del Vita de forma abierta.

El 31 de julio, la Comisión Permanente prietis-ta da por constituido un nuevo organismo: la Junta de Ayuda a los Refugiados Españoles (JARE), de la que serán presidente y secretario, respectivamente, los catalanes Luis Nicolau y Carlos Esplá; José Andreu Abelló, también catalán, es uno de los vocales elegidos.

Desde ese momento el exilio queda dividido entre SERE y JARE, proyectándose la división a los campos de concentración y a través de todos los centros de refugiados de Francia y África del Norte[9].

Igualmente la escisión llega a todas las instituciones políticas, a las organizaciones sindicales y a los partidos —exceptuando el comunista—. Los elementos divisionistas, enfrentados con las direcciones de los partidos, serán manifiestamente minoritarios en todas partes, aunque elementos sueltos, bien elegidos, aparezcan como representantes de sus organizaciones y ostenten sus siglas en la JARE, cuya ocupación primera, a la luz del balance de 30 de septiembre de 1939 (ver recuadro) es iniciar el pago de favores a la recién fabricada Comisión Permanente, a la que corresponde el 53 por 100 de los pagos efectuados en sus dos primeros meses de vida, mientras que a los refugiados de a pie sólo se les entrega el 9 por 100 en fruta.

Tras su éxito en París, regresa Indalecio Prieto a México y se consagra a sus maniobras, teniendo como base el tesoro del Vita. Allí se constituye un comité que, de acuerdo con la Comisión Permanente prietista, será administrador de los fondos del Vita y de las demás partidas que puedan obtenerse. De ese comité formaban parte Prieto, Palomo, José Andréu Abelló...

Todo el cuadro económico de recuperación de recursos establecido por Méndez Aspe pasa a ser desarrollado, con otros fines y propósitos por el comité que preside y maneja Prieto, amparado por su Comisión Permanente de las Cortes: el control del tesoro del Vita, las liquidaciones de los responsables de las oficinas de compras, los recursos situados en la embajada de los Estados Unidos; el valor de un importante número de motores de aviación depositados en México y que estaban destinados a España, etcétera.

Después de la creación prietista de la Comisión Permanente, todos los que en la emigración poseían fondos de la República discreparon del Gobierno Negrín y de su ministro de Hacienda y se pasaron a la JARE, lo que les permitió rendir cuentas a su antojo y conveniencia. Muchos, incluso, no las rindieron.

De esa forma, numerosos exiliados se enriquecieron, mientras millares de compatriotas vivían en gran pobreza o languidecían de miseria en Francia. Este país, donde tantos bienes depositó la República, se aprovechó en numerosas ocasiones de las discrepancias entre SERE y JARE. Y, sobre todo, esa escisión, más el embargo del yate Vita, resultó desastrosa, pues en Francia quedaron gran parte de los bienes republicanos que ese buque estaba destinado a transportar, y que cayeron en manos alemanas cuando los ejércitos de Hitler ocuparon Francia, en el verano de 1940.

Prieto neutralizó el Vita en México. Luego, para evitar problemas, lo envió a La Habana y allí permaneció hasta que lo vendió a los Estados Unidos por 40.000 dólares.

Durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial fue utilizado como unidad de vigilancia costera. Su fabuloso equipo de servicios, mantelería, cubiertos, todo de gran lujo, así como un extraordinario piano, fue enviado a México, donde se vendió o pasó a manos particulares.

Ese desbarajuste en la rendición de cuentas o en la distribución o apropiación de bienes era paralelo'a la ineficacia y al distale que muchas veces presidió la conducta del Comité Administrador que funcionaba en México[10].

Cuando éste era criticado, disculpaba su acción atribuyéndola a órdenes emanadas desde París por la Comisión Permanente; mientras que ésta rechazaba toda responsabilidad, endosándosela al Comité de México.

No es este el momento de analizar minuciosamente el empleo de los recursos republicanos por la JARE —entre otras cosas porque sus archivos no han sido abiertos y permanece en secreto buena parte de su gestión—, pero sí pueden avanzarse unas generalidades de dominio público.

Antes de perder el control del Vita, el Gobierno de Negrín había constituido una entidad financiera encargada de realizar los estudios de inversiones para el acomodo de los inmigrantes, la FIASA. El Comité Prietista, por su lado, montó otra denominada Financiera Hispano Mexicana, S. A. Las inversiones de ambas financieras fracasaron. La del SERE, por falta de medios económicos al haber perdido el cargamento del Vita. Las pequeñas inversiones del JARE, también fracasaron, pese a disponer de todos los recursos del exilio.

Qué fue de todo ello

A estas alturas resulta ineludible la pregunta clave que hoy deben hacerse los españoles: ¿qué fue de todo ello? Están por explicar los paraderos, el empleo que se dio al oro, a la plata, a los valores y a las joyas y, sobre todo, debe aclararse qué se hizo con los objetos de arte (joyero de la Capilla Real, el Clavo de Cristo y multitud de objetos religiosos con valor histórico-artístico, colecciones numismáticas con ejemplares únicos, colecciones de relojes...).

Mucho nos tememos que una gestión irresponsable convirtiera en lingotes de oro o plata aquellas colecciones numismáticas de valor incalculable y que se hiciera lo mismo con las cajas de los relojes, con los objetos religiosos.

Este temor no es infundado: un funcionario del Banco de México nos proporcionó un informe con el peso del oro y su valoración en pesos mexicanos que envió el JARE en piezas al Banco de México para que procediera a su fundición:

Fechas	Oro fino (Kg.)	Valoración en pesos
15-I-40	27,743,713	181.631,59
24-I-40	29,020,477	190.381,78
8-II-40	38,626,879	252.945,36
15-II-40	52,687,629	345.035,79
23-II-40	90,998,422	595.906,25
2-III-40	280,073,340	1.853.856,59
19-III-40	215,894,763	1.413.803,58
5-V-40	95,134,045	623.528,95
7-V-40	135,473,168	887.103,07

10-V-40	113,769,918	745.351,33
11-V-40	105,129,805	688.417,66
14-V-40	99,849,264	653.954,92
17-V-40	203,704,297	1.333.857,48
TOTAL	1.488.105,720	9.765.534,35

En el mismo informe consta que parte de este oro fue expedido a los Estados Unidos: ¿A quién? ¿Dónde? ¿Con qué fin?.

Hay que hacer constar también que parte del oro en barras transportado por el Vita y desembarcado en Tampico fue a parar a los Estados Unidos. Que nosotros sepamos nada obligaba a tales envíos, ni el pago de los viajes de refugiados, ni las ayudas a los exiliados en Francia o el norte de África.

Sólo se nos ocurre una motivación clara: que el JARE, previniendo una intervención del Gobierno mexicano, tal como ocurrió en 1942, sacase parte de los valores republicanos de México...; en cuyo caso hay que preguntarse, ¿quién se benefició de ellos? [11].

Otra incógnita a despejar es dónde fueron a parar las cajas que cargó el Vita con el tesoro de la Generalitat. La número 38 contenía oro amonedado sin revisar su valor numismático. La número 48, objetos de gran valor. La número 89, la 90 y la 95 fueron entregradas por la Generalitat sin ser analizadas y la 99 contenía sacos con monedas de oro sin revisar su valor numismático. Es de justicia dejar constancia de que el Gobierno vasco no estuvo implicado en el tesoro del Vita.

Es hora, hay que repetirlo, de que se rindan cuentas. Hoy mismo existe un saldo importante en metálico, resto del tesoro del Vita, del que pueden responder algunas personas que aún residen en México. En suma, que la historia del Vita no ha terminado aún.

ANDREU ABELLO DEBE RECORDAR

El ex responsable del Comité de Administración del tesoro del Vita, José Andreu Abelló, político catalán, es actualmente el único que puede esclarecer muchos aspectos del problema histórico que aún es el Vita. Fue miembro de la JARE en Francia y del Comité de los tres en México, consejero de la Financiera Hispano-Mexicana y representante de la JARE ante la Comisión administrativa de los Recursos de los Exiliados, constituida en los últimos tiempos por el Gobierno mexicano en evitación de escándalos y problemas de orden público entre los refugiados.

Estamos en condiciones de ayudar, con testimonios propios, al ex consejero Andreu Abelló a que recuerde, por si su memoria fallara. Él es el único testimonio y actor directo de la triste y lamentable historia del Vita".

2 El Gobierno vasco contaba con sus propios recursos, pues al evacuar Euzkadi logró sacar de allí lo que consideraba «su patrimonio»; muestra de su gran independencia es que llegó a crear su propio pasaporte.

4 En Madrid fue jefe de la unidad de milicias socialistas conocida como La Motorizada, que luego se convirtió en compañía de carabineros, adscrita a los servicios del Ministerio de Hacienda. Le acompañaban' en el Vita un grupo de subordinados.

5 Giral fue presidente de Gobierno; Barcia, ministro de Gobernación y Estado; general y ministro de Gobernación fue Pozas: Gordón Ordax, ministro de Industria y Comercio.

6 Prieto se conocía esta cantilena de memoria, la repitió centenares de veces tanto por escrito como verbalmente. Esta cita corresponde a una carta a Sebastián Miranda, fechada el 15-IV-1959. Evidentemente, Lázaro Cárdenas jamás podría imponer tal condición, y prueba clara de que no lo hizo es el telegrama de Prieto a Negrín del 7 de abril.

7 Doña Rita Labra, esposa de Augusto Barcia, fue una de las pocas españolas que recuperó joyas transportadas por el Vita... La coincidencia es bastante más que curiosa. Sirva esta nota también para desmentir el infundio propagado por Prieto de que el Vita transportaba un revoltijo. No sería tal revoltijo cuando se las arregló para hallar esas joyas y otras de sus amigos. Realmente, todo iba empaquetado y etiqueta-do: para hallar algo bastaba tener el número de referencia y Prieto lo tenía, pues la documentación viajó en el Vita, a cargo de José Mª Sabater. que falleció muy poco después de su llegada a México, a causa de los disgustos que el affaire le produjo.

8 Respecto al Sinaia y a la emigración republicana a México, ver HISTORIA 16; Cultura española en México, número 80, diciembre de 1982, y número 94, El primer año del exilio español en México, febrero de 1984, ambos por Ascensión H. de León Portilla.

9 Naturalmente hubo mil motivos más para las divisiones; el oro del Vita fue el detonante de la tensa situación.

10 Dispongo de correspondencia abundante que demuestra cómo el JARE respondió frecuentemente a las demandas de los exiliados españoles con negativas argumentadas como si se tratara de una organización de beneficencia, » frases como esta que firma Andreu Abelló: ... que los dos auxilios que les hemos prestado son la causa de que ustedes crean tener abiertas de par en par las puertas de nuestra benevolencia. Evidentemente, el JARE sintió de su propiedad los bienes que administraba.

11 Un informe del JARE de 9 de diciembre de 1942, como consecuencia de la intervención del Gobierno del general Ávila Camacho, que había sucedido a Cárdenas en la presidencia de la República mexicana, cifraba sus ingresos por todos los conceptos (Vita, Oficinas de compras, material aeronáutico, depósitos, etcétera) en 38.837.615,84 pesos, de los cuales sólo quedaban 10.295.434,42 cuando se hizo cargo de su administración la Comisión creada por Ávila Camacho. Cuando la Comisión pidió los documentos que acreditaban la veracidad de esos saldos, se le respondió que nadie tenía papel alguno... y fue imposible averiguar más.

INDALECIO PRIETO LLEGA HOY A ESTA

Se le hará Brillante Recepción

Los trabajadores de la CTM y los sectores populares lo esperan con gran simpatía

El destacado político republicano español, señor don Indalecio Prieto, quien ocupara prominentes cargos en el gobierno legítimo de España, arribará hoy a las 8.15 de la mañana a esta capital, especialmente invitado por el señor Presidente de la República, general Lázaro Cárdenas. El señor Prieto viaja a bordo del tren de Laredo, que hará su entrada a la estación a las 7.35 (8.35 de la nueva hora oficial).

RECIBIMIENTO POPULAR

Como lo anunciamos oportunamente, todas las organizaciones de trabajadores de la CTM, se aprestan a recibir dignamente al ilustre representante del heroico pueblo español. En la Estación Central, gruesos contingentes populares darán la bienvenida a don Indalecio Prieto, considerado justamente como una de las figuras más notables de la política española.

PÁVEL GONZÁLEZ: ANIVERSARIO DE UN CRÍMEN DE ESTADO

Ni olvido ni perdón

Para vergüenza de la raza humana y de la Justicia de México, Pável González, de veinte años, fue secuestrado, torturado, violado, y ahorcado. Y sus asesinos, miembros del grupo de extrema derecha Yunque, que se permitieron el lujo, de pavonearse y amenazar a los compañeros y amigos de Pável, siguen impunes, gracias al miedo o la complicidad de policías, ministerio público, jueces y forenses que, en el colmo de la desvergüenza, certificaron que no pueden saber si Pável estaba vivo cuando recibió los golpes, las heridas, la rotura de cráneo, y las lesiones internas y externas que presentaba , o fueron producto de una caída en el descenso del cadaver. Algo que sabe discernir cualquier estudiante de primer año de Anatomía Patológica.

Un suscinto resumen de los hechos comprobados:

1. El 19 de abril de 2004, un día antes del 5° aniversario del estallido de la Huelga, Noel Pável González González desapareció, dejando su bicicleta en las instalaciones de la facultad de Filosofía y Letras.
2. El viernes 23 de abril de 2004, se levanta el acta de desaparición Ese mismo día por la tarde fue encontrado su cuerpo sin vida, colgado en una cruz ldonde estaban inscritas las etras "EDNA-ZMASH" con una esvástica en la parte posterior, en el Pico del Águila, en las inmediaciones del cerro del Ajusco.
3. Los que transportaron el cuerpo de Pável, desde El Pico del Águila hasta el tanatorio público, fueron miembros del Escuadron de Rescate y Urgencias Médicas (E.R.U.M.), dependiente de la Secretaría de Seguridad Pública del Distrito Federal, y lo hicieron sin haber recabado la preceptiva presencia de un Juez que ordenara el levantamiento del cadaver, sin que los forenses y la policía científica, ni el Ministerio Público realizaran la inspección en el lugar del hallazgo. Entre otras irregularidades, dejaron caer el cuerpo "accidententalmente" por un desnivel de más 60 metros.

4. Hasta aproximadamente a las 7:30 en la mañana del día sábado 24 de abril, sus padres no son informados del hallazgo.
5. El forense que informa a su padre de los resultados de la primera autopsia, realizada en el Servicio Médico Forense (SEMEFO), le explica que el cuerpo presenta lesiones internas, externas, perianales y genitales, fractura de craneo con pérdida de masa encefálica causado con un objeto que podría ser un bate, y, posteriormente ahorcamiento, y todo ello a lo largo de los cuatro días anteriores a su muerte, desde el primer día de su desaparición hasta el día de su muerte.
6. El domingo 25 de abril, a petición de sus padres se levanta una averiguación previa en el Ministerio Público Nº. 50, razón por la que se realiza una segunda autopsia horas antes del entierro.
7. - El lunes 26 de abril llega a la coordinación de Estudios Latinoamericanos, al Comité Cerezo, al comité de apoyo a las FARC y a varios estudiantes de la Facultad de Filosofía y Letras, compañeros de Pável González, un correo electrónico amenazante, remitido desde una identidad referida al grupo Yunque, sociedad secreta de ultraderecha violenta, y alude en él a "Apocalipsis", uno de sus grupos de choque.

Pero ni la policía ni el Ministerio Público, ni el Juez indagaron la IP del remitente, ni en las posibles conexiones con el asesinato de Pável y las actividades delictivas de los miembros de Yunque, responsables de palizas, torturas y asesinatos contra estudiantes comprometidos con la causa de la izquierda y los defensores de los derechos humanos en México. Siempre con absoluta impunidad.

La perversa táctica que consiste en hacer que la víctima se convierta en reo, se consigue haciendo que un forense extienda un certificado médico diciendo que no hay trazas del vil asesinato más que evidente, sino que se trata de un suicidio.

Y, mientras, la policía ignora todos los indicios , desprecia las pruebas, y se dedica a investigar cada recoveco de la vida de la víctima para demostrar que tenía ciertas frustraciones sociales, y algún desequilibrio psíquico, y no era feliz.

La misma táctica que usaron con Digna Ochoa, defensora de los Derechos Humanos, torturada durante varias horas y ultimada a tiros, cuya muerte los forenses dictaminaron como suicidio.

Aquí se pueden ver las imágenes de las lesiones que los forenses no vieron, ni encontraron, ni reseñaron, en el cadaver de Digna Ochoa. Ni el más tercermundista de los forenses podría pasarlos por alto, si no es interesadamente.

México no sólo es un estado fallido; sino una infamia en la superficie de la Tierra, mientras los responsables de los asesinatos sigan impunes, y no sean investigados por policías eficientes, y llevados ante Jueces justos e imparciales, cosa que no parece existir en México.

Y Pável, como Digna, y tantas otras criaturas torturadas y asesinadas, estarán en nuestra memoria mientras vivamos para recordarnos que quizás nosotros tampoco supimos defenderlos ni merecerlos.

Este artículo se publico aquí el 22 de abril de 2009, y a fecha de hoy, 7º aniversario de su secuestro, sus asesinos siguen impunes.

LA SALUD ES UN ESTADO TRANSITORIO...

La doctora Coll sabe que hoy le espera un día duro. Anoche hubo un programa de televisión adonde se habló del páncreas y se dio una amplia información sobre los síntomas, así es que vendrá la mayor parte de sus pacientes para ponerla a prueba: le hablarán de cansancio, lengua pastosa, mal sabor de boca, digestiones especialmente difíciles, y esperarán una reacción diligente para hacer las pruebas diagnósticas que recomendaron en el programa.

— Si al menos en televisión no dieran los síntomas…
— Lo peor es que esos mismos síntomas existen en la vejez, la depresión posparto, la pubertad, la intoxicación etílica leve…
— ¿Te acuerdas de la cantidad de pacientes que vinieron a pedir pruebas por si tenían fiebres puerperales? –pregunta un poco retóricamente la doctora Coll. En su bata blanca lleva una chapa de fondo azul con letras blancas: "El médico es el guardián de la nada"
— ¡Cómo para olvidarlo! Tengo pendiente un expediente de un señor de setenta años, diagnosticado de prostatitis, que se enfadó conmigo porque le dije que si no había parido recientemente no había peligro… Y lo peor es que del Ministerio me han pedido que argumente porqué le di esa respuesta y no valoré su patología por si pudiera presentar un cuadro de fiebre puerperal…

La doctora Coll escucha con una notable carencia de extrañeza: trabaja en el sistema de Salud desde hace veinticinco años y ya no malgasta su indignación con la ignorancia de sus jefes.

En su bata blanca lleva una chapa de fondo azul con letras blancas: "Lo que te agrede es tu suspicacia" y sin darse cuenta, la manosea.

El doctor Sinus empieza su consulta con semblante pétreo. La primera paciente, de treinta años, le cuenta que "no hace piernas"; es decir, que últimamente "no es capaz de soportar ni una china en el ojo", "le duelen hasta las gobanillas" y quiere un medicamento para eso. El doctor Sinus, poco dado a vuelos teóricos la mira como quien ve llover, le pregunta por sus deposiciones, su apetito y le toma la tensión. Le da una receta para de un jarabe antiflogístico inocuo que tiene unos componentes con nombres tremendos, y le dice que si no se encuentra mejor dentro de un mes, que vuelva. El doctor Sinus no sabe que todos sus pacientes se han alertado entre sí y desean tomar ese jarabe misterioso que los consuela de una vida poco excitante.

En Urgencias ha llegado un paciente transportado como un cerdo al matadero entre sus dos fornidos hijos. Y a los lamentos que da el enfermo por el traqueteo se suman las voces de los acompañantes — ¡Un médico, un médico!

Llega la doctora Arenas con su maletín y su estetoscopio. En su bata blanca lleva una chapa de fondo azul con letras blancas: "La salud es un estado transitorio que no augura nada bueno"
— ¡Déjenlo en la camilla y esperen fuera!
— Es nuestro padre.
— No lo dudo, pero esperen fuera, por favor.
— ¿Es que no lo va a ver un médico?
— Yo soy médico.
— Ya… ¿pero no hay un hombre médico?
La doctora los mira fijamente y su expresión indescriptible logra que decidan salir a toda prisa. Pero están mohínos y se ponen a escuchar con la oreja pegada a la puerta.
— ¿Qué le pasa a usted?
— ¡Tengo embozaos los chufletes del liviano!…
Tina, la enfermera, que es autóctona, traduce:
— Dice que tiene congestionados los bronquios…
La doctora Arenas lo ausculta y nota unos suaves silbidos en el pecho. Le toma la temperatura y no tiene fiebre. Le examina las piernas y no observa nada anómalo.

— ¿Tiene dificultades para andar? ¿Se marea?

— No, no señora…

— ¿Y por qué lo han traído en vilo sus hijos?

Enrojece y farfulla:

— Es que si no, no me hacen caso y me hacen esperar… y tenemos que ir a coger la aceituna… ¡A mí no me regalan nada!...

— ¡Ya! ¡Vístase usted!

Hace una receta para un jarabe expectorante y le recomienda:

— Deje usted de fumar y la próxima vez que venga a urgencias sin que sea urgente… —No puede continuar porque los hijos abren la puerta e irrumpen en la consulta ante la falta de respeto al autor de sus días:

— Claro, como usted es mujer se atreve… ¡Si fuera usted un hombre ya le habríamos "chafao" los morros! ¡Vamos, padre, vamonos!

Tina y la doctora Arenas se miran embelesadas sin poder reaccionar.

— ¿Cómo habrá conseguido la doctora Coll la chapilla esa de la suspicacia?— pregunta Tina.

— ¡Anda, se me había olvidado, tengo unas chapas que te van a encantar! —Y saca del bolsillo lateral del maletín dos chapas azules con letras blancas. En una pone: "Si tu ojo te escandaliza, sácatelo" y en otra: "Si te dan una bofetada, pon la otra mejilla"

— ¿Cuál quieres?

— No, déjalo, voy a ver si encuentro la de "Dios me perdonará: es su trabajo."

—No tengo que deciros lo mal que están las cosas. Todo el mundo lo sabe. Estamos en una crisis. La gente está en el paro o tiene miedo a perder su trabajo. El dólar no vale ya ni cinco centavos. Los bancos quiebran. Los dependientes guardan armas bajo el mostrador. Hay gamberros por las calles y nadie sabe qué hacer. Es imparable.

Sabemos que el aire es irrespirable y que comemos basura. Nos sentamos ante la televisión mientras el presentador nos dice que se han cometido 15 homicidios y 63 crímenes, como si fuera algo normal. Las cosas están muy mal. Aún peor. El mundo se ha vuelto loco.

La locura es tal que ya no salimos a la calle. Nos quedamos en casa y nuestro mundo se vuelve más pequeño. Decimos: "Al menos dejadnos en paz en nuestras casas". "Si tengo una tostadora y una televisión, no diré nada. Pero dejadnos en paz".

Pues yo no os voy a dejar en paz. Quiero que os enfadéis. No quiero que os manifestéis ni que escribáis a vuestro congresista. No sé qué hacer sobre la depresión, la inflación, los rusos y el crimen. Sólo sé que tenéis que enfureceros. Tenéis que decir: "Soy un ser humano. Mi vida tiene valor".

Quiero que os levantéis. Levantaos de vuestras sillas.

Quiero que os levantéis ahora mismo, vayáis a la ventana, la abráis, saquéis la cabeza y gritéis: "Estoy furioso y no pienso aguantar más".

Quiero que os levantéis ahora mismo...

—(a los cámaras) Seguidlo.

...saquéis la cabeza y gritéis: "Estoy furioso y no pienso aguantar más".

—¿A cuántas emisoras retransmitimos?

—A 67.

Ya discurriremos qué hacer sobre la depresión, la inflación y la crisis del petróleo. Primero tenéis que levantaros, abrir la ventana, sacar la cabeza y gritar: "Estoy furioso y no pienso aguantar más".

—¿Con quién hablas?

— La CGG de Atlanta.

—¿Están gritando en Atlanta?

Primero tenéis que enfadaros. Tenéis que gritar: "Estoy furioso y no pienso aguantarlo más".

—Están gritando en Baton Rouge.

....Levantaos...

—Qué cabrón. Hemos encontrado petróleo.

... Sacad la cabeza por la ventana y gritad: "Estoy furioso y no pienso aguantarlo más".

LORENZO (LLORENÇ) VILLALONGA: LA MUERTE DE UNA DAMA

"Aquel día Obdulia Montcada, viuda de Bearn, comprendió que se moría.

Conservaba a los ochenta y cuatro años la misma inteligencia clara y escasísima que a los veinticinco años".

***

"Al Círculo no va más que gentuza, habéis perdido la idea de las clases. El confesor me decía que tanto podía valer una críada como una señora. No digo que al cielo no podamos ir todos, ya lo veremos, pero en el Círculo no deberían admitir más que a personas decentes".

"En todas las geografías que he consultado —dice George Sand—, he hallado la siguiente indicación: "Los mallorquines son muy afables". Ya se sabe, comenta la escritora, "que la raza humana se divide en dos categorías: los antropófagos y los que son muy afables".

***

"Un antiguo dicho mallorquín proclama que "queso" es igual a "formatge". Esto era en otro tiempo. Hoy "queso" no sólo no es igual, sino que representa lo opuesto a "formatge".

(Sobre el marqués de Collera): "Pero sus principales energías se habían consagrado a la política, y militaba en el partido conservador desde que fue mayor de edad. Admiraba a Maura, el casticismo y las prosas cervantinas (El Quijote, justamente porque jamás pudo terminarlo, era para él como un libro sagrado), pero eso no impidió que, después de la escisión del partido, se fuera con Dato, de quien le gustaba decir que no tenía el talento de Maura, pero sí un sentido más claro de la realidad política. Por sentido de la realidad entendía haberle jugado una mala pasada a su jefe jerárquico".

"A la sombra de la catedral gótica, empezada en el siglo XIII por Jaime I, en una casa “señorial y modesta”, de zaguán descubierto, con un jardín al fondo, vive un escritor de “ideas avanzadas”, cuyo solo nombre entristece el espíritu. Las señoras viejas bajan los ojos al pasar por delante de esta casa de apariencia austera, que hubiera podido habitar algún digno sacerdote. Muchas se santiguan. Aquel nombre tristemente famoso es una disonancia en el barrio. Siendo, como es, tan perverso, personalmente no hace daño a nadie ni insulta a los clérigos. Los vecinos han acabado por reconocerle el talento, siempre que no lo muestre en Mallorca. Más fácil que odiar es transigir. Y ellos quieren, sobre todo, dormir la siesta."

ROMANCE DEL INFANTE DON GARCÍA

23 EL INFANTE DON GARCÍA

a)

A cazar iba, a cazar,
el infante don García
los perros lleva cansados
de andar abajo y arriba,
no encontraba qué cazar,
ni caza, ni cosa viva.
Arrimose a un duro tronco,
al pie de una verde encina;
sueños estaba soñando,
sueños que le parecían,
en la ramita más alta
un águila le decía:

—Despierta, si estás dormido,
el infante don García,
que en poder de moros va,
que en poder de moros iba,
que en poder de moros va
la tu esposa doña Elvira.—
Picó la espuela al caballo, para su casa camina.
Todo lo encontró cerrado,
ventanas y celosías;
ha llamado siete veces,
ninguna le respondían.
Fue al palacio de su madre,
por ver qué razón daría.
—Buenos días, madre y señora.
—Bienvenido, don García.
—Dígamelo, la mi madre,
dígamelo, madre mía,
si ha pasado por aquí
la cosa que más quería.
—Por aquí pasó tu esposa,
tres horas antes del día,
vestida de raso verde,
que una reina parecía,
con doscientos perros moros
que lleva en su compañía;
con los unos bien cantaba,
con los otros bien reía,
vihuela de oro en sus manos, ¡mi Dios, cómo la tañía!,
un romance iba diciendo:
“Cornudo sea don García”.—
Vuelve la rienda al caballo:
—Aquí verdad no la había,
que las suegras y las nueras
ellas bien nunca se miran.
Iré a tocar a la puerta
donde mi suegra vivía.—
—Dios la guarde, la mi madre.
—Bienvenido, don García.
—Dígame, suegra y señora,
dígame, suegra querida,
si ha pasado por aquí
la mi esposa, vuestra hija.
—Sí, hijo, por aquí pasó
antes de romper el día, vestida de raso negro
desde abajo hasta arriba,
con doscientos perros moros
que lleva en su compañía;
de los unos renegaba,
a los otros maldecía
anillos de las sus manos

de tristura los rompía;
en altas voces diciendo:
"¡Valme, valme, don García,
que si ahora no me vales,
no me valdrás en tu vida!".
¡En mal hora la pariera,
en mal hora la paría!—
Llora el uno, llora el otro,
los dos lloran en porfía.
—¡Calléis, mi suegra, calléis,
la mi madre más querida,
que, si no han pasado el vado,
para atrás la volvería!—
—Adelante, mi caballo,
el de la silla dorida;
mucha cebada te he echado,
mucha más yo te echaría,
si la pudiera alcanzar
antes de entrar en Turquía, que, si ella pasa el vado,
nunca jamás la vería.—
Asomóse a una collada,
de las más altas que había,
y desde allí se acordó
de tocar la su bocina;
siete leguas en contorno
por todas se oiría.
La dama, como es discreta,
al punto la conocía:
—Descanso pido, señores,
que yo vengo muy rendida.—
Se pusieron a almorzar
al par de una fuente fría.
—'Scanciador, que 'scancias vino,
'scancia con cortesía, guárdale un trago de vino
para aquel de la bocina.
—Dejo uno, dejo dos
y cuatro, si se ofrecía, no siendo primo o hermano
o el marido de la niña,
que, si es el tu marido,
la vida la trae perdida.
—No es mi padre ni mi hermano,
marido yo no tenía;
yo siempre fui compasible
del que anda a la montería.—
Estando en estas razones, ha llegado don García.
—Dios os guarde, buena gente,
moros de la morería.
—¿A dónde va, el cristianillo,
a dónde lleva la guía,

a dónde va el cristianillo
    sin ninguna compañía?
—Voy para tierra de moros,
    allá voy para Turquía.
—Deténgase, el cristianillo, ¿cómo no se detenía?,
pan y vino se ha guardado
    y nada le costaría.
—No me puedo detener,
    por cuanto en el mundo había, quiero pasar esta tarde
    el río hondo de Hungría,
a llevar pliegos al rey
    y reina de morería.—
El río que hay que pasar
    a todos miedo metía;
cuando llegaron al río,
    los moros en la porfía:
quién la niña ha de pasar, quién la niña pasaría.
—Pásenosla, el caballero,
    que buen caballo traía
—Mi caballo tiene zuna,
    que jamás la perdería,
mujer que no tenga honra,
    sobre sí no consentía.
—Si la tenía en su tierra,
    aquí también la tenía,
que en reserva la llevamos al rey de la morería.—
Apeóse el caballero,
    en las ancas la ponía.
A la pasada del río
    lo tomaron a porfía
los moros y el caballero
    quién antes lo pasaría.
—Pasen, pasen, los morillos,
    que yo detrás pasaría;
mi caballo es muy nuevo
    y el vado no lo sabía, donde hay tropa de caballos
    él el postrero iría.—
Pasa uno, pasan dos,
    pasan cuatro en cuadrilla.
Desque todos lo pasaron,
    el caballo revolvía:
—Vuelta, vuelta, mi caballo,
    que entramos en morería.
Quedáos con Dios, los moros,
    que la niña es muy mía.
Si queréis saber quién soy:
    el infante don García.—
Por los altos corre mucho, por lo llano no se veía.

—¡Cata allá, que va preñada del hijo de una judía!
—Que vaya o deje de ir,
ésta es la mujer mía;
si lleva hijo de un judío,
yo bautizo le daría.

Con éste asonante y discurso narrativo llegó al Romancero del siglo XX el romance de “El infante don García” en Burgos, Palencia, Cantabria, Asturias, León, Zamora y Tras os Montes. Pese a esta difusión geográfica, no son muchas las versiones recogidas, ya que sólo es patrimonio de buenos romanceristas. Personalmente, he tenido la fortuna de hallarlo en Nuez y en Latedo (Zamora), en enero de 1948; en Salceda (Cantabria), en agosto de 1948, y en Brañosera (Palencia), en setiembre de 1951. Andado el tiempo, cuando en julio de 1977 reinicié la recolección de romances creando encuestas “colectivas”, en que se combinaba la investigación científica con la docencia, el primer lugar visitado por el equipo que en el primer día dirigía fue Uznayo (en Polaciones, Cantabria), pues aquella comarca había sido en mi experiencia recolectora de los años 40 un área de tradición extraordinariamente rica, y por tanto, la esperanza de que el Romancero hubiera resistido allí la profunda transformación social del campo español, fruto de los años de emigración masiva, me pareció mayor que en otras comarcas. Y en aquella aldea volví a hallar un magnífico texto de “El infante don García”, entre otros romances poco comunes. No sería el último de tal tema entre los centenares luego recogidos de la tradición oral en las subsiguientes encuestas “colectivas” de los años 70 y 80.

Muy diversa es la tradición de los sefardíes de Oriente, donde el romance de “El infante don García” también vino a formar parte del repertorio de los romanceristas del siglo XX, gracias, en gran parte, a los colectores locales del siglo XIX y a los impresores de librillos de cordel:

b)

Yo me levanté un lunes,
un lunes por la mañana;
me fuera a coger tapetes,
tapetes y almenaras,
para aparentar la torre,
la torre que era afamada,
la torre de las Salinas,
la que la ciudad nos guarda.
A la tornada que atorno,
topé la torre quemada;
quemada topé la torre
y a la mi mujer robada.
Me llevaron a mi esposa,
a la mi esposa real.
—Caballo, el mi caballo,
el mi caballo alazán,
mucha cebada te he dado,
mucha más te voy a dar,
que me lleves esta noche
a donde mi esposa real.—

Saltó el caballo y dijo,
con gracia que Dios le da:
—Apretadme bien la cincha
y aflojadme el collar,
deisme acicate de hierro,
de mí no tengáis piedad.—
Por las calles que había gente, caminaba de vagar;
por las calles que no hay gente,
centellas hace saltar.
A puertas de la su madre,
allí le fue a alborear:
—Estéis en buen hora, madre.
El mi hijo, bien vengáis.
—Yo perdí a la mi esposa,
a la mi esposa real.
—Ya la vide yo, el mi hijo,
a vuestra esposa real,
por aquí pasó esta noche
dos horas de bel lunar;
blanco viste, blanco calza,
blanco caballo alazán,
una cantiga diciendo
que a todos hace pecar.—
Ya se parte el mancebo,
ya se parte, ya se iba;
a puertas de la su madre
allí se le anochecía:
—Si veríais, la mi madre,
a la mi esposa real.
—Ya la vide yo, el mi hijo,
a vuestra esposa real,
moricos la cautivaron
por las horas de la tarde;
prieto viste, prieto calza,
prieto caballo alazán,
una endecha ella cantando
que a todos hacía llorar:
Que las suegras con las nueras
siempre se quisieron mal,
y las hijas con las madres
como la uña con la carne.

Los elementos comunes de estas versiones de Salónica (Macedonia) y Lárissa (Tracia) con la tradición peninsular son patentes. Incluso los dos comienzos tan diferentes tienen un elemento de fondo en común, la presencia de un signo premonitorio de la desgracia que inopinadamente va a alterar la vida familiar del protagonista: en las versiones peninsulares, la caza infructuosa, que en múltiples romances anuncia la inminencia de un desastre, y en las judeo-españolas de Grecia, el día lunes. que en todos los ámbitos del romancero hispánico es el día fatídico de la semana (tanto en la tradición vieja, como en la moderna). Pero las comunidades sefardíes del Oriente mediterráneo, una vez presentado el contraste entre el comportamiento de la suegra y de la madre de la esposa cautivada, se desinteresaron por la novela subsiguiente, atraídos por la lección de la moraleja de la malquerencia de las suegras respecto a las nueras, hasta tal punto que en la más desarrollada de las versiones judías, la anotada por Manuel Manrique de Lara en Salónica en 1910, de la colección manuscrita del gran rabino Isaac Bohor Amaradji, formada en 1860, la sentencia provoca una retahila de expresiones paralelas de la sabiduría popular:

un chufleto de oro en boca
iba diziendo un bel cantar:
Que la esfuegra con la nuera siempre ya se quijieron mal, que la madre con la hija
como la carne y la uña,
y el buen padre con el hijo
como la piedra en el anillo—¡Ah!, ansí es el amor de la viuda como la pera podrida
y ansí es el amor de la moça
como la hermosa mançana roja, y ansí es el amor del mancebo como el membrillo fresco
y que todas las señoras
lo toman por el huesno (‘olor’);
y ansí es el amor de la biencasada
como la carne bien asada, ¡ah!, ansí es el amor de la malcasada como la carne mal asada,
y ansí es el amor de la vieja como la zamarra vieja que tiene pelos
y no calienta.
—Tú sox la mía hermosa esposa
la mía esposa reale!

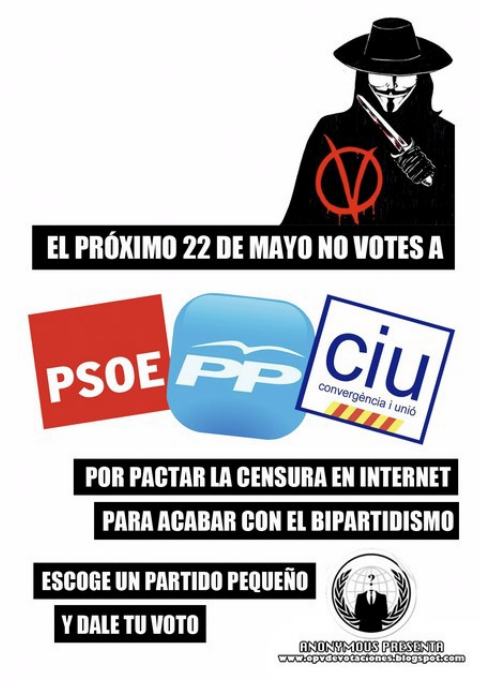
ANONYMOUS INFORMA: OPERACIÓN V DE VOTACIONES



22 DE MAYO 2011, AUTONÓMICAS MUNICIPALES

Anonymous informa:

Después de días, meses y años en España de Bipartidismo político de PSOE y PP, después de conocer sus mentiras en Wikileaks, el apoyo a la guerra y la venta de armas a regímenes dictatoriales como Libia o Egipto, el ataque contra la Libertad de Expresión aprobando la Ley Sinde con el apoyo de CiU, después de ver que la corrupción por parte de los políticos y empresarios no desaparece, después de superar los cuatro millones de parados y arruinar el futuro de la juventud con contratos basura, además de estar a la cola de Europa en materia de educación, después de observar impotentes los graves recortes sociales, la censura por parte de medios de comunicación públicos, la despreocupación por el medio ambiente, los incomprensibles despilfarros de dinero público destinados al cine y otros, después de todo esto y mucho más algunos nos preguntamos, ¿cuándo nos rebelaremos de una vez?

El próximo 22 de mayo se celebran en España las elecciones municipales y autonómicas. Puede que estés tan harto de todo que ya ni siquiera te importen, que pienses que no sirven para nada, o te sientas impotente al creer que siempre ganarán los mismos, a saber PP o PSOE. Mucha gente piensa así y prefiere ahorrarse el viaje al colegio electoral pues consideran que no merece la pena votar a un partido pequeño si nadie más lo hará. Pero, ¿y si lo hacen?

Piensa por un momento en que miles de personas como tú estarán leyendo esta carta ahora mismo y —quizá— sientan lo mismo que sientes tú ahora: que NO estás solo. Por eso te pedimos que cuando el 22 de mayo amanezca, despiertes pensando que millones de personas como tú irán a votar para cambiar esto. NO las dejes solas. NO votes a quién nos miente, censura, pisotea y roba, ni a quienes con ellos pactan. El 22 de mayo te pedimos:

NO VOTES A PP, PSOE O CiU. BUSCA UN PARTIDO PEQUEÑO CON EL QUE TE

IDENTIFIQUES Y DALE TU VOTO.

Está en tu mano poner freno a casi 30 años de bipartidismo y cambiar el curso de este país, recuérdalo.

MANIFIESTO PATRIÓTICO

En estos momentos, en los cuales el suelo patrio se encuentra presa de una angustiosa zozobra, es cuando los verdaderos patriotas recuperamos nuestro protagonismo. El país, España, nos necesita. Sí señores, yo soy un gran patriota, por eso nunca leo.

El verdadero patriota, el de toda la vida, apoya al poder venga de donde venga, y adora la bandera sea del color que sea. Mi patriotismo se puede resumir con este grito: ¡AÚPA SELECCIÓN!

Mi amor al Estado es ciego, mi voluntad es la de magnificar sus virtudes y solapar bajo la alfombra del olvido los diminutos defectos productos de su perenne celo. Por lo dicho y para demostrar mi fervor, he compuesto este manifiesto, este laudo patriótico como alabanza de agradecimiento al Gobierno por su labor en los últimos diez años. Aun a fuer de ser cursi, pero el patriotismo lo es, comienzo esta modesta alabanza con una coplilla que recogí con emoción de boca de un señor segador en los campos de la imperial Castilla: "Se me antoja obligación/ alabar con dulce canto/ estos grandes adelantos/ con que cuenta mi nación".

—Deo gratias a nuestros hombres electos por conseguir, por fin, que la droga haya dejado de ser la empresa más próspera que hemos conocido.

—Deo gratias a mis gobernantes por dar trabajo a su pueblo y con él, dignidad de vida, evitando que caigamos en la costumbre de mendigar el subsidio como único futuro.

—Sería de ingratos no enaltecer a nuestros caudillos por como han utilizado la diplomacia española para introducirnos en el "concierto internacional" sin tener que sembrar con cadáveres de jóvenes compatriotas el sucio de guerras ajenas.

—Si por algo me siento feliz con mi gobierno es por su valentía al sostener con firmeza los adelantos sociales de los últimos años y no haberse deshecho de los mismos, como si de un pesado lastre se tratara, en cuanto las nubes han pintando tormenta.

—Deo gratias y levanto glorias a mis adelantados y condestables por permitir que entre nosotros, los jóvenes, hayan calado hondo principios morales como la ética y la honradez. Doy gracias por no educarnos colocando como ejemplos aventureros y hombres sin escrúpulos que han engañado a mi sociedad.

—Si existe un logro por el que me veo impulsado a quemar incienso en honor de mis líderes y dirigentes es por la gran reforma universitaria que graciosamente y sin merecerlo nos han otorgado, rehuyendo confeccionar un pegote de asignaturas sin pies ni cabeza.

—Lívido de placer me muestro cuando debo ponderar el cuidado que han mostrado nuestros patriarcas y paladines en pulir y abrillantar las instituciones democráticas huyendo como de la peste de una posible politización de las mismas.

—Erraría en mi lista de éxitos si no enalteciera a mis condotieros de Interior y Justicia, a uno por acabar con el terrorismo, y a otros por haber reformado desde la raíz el sistema judicial y haber acabado con los hacinamientos carcelarios.

—Y hablando de cárceles, mi patriotismo llega hasta el orgasmo cuando condenan a esos pacifistas, cobardes desestabilizadores, dejando en libertad a los empresarios que delinquen, porque son los que sostienen esta sociedad tan próspera.

—No sería de biennacidos no agradecer a nuestros dignatarios la profunda reforma agraria que han llevado a cabo tras tantos años de espera.

—En nombre de los jóvenes —a los que no represento— aclamo a nuestros gerifaltes por conseguir que nos hayan llenando de optimismo el futuro, por haber permitido nuestra participación directa en los temas que nos incumben.

—Podría seguir enumerando los infinitos avances y progresos con los que nos regala el padre Estado, pero a costa de que se sonroje de orgullo —que no de vergüenza— termino.

— Después de todo lo dicho aún no entiendo como hay locos que puedan oponer alguna pega a la magna labor de este gran Gobierno. Y así termino mi canto. Con la voz quebrada y los ojos encenagados de lágrimas patrióticas, grito con todas mis fuerzas:

¡VIVA LA BAGATELA!
¡VIVA EL INMOVILISMO!
¡VIVAN LAS CADENAS!

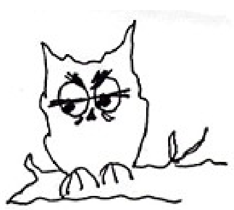
REDUNDA QUE ALGO QUEDA, ETCÉTERA



Un día, un amigo del ahorro de energía decidió que las enumeraciones prescindibles podría sustituirlas con la expresión "etcétera", del latín et cætera (no como dice el DRAE[1] "et cetĕra"), que significa "y lo demás". Fue un acierto.

Los amigos de la redundancia creyeron necesario utilizar este vocablo, anteponiéndole, para redondear, la conjunción copulativa ("y*" etcétera,* o lo que es lo mismo: "y+y lo demás"); o lo duplicaron y le pusieron puntos suspensivos ("*etcétera, etcéter*a...") que es lo mismo que decir "y lo demás, y lo demás...". Y eso, cuando no lo triplicaron. O creen necesario cuantificar la longitud que tiene "lo demás" no vaya a ser que se quede corto: ("y un largo etcétera"). No tardaremos en leer a algún fino estilista especificando si el etcétera es ancho, estrecho, corto, voluminoso, magro, homogéneo, etcétera).

Y todo por no molestarse en conocer la etimología, el significado, etcétera, de las palabras que usan.

Gatopardo

1) etcétera.

(Del lat. et cetĕra, y lo demás).

1. expr. U. para sustituir el resto de una exposición o enumeración que se sobreentiende o que no interesa expresar. Se emplea generalmente en la abreviatura etc. U. t. c. s. m.

El quinteto para clarinete KV 581 es adictivo, te prevengo. Llevo enganchada con él varias décadas, y sólo me falta fumármelo.

Para escribir "æ":

abres un doc Word--> clicas en insertar---> símbolo---> buscas hasta que encuentres latín 1 ----> Seleccionas "æ" y le das a la tecla "insertar". Luego copias, lo pegas aquí, y ya está.

Y también puedes encontrar ahí un montón de signos gráficos en árabe, hebreo, griego, matematícos, etc. que no están en el teclado.

Mañas de agüela, ya sabes.

LUDWIG VON BERTALANFFY

"Lo que se denomina progreso humano constituye un asunto puramente intelectual... en el aspecto moral, en cambio, no se aprecia demasiado desarrollo. Es dudoso que los métodos de la guerra moderna sean preferibles a las gruesas piedras utilizadas para abrir la cabeza al prójimo neandertal. Resulta bastante obvio que los patrones morales de Lao-tsé y Buda no eran inferiores a los nuestros. La corteza cerebral humana contiene unos diez billones de neuronas, que han hecho posible el progreso desde el hacha de piedra hasta los aeroplanos y las bombas atómicas, desde la mitología primitiva hasta la teoría de los quanta.

En el terreno de los instintos no se ha dado un desarrollo acorde con el anterior, que hubiera hecho que el hombre enmendara sus yerros y sacase provecho de las consecuencias de su conducta. No otra es la razón de que las exhortaciones morales, predicadas a lo largo de los siglos por los fundadores de religiones y los grandes faros de la humanidad, se hayan mostrado de una ineficacia desconcertante."

"El postulado principal será: el hombre no es sólo un animal político; es, antes y sobre todo, un individuo. Los valores reales de la humanidad no son los que comparte con las entidades biológicas, con el funcionamiento de un organismo o una comunidad de animales, sino los que proceden de la mente individual."

***

"Un modelo verbal es preferible a ninguno, o a un modelo que, por poder ser formulado matemáticamente, es impuesto forzosamente a la realidad y la falsifica. Teorías enormemente influyentes, como el psicoanálisis, no fueron matemáticas, o, como la teoría de la selección, su influencia llegó mucho más lejos que las construcciones matemáticas que no surgieron hasta después y cubren sólo aspectos parciales y una fracción pequeña de datos empíricos."

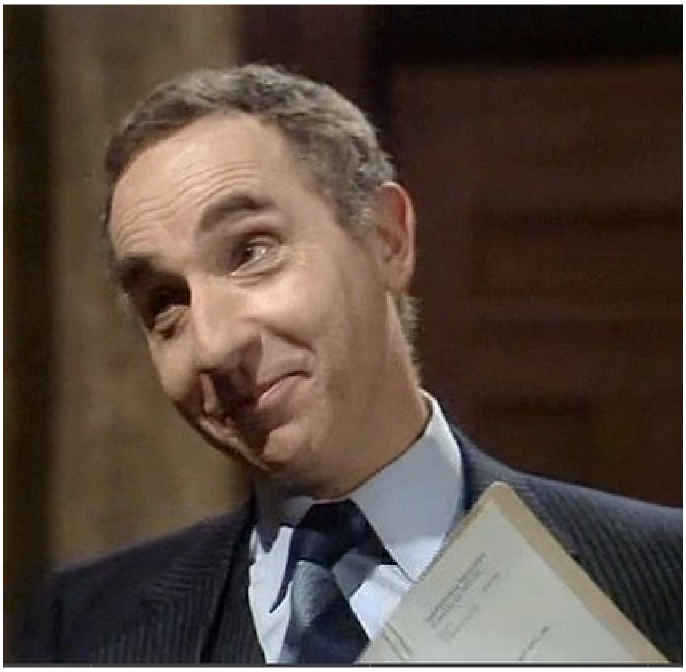
JONATHAN LYN Y ANTONY JAY: SÍ, MINISTRO. NO, PRESIDENTE.



"La regla fundamental de la City decía que si se es incompetente hay que ser honrado y si se es granuja hay que ser listo. El razonamiento en que se basa dicha máxima es que si eres honrado, los amigos corren a echarte una mano si metes la pata en tus transacciones. Y, a la inversa: si eres un granuja, nadie te hará preguntas mientras obtengas beneficios substanciosos. La empresa ideal de la City era aquella que demostraba al mismo tiempo ser honrada y lista, pero de éstas había escasez."

"Este gobierno no está dispuesto a que se escatime en el Ministerio de Defensa hasta el punto de poner en peligro la seguridad de la nación" (No puede decirse que la nación se hubiera visto en peligro si Hacker, por ejemplo, hubiera reunido en una sola las tres escuelas de música de los tres ejércitos. Es muy dudoso que hiciera fata tener tres escuelas de música distintas para el Ejército de Tierra, el de Marina, y el de las Fuerzas Aéreas respectivamente. No puede ser que hubiera un método específicamente naval de tocar el fagot, por ejemplo."

RAFAEL DEL BARCO CARRERAS: ZAPATERO Y LOS GRANDES EMPRESARIOS

¡No les votes!

Rafael del Barco Carreras, en "La gran corrupción":

"El 27-11-2010 comenté que el ambiente y causa de la primera reunión en la Moncloa con el gran empresariado era el "acongojamiento". Cuatro meses después, nos cuenta Botín que por las acertadas medidas de Zapatero, en el horizonte se vislumbra la recuperación.

No sólo no se recupera nada a tenor de las colas del paro, las de Cáritas, o el atasco de quiebras en los juzgados mercantiles, sino que las mordidas al mal llamado "estado del bienestar", agrava la situación.

Si Emilio Botín y secuaces se muestran contentos, lo atribuyo a que Europa les inyecta todo el dinero necesario para arrastrar la generalizada quiebra provocada por la Burbuja Inmobiliaria Española. Dinero al pozo sin fondo.

Para que nos cuenten que, para la "competitividad", es necesario bajar los salarios, contratos laborales más basura, el despido libre y barato —¡si puede ser, gratis!—, las pensiones y subsidios laborales a mínimos, y los impuestos a tope… hasta alcanzar el nirvana de un obrero asiático con el cuenco de arroz y camastro de bambú, no es necesario la aportación de los mas grandes cerebros de la Nación."

 ZAPATERO CON LOS GRANDES EMPRESARIOS. De la "Cimera Catalana" a la Cumbre de Zapatero, o la inauguración de Las Arenas.

En España, el 90% de los empleos que se han perdido, se corresponde a empresas familares, pequeñas y medianas, y a trabajadores autónomos, a los que jamás se incentivó, que fueron penalizados por tasas y reglamentos nacionales, regionales, autonómicos, municipales, y bancarios hasta ahogarlos.

La cotización obligatoria y abusiva de los pequeños y medianos empresarios autónomos, durante más de 25 años a la Seguridad Social, no ha cubierto la baja por enfermedad, ni el cierre forzoso, y apenas sirve para obtener una jubilación que no llega al salario mínimo de subsistencia, con tal de sostener la "Pirámide de Pozzi" que es la Seguridad Social, con los tropecientos funcionarios ocupados en gestionarla. Si ese dinero lo hubieran guardado mensualmente en una cartilla de ahorros —e incluso debajo del colchón— les habría reportado mayor rentabilidad.

Sin embargo, los pequeños y medianos empresarios y los autónomos que han mantenido durante años el tejido productivo español no han sido escuchados, ni tenidos en cuenta, y gracias a su falta de combatividad, de capacidad organizativa, y un individualismo suicida, han facilitado la tarea a los gobiernos que los han ninguneado y menospreciado.

A los gobiernos y a los partidos políticos en el poder —sean de derechas, de izquierdas, o de centro—, les importa un ardite que el sistema bancario y financiero y el de las grandes empresas sea el mayor fraude contractual, cuyas vergüenzas haya que tapar con dinero público: al fin y al cabo, son de la misma jauría, también medran con nuestra estulticia, y tienen las mismas mañas torticeras.

AUDIENCIA NACIONAL: EL CANON DIGITAL ES UN ABUSO SIN BASE JURÍDICA

¡No les votes!

CANON DIGITAL: DESMONTANDO A SINDE:

(...) 24 de marzo de 2011, la Audiencia Nacional considera que la normativa que impone el canon es nula, por no reunir garantías procedimentales que exige el Estado de Derecho. La forma de cuantificar el canon digital queda completamente delimitada, ni valen acuerdos arbitrarios, ni pueden imponerlos porque sí.

Tras la Sentencia de la Audiencia Nacional anulando la Orden del canon, la Asociación de Internautas advierte que coherentemente, se ha confirmado:

1. que el canon se está pagando porque sí, pues las tarifas carecen de amparo legal suficiente.
2. que el sistema impositivo del canon no respeta el "justo equilibrio", pues los criterios económicos que guian su recaudación, en concreto el silogismo "si A implica B, entonces B implica C", siendo A: cantidad global de ventas de soportes o equipos digitales, B: cantidad de "copias privadas", y C: $$ recaudado, es totalmente irracional y arbitrario, por falta de "idoneidad.
3. que el canon se ha recaudado sin respetar las excepciones previstas por la LPI. El obligado Reglamento de desarrollo de la "copia privada", se ha ocultado bajo la forma de una "Orden Ministerial" para sumar $$. Bajo esta forma, el Gobierno evitaba tener que regular los supuestos en que ni personas jurídicas, ni personas físicas, tienen que pagar canon digital, en el sentido que justifican tanto los Juzgados mercantiles como los civiles.
4. que el canon debe ser reintegrado, en primer lugar, a todas las personas jurídicas que lo pagaron y, en segundo lugar, a aquellos particulares, que pagaron más de la cuenta o que lo pagaron sin tratar materiales protegidos por el derecho de autor. La Audiencia Nacional, anula radicalmente una normativa, y eso implica anular los efectos que produjera desde su nacimiento. Recuperar lo cobrado indebidamente por canon digital es un derecho, aunque sea competencia de los Juzgados mercantiles y civiles.

5. que el canon DEBERÁ SER REGULADO RESPETANDO LO DISPUESTO POR LA JURISPRUDENCIA, TANTO EN EL FONDO, COMO EN LA FORMA. Los límites están muy claros, y coinciden con la opinión de la Asociación de Internautas y quienes apoyaron esta causa con sus iniciativas.
6. que el canon exige explicaciones del Ministerio de Cultura, precisa la admisión de responsabilidades por su arbitrariedad en esta materia.
7. que el canon es un ejemplo muy mediático de que no todo vale y de que los intereses privados nunca deben estar por encima de los intereses de los ciudadanos.

Por mucho que hayan incomodado al Gobierno las reivindicaciones de la Sociedad de la Información, y por más que quiera ignorarlas, ahora ya sabe que Internet implica democracia. ¿Quién dice que la Sentencia de la Audiencia Nacional anulando las tarifas del canon no ha cambiado nada?

ESPAÑA NO VALE LO QUE CUESTA

La economía española es una entelequia que pertenece más al mundo de la propaganda y el autobombo que a una realidad europea.

En los últimos 30 años, España ha basado su cacareado crecimiento económico en tres pilares: el lavado de dinero negro, los fondos europeos, y la explotación esclavista de mano de obra extranjera. Lejos de superar la crisis económica actual, en el momento en que se acaben los fondos de compensación, porque Europa decida que ya ha hecho bastante el primo, y que se detengan los flujos monetarios, porque los mafiosos encuentren otros paraísos donde no haya que untar hasta al alcalde pedaneo, España mostrará lo que ya es hoy, una provincia de Sicilia, un erial sin futuro.

Tenemos que pagar un mastodonte burocrático, vendido como estado de bienestar, cuya única función es mantener vitaliciamente a más de tres millones de funcionarios y un millón de cargos de designación directa. De todos éstos, los que más trabajan, restando vacaciones, fines de semana y fiestas de guardar, sin contar puentes, lo hacen sólo 7 meses al año. Si ya nos referimos a ese sector tan dado al lloriqueo como es el de la educación, hay que restarle un mínimo de 45 días. Y si hablamos del chupatintas ministerial, ése directamente no trabaja.

Estamos pagando sectores como agricultura y ganadería, que subsisten porque están subvencionados. Por lo demás, el agricultor español está produciendo mercancia altamente contaminada con pesticidas, y anticoagulantes; es incapaz de crear una logística racional de distribución que lo libere de intermediarios y es contumazmente ignorante de cualquier mejora que no sea capuzar fertilizantes y plaguicidas de la cooperativa local. Ni siquiera como consumidor ha aprendido a moverse en el mercado de la oferta y la demanda. Este agricultor, si ha sacado beneficios, lo ha hecho por subvenciones y plusvalía de esclavismo. Si los señores agricultores de Almería pasaran por una inspección de trabajo o un mínimo de requerimientos de las condiciones laborales de sus trabajadores emigrantes, volverían a vender melones en las cunetas de las carreteras.

El sector ganadero, que está amenazando siempre con el cierre, es lo mejor que podía hacer. Nos evitaba tener que consumir la peor leche de Europa, pollos críados con hormonas y antibióticos, y ternera con clenbuterol. De paso, millones de animales se evitaban una vida de maltrato y tortura y la población reducía la ingesta de grasa, que parece ser el único ingrediente de su masa cerebral.

Las grandes empresas españolas , modelo Repsol, Endesa, Telefónica, etc., lo son porque retienen un mercado cautivo, a la vez que suponen un lastre para la creación de nuevas empresas verdaderamente competitivas. No sólo es que den mal servicio sino que impiden que haya otras empresas con ganas de trabajar. El técnico de Endesa que adivina por dónde va el cable con una medalla de la Virgen del Carmen y coceando donde indican las oscilaciones a ver si suena a hueco, porque Endesa no renueva material técnico, es una imagen de la España actual. El Servicio Técnico de Telefónica español ha inventado el término “Internet de pincho” (Internet por GPRS), quizás en homenaje a la merluza de Cudillero, y todo el país tiene que pagar unos servicios que no presta y unos operadores que van desde el disléxico sin tratamiento hasta el tontucio ecolálico que repite preguntas sobre tu DNI y estado civil, por no hablar de soluciones informáticas del tipo “menee un poco el modem a ver si agarra la conexión” “eso es que la torre se satura” “como hace hielo, el satélite oscila”.

En Gatopardo, cuando el país se jactaba de tener un sistema financiero envidiado en el mundo, ya se señaló los peligros de los créditos y productos financieros basura del Santander y otras entidades.

El sistema financiero español es insostenible aun inyectándole periódicamente dinero público por varias razones: sus activos están sobrevalorados, su actividad se ha desvirtuado de sus fines originales, y su preocupación esencial es taparse las vergüenzas ante inspecciones internacionales.

Hemos pagado los “fines sociales” de las cajas de ahorro como si hubiéramos contratado los mejores proveedores, artistas e investigadores del mundo. Y lo que hemos conseguido es poblar la geografía nacional con bancos de cemento que causan escoliosis, exposiciones de aperos de labranza y conciertos de flamenquito fusión, amén de darles cancha a ignotos talentos regionales de encefalograma plano y con un morro que se lo pisan.

El problema no es la corrupción, sino la corrupción de los tontos. Los españoles no somos listos, ni inteligentes, ni trabajadores, ni tenemos inventiva ni nos comemos el mundo. Hemos trabajado cuando nos han dado puntapiés a intervalos regulares. En caso contrario, un trabajo que requiera 20 minutos, supone media hora de retraso, otra media de charla y otra media amenazando con los imponderables que hacen imposible realizarlo. En los años 80, el empresario español llenó el país de asadores de cordero y bares; en los 90, de fábricas de ladrillos y campos de golf, no por un estudio de mercado, sino por simple gusto de copia. Aún estamos pagando la producción de corderos de más y los trapicheos de los bancos con empresarios y autoridades corruptas.

A un corrupto como el español no se le ocurre financiar un Sillicon Valley o crear una industria viable: pone ladrillos hasta hartarse, y cuando ya no puede más, echa cemento y hace un aeropuerto. No sabe nada de normativa de espacio aéreo, aeronatica, permisos, ni de mercado, etc., pero nos podemos preciar de tener el mayor número de casas nuevas desocupadas, de rotondas, y de aeropuertos de Europa; eso sí, inservibles.

La “generación mejor preparada de nuestra historia” es otro mito que lastra la economía nacional. La expresión sólo refleja la indigencia cultural de nuestro pasado. Hemos alabado como inteligencia las habilidades de chimpace de nuestros niños con el mando de la tele, y ahora reivindicamos como conocimiento científico titulaciones obtenidos en un sistema universitario romo, nepotista y provinciano que prima y premia la grisura y el peloteo servil. Nuestros jovenes accederán a puestos de mando mientras el ser europeos los ponga en una lista de prelación, mientras no salgan fuera de las faldas de la familia y de un círculo de corrupción que los ampare. No valen ni para tacos de escopeta.

En resumen, España no vale lo que cuesta. Y aquí no cabe ni un tonto más.

"Mas cuando le pedimos pruebas de la sapiencia humana o que nos muestre algunos ejemplos de rectitud consciente y razonable, nos reconvienen por nuestra frigidez intelectual y nuestra inhumanidad; sencillamente porque rechazamos contentarnos con las buenas cualidades de los animales. Por muy agradecidos que nos mostremos al ver florecer en la sociedad civilizada esas humildes virtudes de la selva, no podemos pretender que sean compensación satisfactoria de los horrores y la miseria de la vida civilizada. Estos horrores y estas miserias nacen de la carencia de razón en el hombre, del fracaso para conducirse de una manera completa y sabiamente humana. Las virtudes selváticas son simplemente el anverso de este animalismo, cuya cara es la verdad instintiva y cuya cruz es la estupidez y la crueldad instintiva."

"No tiene idea de como me afectan los sufrimientos. —le miró tiernamente (...) A usted le hubiera pasado otro tanto en circunstancias parecidas —dijo Mrs. Aldwilkle, pronunciando las últimas palabras en un tono significativo.

Chelifer denegó modestamente.

— Mucho me temo —dijo— que soy de un gran estoicismo cuando se trata de los sufrimientos ajenos.

— ¿Por qué se denigra siempre? —preguntó Mrs. Adwinkle con efusión— ¿Por qué se injuria? Demasiado sabe que no es como dice. Le gusta creer que es más duro de lo que es. ¿Por qué?

Chelifer sonrió.

— Quizás es para restablecer el equilibrio universal. Son tantos los que dicen que son más tiernos y cordiales de lo que son..."

"Los burgueses pueden vivir en relativa tranquilidad. ¡Y qué vida la suya! Viven de acuerdo con sus apetitos; pero de manera timorata, respetuosos de las convenciones. Sus placeres les son suministrados por sociedades anónimas. Han oído hablar del arte y de la filosofía, y respetan ambas, porque las gentes bien las respetan, pero su opacidad mental y su falta de cultura no les permiten gozar de ninguna de las dos. Son, por tanto, más pobres que el salvaje, quien aunque jamás oyó hablar de ciencia, tiene el consuelo de su religión y de sus tradiciones. La vida de un animal salvaje tiene cierta dignidad, cierta belleza: solamente la del doméstico puede considerarse vil. El burgués es el animal humano perfectamente domésticado. Por eso —prosiguió Chelifer—, por eso quien quiere vivir verdaderamente, en el corazón de la realidad humana, ha de vivir centrado en la burguesía. No obstante, dentro de poco no será preciso esta desagradable distinción de clases. Dentro de poco tiempo únicamente habrá burgueses."

"Todos, excepto una minoría monstruosa en ambas clases, pertenecen a las tres categorías más bajas determinadas por Galton. Pero moral y espiritualmente aún salen peor librados. Los pertenecientes a las clases medias sufren más a causa del mayor respeto que sienten por la opinión pública, están sometidos a la tortura del esnobismo, y viven respetuosamente en una atmósfera de miedo y de odio. Pues si los obreros viven en continuo terror de perder su colocación, otro tanto ocurre con los burgueses, y con mayor motivo, pues tienen más que perder, pueden caer desde mayor altura. Caen desde un precario cielo de señorío a los abismos de la pobreza. Sin alivio ni socorro del asilo, las agencias de colocación, inútiles. ¿No han de vivir aterrados? Y en cuanto al odio, puede usted hablar del odio del proletariado a la burguesía; pero le aseguro que eso no es nada si se compara con el que la burguesía profesa al proletariado, porque le teme, siente espanto por una revolución que pueda desposeerla de su fingido paraiso y arrojarla al infierno. ¡Con qué envidia, con qué amargo resentimiento ve el burgués la más mínima mejora de la existencia del obrero!".

INFORME RESPUESTA DE DOÑA CARMEN MARTÍNEZ TEN, PRESIDENTA DEL CSN, CONSEJO DE SEGURIDAD NUCLEAR, A LAS PREGUNTAS PARLAMENTARIAS ESCRITAS NÚMS. 184-923 A 184-932 FORMULADAS POR EL SR. DIPUTADO DEL GRUPO PARLAMENTARIO CATALÁN (CiU), JORDI JANE I GUASCH SOBRE EL SUCESO DE LA CENTRAL NUCLEAR DE ASCÓ DE NOVIEMBRE DE 2007.

¿Cuándo tuvo conocimiento el Consejo de Seguridad Nuclear de éste suceso?

El CSN fue formalmente informado por el titular mediante el "Informe de suceso notificable", ISN - AS1 - 127, que tuvo entrada en el organismo el 4 de abril del 2008 a las 21:32 horas.

¿Qué medidas tomó el titular (ANAV) tras el conocimiento de este suceso?

El titular ha procedido en este incidente tratando los datos de contaminación y los indicios de su propagación, caso por caso sin una valoración global de su alcance y ciñéndose a una interpretación formal y limitada de sus obligaciones de notificación e información.

El titular no hizo un análisis correcto de la trascendencia de la contaminación del sistema de ventilación. En todo caso, ante cualquier sospecha de que podía haber sucedido lo que finalmente ocurrió, de ningún modo se debería haber arrancado el sistema de ventilación normal. Intentó descontaminar la rejilla y viendo que no se reducía el nivel de radiación procedió al blindaje de la rejilla, con manta plomada. Posteriormente, el titular realizó los trabajos de descontaminación (limpieza) en el sistema que se extendieron durante varios meses.

Al CSN tampoco le consta que la detección de la primera partícula fuese puesta en conocimiento del personal de operación, ni las razones por las que el titular no relacionó la presencia de la partícula con la contaminación del sistema de ventilación del edificio de combustible. Localizada la primera partícula el titular aumentó la frecuencia y las zonas de búsqueda de las rondas de vigilancia.

En la actualidad, el titular continúa los trabajos de limpieza de conductos de ventilación y de la chimenea, y la búsqueda de partículas en el emplazamiento.

¿Cuándo se produjo el suceso y en qué consistió?

El suceso tiene su origen en el transcurso de una de las últimas operaciones de limpieza al terminar la recarga de combustible de la Unidad I de Ascó en noviembre de 2007.

El 26-11-2007 se efectúa el vertido del contenido de la aspiradora de restos del "pócete" del canal de transferencia a la piscina de combustible sin que al parecer se aprecie la entrada de parte del líquido por las aspiraciones del sistema de ventilación del edificio de combustible.

El arranque el 29 de noviembre de la ventilación normal del edificio de combustible existiendo contaminación en los conductos dio lugar a una emisión sin el tratamiento previo que está previsto en los casos en que se registra alta actividad en el interior de dicho edifico, lo que representa un fallo de las barreras técnicas y administrativas existentes.

El incidente radiológico, constituido por la emisión por chimenea de partículas activas, responde al arrastre de la contaminación depositada en los conductos de ventilación compartidos por el sistema normal y el de emergencia una vez que se arranca el primero el 29-11-2007. Todo ello sobre la base de que los sistemas de filtrado detuvieron toda la contaminación puesta en circulación en el sistema de ventilación en su funcionamiento en modo de emergencia y hubieran evitado la emisión de haber seguido actuando en dicho modo.

¿Qué medidas tomó el Consejo de Seguridad Nuclear, tras el conocimiento de este suceso?

El CSN recibió la notificación emitida por el titular de este suceso a las 21:32 horas del día 4 de abril de 2008.

Desde ese momento se iniciaron los procedimientos previstos para estos casos, que llevó a emitir la primera nota de prensa el día 5 de abril de 2008, remitida a Instituciones y medios de comunicación a las 14:07 horas.

La emisión inadvertida de material radiactivo al exterior, es un fenómeno que no debe ocurrir, por esta razón, de forma inmediata a la comunicación del suceso y aunque el titular lo presentó como insignificante, el CSN remitió inmediatamente un equipo de 6 inspectores que permaneció en la central investigando los hechos del 5 al 7 de abril.

En base a los resultados de esta inspección, con fecha 9 de abril el CSN remitió al titular una Instrucción Técnica requiriendo actuaciones e información sobre vigilancia radiológica del emplazamiento, estimaciones de término fuente y máxima dosis potencial, situación operativa y proceso de descontaminación de los sistemas de ventilación, análisis del comportamiento de los monitores de radiación de proceso y, en especial, un programa de vigilancia de la contaminación de los trabajadores y personas que hayan tenido relación con la planta.

Respondiendo a la anterior solicitud la central presentó el 14 de abril parte de la información requerida, la cual junto con los hallazgos de la inspección, condujeron a la reclasificación del suceso en la escala INÉS (International Nuclear Event Scale) de sucesos nucleares desde el nivel 1 (anomalía) primeramente asignado, a un nivel 2 (incidente).

A partir de ese momento el Consejo ha realizado 3 inspecciones adicionales, tendentes a reconstruir el suceso iniciador, acotar la significación radiológica del vertido y establecer el comportamiento de la organización de la central y de las personas involucradas en el suceso y ha remitido tres cartas adicionales requiriendo nuevas acciones relacionadas con la medida en contador de radiactividad corporal de todo el personal potencialmente afectado, vigilancia radiológica de todo el material que abandone la planta e información diaria sobre los trabajos de descontaminación, recogida de partículas y vigilancia radiológica en curso.

Por otra parte, el CSN ha efectuado por si mismo, mediante la contratación de servicios o activando recursos concertados con otras entidades, las siguientes actividades de comprobación o contraste:

- Rastreo en el exterior de la central y en tres localidades próximas (Asco, Vinebre, y Flix) en búsqueda de partículas radiactivas. El rastreo se realiza bajo supervisión de especialistas del CSN, por una Unidad Técnica de Protección Radiológica (UTPR) autorizada y por la unidad móvil de vigilancia radiológica del CIEMAT.

- Se ha realizado la medida en el contador de cuerpo entero del Servicio de Dosimetría Interna del Ciemat de una muestra de 40 personas, como contraste de los controles del mismo tipo realizados por la central.

- Se han revisado los registros de las estaciones automáticas de vigilancia radiológica de la Generalidad de Cataluña en el entorno de la central y en el río Ebro.

- Se han revisado los registros de las estaciones próximas de la red de estaciones automáticas de la red RAR de la Dirección General de Protección Civil.
- Se han adelantado la toma de muestras y las determinaciones analíticas del programa independiente de vigilancia radiológica ambiental que realiza, como contraste del realizado por la central, la Generalidad de Cataluña, en virtud de un acuerdo de encomienda con el CSN.

- Se ha colaborado con inspectores de la Unión Europea en el marco del tratado de EURATOM para que verificasen la idoneidad de las medidas tomadas en relación con el suceso y la corrección de los sistemas de vigilancia radiológica involucrados.

En el momento actual el CSN mantiene varias líneas de análisis y recopilación de datos que deben conducir al establecimiento final de los hechos, del comportamiento de los sistemas y organización del titular, del impacto radiológico, de las causas raíces y de las enseñanzas derivables para la propia central y para el resto de las centrales españolas. Así mismo, permitirá determinar las responsabilidades en que a juicio del CSN haya incurrido el titular, al objeto de solicitar del Ministerio de Industria la incoación de un expediente sancionador.

¿Cuántos puntos contaminados se encontraron y qué nivel total de actividad se recogió?

El número de puntos en los que se ha localizado alguna partícula ha ido aumentando a medida que se ampliaba la vigilancia radiológica especial puesta en marcha para este suceso.

A fecha de 9 de junio de 2008 se han identificado 1.002 puntos y la actividad, referida al 29 de noviembre de 2007 es de 259,8 MBq., que corresponde a unos 7 milicurios.

¿Cuánta actividad total se emitió al exterior en este suceso?

En la actualidad se continúan con los trabajos de campo para determinar la actividad vertida al exterior de los edificios. La respuesta a esta pregunta está en función de los análisis del término fuente, aún no finalizados.

¿Se puede asegurar que han cesado totalmente las emisiones al exterior?

Efectivamente, se puede asegurar que la dispersión de material radiactivo ha cesado. El material radiactivo dispersado fue una fracción de los restos de una operación de limpieza que quedó mayoritariamente retenido en los conductos de ventilación del edificio de almacenamiento de combustible. Una vez detectado el incidente, la central ha procedido a controlar cualquier otra emisión por medio de todos los sistemas disponibles a este efecto.

¿Ha habido algún riesgo para los trabajadores, para la ciudadanía o para el medio ambiente como consecuencia del suceso acaecido?

A continuación se detallan los controles realizados en el servicio de dosimetría interna del titular y con la unidad móvil de TECNATOM bajo la supervisión de la inspección residente del CSN, a fecha de 13 de junio de 2008:

Colectivos	Previstos	Realizados	Contaminados
Plantilla	477	103,10, % (*)	0
Contratas	1074	101 % (*)	0

Resto	1107	50,2 %	0
Total	2658		0

(*) Incluye unos trabajadores no previstos inicialmente

Es de observar que los sistemas de medición son autorizados por el CSN y están diseñados, operados, calibrados y contrastados según los últimos criterios de la Comisión Internacional de Protección Radiológica, por lo que sus resultados son fiables. Como resultado de estas mediciones no se ha detectado indicio alguno de contaminación en las personas sometidas a control.

El material radiactivo disperso ha consistido en diminutas partículas metálicas que incorporaban algún elemento radiactivo, por lo que el proceso posterior a su emisión a la atmósfera ha sido la deposición (en su mayoría) en las terrazas de los edificios inmediatos y en los terrenos de la zona vallada alrededor de la central.

La deposición en el exterior del emplazamiento ha sido una fracción pequeña y las partículas de peso mayor se han depositado, sobre todo, en el interior del doble vallado y en el emplazamiento de la planta.

Las medidas de muestras medioambientales y el control fueron iniciados inmediatamente a partir del conocimiento del suceso.

A la vista de estos datos el Consejo de Seguridad Nuclear considera que el incidente no ha tenido impacto radiológico real ni sobre los trabajadores o visitantes de la central, ni pata la población. No obstante, el CSN continúa realizando estudios técnicos muy detallados del incidente y evaluando con la máxima precisión posible el impacto potencial del incidente.

¿Por qué los sistemas de vigilancia ambiental (REA, RAR y REVIRA) no detectaron esta emisión incontrolada?

El objetivo de estas redes de vigilancia está orientado a la detección de liberaciones homogéneas de material radiactivo, especialmente en forma de gases nobles, radioiodos y aerosoles, tal y como se postula en el Estudio de seguridad de las centrales nucleares, (caso de la REA y REVIRA) o para detectar la presencia de material radiactivo sin un origen predeterminado (llegada de radiactividad al interior del país desde el exterior o su emisión desde localizaciones no identificadas con actividades reguladas, caso de la RAR).

En este suceso, el material dispersado al exterior corresponde, en último caso, a una cantidad de radiactividad significativamente menor que la considerada en el diseño de esas redes de vigilancia y concentrada en pequeñas partículas metálicas cuyo radio de dispersión es relativamente pequeño y con pocas probabilidades de alcanzar justamente la localización de una de esas estaciones. Además, la experiencia de operación de estas redes indica que, con frecuencia, los valores por encima de los umbrales de detección responden a fluctuaciones de radiactividad de origen natural, especialmente gas radón, que se producen como consecuencia de los cambios meteorológicos locales.

¿Ha habido algún incumplimiento por parte del titular de la Central (ANAV)?

La información provisional recogida por el CSN en las investigaciones iniciadas inmediatamente después de conocido el suceso, reflejan presuntos incumplimientos referidos a:

- Incumplimiento de las disposiciones finalistas del Reglamento de Protección Sanitaria contra Radiaciones Ionizantes que establecen los límites de dosis al público, conforme a los análisis de riesgo potencial realizados.
- Incumplimientos de las Instrucciones del Consejo IS-10, sobre notificación de sucesos e IS-14 sobre acceso a la información de la Inspección residente.

- En cuanto a los documentos oficiales de explotación y en particular las Especificaciones de Funcionamiento y el Manual de Protección Radiológica se han producido desviaciones en cuanto al tarado de los monitores de radiación y a la reclasificación de zonas afectadas por contaminación radiactiva.

Dejando de lado estos incumplimientos normativos que como se ha dicho deberán ser establecidos y calificados en un procedimiento sancionador, se aprecian un conjunto de fallos que a pesar de su aparente diversidad apuntan a serias deficiencias estructurales en los siguientes ámbitos básicos:

La falta de comunicación interna, especialmente entre los departamentos de protección radiológica y operación, que se evidencia en la ausencia de ciertas anotaciones en registros oficiales y en la no inclusión en las discusiones de los comités y de seguridad nuclear de un asunto como el que nos ocupa.

En el área de la formación, anomalías que han propiciado malas prácticas, incumplimiento de procedimientos, y errores de apreciación, como son, el vertido en piscina inicial, la manipulación de tarados malinterpretando los procedimientos, el desconocimiento de los sistemas de ventilación, la negligente caracterización y valoración de la contaminación en los sistemas de ventilación e ignorar anomalías que en condiciones normales no son significativas pero que conociendo la contaminación del sistema de ventilación eran indicios de peso.

La falta de cultura de seguridad, manifestada en no apreciar la trascendencia para la seguridad de las actuaciones particulares, que se planifican y ejecutan teniendo exclusivamente presentes las competencias y objetivos departamentales.

Deficiencias en la transparencia y comunicación con el CSN, no notificando incidentes que lo requerían, dando prioridad a evitar la emisión de sucesos notificables al CSN, sin atender adecuadamente a que las maniobras se realizaran correctamente y haciendo interpretaciones formalistas y no adecuadas al fondo de la norma.

El CSN está ultimando la confección de un informe completo que fundamente de modo riguroso el conocimiento de todas las circunstancias relacionadas con el suceso, que en su caso, determinará la apertura de un expediente sancionador y otras acciones correctoras pertinentes.

Etcétera...

HERMANOS ZAIZAR: «EL SIETE LEGUAS» Y «LOS COMBATES DE CELAYA»

Siete leguas el caballo,
que Villa más estimaba,
cuando oía silbar los trenes,
se paraba y relinchaba,
siete leguas el caballo,
que Villa más estimaba.

En la estación de Irapuato,
cantaban los horizontes,
ahí combatió formal,
la brigada Bracamontes,
en la estación de Irapuato,
cantaban los horizontes.

Como a las tres de la tarde,
silbó la locomotora,
¡arriba, arriba muchachos!,
pongan la ametralladora,
como a las tres de la tarde,
silbó la locomotora.

Oye tú Francisco Villa,
qué dice tu corazón,
ya no te acuerdas valiente,
que atacaste Paredón,
ya no te acuerdas valiente,
que tomaste a Torreón.

Adiós torres de Chihuahua,
adiós torres de Cantera,
ya vino Francisco Villa,
a quitarles la bandera,

ya vino Francisco Villa,
a devolver la frontera.

Los combates de Celaya

El día veintitrés de abril
los combates principiaron,
en la ciudad de Celaya,
los carrancistas triunfaron:

un gran número de tropas que traía Álvaro Obregón fueron los que resguardaron por todita la estación.

Los carrancistas adentro,
los villistas les cayeron,
les empiezan a hacer fuego
y los de adentro corrieron.

Por el lado Salvatierra
se agarraron a balazos, unos tiran con metralla
y otros, puros cañonazos:

Les decía Álvaro Obregón:
—Ahora los vamos a ver,
hoy me matan o los mato
o me quitan el poder.

Llegaron las avanzadas desde el Guaje hasta la Venta, nomás se oía el tronadero
de mauser y treinta-treinta.

Gritaban los carrancistas
—Ahora de aquí no salemos pues si llegan los villistas aquí nos acabaremos.

Obregón decía a los yaquis:
—No tengan miedo que mueran;
muchachos, les aseguro,
que reviven en su tierra.

Contestó un soldado yaqui:
—No es cierto, mi general,
escribí a mi hermano muerto,
y no me ha vuelto a contestar.

Señores, tengan presente
lo que en Celaya pasó:
que el ejercito villista
casi todo se acabó.

En la hacienda de Santana se dieron otro agarrón, fue donde perdió su brazo
el general Obregón.

Ya con ésta me despido
relatando esta batalla, ya les canté a mis amigos
los combates de Celaya.

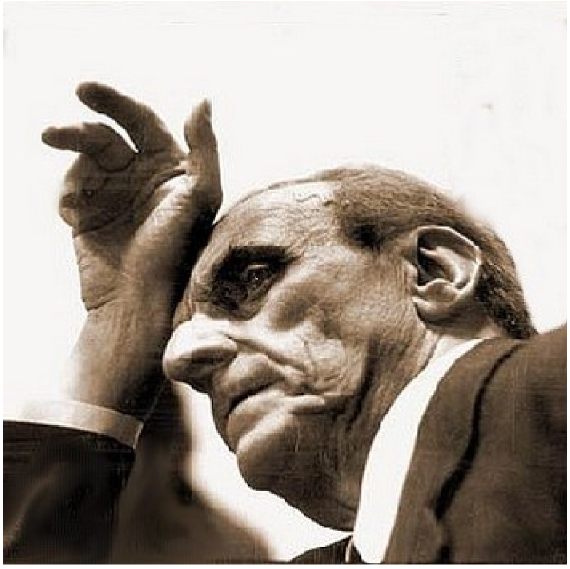
NORBERTO BOBBIO: SOBRE EL EXISTENCIALISMO Y EL FASCISMO



Conviene decir, sobre todo a los indignados y a los escandalizados, que al lado de una filosofía de los decadentes hay una filosofía de los retóricos, que no es menos representativa de la crisis espiritual de nuestros días. La una cava en su interior sin piedad, sacando a la luz los pobres restos de la metafísica perdida, y entre la angustia originaria y el naufragio final, no se conmueve ni trata de conmover, sino que lleva a cabo la amputación mortal con frialdad científica; la otra se infla en una verbosidad árida y alambicada, que plantea problemas ya resueltos, o resuelve problemas que no han sido planteados por no ser actuales, y repite fórmulas manidas, vacías de contenido moral, casi diría desvitalizadas por el largo uso, con fingida y engañosa emoción.

Si crisis implica flaqueza espiritual, y pobreza moral, y no únicamente desasosiego y desorientación, la filosofía de los retóricos es filosofía de la crisis, y no menos inquietante que la de los decadentes."

La libertad de la que habla Sartre no es una libertad positiva, creadora; la libertad, por ejemplo, del Dios de la metafísica especulativa o del espíritu absoluto hegeliano. Es una libertad destructora, anonadante. El hombre para Sartre es un ser que da origen a la nada. Si la realidad humana no hubiera surgido en el seno mismo del ser, como gusano de carcoma, el ser siempre sería idéntico a sí mismo. Si la nada ha llegado al ser ha ocurrido por obra de este acto singularísimo que es la realidad humana, que es, por tanto, el fundamento único de la nada en el ser. ¿Y por qué el hombre da origen a la nada? Porque es libre, único entre todos los seres del mundo. La libertad es la condición del anonadamiento que el hombre ha obrado en el seno de su ser. Por lo tanto la libertad no es únicamente una forma de condena que se ha impuesto al hombre, en el sentido de que él mismo no la ha querido —¡y cuántas veces se pasaría sin ella para sustraerse a su propia responsabilidad, que lo persigue como su sombra, y envidia la inmóvil majestad de un Dios impasible o la solidez inerte y maciza de una roca!—; sino que es, también, la condición fundamental de la nada que él es y de la nada que él ha excavado, como un hueco que ya no podrá cerrarse jamás, en el ser. El hombre sartriano es la neta antítesis del Dios cristiano, que crea el mundo de la nada; mientras que el hombre crea la nada del mundo."

"El revolucionario combate una forma de sociedad para crear otra mejor; el rebelde combate toda forma posible de sociedad. Combate por sí mismo, por su propia libertad, por su propio derecho, por su propia ventaja. No se considerará parte de la sociedad; por el contrario, todo vínculo social le fastidia. Toda acción suya recae sobre é mismo, y no deja huella. Si ejerce alguna acción en el mundo no es por la obra en sí, sino por el ejemplo."

"Giorgio Pisano se cruzó alguna vez con Vittorio Foa y le dijo: "Combatimos en frentes opuestos, cada quien con honor, ahora podemos darnos la mano". Foa le contestó: 'Es cierto, nosotros ganamos y tú te convertiste en senador; si hubieras ganado tú, yo aún estaría en la cárcel. Piense en ello. Reflexione por un momento."

Reflexionemos. Norberto Bobbio escruta un instante más al interlocutor y luego se deja envolver por la penumbra que empieza a velar su estudio. Se aleja dejando deslizar a sus espaldas la estela de su gravosa autoridad. Cuando la tarde apenas comenzaba su descenso en la noche turinesa, un fantasma que hacía de maestro de ceremonias atendía la conversación, un convidado que pronto se desvaneció: Ernst Jünger, el ultracentenario que vio dos veces al cometa. "Un gran hombre, una personalidad extraordinaria."

Bobbio sonríe pensando en sus noventa años. Es la edad de la distancia. Tenía trece cuando Benito Mussolini llegó a Roma para entregar a Vittorio Emanuele la Italia de Vittorio Veneto. "Él tenía treinta y nueve años. Sabemos todo del antifascismo de nuestros padres, pero no sabemos nada del fascismo que precedió a su antifascismo."

"Le diré algo que tal vez pueda parecer demasiado fuerte." Hace una pausa. "¿Me pregunta por qué hasta hoy no hemos hablado de nuestro fascismo? Pues porque nos a-ver-gon-zá-ba-mos." Otra pausa y luego vuelve a silabear. "Nos a-ver-gon-zá-ba-mos porque era cómodo actuar así. Pasar como fascista entre los fascistas y como antifascista entre los antifascistas. O bien, y lo digo para suponer una interpretación más benévola, era un desdoblamiento apenas consciente entre el mundo cotidiano de mi familia fascista y el mundo cultural antifascista. Un desdoblamiento entre mi ser político y mi ser cultural. Vivía mi pasión por la filosofía del derecho, seguía a mi maestro Gioele Solari, intachable antifascista. Me reunía con Piero Martinetti cuando ocupaba el puesto de secretario de redacción en la Revista de Filosofía. Frecuentaba las tertulias antifascistas y participaba en la Fundación Einaudi en 1933. En fin, no hacía caso de aquel fascismo progresivo que satisfacía las ambiciones de orden reclamadas por la vieja derecha liberal."

"La pregunta que usted me hace, ’¿qué fue entonces el fascismo?’, ¿fue fascismo el de muchos intelectuales y políticos que después se hicieron antifascistas?, sólo tiene una respuesta: sí y no. Sí y no porque la República fue fundada por personajes ajenos al fascismo, como por ejemplo Leo Valiani. La pregunta puede hacernos pensar que el pasaje por el fascismo fue un pasaje obligado. Yo también me lo pregunté. Diría que no. Finalmente hubo un fascismo previo y un fascismo posterior, digo un lugar común, lo sé muy bien. Leí recientemente un artículo de Indro Montanelli en el que explica perfectamente cómo en realidad el fascismo se volvió otra cosa sobre la marcha. Hubo dos fascismos, uno de derechas y uno de izquierdas. El de los liberales y el de los aventureros. En mi opinión, la diferencia entre el fascismo de los jóvenes y el fascismo de los viejos se reduce a lo siguiente: el de los primeros (si podemos usar esta palabra) fue revolucionario; el de los padres, en cambio, instrumental. Estos últimos sólo querían el orden, los otros un orden nuevo. Hay que remontarse a 1932, el punto culminante de ese fascismo primitivo, el fin del decenio que festeja la primacía de Italia en la travesía oceánica. El destino quiso que el año siguiente llegara a la escena Adolf Hitler, ante el cual Mussolini, que era visto como un maestro, se volverá un sometido."

La historia que sigue es la caída en la tragedia. "Siempre juzgué el fascismo desde el punto de vista del antifascismo, pero si se leen mis estudios sobre el fascismo se puede notar su objetividad histórica. Dije: con Hitler en el poder la guerra deja de ser un mito apasionante y se transforma en un programa político preciso. También el fascismo tuvo que actualizarse. Legisladores y filósofos fueron despedidos, tomaron la delantera las nuevas generaciones aturdidas por la retórica."

La tragedia se tornará en el horror: "Los judíos, que se habían asimilado ampliamente en Italia —algunos participaban incluso en las estructuras del partido fascista—, conocieron la persecución; usted sabe bien cómo terminó esta historia, no tiene caso repetirla. Todo esto explica por qué tantas personas que habían sido sinceramente fascistas o simpatizantes, en un momento dado lo empezaron a odiar. El fin del fascismo fue una catástrofe de tal dimensión que finalmente lo olvidamos; o más bien, lo relegamos de nuestra memoria. Lo relegamos porque nos a-ver-gon-zá-ba-mos. Nos a-ver-gon-zá-ba-mos. Yo, que viví ’la juventud fascista’ entre los antifascistas, me avergonzaba en primer lugar ante mí mismo, y luego ante los que pasaban ocho años en la cárcel; me avergonzaba ante los que, contrariamente a mí, no pudieron arreglárselas."

La edad de la distancia consiente al profesor y le permite hablar sobre el tema serenamente. Otros protagonistas, en cambio, prefieren atrincherarse en la complicidad del silencio: "No, no es así. Por ejemplo, Giorgio Bocca habla tranquilamente de su pasado fascista."

La tarde se consume con el primer microcasete de la grabadora y en los ojos del profesor avanzan otros recuerdos que se revelan como un cuento que huye de las pupilas. Un fantasma irrumpe: Benito Mussolini. "Ahora es fácil hacer la caricatura de Mussolini, pero no hay que olvidar que tenía todos los rasgos de lo que Max Weber habría llamado un jefe carismático. Era el hombre que, a pesar de los avatares de la vida, pobre como era, había logrado saltar rápidamente todas las etapas. El presidente del Consejo más joven que había existido; sus discursos eran secos, rapidísimos, contundentes. Era agresivo y cautivaba las masas. No hay nada que agregar. Fue tan carismático como para seguir hasta el fin el destino de los jefes carismáticos: siempre con la razón de su lado hasta el día en que, al equivocarse, caen. Cuando declaró la guerra no se dio cuenta de que ya todo había terminado. Vimos al Mussolini de los últimos años, al Mussolini con sombrero y abrigo en Campo Imperatore. Tenía el rostro afilado, demacrado, pálido... Y luego terminar así, sin lograr entender lo que pasaba a su alrededor en aquella noche del 25 de julio, y menos prever el horrendo fin de Plaza Loreto. Es una confirmación, una de las pocas pruebas fehacientes de que la guerra partisana fue una guerra civil. Sólo una guerra civil puede acabar con el jefe colgado de los pies; una guerra entre Estados no acaba así. Fue una guerra entre italianos."

Bobbio asume el peso de una responsabilidad, la de la autoridad moral. Cada palabra suya, ahora, se ajusta a la decisión de cerrar la eterna posguerra italiana.

Giovanni Gentile: "Mi tesis de licenciatura fue la tesis de un gentiliano. Respecto a la lápida, no estoy de acuerdo en lo absoluto con la decisión del Senado Académico de Pisa. Gentile no merece la acusación de racismo. En el peor momento ayudó a muchos estudiosos judíos." Cualquier otro hecho, el insensato exilio de los Saboya, por ejemplo, encuentra la desaprobación de este turinés. Nunca es demasiado tarde para apagar los últimos fuegos de la posguerra.

Como si el fascista entre los fascistas, Primo Arcovazzi, el trastornado soldado de Luciano Salce interpretado por Ugo Tognazzi en la película El federal, pudiese acompañar otra vez en su sidecar al Profesor antifascista; y no para llevarlo al exilio a Ventotene, sino para ir a aquel exilio ideal que marca la distancia donde nadie corre el riesgo de quedarse en la cárcel o volverse senador, y donde los generosos desquicios del uno nutren las sólidas convicciones del otro. Es la humanidad del dolor; aquella historia donde "después uno ya no es lo que fue antes". Hay una escena sublime en aquella película, cuando en la desesperación del fin, muriéndose de ganas de fumar, los dos cruzan una calle donde zumban los jeeps norteamericanos. A lo largo de la película, el Profesor había tenido que salvar sus libros de las manos de Arcovazzi, quien quería arrancarles las hojas para hacerse cigarrillos. Extenuados, no se dignan en dirigir ni una mirada a las cajetillas de Pall Mall que arrojan los soldados de Estados Unidos. El Profesor, al contrario, hasta pisotea una, toma su libro de Leopardi, arranca la página del "Infinito" y se prepara un cigarrillo: "Total, lo conozco de memoria."

Ahora que la tarde ya acabó, Norberto Bobbio pregunta a su interlocutor: "Yo también quisiera hacer una pregunta. Cuando dije que usted vendría, mis amigos, mis amigos de mi círculo me advirtieron, 'ése es un fascista'. ¿Me explica usted por qué es fascista?" Profesor, confesión por confesión, yo no soy fascista. Soy otra cosa. He amado el escándalo de quien juega como fascista en esta posguerra, porque ha sido la perspectiva más inédita desde la cual pude hacer otra cosa, volverme otra persona, para leer y estudiar en horizontes inaccesibles a otros. Lo confieso así al gran estudioso, no a su círculo.

ALMAFUERTE: LA YAPA

Como una sola estrella no es el cielo,
ni una gota que salta, el Océano,
ni una falange rígida, la mano,
ni una brizna de paja, el santo suelo:

tu gimnasia de jaula no es el vuelo,
el sublime tramonto soberano,
ni nunca podrá ser anhelo humano
tu miserable personal anhelo.

¿Qué saben de lo eterno las esferas ?
¿de las borrascas de la mar, las gotas ?

Pero el anhelo de trascendencia del ser humano existe desde siempre. El poema nos reduce a mera biología. Y se corre el riesgo de no tener ideales. Esta bitácora, que denuncia las injusticias de manera tan vehemente, lo hace porque debe aspirar al ideal de que la justicia, efectivamente exista. Si no intenamos volar, estamos perdidos. Mi poema réplica:

Cuando cierro los ojos/resuenan los tambores, se encienden las hogueras y primitivas danzas/continúan su frenesí de siglos./ Somos hombres/que fuimos más que hombres, que escondemos sus ecos,/color en su tiniebla/y la mirada mansa tiene un fulgor salvaje brillando en su interior/desde el remoto origen de la vida"

Don Fernando: tengo por costumbre usar la vehemencia con sordina, a no ser que me haya quedado sin café y sin tabaco, y escriba en pleno síndrome de abstinencia.

Y frente a los ideales, sacralizo la biología.

Pero si quiere una poesía honda, lea:

"¿Qué aguardas?, di.
Tú, solitaria sombra amarga,
ahí conspirando con la espuma,
mientras tu alma se adelgaza.
Di, ¿qué aguardas?,
sombra ajena a la fortuna,
mujer desnuda
de hombre y amor.

Tu cuello,
blanca luna que se recuesta,
tu boca,
sed y grito
convocando fuegos transparentes que te alleguen,
a esa orilla
que se te niega.
Tus ojos,
llamas negras y prohibidas,
lento humo para mi desvarío.

Mi vencida voz impaciente se posa en tu figura impasible.
Y sigo aquí,
neutro heraldo que conmueve,
y en vano te nombra.

Y pierdo la verticalidad de este deseo que fracasos sangra,
y giro dentro de la soledad que me cubre con la sierpe de tu desprecio, y me acuna la cóncava luz fría que deriva hacia el témpano voraz que en mi costado se demora.

¿Qué aguardas?, di,
suspendida en la arboladura
donde sentaste tu sombra.

LA FALTA DE SEGURIDAD EN LAS CENTRALES NUCLEARES DE JAPÓN

Lo que a continuación traduzco se publicó en The Sunday Times el 21 de Julio de 2007:

El terremoto de magnitud 6.8 que sacudió el lunes Niigata y destruyó miles de hogares era tres veces más poderoso que la magnitud para la que estaba diseñada la central nuclear más cercana: Kashiwazaki-Kariwa.

La crisis que se ha desatado en Kashiwazaki ha hecho que se vuelva a exigir el cierre inmediato de los cinco reactores atómicos de Hamaoka- una vieja central en Shizuoka construida directamente sobre una falla activa de unos 100 kms. de largo, al oeste de Tokyo.

A pesar de que su operadora, la Chubu Electric, alega que la central cumple con los requisitos de seguridad del gobierno, los sismólogos dijeron ayer que es "casi imposible" garantizar la seguridad de una central nuclear situada en ese lugar. La central de Hamaoka, declaró Mitsuhei Murata, antiguo diplomático y profesor de la Tokai Gakuen University, enfrenta a Japón con el más grande de sus riesgos: la combinación de un terremoto con un desastre nuclear.

"Un terremoto —dijo— podría destruir el reactor y enviar una nube radioactiva sobre Tokyo en ocho horas. Al final, podríamos estar hablando de 24 millones de víctimas en Japón"

La comunidad científica de sismologos coincide en que la región de Tokai, que incluye Tokyo y Hamaoka, inevitablemente sufrira un gran terremoto. Las autoridades metropolitanas de Tokyo han diseñado un plan de actuación que presupone que existe un 87% de probabilidades que en los próximos 30 años se produzca un seismo de magnitud 8. Sin embargo, han permitido a las compañías energéticas construir plantas nucleares que sólo estan preparadas para resistir terremotos de mucha menor escala.

Si el epicentro del terremoto del lunes hubiera estado 10 Kms más al suroeste, el equipo de investigación sismológica de la Kobe University calcula que el reactor habría estallado y habría ocasionado un desastre terrible.

Ante estas evidencias, la Tokyo Electric Power Company (Tepco) ha admitido que hay una serie de problemas muy preocupantes desde el terremoto, incluyendo la sorprendente revelación de que la central de Kashiwazaki está construida sobre una falla activa, a pesar de que Tepco lo había negado rotundamente ante los tribunales de justicia. Tepco dice haber perdido los datos sobre la actividad del reactor en los minutos posteriores al terremoto. Se han detectado numerosas fugas radioactivas.

Un breve repaso de la historia de los gravísimos accidentes nucleares, la falta de seguridad denunciada internacionalmente (por otros gobiernos, no sólo activistas antinucleares) y las implicaciones de Tepco y el gobierno de Japón pueden verla en estos artículos:

- 1999, 13 julio: fuga radiactiva en la planta nuclear de Tsuruga
- 2002, 30 septiembre: grietas en el reactor de la planta nuclear de Miyagi
- 2002, 24 septiembre: descubiertas más de 67 grietas en el reactor de la planta nuclear de Shizuoka
- 2004, 4 agosto: cuatro muertos en el accidente de la planta nuclear de Mihama
- 2006, abril: accidente nuclear en la planta de Rokkasho
- 2006, 24 marzo: Tepco convierte a Japón en el país con más accidentes nucleares
- 2007, 22 julio : fuego y fuga radiactiva después del terremoto. Japón se niega a inspecciones internacionales.
- 2008, 5 mayo: fuga radiactiva por grietas en central nuclear al norte de Tokyo
- Wikileaks: 27 octubre 2008: el gobierno japones ha estado encubriendo los accidentes nucleares, sus verdaderos costes y problemas
- falta de seguridad y los fallos de las centrales nucleares japonesas, que el gobierno japonés oculta.
- Fugas y desastres radioactivos: base de datos

Este artículo me ha costado 1 hora y 10 minutos con un vaso de Laphroaig. Que los botarates universitarios que se presentan como autoridades científicas aleguen que Japón es una potencia puntera en medidas de seguridad nuclear, no nos extraña. Que los medios de comunicación españoles cubran la noticia llamando a uno que ha ido a Japón en viaje de novios y le ha pillado allí el follón, tampoco nos sorprende.

Y tampoco nos sorprende que, una vez más Greenpeace España, opte por no trabajar y decir vaguedades con tufillo new-age ante el problema nuclear.

Y lo peor es que la seguridad de las centrales nucleares está supeditada a los intereses de una clase política corrupta, expertos científicos a sueldo de las grandes compañías propietarias de las centrales nucleares, y prima el interés económico por encima de la seguridad: véase incdentes ocultados y maquillados por los responsables en las centrales nucleares como Ascó, Cofrentes y Almaraz, en España, sin ir más lejos.

Muy interesante. Algún día, alguien, responsable, valiente, con dos dedos de frente; es decir, nadie; tendrá que poner sobre el tapete aquello de la gallina y el huevo, en materia energética. ¿No se desarrolla la investigación de las energías renovables, por qué no interesa a las oligarquías dominantes, o no interesa a las oligarquías dominantes desarrollar las energías dominantes, por aquello de que escapa a su control? Aunque parezca mentira, esto tiene mucho que ver con la tragedia nuclear de Japón. Saludos.

No existe ninguna central nuclear segura. Obviamente, las que están sobre una falla lo son menos; pero es cuestión de tiempo que una tras otra, en caso de abandono por una revolución, por un desastre... terminen estallando. Esta vez ha sido un maremoto, mañana vete a saber; con solo que falle la refrigeración durante tres horas, el asunto se va a tomar viento.

Hace unos momentos he recibido información que, de a treinta kilómetros de la central a setenta, millones de personas, no se sabe cuántos, apenas disponen de comida, no tienen agua potable y están ateridas de frío; no disponen de información de lo que sucede, ni instrucciones sobre qué deben hacer; no hay gasolina y los pocos trenes que aún funcionaban han dejado de hacerlo. Lo poco que saben es a través de los extranjeros y esos están recibiendo instrucciones de sus jefes que abandonen corriendo la zona.
La tercera potencia mundial está a punto de sufrir un atraso de cien años, lo mismo que si los americanos la hubiesen olvidado después de la segunda guerra. El problema es

Siento muchísimo lo que le ha pasado al pueblo japonés, pues era un país que siempre gozó de mis simpatías. ¿Cuantas vidas humanas son necesarias sacrificar para que nos demos cuenta de que debemos y tenemos que renunciar de una vez por todas a la "american life way", tan caro, tan despilfarrador, tan absurdo. Esto no aguanta más. Es sencillo; el desarrollo de un pais se mide en los kilovatios o los litros de petroleo que consume al año. A más consumo; más desarrollo. ¿Debemos empezar a cuestionar la estupidez del crecimiento infinito? Parece que si.
Cabría empezar a cuestionarnos los problemas, antes de que sucedan. A nadie se le ocurrió pensar que un petardazo nuclear de una central, podría ocurrir en un sitio donde los terremotos son frecuentes.
Nosotros mismos.

Hombre, espía. De ignorancia histórica, y sobre votar a gobiernos ineptos, esclavos de oligarquias enérgiticas, podemos dar clases aquí en España sin ir a Japón. Para criticar al pueblo japonés, en si, como pueblo, habría que meterse a fondo en su fisonomía cultural y en su percepción de de la disciplina, del trabajo, de su filosofía de vida. No se. Sería muy complicado.
¿Ignorancia histórica? Puede ser que la tenga, no le digo yo que no. Atrocidades se han hecho, y se siguen haciendo, hoy, ayer, siempre, en nombre del progreso, la productividad, la democracia, el modelo de vida americano, el pato Donald y

Blancanieves. No se puede juzgar a todo un pueblo por las atrocidades de sus "Desgobernantes" y sus oligarcas. Es como si culpara usted a todo el pueblo español de las atrociades de Endesa, Iberdrola, Repsol, etcétera.
A menudo se dice que fue el pueblo alemán quien aupó a Hitler al poder. Es una justificación como otra cualquiera. A Hitler lo votaron el 33% del electorado. ¿A quien votó el 67% restante? Fue la ineptitud de una clase política la que llevó a Hitler al poder. Y sin embargo hay quien culpa al pueblo alemán. Si, ya se. ¿Qué tendrá que ver? Sólo er un ejemplo de la historia de un pueblo y sus pecados.
Pecados tiene todos los pueblos de la tierra, y tammbien monstruos a los qu se ponen flores. Aquí, lo importante son las miles de personas que van a quedar K.O. por la ineptitud, la avaricia, la estupidez y la cerrazón humanas. Perdón por el discurso. Se despide de usted "El ignorante lusitano".

En su anterior comentario me hablaba usted de mi admiración por un pueblo que con su voto había propiciado la actuación genocida de su gobierno y de sus empresas. Ahora me confirma usted lo mismo del pueblo español. Es decir, que según usted somos unos genocidas porque apoyamos mayoritariamente a PSOE o PP, que apoyan industrias, como las principales industrias energéticas de éste país.
Después de leer esto me he tenido que pellizcar fuértemente para comprobar si estoy soñando o esto que estoy leyendo es real. Me he hecho un moratón de la hosti en la pierna. Estoy vivo. Esto es real. Imagino que los consumidores que religiosamente pagamos la factura de la luz de estas compañías oligárquicas también estaremos metidos en el saco del genocidio por alimentar a la bestia. Imagino que usted, en su domicilio particular no estará conectado a la red de ninguna de estas compañías, porque si lo hace usted contribuirá al genocidio.

Se nos hace difícil, en los momentos que vivimos, hacernos responsables de los actos de nuestros gobernantes.
A mi modo de ver solo podemos responsabilizarnos de nuestros elegidos, ya que no tenemos ninguna culpa ni responsabilidad que el vecino del cuarto sea un fascista de mierda, a no ser que se nos acuse de no haberlo eliminado, cosa que a menudo se me pasa por la cabeza.
Y llevando la situación al límite, qué responsabilidad le puedo exigir a mi suegra, vieja emigrante analfabeta, por votar a quien vota. En todo caso debemos preguntarnos por la legitimidad del engaño a que es sometida y quién lo facilita.
Lo peor del asunto es que dentro de mil años, nuestros descendientes, en caso que los haya, "nos" acusarán de estúpidos y malnacidos; y no lo harán al tal o al cual sino a todos.

Hace poco discutía con un intelectual, de esos que parecen más inteligentes por salir en la tele, sobre la responsabilidad del pueblo alemán con respecto a la guerra y consiguiente matanza de gente en los pueblos sometidos. Él decía que no y yo que sí. Y es que en caso de guerra siempre existe la salida de negarse, aunque eso conlleve la muerte.
La realidad se conoce por las cartas recibidas por las familias de los soldados en el frente oriental, que relataban las matanzas y el expolio con evidente orgullo patrio.
Es curioso como la gente, tenga los ojos rasgados o redondos, pierde la chaveta por un cacho de trapo tintado y por el sentido abstracto de pertenecer a un colectivo impuesto.

EPITALAMIO CINEGÉTICO O DIÁLOGO DE CAZADORES

— Emboscado en un arbusto al acecho de un gran corzo sólo puedo ver tu escorzo
y tu morenazo busto

— Cuando veo yo tus rizos

apuntando la escopeta me equivoco con mi meta
y disparo a los erizos.

— Con el fuel de mi pasión, que tú la haces benceno
arranco el todoterreno
y te sigo al alimón.

— Maldita sea la gacela, maldita sea la mujer,
que me quite tu querer
o me cierre tu cancela

— Por ti mato mil leones con la fuerza de mis uñas
y me enfrento a las garduñas, y te colmo de achuchones.

— Y yo que soy un gran macho
y un aguerrido montero
de esta caza solo quiero
tus ojazos y algún cacho.

— Vayamos hacía ese pino
de aquel recóndito monte Y verás el horizonte
de decúbito supino.

SOBRE LOS INTELECTUALES CON MANDO EN PLAZA

La característica más destacable entre la élite intelectual es la falta de rigor con la que acogen cualquier idea, contenido, comportamiento o reflexión que no estén admitidos dentro de su grupo. Toda idea ajena ha de ser desprovista de su potencialidad creadora, para convertirse, empobrecida y desnaturalizada, en un sucedáneo inane y trivial, bombardeada con ejercicios retóricos hasta integrarla en un sistema de valores incuestionable, ya que no cuestionado.

Esta falta de independencia y de rigor es la que homologa toda idea en el registro de la propiedad cultural _de su correspondiente cofradía, para obtener la garantía y el derecho de circulación si ha sido reconocida, y desestimada cualquiera que llegue sin avales.

Cualquier idea nueva, que no tenga padrinos conocidos y reconocidos, entra dentro del inmenso saco de lo que no les interesa. Lo que les importa no es tanto lo que se dice, sino quien lo patrocina. Y no hay odio mayor que el que despierta quien no acata su jerarquía intelectual.

La palabra, en ellos, adquiere su existencia jurisdiccional en cuanto pueda ser adulterada, desprovista de su virulencia original y de su etimología, formando parte de la jerga que los identifica. Sólo hay que ver con qué entuasiasmo repiten las palabras cuyo significado ignoran y traicionan. Porque los intelectuales suelen leer poco, y releerse mucho.

Sus vivencias, sus recuerdos, han de conformarse dentro de lo aceptable y conveniente para su imagen y su curriculum, lo que convierte su pasado en un dato inamovible, un imponderable absoluto, definitivamente adscrito a su idiosincrasia como parte de un yo petrificado, fosilizado; y cualquier intento de plantear una dinámica distinta se encuentra con su pasado ficticio como troquel determinante que incapacita el intento. Porque, para un intelectual, no hay nada más fuerte que su verdad, salvo la impostura que haya creado para refrendarla.

Un intelectual que no tenga vocación de paria siempre tendrá más en cuenta cualquier ocurrencia de su cofradía, con filiación y padrinos conocidos, que la obcecada realidad que la desmienta.

sujetas a esos vuestros dogmas vanos.

Cruzadas levantáis contra paganos,

DOCUMENTAL «PRESUNTO CULPABLE», PROHIBIDO EN MÉXICO

La corrupción ha convertido a México es un estado fallido. Jueces, policías, políticos y funcionarios son su correa de transmisión.

Frente a los miles de asesinatos, desapariciones, secuestros, y el narcotráfico como primera fuente de riqueza , los policías y los jueces han descubierto cómo zafarse de la venganza de los cárteles de la droga, creando falsos culpables e ignorando las pistas que pudieran molestar a los sicarios del crimen organizado y convertirlos en enemigos a abatir.

La juez Blanca Lobo ha tenido el dudoso honor de ordenar que se retire de todas las salas de cine mexicanas el documental "Presunto culpable", que cuenta cómo y quienes fabrican culpables en México:

Presunto Culpable es un largometraje documental realizado en el Reclusorio Oriente de la Ciudad de México y en los Tribunales de Justicia que narra la historia de José Antonio Zuñiga y su lucha en contra del Sistema Penal y Judicial mexicano.

El documental muestra cómo la vida de José Antonio (Toño) Zúñiga, un joven tianguista de Iztapalapa de 26 años, cambió para siempre cuando el lunes 12 de diciembre de 2005, una patrulla lo levanta abruptamente en Iztapalapa acusándolo de homicidio.

Preso por un crimen que no cometió, Toño logra contactar a dos jóvenes abogados, Layda Negrete y Roberto Hernández, quienes toman el caso con la esperanza de poderle regresar la libertad. Ahora, deben encontrar alguna manera de reabrir el caso y probar la inocencia de Toño. Tras noches de desvelo y una investigación exhaustiva, descubren que el abogado defensor en el juicio condenatorio había litigado con una cédula profesional falsa. Este descubrimiento permite reabrir el caso y anular la sentencia pasada para comenzar un nuevo juicio y emprender la lucha por la libertad de Toño.

Con un “testigo” acusador, un juez que ya había dictado sentencia de culpable y un sistema judicial fallido, la libertad de Toño parece casi imposible, pero Layda y Roberto no desisten. Suman a Rafael Heredia, audaz y determinado abogado, para completar el equipo de defensa. Ahora, este equipo, armado de una cámara que los acompañará durante todo el juicio, enfrenta las pruebas falsas y sistema fallido que llevaron a un inocente a la cárcel.

Dos años de lucha incansable contra la injusticia, con poco más que una cámara filmando la realidad que pudiera ser de cualquier mexicano, Layda, Roberto, Rafael y Toño demuestran que la esperanza nunca se debe perder y que las historias heroicas las podemos encontrar donde menos las esperamos.

Génesis del proyecto

En 2006, unos amigos de José Antonio Zúñiga se enteraron del documental El Túnel y buscaron a los realizadores de éste, Roberto Hernández y Layda Negrete; este contacto resultó en el rodaje de Presunto Culpable.[1]

Suspensión judicial

El 2 de marzo de 2011, dos semanas después del estreno de la película, una juez de Distrito en Materia Administrativa del Distrito Federal ordenó la suspensión provisional de su exhibición, distribución y promoción después de la presentación de un recurso de amparo por parte de uno de los testigos que participa en el juicio, quien alega que no autorizó el uso de su imagen; se anunció que, en virtud de la suspensión, se retirarían las 200 copias de Presunto Culpable ya distribuidas en 21 ciudades de México.[2] [3]

A poco de anunciarse la suspensión en noticiarios, el asunto se convirtió en tema del momento o trending topic de Twitter, donde muchos comentarios evidenciaron indignación ante lo que se percibió como censura del Poder Judicial mexicano a una crítica en su contra.[4] [5] [6] [7] [8]

Al día siguiente, la suspensión provisional fue calificada de "confusa, ambigua, oscura" por Héctor Villarreal, subsecretario de Normatividad y Medios de la Secretaría de Gobernación, quien agregó que "la RTC no tiene facultades" para suspender la proyección, distribución y promoción de ninguna película como lo pedía la juez. Además, la medida judicial fue repudiada por los coordinadores de los principales partidos de la Cámara de Diputados federal. [9]

También al día siguiente, la cadena de cines Cinépolis dio a conocer a través de sus cuentas en Twitter y TwitLonger[10] que

Presunto Culpable se mantendrá en exhibición hasta en tanto recibamos una orden judicial o administrativa que requiera suspender su exhibición. En su caso, dicha orden será analizada y consideraremos las alternativas disponibles.

Menciones y premios

Presunto Culpable ha recibido 13 premios nacionales e internacionales (ordenados del más reciente al más antiguo):

Aquí sucede lo mismo, absolutamente igual, pero sin tanta espectacularidad.
Aquí los jueces participan en los juicios, pero basta ver cómo, para darse cuenta que la mayoría ya han sido decididos y que el juez es un mero comparsa, satisfecho por no tener que pensar demasiado.

AVAAZ Y ACTUABLE: ECHEMOS A LOS CORRUPTOS DE LAS LISTAS ELECTORALES

¡No les votes!

Nos quedan apenas unas horas para asegurarnos de que los líderes de los partidos políticos españoles reciben nuestro mensaje pidiéndoles que limpien de candidatos imputados sus listas electorales.

Nuestra campaña contra la corrupción está corriendo como la pólvora— ya somos más de 70,000 los que hemos firmado las peticiones de Avaaz y Actuable. Y está empezando a hacerse notar: ayer mismo El Mundo escribió un artículo a toda página acerca de nuestra campaña, y nos están llegando noticias de que en las sedes de los partidos ya se está comentando la acción y hay creciente preocupación ante nuestra explosiva movilización.

El Partido Popular (PP) anunciará mañana en Palma de Mallorca sus listas finales de candidatos para las próximas elecciones municipales y autonómicas, y el Partido Socialista Obrero Español (PSOE) el sábado en Madrid. Otros partidos también están cerrando sus listas en estos momentos.

Redoblemos nuestra presión e inundemos las sedes de los partidos con llamadas telefónicas pidiéndoles que excluyan de sus listas a todos los candidatos imputados por delitos de corrupción. Estos son los números de los principales partidos:

PP: 915 577 200
PSOE: 915 820 444 / 915 820 0343
Convergencia: 932 363 100
IU: 917 227 500
PNV: 944 039 405

Si quieres llamar a otros partidos nacionales o regionales, puedes encontrar información relevante siguiendo este enlace.

Aquí tenéis algunas sugerencias de mensajes que podéis comunicar al llamar:

- Me preocupa mucho que candidatos imputados por delitos relacionados con la corrupción se presenten a las próximas elecciones de Mayo.
- Espero que las listas electorales finales que se anunciarán en los próximos días estén limpias de candidatos imputados por corrupción.
- Mi voto en Mayo dependerá de las medidas que su partido tome para limpiar las listas y de que presenten candidatos que tengan una trayectoría intachable de servicio público.
- Les pido que tomen medidas inmediatas para prevenir y combatir la corrupción. Así como sus efectos nocivos sobre la vida pública, nuestra economía y el medio ambiente.

Recuerda, es importante ser educado y no caer en descalificaciones ni lenguaje ofensivo. Después de la llamada, pulsa este enlace para dejar constancia de tu llamada y compartir tu experiencia y las respuestas de los partidos con otros ciudadanos a lo largo y ancho del país.

Gracias por vuestra valiosa participación y compromiso,

Luis y todo el equipo de Avaaz

firmado en los dos,Avaaz y Actuable, pero francamente, ¿de 40 millones que somos, 75.000 y 8400 firmas no parecen una nimiedad? Pena me da, mucha pena... y hasta naúseas, sí, cuando pienso que si tenemos que retirar a TODOS LOS CORRUPTOS, políticos y no políticos, nos podríamos quedar sin ciudadanos.

LA SOSPECHOSA PREOCUPACIÓN DE OCCIDENTE POR LOS DERECHOS HUMANOS Y LOS PUEBLOS OPRIMIDOS QUE AMPLIAN MERCADO CON CHINA

Los gobiernos occidentales tendrán muchos defectos; pero entre ellos no está una exquisita sensibilidad en lo referente a los derechos humanos de los súbditos que viven en países que posean materias primas de interés.

¿Desde cuándo ha empezado a importarnos las libertades civiles de los tunecinos, sirios, libios, egipcios, yemeníes, marroquíes, argelinos...? ¿Por qué hay tal unanimidad en defender la causa de los insurgentes, que tantas veces antes han sido masacrados, silenciados e ignorados?

Como la geoestrategia es una ciencia con contornos precisos, donde entran los intereses financieros de las multinacionales y sus dividendos, y jamás los derechos humanos ni nada que se le parezca, y como, en el periodismo tradicional, es de rigor que los corresponsales ofrecezcan reportajes y análisis coloristas, de interés humano, dignos del National Geographic, gracias al filón de los traductores y guías que contratan in situ, —que no están tan locos como para arriesgarse a un castigo ejemplar por bocazas—, y los análisis económicos no son del gusto del gran público, tendremos que conformarnos con los twitter que relatan las desiguales batallas entre manifestantes, pertrechados con piedras, cánticos, y un entusiasta deseo de libertad contra ejércitos y policías entrenados para matar con las armas que les han vendido los gobiernos occidentales, como el español.

Afortunadamente esta bitácora no necesita ajustarse a las directrices que dicten los accionistas de ninguna empresa editorial sobre los gustos y capacidad lectora del público, y podemos decir que las razones para invadir Irak fueron las medidas planteadas por Saddam Hussein para desbancar el dolar y utilizar el euro como moneda para las transacciones comerciales de los países productores de petroleo. A Estados Unidos, Ingleterra y España les importaba un guano el sufrimiento de los kurdos y los iraquíes bombardeados por Hussein con fósforo blanco y otras armas químicas y bacteriológicas, y mucho menos las armas de destrucción masiva que pudiera tener Irak, porque demasiado bien sabían que sólo poseía las que les vendían los traficantes de armas controlados por los servicios secretos de los gobiernos occidentales.

Dejo aquí varios enlaces con las noticias que pudieran estar en la base del súbito interés por los deseos y sueños de los jóvenes de los países árabes, coincidente con las inquietantes inversiones de China en el área:

Ya nos gustaría poder creer en el inefable mundo idílico que nos pintan los corresponsales sobre la imparable fuerza transformadora de la gente, cuando sale a la calle para protestar contra la tiranía; pero me temo que es difícil olvidar cómo se han utilizado siempre las aspiraciones de los pueblos, y el descontento popular: véase el sindicato Solidarność de Polonia, financiado por Gladio-OTAN-Banco Ambrosiano; los intelectuales y las élites conscientes en Latinoamérica financiados por la Alianza para el Progreso; por no hablar de las ONG's y asociaciones con fines altruistas que llevaron medicamentos gratuitos a África, que en realidad servían para ensayar vacunas y medicamentos no testados en humanos, cuyos resultado fue añadir otra causa de mortandad y malformaciones físicas y neurológicas a una población diezmada por las hambrunas y las guerras.

A estas alturas, cuando los poderosos se preocupan por las aspiraciones y las necesidades del pueblo, hay que preguntarse qué pienso compuesto intentan vendernos, fabricado con los residuos de nuestra esperanza traicionada.

Y de paso, recomiendo "Queimada", de Gillo Pontecorvo (1969), con música de Ennio Morricone: una película silenciada, secuestrada por los distribuidores, y olvidada, que describe perfectamente lo que se puede esperar de la ayuda de los poderosos a los movimientos de liberación.

Estimada Gatopardo, mi más radical acuerdo con los análisis de su artículo. Muy enriquecedores los enlaces. He visto varias veces Queimada, la última hace menos de dos años, que expresa lo fundamental que es unir la libertad a la independencia. Me permito añadir un enlace que analiza esta clave en la actual situación de ciertos países árabes, http://www.deverdaddigital.com/ver_articulo.php?art=10932 y gracias por su análisis.

Por fin reflexiones inteligentes sobre un fenómeno sumamente complejo. La información se nos tergiversa o se nos oculta, pero a veces hay "perlas" donde menos te lo esperas. Un ejemplo en un diario de provincias:

Estimado Eduardo:

Lo de estar de acuerdo conmigo es un error que espero que subsane a la mayor brevedad.

Estimada Carmen:

Como se nota que es joven y no ha tenido que aguantar a esa parva de botarates neodemócratas que no daban la ida por la venida a la Embajada americana, donde los trufaban a trolas, como al ínclito entrevistado que nos recomienda.

A esa parva de botarates pues también los he tenido que aguantar, y todo el país. Al ínclito no lo conozco pero sí sus semejantes y su carrerón: económicas (o similar)-psoe-fulbright-psoe-cátedra-psoe-ignorancia pontificante. Pero entre trola y trola se escapan verdades.

Estimada Gatopardo, lamento profundamente informarle de que hay errores que no pueden subsanarse ni sobresanarse porque están fuera de nuestro alcance. Es como creer que todos los gatos son pardos. Muy atentamente.

Queimada es insuperable y en ella están todas las respuestas que nos podemos plantear a las preguntas de usted en su escrito.
Por lo demás, la respuesta a desde cuando a los gobiernos occidentales les interesan los derechos humanos de los pueblos -de los pueblos que les interesan, claro, porque el chino no debe ser "un pueblo" o carece de interés, se reduce a dos palabras: hipocresía y "sucinegocieria", neologismo que me acabo de inventar y que alude a los sucios negocios de los intereses económicos de los grandes y perversos corruptos, de gran estómago sin escrúpulos y vacías y perversas mentes egoistas.
